During Madame Albani's tour, the resources of many of the opera houses in the country have been taxed to overflowing, and in a number of cases people have been given seats on the platform. In Galt for example, last week, a number of the audience could not find room in any other part of the house, and were given seats on the stage. This fact was unknown to the body of the house, and when the curtain rang up it looked as if the performance were opening with a minstrel troupe or a chorus, and it was not until the audience recognized some of their friends, that they commenced to titter and finally to laugh outright. The performance was spoken of by the Galt Reformer as being not merely superior in finish, but superlatively excellent. Special praise was given to Madame Albani's excellent company. Madame Albani and her splendid associates will make a farewell appearance here on Saturday next at the Grand Opera House. The plan is now open.

Danger in Skipping.
Boston Traveler.

THIS IS THE marble season for the boys and skipping-rope for the little girls. There is nothing more dangerous to a child—with a weak heart than the violent exercise of rope-skipping, and it brings its toll of death each year. Parents who suspect that their little girls have any heart trouble, due to scarlet fever or any children's disease would do well to prohibit rope-skipping altogether.

San Francisco Was Visited At Daybreak This Morning By A Disastrous Earthquake

City of the Golden Gate Suffers Worst Earthquake in History of America.---Various Estimates of Loss of Lives.---Some as High as 2,500.---Fire Breaks Out and Department is Hampered by Lack of Water.---City Practically at Mercy of the Flames.---A Horrible Disaster Which Shocks Whole Continent.

THE FIRST STORY OF THE DISASTER

SPECIAL C.P.R. WIRE TO THE EXAMINER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 18.—San Francisco was practically wrecked by an earthquake at 5.10 this morning. The shock lasted three minutes. Thousands of buildings were damaged or destroyed. The loss of life is reported great. There is no water and fires are breaking out all over the city. All the wires, with the exception of one, are gone. The City Hall, costing seven millions, is in ruins. Modern buildings suffered less than those of brick and frame. The excitement and terror is indescribable. Most of the people were asleep and rushed into the streets undressed. The buildings swayed and cracked burying many occupants. Panic reigns in the down town hotels. The Lick House is badly damaged, but no loss of life there is reported.

Special C. N. W. Despatches to The Examiner.

San Francisco, Cal., April 18.—An earthquake this morning wrecked the Hobart Building, in which are located the offices of the Postal Telegraph Company and the Northern Pacific Railway Company. The earthquake was a disastrous one, and many persons are reported killed, and houses wrecked and fired.

There is no water.

At 5.50 o'clock frequent shocks were felt after the first severe quake. At that time the Postal employees had to flee from the building, and great loss of life is feared. The earthquake wrecked the waterworks.

Fire soon spread in all directions, as the fire department was unable to handle it. There is no direct communication, both telegraph companies having been driven out of their buildings.

That portion of San Francisco in which the Postal Telegraph building is located is the principal business section of the city. The great Call Building, a sky-scraper, is a stone's throw away, and so is the high Chronicle Buildings.

The district is the line between the wholesale and business section, and includes practically all the largest blocks of the city. The huge ferry railroad bridge is less than half a mile away.

The beautiful public fountain on Market street, given to the city by the actress, Lotta, is a close neighbour of the Postal Building. Two or three blocks away is Union Square, in which is located the great Dewey Monument, commemorating the battle of Manila.

The limits of Chinatown are only half a mile away.

The mint and new post office and the new magnificent city hall are nearly a dozen blocks distant from the Postal Building.

Washington, too.

Washington, April 18.—The weather bureau officials announce that an earthquake of miniature proportions occurred in Washington this morning. The needle in the seismograph about 8.3 o'clock was thrown violently from side to side. The shock however, was not perceptible to those in the buildings or in the streets.

Sacremento Affected.

Sacremento, Cali, April 18. — Bulletin—A severe earthquake shock occurred there at an early hour this morning. There is great confusion and it is impossible to learn full extent of damage. No loss of life is yet reported.

Business Entirely Suspended.

Kansas City, Mo., April 18. — At 9.15, a.m., the Postal Telegraph Company here had received the following information from Los Angeles: "It is reported that one thousand lives have been lost in the earthquake at San Francisco. Both the Postal and Western Union Telegraph buildings in that city have been destroyed. A disastrous fire is eating its way up the south side of Market street, and at last accounts was within three blocks of the Palace Hotel. Water mains were bursting and the fire department was absolutely helpless. Business has been entirely suspended."

Hientz and Co's. Bulletins on the Disaster.

Worst in History.

Cincinnati, April 18. — D. C. Bliss, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, has received a message that the earthquake was the worst that has ever occurred on the Pacific coast.

Fire Department Helpless.

San Francisco, 10.10 a.m. — An early estimate places the loss of life at over 1500. The Postal Office was damaged but not seriously. None of the occupants were killed, but many persons were killed and injured in the city. The water mains burst and the fire department was helpless. They are now blowing up buildings. At seven o'clock the work of rescuing was under way, but in an unorganised manner owing to the panic. The dead were being carried from the buildings into schools.

Shock Felt in Nevada.

11.15 a.m. — At the office of the St. Louis and San Francisco R.R. a message has been received from their representative in Nevada stating that the earthquake shock was severely felt throughout that state and that all wires were down west of Reno.

Blew Up Buildings.

11.24 a.m. — The Western Union and Postal Telegraph lines were totally destroyed. Total estimated loss of life now 2,000. City on fire. No water. Blowing up buildings to check the spread. Things very grave.

Loss May Reach 2,500.

11.29 a.m. — Following is from our Kansas City office. Western Union Telegraph Company — "San Francisco fire not yet under control. Water mains burst and fire eating up Market street to the Palace hotel. Both Western Union and Postal buildings completely destroyed. One report says that loss of life may reach 2,500."

100 Killed in One Street.

New York, April 18. — Logan and Bryan have a wire claiming that 100 people were killed in South Market street alone in San Francisco. The fire is now within one block of the Palace Hotel, according to a despatch to Shearson and Hammill.

Fifty Blocks Were Destroyed.

New York, 11.59 a.m. — A message received in this city by the Postal Telegraph Company states that the area covered by the earthquake includes about fifty blocks in which the buildings have been almost totally destroyed. The greatest damage was done east and south of Market street to the bay. This section is devoted to manufacturing enterprises, and the principal banking institutions are located in a quarter of the city which has not been seriously affected, according to the advices received.

Earthquake not Yet Subsided.

New York, April 18th. — Although the reports are conflicting as to the extent to the damage by fire and earthquake in San Francisco, the situation is extremely serious, with the lowest estimate of the dead as 1100. Despatches state that efforts are being made to check the conflagration by means of blowing up buildings with dynamite, the water supply having been almost entirely cut off. Other advices are to the effect that the earthquake has not yet subsided, and that the city is threatened with virtual destruction by earthquake and fire. The actual extent of the disaster will not be ascertained for a certainty for some hours, telegraphic communication having been virtually cut off.

City Hall in Ruins.

San Francisco, 1.42 p.m. — The costly city hall is in ruins. Many, are reported to have been killed or burned to death, and are now in the ruins.

(See Page Six for latest despatches.)

Burleigh Man Was Found Dead In Bed

Patrick Kelly Died Suddenly During the Night—Heart Failure the Cause—Deceased a Native of Douro.

Patrick Kelly, an unmarried middle-aged man, living at Burleigh with his brother-in-law, Mr. Darcey, who owns the Burleigh Falls Hotel, was found dead in bed this morning. It appears that he was in Young's Point yesterday and returned to Burleigh apparently in his usual health, retired at the usual time. But this morning did not rise, and after waiting some time Mr. Darcy went to his room and found him dead. A physician was called and he pronounced that death was due to natural causes, probably, heart failure.

Deceased was about 40 years of age, a native of Douro, and practically a life-long resident of the county. He was a brother of Mrs. Darcy, with whom he made his home.

His parents are dead, and Mrs. Darcy is the only near relative he had in this county. Two sisters live in Rochester.

Coroner Gray was notified, and after learning the facts in the case, decided that an inquest was unnecessary, as it was plain that there were no evidences of foul play.

Is Surprisingly Good Says The Montreal Star

"Surprisingly good," was applied by the Montreal Star to Madame Albani's company, who appear here with the great artist on Saturday, April 21st, at the Grand Opera House. Speaking of the singer herself, the Star says:

"Of Madame Albani herself little need be said beyond the fact that her voice retains its richness to a wonderful degree. Her low notes are as fine and as full as ever, and while perhaps the high registers are more difficult to accomplish than in the days when Victoria was Queen, still the voice of the great artist never wavers and never plays her false."

The balance of Madame Albani's company is composed of Mlle. Eva Gauthier, contralto, Mr. Albert Archdeacon, baritone, Miss Adele Verne, pianist, and Mr. Hedyn Wood, violinist. The plan is now open at the box office. Prices, $1.50, $1, 75c., 50c., gallery 25c.

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Female Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected.

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Miss L. Stowell

Can we dispute the well-known fact that Canadian women are nervous?

How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly;" or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep, you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability. Spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the abdominal region and between the shoulders; loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia; a tendency to cry at the least provocation——all this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Lelah Stowell, of 177 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Your Medicine is indeed a Godsend to suffering women, and I only wish that they all knew what it can do for them and there would be no need of their dragging out miserable lives in agony. I suffered for years with boaring-down pains, extreme nervousness and excruciating headaches, but a few bottles of your vegetable Compound made life look new and promising to me. I am light and happy and I do not know what sickness is, and I have enjoyed the best of health now for over four years. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has sent sunshine into thousands of homes and hearts."

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick and weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

LATE MR. GRAFTON HIGHLY RESPECTED

They were forward in all work for progress and their names are familiar to many thousands of Canadians. They were benefactors of their town, and business exemplars to all who wish to succeed. Their lives were lessons of uprightness, diligence and adherence to purpose.

Seven Civil Cases WILL FORM THE DOCKET At Spring Assizes

Only Criminal Case is That of Patrick McAuliffe, of Emily—Mr. Justice Magee Will Preside—Only One Non-Jury Case is to be Considered—Summary of the Different Cases.

The Spring Assizes will commence at the Court House on Monday, next with Mr. Justice Magee presiding. There are in all seven civil cases to be heard, six of which are jury cases. The criminal docket is light, the only case being that of Patrick McAuliffe, of Emily, charged with killing Fred. Hudson on June 1, 1905. The non-jury civic case is that of Ruetsch v. Spry. Two of the cases, Delaire v. Hall and Talbot v. Hall, in which damages are claimed for injuries received in an elevator accident in the store of the defendants, Messrs. Richard Hall & Sons, were laid over from last year. A summary of two other cases, Hill v. Dewart, and Hill v. Gow, was published in yesterday's Examiner. The remaining cases follow:

JURY CASES.

Kidd vs. Kidd.

In this case the plaintiff, Robert J. Kidd, is an agent residing in Peterborough, and the defendant, G. N. Kidd, is a farmer residing in the County of Carleton, and member for Carleton in the Ontario Legislature. The plaintiff alleges that on or about the 8th day of April, 1905, a letter addressed to him while he was clerk in the department of the Provincial Secretary, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, was delivered to the defendant's instead of to the plaintiff, and he, knowning, the plaintiff says, that the letter was not for him, read it and afterwards delivered it to the Provincial Secretary, with the result that the plaintiff was summarily dismissed from his said employment, thereby suffering great loss and damage. The plaintiff claims $1,000 damages and the costs of the action.

The defendant claims that he believed the letter was intended for him, and was not aware until he had read it that such was not the case. He further claims that after making inquiries he had learned that there was a person of the plaintiff's name in the office of the Provincial Secretary, and had left the letter with him. E. B. Stone, London, for the plaintiff; DuVernet, Jones, Ross and Ardagh, Toronto, for teh defendant.

Thompson and Lee vs. Pet. L. and P. Co

In this case the plaintiff, John Lee, 705 George street, and Etta Thompson, his housekeeper, claim that during the winter months of 1904-05 the defendants permitted gas to escape from their gas pipes into the house of the plaintiffs, the escape of gas being so great that the plaintiffs were made seriously ill, and the plaintiff, Etta Thompson, still remains in a precarious condition of health. In consequence of this escape of gas the plaintiffs claim that they were obliged to move away from their house, whereby they sustained heavy damage.

The plaintiff, Etta Thompson, claims $3,000 damages, and the plaintiff, John Lee, claims $500.

The defendants say that if gas escaped from their pipes, as alleged, the same occurred without negligence on the part of the defendant corporation, and that the company is not liable for the injuries, if any, sustained by the plaintiffs. John Green, Peterborough, for the plaintiffs; Dennistoun, Peck and Kerr for defendants.

NON-JURY.

Ruetsch vs. Spry.

The plaintiff, Fred. Ruetsch, who is a mechanic in the city of Peterborough, claims that the defendant, Lewis Spry, in 1893, became the owner of lot No. 11, west of George street, and north of Dalhousie street, Peterborough, and that prior to May 27, 1903, the defendant agreed to sell this land, together with the right to use at all times, in common with the defendant, a right of way over a strip of land 10 feet wide north of the land, for the sum of $720. In the year 1905 the plaintiff claims that he discovered that the whole of the land had not been conveyed to him, and the plaintiff charges the defendant with having wilfully and wrongfully caused the lands to be misdescribed, and also that the defendant has refused the right of way as agreed upon. The plaintiff claims the balance of the land in question, permission to use the right of way, and such other relief as the nature of the case may require.

The defendant claims that he agreed to sell only what had been conveyed to the plaintiff, and that the plaintiff has had the use of the right of way long before the commencement of this action. D. O'Connell for plaintiff; Edmison and Dixon for defendant.

Mr. Tilley Makes Improvements

The Lindsay Post says:—"The Bell Telephone Company have now in town a gang of men improving the lines, and the local manager, Mr. T. J. Tilley, expects to have the greater number of single lines now on the poles on Kent street, removed and replaced by a 100 pair cable. Glenelg street west to Sussex street, will have a 25 pair cable, and west Kent street and south William street will have 25 pair cables. There will also be a number of improvements in the main office, and the whole system will receive a thorough going over.

APPRECIATION OF KINDNESS

Mr. Charles Haden wishes to thank his many Peterborough friends for their great kindness to him during his serious and painful illness, and also the Sisters of Saint Joseph's for their kind treatment and attention to him while a patient at the hospital, and also to the attending physician for his kind attention and skilful way he successfully performed the operation for appendicitis. Mr. Haden is glad to say he has now recovered his usual health.

The People At Cobalt Are Going Silver-Mad

Speculators are Buying Everything in the Way of Silver Shares---A Former Peterborough Man Tells The Examiner Some Things About the Mineral Mining Camp.

"People who go to Cobalt are speculation mad," said Mr. Lamb, a former Peterborough man, who is at present chief train despatcher at North Bay, for the Temiskaming & Northern Railway. He was here spending Easter, and told an Examiner man some interesting things about the land of silver. Mr. Lamb has done well in the last few months and has picked up considerable money in mining stocks at Cobalt. It is no trouble to get rid of mining shares at North Bay. The majority of men who go to the Cobalt district are there to buy stock, and those who hold it can easily make a sale, usually at a good advance on what was paid for it. This spirit of speculation has so taken hold of the people that they buy almost everything in the shape of mining stock.

This condition of affairs, Mr. Lamb states, will not last long. In a short time, the people will settle down, and the business will be upon a more sound basis, a condition which will be to the benefit of the country as a whole. At present there is almost a mad rush to the mines. Every train is crowded, and there seems to be the greatest anxiety to get another sight of the precious mineral. The result is that hundreds are going there, for whom there is no accommodation, in spite of the fact that hotels are being rushed up on almost every corner. This condition will of course be relieved in a short time, and the town will be able to take care of all its visitors.

Mr. Lamb is spending a few days in Omemee before going back to his duties in North Bay.

WEDDING BELLS

HOOPER–MAXSOM.

The bridegroom referred to in the following article from the Lindsay Post, is well known in Peterborough, having played baseball here with the Lindsay team on different occasions. The Post, reporting his wedding, says:

Old Sol shone forth with becoming splendour yesterday, and crowned with success the happy nuptial event which took place at No. 38 Angeline street, when Miss Amy and Mrs. Edward Maxsome, were by spirea and palms. The nuptial united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Herbert John Hooper, of London, formerly foreman of the Watchman-Warder staff.

The floral decorations were very pretty, the house being perfumed with the scent of various kinds of flowers and Easter lilies. The pleasing ceremony was performed under a daintily suspended flower bell, entwined in tullips, Easter lilies, ferns, and carnations, the whole of the back ground being flanked with a floral effect. The bride who was unattended, was given away by her father, and was prettily gowned in crepe de chene, and carried a beautiful sheaf of asparagus ferns, lilies of the val. Florence Maxsome, daughter of Mr. knot was tied by Rev. Geo. Bishop, pastor of the Cambridge street Methodist church, in the presence of fifty or more invited guests.

After the serving of a dainty and sumptuous repast the happy couple drove to the C.P.R. station and embarked for western points, a large crowd of well wishers and friends gathering at the station to wish them success.

SIMPSON–MACMILLAN.

A recent issue of the Ottawa Citizen says:—

"Yesterday, at one o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Dr. Ramsay, pastor of Knox Church, united in marriage Lieut. R. S. Simpson and Isabella F., only daughter of Vice-Principal Macmillan of the Ottawa Collegiate Institute. The guests included only relatives of the contracting parties.

Mr. Simpson was supported by his brother, Mr. B. Simpson, of Hamilton, while Miss Jessie Dewar, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. Little Miss Marianne Macmillan, the bride's niece, was flower girl, and the wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Masson, the bride's cousin.

The guests from out of town were Mrs. R. Howard, of Caledonia, Ill.; Miss Isabel Macmillan of Belvidere, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Simpson, of Finch, Ont.; Mrs. Hugh McLean, of Lancaster, Ont.; Miss Jean Simpson, of Peterborough, Ont.; Mr. J. B. Kennedy, M. P., of New Westminster, B. C.; Dr. and Mrs. P. C. McGregor, of Almonte, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson left for New York on the 4.25 train and on their return will reside at 132 Waverly street.

Blast Furnaces To Use Electric Power

C. G. E. Capitalists Will Erect Them—Probably at Niagara Falls—Output of 200 Tons a Day.

The Toronto Star says that capitalists connected with the Canada Foundry Company and the Canadian General Electric Company, may organize a company to erect blast furnaces on the Niagara Peninsula, at a cost of a million dollars, is admitted by Mr. Frederic Nicholls.

"We are talking about it," he said to The Star this morning, "but I have no details for publication."

The present blast furnaces in Canada are using their iron product for steel rails, etc. As a result firms requiring pig iron are obliged to import. The proposed furnaces would have an output of 200 tons a day at first. Of this, the Canada Foundry Company would need one-half.

It is said that the new company will be formed at once, and that prompt action will follow. As the Niagara Peninsula is to be the location, the electric process of smelting may be used.

The Penalty Of Overeating

THE LIVER FIRST TO SUFFER, BUT KIDNEY DISEASE COMES LATER —GOOD RESULTS FROM THE USE OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Few people realize that it is not what they eat but what they digest and assimilate that goes to form new blood and repair the waste effected by the act of living.

Hurried eating and lack of proper mastication of the food are among the most common causes of indigestion, and overeating is undoubtedly the beginning of trouble with the liver and kidneys.

Kidney disease and rheumatism are not usually the first indication of a deranged system, but these troubles follow unheeded headaches, constipation and bilious attacks.

Because of their direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are effective in whatever stage of such derangements they may be used, except when the structure of the kidneys has been wasted away by Bright's disease.

What we would emphasize, however, is the advantage of beginning this treatment at the first indication of trouble with the liver. It is the liver which first feels the result of overeating because of its difficulty in filtering the blood. Keep the liver right by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills and you not only prevent headaches, biliousness and constipation, but entirely escape derangements of the kidneys, which are at once so dreadfully painful and fatal.

Reliability is the word most frequently applied to Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, as well as to his other medicines, for people have come by experience to know that, as a means of ensuring the regular and healthful action of the kidneys, liver and bowels, there is no medicine to be compared to this.

With these filtering and excretory organs in health, indigestion and bodily pains are unknown and one runs little danger of contracting colds or contagious diseases.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

NEW DIRECTORY FOR BELL COMPANY

The new directory of subscribers of the Bell Telephonee Company has been issued and shows a large number of new users of the 'phone. The number of telephones now in the city is 714, an increase of 72 in the last six months, which Mr. Doan states, is quite satisfactory. He added that from 12 to 15 new subscribers are being added each month to the list.

Some changes in the numbers are made in the new directory, and subscribers will do well to consult it when desiring to use the 'phone.

BELL COMPANY'S UNDERGROUND WIRES

The Brantford Expositor says: Mr. O. E. Stanton, of Montreal, superintendent of underground construction of the Bell Telephone Company, is in the city to-day laying out plans for underground work in this city. The company are laying some underground cables here, and the work is being done with a view to making good connections with the company's new building, which is to be erected on Dalhousie street.

NATURAL GAS IN VICTORIA COUNTY

Woodville Advocate: Considerable interest has been excited in the township of Eldon of late by the operations of several gentlemen who have visited the northern end of the township and acquired options on large blocks of land, presumably in the belief that natural gas or coal oil exists in this locality. Some time ago Mr. Archie McFarlane, of 3rd con., near Eldon Station, dug a well which has yielded inflammable gas in considerable quantities ever since. Many indications are also said to be present of existence of petroleum. As above stated, these conditions have given rise to much interest and no little excitement on the part of those directly interested in the lands affected. A surprising feature of the affair, however, is the eagerness with which the owners of property grant indefinite options on their property, in many cases, we are informed, for as low a sum as $1. the public will await with much interest the development of Eldon into a new Canadian oil field.

Popular Question Debated at St. Andrew's Guild

Municipal Against Private Ownership—Some Clever Arguments Advanced—Affirmative Taken by Mr. Langford and Negative by Mr. Shirley—Other Members Expressed Their Views at Conclusion of Debate.

DISCUSSION WAS VERY PROFITABLE

The regular monthly meeting of St. Andrew's Guild was held last night in the Guild Hall of the church. A large number of the members were present and a most interesting programme was presented which consisted of the debating of a question which at the present time is one of the most momentous that our government has to deal with, that of Municipal against Private Ownership.

The debaters last night were Guildsmen Langford and Shirley, the former conducting the affirmative and the latter the negative aspect of the question. Both displayed great ability in the expounding of their different points as well as in the character of the arguments presented.

Mr. Langford in introducing his address in favour of Municipal Ownership read articles from speeches given by Mayor Johnson of Cleveland, and Hon. John Burns, a member of the British Cabinet on the theoretical views on the subject. Next in dealing with the practical side which treats of dollars and cents the speaker referred to the Niagara Power scheme, how it was found necessary for the government to deal with the matter relative to the consumers rather than allow the operation of the plants to go into the hands of capitalists, who must have every cent possible to obtain. He also mentioned the success with which Fort William and Port Arthur have met in the Municipal Ownership of the Street Railways and Telephones. These have paid well and have been instrumental in keeping down the taxes.

The reduction in water rates which has followed municipal ownership by the city taking over the supply of water to the citizens from a private company, was also a strong feature of his argument.

Mr. Shirley in dealing with the side of the question alloted to him, criticized a number of his opponent's arguments very intelligently before beginning his ideas in favour of Private Ownership. Many of the theories advanced for Municipal Ownership appear very well in print and when spoken from the platform, but when it comes down to practice they fade away. No Municipality, he said, can take over and run a concern as cheaply as a Private Corporation. If the latter charge exorbitant prices, the people have only themselves to blame, as they should see that representatives are elected to office who shall look after their interests. A maximum price should be fixed on things offered by Private Companies. Municipalities very often go into things blindly without waiting to consider the effects upon the public, while private persons always consider the matter in hand thoroughly before venturing in pastures green and so give to the public the better satisfaction.

Mr. Shirley also gave many facts concerning English cities and towns showing the injury done to the public, who suffer under ownership by the municipality. Facts from reports on a number of leading American cities were cited to substantiate his claim that better results followed private ownership.

Guildmen Kerr, Bowerman, Campbell, and Common also spoke giving their respective views on the important question very cleverly touching on points omitted in the arguments of the speakers of the evening.

A Problem Solved

Ozone is ozone and in buying it the problem is to get the purest form. "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" is the purest form in which Ozone is put up. In addition each bottle contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King" free, and it is well known that you should take "Celery King" along with Ozone.

We put "Celery King" coupons in our Ozone bottles because no other firm can give "Celery King" with Ozone. By buying "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" you get the purest and most concentrated form of Ozone, and in addition, you save the expense of buying "Celery King" to use with it.

No other kind of Ozone offers this advantage. Ask your druggist for it, and if he hasn't it, write to the Public Drug Company, Bridgeburg, Ont. Sold by W. B. WARNE. 4

Appreciation Of Kindness Of Dr. Burnham

Annual Vestry Meeting of St. Mark's Last Night Records Successful Year.

Most encouraging and indicative of much progress, were the reports presented at the Vestry Meeting of St. Mark's on Monday last. The Rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, was in the chair, and opened the meeting with prayer. After reading the minutes of last meeting the report of the People's Warden was presented. Sunday collections during the year amounted to $129.40, an increase of $51.66 over the previous year. Receipts from annual subscriptions and other sources $339.55, making a total receipts of $468.95. The expenditure was $468.81, of this amount $173.00, was expended in renovating the church. For missions $55.00 were contributed. During the year a memorial tablet to the memory of the late Rev. Mark Burnham, and a chancel carpet were given to the church by Dr. George Burnham, of Peterborough. Reference was made to the hearty services at Stewart's Hall, which are held there monthly and which will be continued every first Sunday of the month.

The election of the People's Warden resulted in Mr. Thos. Graystock being elected. The rector re-appointed Mr. Abner Collins his warden. Upon motion of Mr. Thos. Graystock, seconded by Mr. R. Scollie the following resolution was unanimously passed that the members of St. Mark's Church, Otonabee, desire to express to Dr. George Burnham, Peterborough, their gratitude for his many tokens of kind interest in the material welfare of St. Mark's Church. They feel indebted to him for the financial aid he has given them in their endeavour to preserve and beautify their church, and very gratefully remember in this connection the noble and self-sacrificing work which Dr. Burnham's father, the late Rev. Mark Burnham, has done in years gone by as the founder and first rector of St. Mark's.

The members of St. Mark's Church wish to give some tangible expression of their appreciation of Dr. Burnham, by asking him to accept his election as Lay Representative of St. Mark's at the Diocesan Synod.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. R. Scollie for her faithful services as organist.

Messrs. John Thorne, Fred. Collins, Wm. Pickle and John Dixon, were elected Sidesmen for the year.

The election of Lay Delegates resulted as follows:—Messrs. Dr. Burnham, Peterborough; Barlow Cumberland, Port Hope; and Robert Parker, Toronto. The meeting then adjourned.

Next Sunday the choir of St. Luke's Church, will repeat the Easter Music, and Miss Ruth Dawson will sing "Hosanna", by Granier.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will begin at St Mark's on Sunday, April 29, a Sunday School at 2.30 p. m. Service at 2.15 p.m.

Editor Post Card Column:

April 17th, 1906.

Dear Sir,—I should like to ask, through the columns of your journal, what is the Citizen's Committee that a short time ago was going to arrange sports for holidays in this city to prevent the citizens from going to other places to spend the holidays. If they are still alive and kicking, its pretty nearly time they were arranging something in the line of athletic events for the 24th of May.

Site Of South Ward School One-Sided And Inconvenient

The Situation Out of Reach of Present and Future School Population—Large Expenditure Necessary to Get Access to the New School—A More Northerly and More Central Site Demanded.

In regard to the one-sided site for the proposed new South Ward school, it needs but little consideration to see how illy adapted it is to serving the convenience of the present, and prospective, school population.

Anyone studying the condition of No. 1 Ward, from Charlotte street south, and westward to the North Monaghan boundary, will see that in the area east and north of Lake street not one half of the land available has been built upon.

But this vacant land north of Lake street and west of Aylmer street, is rapidly being covered with buildings, and the population of this part of the ward will soon be double what it is now.

With the school placed in the middle of a park lot, school children within a block's distance of the South Central school will have to tramp south-east to George street to reach a school situated practically in the country, with no population to the south of it.

The population in the district to the north of Lake street, especially the western portion, is growing rapidly, and naturally the school population will increase in an equal ratio.

Under these circumstances, does it not seem more in line with common sense to build a school within reach of the school population, instead of dragging the school children across two or three railway tracks, to the extreme south-eastern corner of the city, to attend a school that cannot be filled without practically importing public school pupils.

With the new school placed in a pasture behind Mayor Best's barn, there will be no school population to speak of south of it, nor south of the line of Westcott street.

The school population will therefore have to be drawn from the north-west, much of it within a block of the present South Ward school building, and much of it from the district west of Park street to the boundary.

It is to be noted that not a member of the school board lives south of Dalhousie street, and this may serve to explain the indifference of the Board to the convenience of the residents of the South Ward.

With the school placed on the site proposed, every school member of every family situated in the northern and western portion of the new school district will have to tramp long distances over railway tracks, through a portion of the city badly served with street pavements, and in winter blocked with snow, to attend a school in the south-east corner of the city, away from present school population with no prospect of any considerable increase of school population in the immediate future.

And all this when there is no necessity for such an indefensible situation. There can be found many available sites, north and west of the presently proposed site.

If the expense of a lot of suitable size in this region is slightly increased by the pulling down of two or three inferior buildings, that expense would be trifling compared with the cost of opening up streets at a cost of from $6,000 to $10,000, to give access to the present out-of-the-way site.

Then a site in the more northern and central part of the new school district would be convenient to the existing school population, which is bound to rapidly increase.

On the other hand the school population convenient to the new school—placed where it is proposed to place it—will not for years show any appreciable increase.

Yet an inconvenient site is selected, with only a sparse public school population within easy reach of it on the north, and practically no school population to the south of it.

And this is done, when a more northwesterly site could be chosen, a site which would be within easy reach of the pupils, and would not involve the necessity of spending from $6,000 to $10,000 to open up new streets, for which there are no reasons except giving access to a school site in the middle of a field, and—to give value to private property at the public expense.

The proper site for a new school of moderate size and cost, should be in a more northerly and more central position.

A school building situated here would admirably serve the purposes of the vast bulk of the present and future school population for fifteen or twenty years to come.

The school age of the average child is only about a dozen years. And the proposed site will compel children from the northern and western part of the new school district to travel during these dozen years, hundreds of miles, unnecessarily, to reach a school situated out of convenient reach of the great majority of the pupils who will be forced to use it.

Why will the School Board not listen to reason? Why should they so dearly cherish their fad of wasting from $15,000 to $18,000 upon an extravagantly large building, placed out of reach—convenient reach — of the bulk of the population that will be forced to use it?

And not only the expense of an unnecessarily large school, but the added cost of opening up one of two streets at a cost of from $6,000 to $10,000, altogether an unnecessary addition to the burdens of the taxpayers of from $20,000 to $25,000.

By the way, the extension of George street seems to be the crux of the whole situation. It is a new idea. It was not considered necessary till the scheme of improving private park lot property became feasible. The people voted for the extension of George street, because at that time it was considered necessary. But the project was dropped and only revived when an out-of-the-way school site was selected, making the extension necessary to give access to the new school, and—incidentally increase the value of private park lot property at the public expense.

If the people were given a chance to vote on George street extension now the verdict would be different, and they should be allowed an opportunity to vote on the new proposition which is quite different from the proposed extension of George street some time ago.

Then the street was needed for the street railway tracks and to keep Lock street or Crescent street free for the use of funeral corteges.

But the railway tracks are laid down now and will hardly be shifted to the new extension.

The only plea now is that the opening of George street south is necessary to give access to a school site placed in a field without access except by the expenditure of $6,000 or $8,000 for opening up streets.

Apart from the one-sided, hole-and-corner nature of the school site the objection of cost is a strong one.

It is not extravagant to say that, including the cost of a $35,000 building the placing of the school on this site with the added expense of opening up a street to reach it, will involve an expenditure before the matter is concluded, of between $40,000 and $50,000.

And this in face of the fact that a site can be obtained in a more central situation and a school, ample for all purposes and ten times more convenient to pupils, erected at a cost of, at the outside, $20,000.

In spite of the fact that the School Board may have its way, the people should have their say.

The Board may force their project through, but the people will have something to say about it in the future. They can only have their way by the consent and concurrence of the City Council and if the latter yield they will also have to reckon with their constituents whose best interests they will thus have betrayed.

SPRING ADVICE.

Do Not Dose with Purgatives and Weakening Medicines—What People Need at This Season is a Tonic.

Not exactly sick — but not feeling quite well. That's the spring feeling. you are easily tired, appetite variable, sometimes headaches and a feeling of depression. Or perhaps pimples and eruptions appear on the face, or you have twinges of rheumatism or neuralgia. Any of these indicate that the blood is out of order, that the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon you and may easily develop into more serious trouble. Don't dose yourself with purgative medicines in the hope that you can put the blood right. Purgatives gallop through the system, and weaken instead of giving strength. What you do need is a tonic medicine that will make new, rich, red blood, build up the weakened nerves and thus give you new health and strength. And the one medicine to do this speedily and surely is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood which makes weak, easily tired and ailing men and women feel bright, active and strong. If you need a medicine this spring try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and you will never regret it. This medicine has cured thousands and thousands in every part of the world and what it has done for others it can easily do for you.

Medicine dealers everywhere sell these pills of you can get them direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

An Anxious Hubby.

THIS STORY of the absent-mindedness of a professor of Phillips Exeter Academy is told by Booth Tarkington, the novelist, who was a graduate of that institution.

"His man's wife hastened in to him the morning as he sat in his study marking exercises.

"'Oh,' she cried, 'Oh, I've swallowed a pin!'

"The instructor looked concerned.

"'Don't worry about it, my dear,' he said, in a soothing tone. 'It is of no consequence. Here'—he fumbled at his lapell—'here is another pin.'"

OWEN SOUND, ONT., March 10th, 1905.

Having used a sample box of Gin Pills, and finding them give me great relief, I sent my father-in-law, A. The Gin Pills gave him relief before half the box was used. He is now entirely cured, and I believe Gin Pills a great cure.

Find Generally That the Local Hotels are Credit to City —Some Improvements Suggested—A Thorough Inspection Yesterday.

Yesterday, as announced in the Examiner, the License Commissioners —Dr. Morrison, and Messrs. LeBrun and Kendry — accompanied by Inspector Cochrane, completed their domiciliary and official visit to the hotels of the city. Every hotel was thoroughly inspected—from cellar to attic, including stabling, sheds, etc—and their condition closely noted. The commissioners state that they found the hotels generally in good condition, meeting very fairly the requirements of the license law. In one or two instances there was room for improvement and its provision suggested. As a whole, however, one of the Commissioner states that he believes that Peterborough is supplied by as high a class of hotels as any place of similar size in the province.

Speaking of the shed and stable accommodation the chairman stated that the citizens generally did not, he believed, appreciate the extent to which the hotelmen had provided for the farmers visiting the city. In some few cases the sheds and yards needed cleaning and repairing, but, generally, they were in good order.

After the inspection the commissioners met and adjourned until next Friday night when the applications for licenses will be considered.

MRS. HUBBARD AND HER WORK

The work of Mrs. Hubbard in the wilds of North-eastern Canada stamps her as the most renowned of women explorers. With three Eskimo and a Montagnais Indian as guides she followed the trail upon which her young husband had died of starvation six months before. Disputing with Dillon Wallace the honour of this daring attempt at solving the mystery of this extraordinary land, she has succeeded to a wonderful degree. She is the heroine of the day both in journalistic and scientific circles. A charming woman and a spirited lecturer, we may expect a rich treat on Monday evening next. The plan will be at Jordan Bros. on Saturday morning.

AN OLD SAYING

Showing How Cause and Effect Are Never Far Removed.

It is an old saying, "Where there's honey there's bees"—not less true is one which science has coined more recently, "Where there's Dandruff there's germs"—and—to push the inference further, we may truly say "Where there's Dandruff cured Newbro's Herpicide has been at work."

The reason of Herpicide's imitation as a genuine cure for Dandruff lies in the fact that it attacks and destroys the root of the whole trouble—a parasitic germ which feeds upon the material which nourishes the hair follicle.

Other so-called remedies are not directed at this true cause of the disease.

Accept no substitute; there is none.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

SHOULD CELEBRATE CITY'S BIRTHDAY

Ald. Ball made a suggestion at the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night that is deserving of favourable consideration by the Council. It was to the effect that the city should celebrate its birthday on July 1st with a monster demonstration. Ald. Ball pointed out that this would keep people at home on the holiday instead of there being a general exodus as is usually the case. "Our holidays are like Sundays," said the alderman. "If Sundays were kept as holidays there would be fewer police court cases." As to the form the demonstration should take, Ald. Ball said that could easily be arranged. He thought that seeing that Peterborough was a great Society city, that a monster parade of all the different Societies should be held on that day.

No action was taken on Ald. Ball's suggestion last night, but it is one that might well be considered by the Council.

HAS THEM ALL "SIZED UP"

Individually and Collectively the Merchant Has Prepared for Us.

There is a merchant in town who figures on selling 2,000 suits, and half as many, overcoats before the end of the year. He is so sure of it that he has ordered the garments made at the Semi-ready tailor shops in Montreal, and some of the goods are now on view in the Semi-ready store here. The merchant says that each suit of clothes is cut out from an individual pattern, that it passes through 30 different hands, and that at every stage of the making the garments are inspected by men who see that every stitch is in its right place.

The cloths are selected, and the styles and patterns are made to the order of the merchant, who has mentally sized up the size and the taste of his prospective customers.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

is better than other Soaps but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Follow directions.

SUNLIGHT WAY OF WASHING

FIRST.—Dip the article to be washed in a tub of lukewarm water, draw it out on a washboard and rub the soap lightly over it. Be particular not to miss soaping all over. THEN roll it in a tight roll, lay in the tub under the water, and go on the same way until all the pieces have the soap rubbed on, and are rolled up.

Then go away for thirty minutes to one hour and let the "Sunlight" Soap do its work.

NEXT.—After soaking the full time rub the clothes lightly out on a wash board, and the dirt will drop out; turn the garment inside out to get at the seams, but don't use any more soap; don't scald or boil a single piece, and don't wash through two suds. If the water gets too dirty, pour a little out and add fresh. If a streak is hard to wash, rub some more soap on it, and throw the piece back into the suds for a few minutes.

LASTLY COMES THE RINSING, which is to be done in lukewarm water, taking special care to get all the dirty suds away, then wring out and hang up to dry.

For Woolens and Flannels proceed as follows:—Shake the articles free from dust. Cut a tablet of SUNLIGHT SOAP into shavings, pour into a gallon of boiling water and whisk into a lather. When just lukewarm, work articles in the lather without rubbing. Squeeze out dirty water without twisting and rinse thoroughly in two relays of lukewarm water. Squeeze out water without twisting and hang in the open air.

The most delicate colors may be safely washed in the "Sunlight" way.

$5,000 REWARD will be paid to any person who proves that Sunlight Soap contains any injurious chemicals or any form of adulteration.

LAST EDITION

LATEST DETAILS OF WORST DISASTER IN COUNTRY'S HISTORY

Lowest Estimate of the Loss of Life is 1100 Persons—Newspaper Offices and Hotels Destroyed--Telegraph Wires Down and Extent of Disaster Hard to Ascertain---Sacramento Also Affected by the Shock.

(See also Page One.)

In our first edition to-day is found as full and complete news of the appalling earthquake disaster in San Francisco of this morning as could be obtained up to the moment of going to press. Owing to the wide-spread destruction and the disorganization of telegraph and other news services, the obtaining of full or exact information is extremely difficult. From despatches sent from varying quarters it is reasonably certain that the destruction of property has been fabulously great and the loss of life appalling. The full record of either one will not be readily known. Many bodies will be buried under the ruins of crumpled structures, and their fate remain unknown. The property loss will be great as in addition to the collapsed buildings, those standing will be so shaken as to be unsafe and cannot be used. The fall of buildings created fires, and the heaving of the earth opened water mains, and there is no water to fight the raging fires.

It is estimated that the loss of life will reach 2,500 as far as known.

The catastrophe, apart from general considerations for suffering humanity, will have a special interest to Peterborough people, many of whom have relatives and friends in the earth-shaken city, and there will be much anxiety until their safety is assured.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce has an important branch in San Francisco, but the local branch has heard nothing from that source; reports will be sent to the head office. Mr. Fred Bell of this city, has two sons employed in the San Francisco branch, Mr. Arthur, and Mr. C. W. Bell.

Below will be found the latest despatches received:

G. N. W. Despatch.

Railway Goes out of Sight.

New, York, April 18.—The Western Union received a report that a serious fire is burning at Berkely, where the State University is located. A telegram from Sacremento reports that three miles of railroad sank out of sight as the result of the earthquake between Suisuan and Benelon, and all wires were taken with it.

Section Suffering Worst.

Now, York, April 18.—The Postal Telegraph has received information that the greatest damage from the earthquake was done to property in the following streets: Drumm Davis, Front, Battery, Sansom, Montgomery, Kearney, Spear, Main, Beale and Fremont.

Hotels Shaken Up.

San Francisco, April 18, — In the confusion which rules everywhere it is almost impossible to learn details of the disaster. In a general way it may be said that the district lying between Market and Howard streets from the bay as far west as the City hall has been badly wrecked. The hotels in the vicinity of Third and Market streets were badly shaken up but there seems to have been no loss of life there.

Newspapers Wrecked.

The "Call" and "Examiner" buildings as well as the Western Union Building have been badly wrecked. The large department stores in this neighbourhood were also ruined. Farther east on Market street towards the Ferry Slips in section occupied by cheap lodging houses and hotels and here the loss of life is reported to be very great.

Fires are burning in a number of places along Market street. The authorities have resorted to dynamite to check the progress of the flames. The residence section of the City, while badly shaken, reports no loss of life or serious damage.

Killed in Hotel.

The Valencia Hotel collapsed, burying 75 persons in the debris. Many of the fine houses are damaged so badly it is impossible to get the apparatus out.

Heintz and Co's. Wires.

Theives at Work.

New York, April 18. — 2 p.m. — Latest returns from San Francisco state that a severe shock occurred about three hours after the first shock, shaking down many of the remaining buildings. The city is in a panic. Thieves are at work looting the bodies of the dead and ransacking the houses and there is absolutely no order. The people are leaving the city as fast as possible, with the exception of the few who are doing heroic work.

Despatches from Salt Lake City say that the shock was severely felt there, and that several buildings were destroyed.

New York 2 p.m. — Further returns from San Francisco say that Berkeley has been completely destroyed.

AGAINST PROPOSAL.

Ontario Library Association Opposed to Control by School Boards.

Toronto, April 18.—The Ontario Library Association yesterday adopted resolutions recommending the Dewey decimal system of book classification, and to oppose any proposal by the Government that public library boards should be placed under school boards. These officers were elected: President, Norman S. Gurd, Sarnia; first vice-president, Rev. W. A. Bradley, Berlin; secretary, E. A. Hardy, Toronto; treasurer, Dr. A. B. McCallum, Toronto; council, Dr. James, Toronto; Judge Hardy, Brantford; A. W. Cameron, Streetsville; Judge Mahaffy, Bracebridge; J. Steele, Stratford; W. J. Robertson, St. Catharines.

FATALITY ON BRITISH WARSHIP.

Three of the Crew of the Prince of Wales Killed.

To Burn Down a Town.

Pipestone, Man., April 18.—A deliberate attempt has been made to burn down the town. A cloth saturated in oil was placed in the hallway of one of the largest business blocks here, and ignited. Residents happened to be passing through the block and discovered the fire in time to save the building. Citizens are patrolling the streets.

Body of Teddy Fitzgerald Found.

Belleville, April 18.—The body of young Teddy Fitzgerald, who was drowned in the raceway leading to Carlaw's flour mill Monday afternoon, was discovered near the sluice leading to the mill at 8 o'clock yesterday morning after the water had been let out.

THREE TRYING TIMES IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

There are three periods of a woman's life when she is in need of the heart strengthening, nerve toning, blood enriching action of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

The first of these is when the young girl is entering the portals of womanhood. At this time she is very often pale, weak and nervous, and unless her health is built up and her system strengthened she may fall a prey to consumption or be a weak woman for life.

The second period is motherhood. The drain on the system is great and the exhausted nerve force and depleted blood require replenishing. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills supply the elements needed to do this.

The third period is "change of life" and this is the period when she is most liable to heart and nerve troubles.

A tremendous change is taking place in the system, and it is at this time many chronic diseases manifest themselves. Fortify the heart and nerve system by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and thus tide over the dangerous period. Mrs. James King, Cornwall, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled very much with heart trouble—the enemy better to a great extent due to "change of life." I have been taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for some time, and mean to continue doing so, for I can truthfully say they are the best remedy I have ever used for building up the system. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of other sufferers."

Price 50 cents per box, three boxes for $1.25, all dealers, or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

STILL DANGER FROM ELECTRICITY

Ald. Elliott at the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night called the attention of the committee to the fact that there was great danger of another accident occurring at the corner of Melbonel and George streets, where Mr. Gibbs horses were killed by electricity a few weeks ago. Mr. Elliott said that the state of affairs at that corner was the same as at the time of teh accident and that some one might be killed on a wet day.

Deranged Liver and Biliousness.

"For a long time I suffered from liver complaint and biliousness, and could find nothing to help me until I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have recommended these pills to many of my friends and they have all been well satisfied with the results." — Miss Julia Langlois, Manor, Assa.

OMISSION CAUSED MISUNDERSTANDING

In the summary of the Hill-Dewart case published yesterday the Examiner inadvertently omitted two words which entirely altered the meaning of the one section. The paragraph in question read, "The defendant in his statement of defence admits the first statement" (that he had called the plaintiffs a set of blackguards and that they had been accused of stealing cattle) whereas the meaning intended was, "The defendant admits the first paragraph of the statement, which merely gives the names and occupations of the principals involved in the case".

Citizens May Apply For An Injunction

In Case the Board of Education Persists in Its Course of Ignoring the Ratepayers.

Editor Examiner.

Sir,—The acute stage which the school crisis has reached demands a remedy, and a stringent one. Having consulted one of the leading lawyers in Peterborough, I am prepared to say that the School Board and City Council have exceeded the spirit of their real rights under the statute, and will in all probability have to face an injunction. This can be avoided by applying to the people, who will not be ignored.

It is a well-known fact that the School Board knows that the people will turn down the fancy scheme, and, in alliance with the Council, has decided to ignore the small taxpayer and the man with the hod.

License Department Issues Instructions

New Schedule of Fees Will Apply to This Year—No Wholesale Licenses to be Issued by Board of Commissioners—Department Will in Future Issue Them.

After the Licence Commissioners had completed their tour of inspection of the hotels yesterday they held a meeting in the Inspector's office, at which two letters from the Department were read. The first advised the Board that there will be a change in the fees to be charged for tavern and shop licenses, and for the transfers for 1906-7, and all licenses to be issued for the incoming license year will be subject to the new schedule. Wholesale licenses will in future be issued by the Department and not by the Board of License Commissioners.

The second letter deals with applications for new licenses, and instructs the Board that should applications be received for more licenses than were issued last year, the matter be called to the attention of the Department before they are dealt with. The letter expresses the hope that the Board will co-operate with the Department with a view of preventing any undue issue of licenses during the ensuing year. It is signed by E. Saunders, Chief Officer.

SURPLUS SHOULD BE USED TO REDUCE WATER RATES

Ald. Ball has strong opinions as to how the surplus from the Waterworks Department should be expended. To the Examiner this morning Mr. Ball briefly stated his views as follows:

"Only part of the people are paying for water. The waterworks department should therefore be run in the interests of the consumer, and not in the interests of the whole city. Any surplus that accrues should be applied to the reduction of the water rates to benefit the consumer. The argument of the commissioners is that they want to provide a fund for the future improvement of the syste.. I think that the people of the future should pay for this. I am not a water consumer myself, and why should the consumers help to create an asset for me? Water is a necessary element, and should be provided free, or, at least, as cheaply as possible."

Appeals Dealt With By Court Of Revision

Six Appeals Remitting Assessments for Sidewalks Constructed as Local Improvements Were Allowed—Taxes on $5,000 of Weaving Company's Assessment Were Remitted.

A meeting of the Court of Revision took place last night when there were present, Messrs. J. H. Hall, chairman; Wm. Langford and H. Rush.

The following appeals respecting assessment for sidewalks constructed as local improvements in 1905 were taken up:—

Wm. Eyres, north side of Antrim street.—Mr. Eyres' assessment reduced to 57 ft. 9 in., and Fred Russell's increased to 57 ft. 9 in.

J. H. Ames, north side of Edinburgh street. Mr. G. H. Howson filed consent that the measurement of his property should be increased to 57 ft. J. H. Ames' assessment was reduced to 57 ft. and G. H. Howson's increased to 57 ft.

W. H. Castricum, east side of Stewart street, between London and McDonel street.—Mr. Castricum's assessment reduced to 2 ft. 10 in., and W. G. Westlake's increased to 34 ft. 5 in., and assessment of H. C. Stabler, H. Graham, J. J. Lang and T. J. Wilson increased to 31 ft. 4 in.

A. F. Lane, east side of Reid street, south of Simcoe street.—Mr. Lane's assessment reduced to 69 ft., and the city assessment for street intersection increased by 2 ft.

J. Rose, west side of Park street, between Charlotte and King street. Assessment of Mrs. A. Robinson, J. Rose, H. Wightman and the city reduced 2 ft. each. Mrs. T. J. Cameron assessed for 8 ft. for lot 30, plan 115.

A. Edmunds, Rogers street, wrote saying that the taxes were high enough before.—No action was taken.

The special assessments for granolithic sidewalks constructed as local improvements on over fifty streets as altered and amended, were passed and confirmed.

A letter was read from the Colonial Weaving Company, saying that a bylaw was passed fixing the assessment of their factory at $4,000 which was not confirmed by the Legislature, and that they had been assessed for 1905 for $9,000. They asked that the taxes on the assessment over $4,000 be remitted. Messrs. F. J. Jameson, R. H. Kells were heard in regard to the matter. No action was taken.

T. H. G. Denne was heard and said that lot 9, south Simcoe street west of George streeet was over assessed in 1905, by $1,500, owing to part of the property having been assessed twice on two streets. — Judgment, taxes on $1,500 assessment be remitted to correct the error.

AN "AT HOME" OF BRASS WORKERS

The third and last "at-home" of the season under the auspices of the Brass Workers, will be held to-morrow (Thursday) evening in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, and it is safe to predict that all previous functions given by this committee will be eclipsed by this one, as the management are determined to make this "at-home" the crowning success of all their efforts.

It would be well for those intending to be present to note that dancing this time will commence at 8.30 sharp, so that the programme can be finished at a reasonable hour. The music as usual will be supplied by the Misses Dorris, which is a sufficient guarantee of its excellence.

OBITUARY.

PATRICK CROWLEY.

Word was received in the city yesterday of the death in Grand Rapids, Minnesota, of Patrick Crowley, a native of Peterborough County, after a lingering illness from paralysis. He was about 57 years of age, and had lived in the United States for a number of years. He leaves two sisters, both living in Peterborough and three brothers, Timothy and John in Otonabee and William, of Chicago. The body will arrive here on the 19th and the funeral will probably take place on the 20th.

GAME LITTLE FOX TERRIER

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock a fox-terrier was run over by the C. G. E. car on Charlotte street. One of the canine's front legs was amputated, and a hind one so badly crushed that it was rendered useless. A boy, out of charity, threw the unfortunate animal into the creek, near which the accident happened, thinking it would drown. Despite its terrible handicap, however, the terrier swam from the Charlotte street bridge to the one at King street, and prawled up on the bank, where it was knocked on the head and despatched by a sympathetic bystander.

Tenders For Fire Hall

---WERE OPENED LAST NIGHT---

No Action Was Taken

Misunderstanding Had Evidently Arisen—Fire, Water and Light Committee Wanted Contractors to Tender for the Whole Work, and This Was Not Done—Other Business.

The tenders for the new fire hall were opened at the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night, but no action was taken in the matter, owing to a misunderstanding which had evidently been made in connection with the tenders. It was the intention of the committee to have the contractors tender for the entire work, but this was not done, the contractors apparently not including in their tenders the plumbing and heating. It was decided to leave the matter over until the committee learns just what the tenders received include.

Following are the tenders received:

C. Rutherford & Co...	$10,225
H. Carveth...	9,875
R. Sheehy...	10,789
Thos. McKee...	10,750
F. J. B. McPherson—
Plumbing...	$329
Heating...	693
	$1021

Less 2 per cent., if given both contracts, leaving it $1000.

McGregor & Reid—
Plumbing...	$410
Heating...	635
Adam Hall—
Heating and plumbing...	$1043

Chairs for Market.

A letter was read from Mr. H. Snider asking for 100 more chairs, to replace the broken ones in the market hall, and also for sufficient paint to paint the building.

On motion of Ald. Elliott the chairman was instructed to inspect the market hall and supply the chairs required.

Chief's Report.

Chief Rutherford reported concerning the hydrant near the Peter Hamilton foundry, half of which Mr. Hamilton has been permitted to use by a motion of the council, which motion has never been rescinded.

The report also referred to the hose which had burst at the time of the engine test. This was explained by the fact that oil had in some manner got upon the hose.

Chief Rutherford also called attention to the equipment needed this year. These included a dozen pair of rubber boots, and 400 feet more hose. The brigade now has 2800 feet of first class hose, and 800 feet feet of doubtful quality.

It was moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the contract for supplying a nuisance ground be let to Thomas Williams for $200. —Carried.

With respect to the request of J. J. Turner, jr., and Jas. Finnie, for permission to erect a nine inch brick wall building in the fire limits, it was moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Ball, that the Board adhere strictly to the bylaw, and that the requests be not granted. —Carried.

The members present last night, were Ald. Adams, in the chair, Ald. Graham, Mason, Elliott, Duncan and Ball.

Rangers Fine Turnout At Their Weekly Drill

Two Hundred and Fifty-one Men of All Ranks Were on Parade Last Night—Fifteen Recruits Were Sworn in, Making 75 for the Season—Men are Picking up Drill Rapidly.

There was a slight falling off in the attendance at the weekly drill of the 57th Regiment last night, but but this is no doubt accounted for by the fact that many of the officers and men are away on their Easter vacations. The turn out under the circumstances was remarkably large, there being altogether 251 men of all ranks on parade. Great enthusiasm was displayed by the entire regiment and the year promises to be a most successful one. The recruits especially are most enthusiastic and the majority of them are making rapid progress in mastering the rudiments of the drill.

Last evening was spent in squad drill and rifle exercises, the manoeuvres taking place in the park and school grounds which were in fine shape for marching. The men are rapidly picking up the drill, and great improvement is manifest.

The first march out of the season will in all probability take place next Tuesday night.

Seventy-five recruits have joined the regiment so far this season, and five of the eight companies have now their full complement of 42 men, and it is expected that by the next drill night the regiment will be up to its full strength. Fifteen recruits were sworn in last night and will be attached to the different companies. Recruit drill takes place on Thursday evening, but the attendance has not been as large as it should be.

The parade slate last night showed the strength of the companies to be as follows:

A Company...	24
B Company...	30
C Company...	31
D Company...	34
E Company...	34
F Company...	27
G Company...	24
H Company...	21
Officers on parade, 16.
Total strength, 251.

Owing to the absence of Captain Walker, Adjt., no orders for the week were issued last night.

Public Generally Should be Interested in the Excellent Exhibit—The Ladies Who are Entertaining the Guests.

The attendance yesterday at the exhibition of the Women's Art Association, in the Y.M.C.A. was quite satisfactory to the ladies who have the exhibition in charge. Tea was served yesterday by Mrs. Larmouth and Miss Jessie Hamilton, and this afternoon Mrs. Gardner and Miss Morrow will preside over the refreshment tables. To-morrow night Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. R. F. McWilliams and Mrs. Miller will serve tea and on Friday, Mrs. McGhil and Mrs. Matthews.

The ladies are anxious that the public shall become interested in the exhibition, and with this in view the admission fee has been made a merely nominal one and does not in any way degree represent the quality of the exhibition, which is one that does the Association great credit, and one in which the citizens generally, should take an interest.

The encouragement of art in a community is an enterprise which the citizens should support and doubtless the ladies who have this object in view will be given the support which their enterprise deserves.

How The Coal Strike Affects Peat Business

Mr. D. H. Moore of Opinion That it May be a Good Thing for the Manufacturer and Incidentally Good for Canada—Will Call Attention to Resources of the Country.

Probably the coal strike, which now begins to look serious, will have the effect of developing a Canadian industry, that of the manufacture of peat. The effect of a continued coal strike upon that industry was the subject of a conversation with Mr. D. H. Moore, who is deeply interested, and a firm believer in the future of the manufacture and use of peat. He was of the opinion that the strike might not be an unmixed evil if it resulted in calling the attention of Canadians to the fuel resources of their own country. In the peat works with which Mr. Moore is identified, 2,000 tons will be produced this year, and this is only one of a number of similar industries which, should there be sufficient demand, could greatly increase their output. Perhaps it will take something like a coal strike to impress upon Canadians the fact that right in their own land they have a supply of fuel which, if developed, will in time make them independent of the coal fields of the United states.

Mr. Moore states that peat can be used for any domestic purpose that coal is ever used for, and sees no reason why it should not supersede the use of the latter, at any rate, to a large extent.

Peat requires somewhat different handling to coal, of course, but when once the peculiarities of the properties have been mastered it, is quite easy to use. Dr. Gray, who is perhaps the most extensive user of peat in the city, and the most successful, has designed a new grate, which makes the use of peat much more economical than if it were used in the ordinary coal grate. Peat requires very little draught to make it burn, igniting, in fact, almost as readily as wood, but has the lasting qualities of coal.

Work at the Victoria Road peat beds has not commenced for the season yet, but Mr. E. V. Moore is there now preparing for work as soon as the frost leaves the ground, and with the prospect of a continued coal strike the business this year should be satisfactory.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

SWEET CLOVER.

"Sweet Clover," a pretty pastoral drama, depicting in a fascinating manner the many emotions that fill the breasts of human beings, was the attraction at the Grand last night. This beautiful production was given a delightful presentation by a capable cast. The play is as refreshing as the title indicates, and the plot is very interesting. The first scene is laid at Sweet Clover Farm, the home of Lois Holcombe, the heroine of the piece, and of her father, Jerome Holcombe, and his sister, Abigail. These three characters were splendidly portrayed, as were also the roles of Eldridge Grosvenor by Ray Baker, and Sunny Andrews by Lucretia Shaw. The scene of the plot shifts from Sweet Clover Farm, with all its natural simplicity and sincerity, to the highest social circles of New York City, and the contrast is striking, one being given the impression that the simple country existence is much preferable to the stilted and artificial life of the large cities. The situations are strenuous in the extreme at times, and the production throughout is marked by strong climaxes. "Sweet Clover" is a delicious drama which treats the very heart of naturalism and beauty.

THE YANKEE CONSUL.

"The Yankee Consul," the comic opera success, which will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House Friday, April 20, is the brightest sparkling comic opera success that has been presented during the past decade. Its phenomenally successful runs in New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia were the sensation of theatricaldom, and the wonderful popularity, as evidenced by record-breaking audiences, demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt that Blossom's vitile humour and Robyn's catchy, tuneful music had secured a decided and unprecedented hit with patrons of comic opera. The cast has been carefully selected. Seventy-four people in all, headed by Harry Short, a clever comedian, and Miss Michelena, are included in the roster, while two carloads of magnificent scenery, gorgeous costumes and lavish effects are utilized in staging the play. The chorus is composed of 51 pretty, graceful girls, the most fascinating ever seen here—and the song hits, which have made this comic opera famous, have been whistled the length and breadth of the country.

COULD NOT REST NIGHT OR DAY

With Irritating Skin Humour—Whole Body Affected—Scalp Itched All the Time and Hair Began to Fall Out—Wonderful Result From

APPLICATION OF CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am never without Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment since I tried them last summer. About the latter part of July my whole body began to itch. I did not take much notice of it at first, but it began to get worse all the time, and then I began to get uneasy and tried all kinds of baths and other remedies that were recommended for skin humours; but I became worse all the time. My hair began to fall out and my scalp itched all the time. Especially at night, just as soon as I would get in bed and get warm, my whole body would begin to itch and my finger nails would keep it irritated, and it was not long before I could not rest night or day. A friend asked me to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I did, and the first application helped me wonderfully. For about four weeks I would take a hot bath every night and then apply the Cuticura Ointment to my whole body; and I kept getting better, and by the time I used four boxes of Cuticura I was entirely cured, and my hair stopped falling out, but I continue to use the Cuticura on my scalp. It keeps all dandruff out and scalp is always clean. I always use Cuticura Ointment on my face after shaving, and have found nothing to equal it. I will never be without it." D. E. Blankenship, 319 N. Del. St., Oct. 27, 1905. Indianapolis, Ind.

RECOMMENDED TO ALL MOTHERS

"I have used Cuticura Ointment for chafing of infants, and as they grew older all skin diseases were given treatment with that and the Cuticura Soap. I never found it necessary to call a doctor, as these Remedies are a sure cure, if used as directed. I am glad to recommend them to all mothers." Sincerely yours, Mrs. F. A. Kennard, June 21, 1905. St. Paul Park, Minn.

"Prepare For The Worst" Says Despatch "San Francisco Entirely Gone"

The Latest Wires From The City Are Even More Terrifying Than First Stories---200,000 People Are Homeless---Estimate of Loss is $250,000,000 to $300,000,000---Every Business Building and Half of Resident Portion Destroyed---The Most Awful Catastrophe Recorded This Century---Peterborough People in the City Heard From---They Are Safe---General Funston Advises War Department That City is Practically Destroyed.

The Examiner's story of the San Francisco horror yesterday gave full details up to the hour of going to press of the terrible catastrophe which has cast a gloom over the whole continent, and is one of the most disastrous affairs that has been recorded this generation. The first intimation of the fate which had fallen upon the beautiful but somewhat immoral City of the Golden Gate, was received over the wires of Heintz and Company here, when Mr. John Barber received a message giving the bare announcement of the fact that there had been an earthquake. Shortly after details began to arrive, and, as readers of the Examiner know, the wires of Heintz and Company furnished many interesting details of the story, which, at best, and as was to be expected, by reason of the fact that the wires were practically all down, was disconnected. Gradually, however, the extent of the destruction was realized, and the statement that it was the worst of the generation was seen to be warranted.

A number of Peterborough persons have relatives in San Francisco and they were naturally much alarmed for their safety, and many enquiries were received at the newspaper offices as to the details of the catastrophe. About the only information that could be given, however, was the fact that so far as it was learned, the destruction was confined to the business districts, the residential sections escaping fairly well. To-day's despatches only add to the horror of the affair. This morning's stories over the wires were to the effect that the fire was rapidly spreading, and that there was little hope of stopping it until the material for its spread was consumed. An estimate or the loss, which, however, is only an estimate, and may or may not be near the right amount, is between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000. It appears, too, that the area of the earthquake was wider than it was at first thought. A despatch to-day telling that Santa Rosa, a small city in the neighborhood of sixty miles north of San Francisco had been destroyed and that 10,000 people had been rendered homeless was received.

Heintz and Co's. Bulletins on the Disaster.

"San Francisco is Gone."

New York, April 19. — Logan and Bryan have received the following message from Chicago:

"You can believe the worst report sent; San Francisco is entirely gone."

Special G. N. W. Despatches to The Examiner.

The Disaster Spreads.

San Francisco, April 19. — Reports from the interior are most alarming. Santa Rosa, one of the prettiest cities in the prosperous county of Sonoma, is a total wreck. The loss of life is not to be estimated but it will probably run into the hundreds if not thousands. The whole business portion tumbled into ruins, and what was not destroyed by the earthquake has been swept by fire.

Messengers bring the sad tidings of the destruction of Healdsburg, Geiserville, Cloverdale, Hopeland and Ukiah. This report takes in the country as far north as Mendocino, and Lake counties, and as far west as the Pacific Ocean. These are frontier counties and have not as large towns as further south. In every case the loss of life and property is as shocking as here.

Water Off Again.

Washington, D.C., April 19. — A Western Union bulletin says San Francisco entire district up as far as the new Fairmont Hotel on top of Nobbill California street, between Powell and Mason streets, all gone. Water supply again cut off and fire not under control. Ten thousand homeless are reported at Santa Rosa.

City is Doomed.

Oakland, Cal., April 19., 9 a.m.—The fire is still raging throughout San Francisco and there is no possibility of stopping it until it exhausts itself for want of material. The city is doomed. The authorities are still dynamiting buildings, but a new misfortune has befallen the place. The explosives for blowing up buildings are becoming exhausted even the powder of the government arsenals is all gone. Every business building and half of the resident portion of the city is destroyed.

Residence Section Going.

San Francisco, 5 a. m., Western time.—Fire still raging. Continue to blow up buildings to check its progress. Fire now wiping out residential section. 200,000 people homeless. Food short, rush supplies.

Mint Was Saved.

Washington, April 19. — Director Roberts of the United States Mint received a telegram dated last night at Oakland from Superintendent Leach of the San Francisco mint, informing him that the mint and its contents of $309,000,000 worth of coin and bullion was saved.

Suffering for Food and Water.

San Francisco, April 19th. — The fire is burning rapidly in a diagonal line up the hill, commencing at Mcallister street, and ending at Battery street and on the Mission as far as Sixteenth street. There is still an inadequate supply of water. The wind is rising. The military authorities have forced everyone outside city. They have all they can handle without any more in it. Arrangements are made to get additional electric power from Sacramento. The situation has not improved, and already suffering for food and water is awful.

Damage in Alameda.

Alameda, April 12th. — Yesterday's earthquake caused a loss here of $200,000. No lives were lost, but a few persons were injured. The buildings of the University of California escaped harm in the earthquake. The town of Berkeley was not so fortunate. No lives were lost there, but the aggregate damage from minor injury to property is many thousands of dollars.

Food Very Scarce.

Washington, April 19. — General Funston has sent the following message: "Impossible to inform you now as to full extent of disaster, City practically destroyed. Troops have been aiding police patrolling and maintaining order. Martial law has been declared. You cannot send too many tents or rations. About 200,000 homeless. Food very scarce. Government buildings gone."

Militia on Police Duty.

New York, N.Y., April 19.—The fire in San Francisco is still raging. The city is practically destroyed. It is too early in the morning there to learn definitely at the waterfront the exact situation. Boats and suburban roads are running on schedule time except in Alameda. The Military are doing police duty, but the city is not under martial law.

Relief Work Going on.

Washington, April 19. — Secretary of War Taft, Chief of Staff Bell, General Humphrey and Commissionary General Sharpe spent nearly the entire night sending orders to General Funston and other officers in the west relative to the relief of the sufferers of San Francisco. An order to Barracks to ship immediately 200,000 rations has been issued. Thousands of tents have also been ordered to be sent from various armouries on the coast.

Stock Market Weak.

New York, April 19. — The San Francisco disaster was reported growing this morning, the unchecked fires gaining a hold on the residential section. This added to the weakness of the stock market, especially affecting Southern Pacific, while United Railways common fell to 63, a loss of 8 points from the opening quotation. Pacific Mail was off 4 points, Pacific Coast 2 points.

Heintz & Co's Wires.

Loss is Great.

The loss by earthquake and fire in California will amount to 250 to 300 million dollars.

Fire Spreads Rapidly.

San Francisco Bulletin, April 19, 3 a.m., — The fire is spreading with increased rapidity at this hour.

The Occidental Hotel, the Crocker-Woolmouth, National Bank buildings, and the immense Mills buildings are in flames, and all prospects of arresting the conflagration until material for it to feed on has been consumed, has been abandoned.

Santa Rosa Destroyed.

Los Angeles, 4 a.m., Western Time. —Santa Rosa has been destroyed.

Ten thousand people are homeless. The dead may reach into the hundreds.

The buildings not destroyed by the earthquake were consumed by fire.

Entire Business Section Doomed.

New York, April 19, 9 a.m. — Officers of the Western Union Telegraph Company, announce that the company has now a direct wire to San Francisco. They state that the latest information is that the fire is still raging and has reached 22nd and Mission street. They add that the flames are spreading in all directions and the indications are that the entire business districts have been destroyed.

Thieves Shot on Streets.

Oakland, April 19, 8.45 a.m., western time. — The flames still rage

STORY APPRECIATED

The Examiner was warmly congratulated by many persons last night on its story of the San Francisco disaster. Except in elaboration of details, the Examiner's story, placed on the streets at 4 o'clock, with the second edition, was as complete as that given by the Toronto evening papers at 8 o'clock. A special edition, containing all the news up to the time of going to press, was issued at 3 o'clock, and the regular edition at 4 o'clock.

BELL BOYS SAFE

Two sons of Mr. F. R. Bell, who are employed in the Bank of Commerce, San Francisco, as was stated in yesterday's Examiner, have wired their father that they are safe. To-day he received the following message, which, as may be imagined, was very welcome:

F. R. Bell,

Peterborough, Ont.,

Badly frightened, but all safe and well.

San Francisco Lady Visits In Peterborough

Mrs. W. J. Ellis, of the City of the Golden Gate, Now Practically Destroyed, in the City the Guest of Her Sister, Mrs. Dunsford—Her Husband's Office is Among the Destroyed Buildings.

So far as has been learned there is only one resident of San Francisco in Peterborough at the present time, Mrs. W. J. Ellis, of that city is here visiting Mrs. G. Dunsford, and was interviewed by the Examiner to-day on the terrible affair, which had befallen her home city. She was of course greatly shocked at the news of the dread disaster, which naturally came to her with peculiar force, by reason of the fact that it was her home that was being destroyed. Mrs. Ellis is quite familiar with the city and knows well the section reported to be destroyed. Her home is no Belvidere street near one of the largest of the city's many parks, and removed some considerable distance from the scene of the earthquake. But while she has the satisfaction of knowing that her home is safe, at least for the present, her husband's office in the Flood Building, in the heart of the business section has been destroyed by fire. This building was located on Market street and it was in this section that the greatest damage was done.

Mrs. Ellis has been unable to communicate with her husband, though she has wired several times. The telegraph wires are, in many cases down, and it is practically impossible to get a private message into or from the city at the present time.

Santa Rosa, the city reported to be destroyed, Mrs. Ellis has frequent visited, and she stated that it was a comparatively small city some 40 or 50 miles from San Francisco. Mrs. Ellis has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Dunsford here for some weeks.

Want Street Car Line From Peterboro' To Warsaw

Deputation From Douro and Dummer Waited Upon Mr. J. H. Larmonth Last Night—Will Collect Information as to Freight and Passenger Traffic.

The people of Douro and Dummer townships are apparently very anxious to have street railway connection between Peterborough and Warsaw. Last evening a deputation of six gentlemen, headed by Dr. Douglass, of Warsaw, and County Councillor Maloney of Douro, waited on Mr. J. H. Larmonth, manager of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company and asked that connection be given with Warsaw as soon as possible. They argued that the line will not only be in the interest of Warsaw and surrounding country, but of the company and city as well.

The deputation asked that the proposed line to Young's Point be extended so as to include Warsaw or else that a line be run direct to the Dummer capital.

The idea of extending the city line to Warsaw had never occurred to the company but Mr. Larmonth requested the deputation to obtain all the information possible as regards freight and passenger traffic to and from Warsaw. If this is sufficiently great the company may deal favourably with the request.

Fires Devastated The Cify In Its Early Days

Some Incidents in History of San Francisco Recalled—In Three Years, Beginning 1849, Series of Fires Swept the City—In Some Cases Millions of Dollars Were Lost—Citizens Ruined by Their Losses.

One of the best works published on San Francisco and its environs is "San Francisco and Thereabout," a book issued by the California Promotion Committee, and written by Charles Keller. A gentleman who formerly lived in California, placed this book at the disposal of the Examiner, and from it an interesting account of the first of a series of fires which swept the city in its early days, beginning with 1840 is obtained.

In a chapter, "The Coming of the Argonauts," reference is made to the early days of the city in the following terms:

The winter of 1849 was the most notable in the history of San Francisco. The rains were unprecedentedly heavy and the miserable streets became impassable bogs. Horses were hopelessly mired and left to die. Kegs, boxes and rubbish of all sorts were thrown into the worst mudholes to form stepping stones for pedestrians. The tent city was of the most temporary and inadequate description. Men leaving for the mines were obliged to travel by sailboat up the bay and Sacramento River, a tedious journey of days and sometimes weeks. Municipal affairs were in such a state of chaos that at one time there were three town councils in the city.

To add to the terrors of this memorable year, a destructive fire swept the town, fanned by a high wind, licking up the flimsy houses of frame and canvas. It was but the first of a series of disatrous conflagrations which leveled the city during its early years. Painted cloth interiors furnished excellent fuel for a big blaze, and once started, the hand engines worked by a host of resolute young fellows, could make little stand against it. During the three years from 1849 to 1851, six fires devastated the city, involving a loss amounting in some cases to several millions, but with wonderful energy and courage the ruined citizens went to work each time to rebuild, improving with every bitter experience, until they learned to put up brick buildings with iron shutters on doors and windows to withstand the fearful ravage of the flames.

Anxious Hearts In Peterborough

Many Have Relatives and Friends in Earth-Shaken San Francisco.

One of the greatest calamities of modern times and the most appalling this continent has ever known has fallen upon California and San Francisco. There are thousands of Canadians in this State, and to their relatives the suspense associated with the uncertainty of their fate is agonizing. There are very many in Peterborough, who have relatives or acquaintances living in the doomed city, or in its vicnity at considerable distances, for the scythe of destruction has reaped a wide swath of disaster and death. As far as known at present the following is a list — only a very partial one, for every inquiry elicits new names.—

Mrs. Geo. Dunsford has a brother-in-law in the ruined city whose place of business has been destroyed.

Mrs. Rauch, wife of Prof. Rauch, and sister of Dr. Jessie Birnie.

Mr. S. W. S. Ferguson, Professor of Ancient History in University of California, wife and child, brother of Mr. J. H. Ferguson, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Peterborough, and son of Hon. Senator Ferguson, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

John Elder and a brother, well-known here in former years.

A brother-in-law—a civic official in San Francisco—of Mr. S. J. Sheridan, 328 George street.

Mrs. P. Simons has several cousins, some with families residing in the city.

Mr. W. A. Hunter, a brother of Mr. Ex-Warden Hunter, North Monaghan, and a wife and child, are residents of San Francisco.

Mr. T. Cavanagh has two brothers in the doomed city.

Mr. Bousenit, and family reside at Oakland, a suburb, just across the bay from the city.

Mount Pleasant Loses Citizens

Northwest Attracts Them—Other Late News.

Special to The Examiner.

Mount Pleasant, April 16. —Spring work has begin.

The fall wheat crop is promising.

The middle road through the long swamp is in a bad condition for vehicles. Wait till we get the drain!

Easter vacation withdraws the school bell's daily jingle, and the pupils can stand the strain while they recuperate physically.

Mr. Thomas Handley of Seaforth, brother of our townsman, William Handley, paid us a hurried visit on Good Friday. Tom is an old Mt. Pleasant boy and we were all very pleased to renew acquaintances, and to hear of his success in western Ontario.

Mr. Jas. McLean returned on Saturday from a visit to Toronto.

Messrs. Clem. Morden and Arthur Brown have contracted the Northwest fever, and commence treatment on the 17th inst. May their convalescence be slow, and remunerative! While we dislike to see the brawn and muscle of our town departing we wish them the greatest success in a wider sphere.

Easter services were held in the churches of our village, appropriate sermons being delivered, and good music dispensed.

This year has been very poor for maple syrup.

Will our municipal council please note our sidewalks, take a walk over them and exclaim—"Fathers, we have trod them till they departed!"

San Francisco Entirely Gone

and the entire city seems doomed to destruction. To add to the horror, a food famine threatens. Nothing to eat can be had except in the outlying districts. Nearly ten square miles of the city have already been fire swept and all efforts to check the flames have failed. Three thieves caught robbing the dead have been shot in the street. All three were whites.

Jumped From Hotel.

Mint in Flames.

New York, April 19, 1 p.m. — The mint at San Francisco is in flames now.

Big Insurance Money.

New York, April 19. — Insurance interests report that premiums paid in San Francisco to foreign insurance companies for 1905 total $1,341,000 at one per cent. This would mean $134,100,000 in risks. The lowest estimate is that one-quarter of this amount, or $33,525,000, will have to be paid by these companies.

New Music Hall Now Proposed

Will Probably be Constructed in Connection With the Conservatory.

Mr. Gliddon, director of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, is forced to contemplate enlargement. The large number of pupils enrolled in all departments makes such demands upon the present space, that it is felt desirable to convert the present music hall into glass rooms, which will represent a considerable addition to teaching facilities.

To provide another music hall, it is proposed to erect a new building, with a seating capacity for about 500, to be placed to the north of the present structure. This will be a distinct boon, since, in addition to providing facilities for conservatory purposes, it is understood that it will be available for other outside events, concerts, lectures, etc.

No definite decision has been reached, but architects have been consulted as to the placing and plans of the proposed music hall, and it is quite within the possibilities that before long work will be begun upon a much-needed convenience to the Conservatory, as well as to the general public.

Runaway Almost Proved Serious

Otonabee People Were Upset Into a Ditch.

Special to The Examiner.

River Road, Otonabee, April 18.—What might have proven a very serious accident occurred her on Tuesday night last. A prominent young man of the neighbourhood was driving one of his fair young ladies home, when the horse suddenly took fright, and relieving the vehicle of its contents proceeded onward in a most frenzied manner, leaving the couple to the mercy of a deep ditch and a fense corner. Strange to relate they escaped without any injuries save some bruises and scratches and a few slight losses. The young ladies in this vicinity need to be very careful with whom they entrust their lives, as there are more than one gentleman drives dangerous horses in the neighbourhood, and the young man who seldom has a young lady has the best chance, as his mind is not occupied with anyone else. We would strongly advise a four-wheeled turnout in the future as it provides better means for remaining inside and attending to the reins.

Sturgeon Point Property Deal

Mr. J. W. Flavelle After the Hotel Site for $5000.

The Lindsay Post says: It has just leaked out that about a week or ten days ago Mr. Wm. Flavelle, of this town, secured from Mr. John McDonald, owner of the beautiful Sturgeon Point hotel site, an option on the entire property—some 36 acres in all—agreeing to purchase same at the expiration of one month at $5,000. The option was secured by Mr. Flavelle on behalf of his brother, Mr. J. W. Flavelle, the well-known Toronto financier, who, having spent part of several seasons at the point with his brothers, Wm. and John D., has grown to love the spot as do all others who have the good fortune to sojourn there for a time.

Second Steamer-Load of S. A. Immigrants Arrived—Part of Kensington's Passengers are in Peterborough—New Comers Created Most Favourable Impression.

About a dozen Salvation Army immigrants arrived in the city yesterday off the steamer Kingston, which docked at Halifax on Monday. Of those who came to Peterborough, the majority have already taken places with farmers, and others selecting the positions they wished to take while on the steamer, where those in charge established an employment ing girls for the most part. This confusion after the steamer landed.

A number of married men were on this steamer, and of these, a few came to Peterborough, the majority, however, being unmarried.

A few of those who came to Peterborough went to the Barracks, but the greater number were at once taken by the farmers, with whom they engaged, to their houses, while a few have been quartered with some of the members of the army in the city.

The Toronto Star, speaking of the part of the contingent which reached that city, said: A detachment of 600 Salvation Army immigrants arrived at the Union Station last night. Major Howe, of the Immigration department, was there to meet them, along with several other officials. All the immigrants were well-dressed, and there were a great many married men among the party. The Ontario immigration officials declared that the party was the finest looking lot they had seen.

A large number of them belonged to the Salvation Army, and could easily be distinguished by their hats. All wore a badge, which had the words "Good'bye" on the top; "Welcome" underneath, and clasped hands in the middle.

The number of women among the party was 150, fine, stalwart looking girls for the most part. This constitutes the largest number of women immigrants that have come out at the one time. They will find positions as domestic servants in Toronto and elsewhere in Ontario.

Other Towns Wanted The Carpet Factory

Journal of Fabrics Has Interesting Article on the New Industry Which the City Has Secured—Orillia, Stratford and Cornwall Were Rival Towns—Orillia the Second Choice.

The last copy of the Journal of Fabrics published an article in reference to the new carpet factory, which will be located here. The Journal says:

The proposal reported last month for a carpet factory to be built at Peterborough, Ont., by Messrs. Brinton and Preen, of Kidderminster, England, has been settled, but in a different shape to the plan reported. The change of plan was caused by the rejection of the bonus clauses by the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature. In consequence of this, Senator Cox, of Toronto, an old resident of Peterborough, came to the rescue and purchased the land so that it could be transferred to the company. The parcel of land was the property of the defunct Peterborough Sugar Co., which proposed to make beet root sugar, but abandoned the enterprise after the walls of the factory had been partially built. It consisted of 33 acres, and at the auction last month the bidding started at $15,000, Senator Cox's first offer, and ran up to $25,000, at which it was knocked down to him. Peterborough will have its carpet factory, though a number of other towns, such as Orillia, Stratford and Cornwall were competitors for the industry. In the purchase of the land it is understood that the property will be annexed to the city without any increase in taxation for a long term of years.

Regarding the negotiations that had been proceeding with Orillia, the Packet of March 29 says:

When the bonus clauses in Peterborough's private bill were thrown out by the Legislature, the English carpet firm, in whose favour they were drafted, re-opened negotiations with Orillia. G. Percy Preen, who is to establish the factory in this country, visited the town and looked over the sites, and negotiated the basis of an agreement with the town council. Before leaving town he stated that he had given Peterborough a week to arrange matters in some other way, but should they fail to come to an agreement the company would come to Orillia, which had second choice. Mr. Preen frankly stated that he would give the preference to Peterborough, with whom he has reached a very satisfactory arrangement, and which suited him well as a location. But he acknowledges that Orillia offered many advantages to manufacturers, and, failing Peterborough, would at once close with the town. On Monday Mayor Miller received a letter from Mr. Preen stating that the Peterborough deal had been put through, and that their factory would, therefore, be established in that city. He thanked His Worship for the trouble that had been taken for him here, and again bore testimony to the many desirable features possessed by Orillia, reiterating that this town would have been the second choice.

The new company will be known as the Brinton Carpet Co., of Canada, and, as noted last month, a member of the well-known carpet firm of Brinton's, of Kidderminster, Eng., with G. F. Preen, of Kidderminster, are the promoters. Mr. Preen, who will be Canadian manager, says the work of erecting the carpet factory buildings will go on at once. Application will be made at this session of the Legislature, for annexation of the whole property to the city on the condition that for a term of years the rate of taxation shall remain the same as the present Monaghan township rate. Already a couple of dozen looms have been delivered in Peterborough, and more are on the way. The sugar mill building turns out to be well suited for carpet manufacturing purposes, being 339 long by 110 feet wide, and with foundations strong enough for three or four stories. The present capacity of the works will be about 50 looms, and the class of goods manufactured will be Brussels, Axminsters and Wiltons. Some of these looms are of a special make, the patents of which are controlled by the Brintons. These new looms are now being built.

The sales agent will be W. F. Whitehead, 28 Wellington street west, Toronto, who has a long experience as a commission merchant in the sale of English carpets in Canada. Mr. Whitehead's office will for the present be the headquarters of the company, whose products will be ready for the market before the close of this year.

Pure Blood Source of Health

AND THE BLOOD CAN ONLY BE PURIFIED BY THE HEALTHFUL ACTION OF THE LIVER AND KIDNEYS.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

At this season of the year, as at no other, the importance of pure blood is brought home to the minds of most people. As the result of artificial winter life — living on artificial foods and being shut up in badly ventilated rooms — the liver and kidneys become clogged and sluggish in action, the bowels constipated, and the blood loaded with poisonous impurities.

Is it any wonder that spring finds us run down in health and feeling languid and fatigued? Is it any wonder that our systems become an easy prey to every form of disease which lurks in the spring air? Is it any wonder that we have aching heads and aching backs and suffer from indigestion and biliousness?

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are especially suitable as a spring medicine because they act directly on the liver and kidneys and enliven the action of these great blood-filtering organs.

Except by the action of the liver and kidneys, there is no means by which the poisonous impurities can be removed from the blood. With these organs in health a person is almost immune from colds and all forms of contagious diseases.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills should not be confused with medicines which merely act on the bowels. They do effect prompt action of the bowels, and they do infinitely more, for by setting the liver right they bring about a good flow of bile and thoroughly cure constipation.

Biliousness, liver complaint, constipation, kidney derangements and impure blood cannot exist when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used. And there is a great satisfaction in using a medicine which has stood the test of time and proven its right to a place in every home as a family medicine of worth and reliability.

Put Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to the test and you will avoid the usual ills and weaknesses of spring. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

WEDDING BELLS

Montreal, April 17.—The marriage of Miss Muriel Maye Evans, elder daughter of the Dean of Montreal, to Mr. A. C. Hudspeth, son of the late Mr. Allan Hudspeth, of Lindsay, Ont., took place yesterday afternoon at St. Stephen's church, at half-past five o'clock, in the presence of a large congregation.

The church was decorated with palms, Easter lilies and white stocks, palms, Easter lilies and white stocks. Bishop Carmichael officiated, assisted by Rural Dean Robinson, of Clarenceville. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Ruby Evans, and by Miss G. Hudspeth, sister of the groom, Miss G. Hanson and Miss H. Nutter. Mr. Hamilton Hudspeth, of Chicago, was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Mr. J. Hutchison, K.C., of Brockville; Mr. T. A. Evans, brother of the bride; Mr. H. Warren, and Mr. F. Murray Smith. The bride wore a pretty gown of ivory homespun, made with princess skirt, the short Eton coat having elbow sleeves, finished with lace ruffles. The smart blouse was of ivory taffetas. Her hat was of Val. lace, faced with white malines and trimmed with ribbons and feathers, and she carried a bouquet of white lilacs and lilies of the valley.

The presents were numerous, including a gold chain, and pearl fleur de lis pendant from the groom, whose gifts to the best man and ushers were pearl fleur de lis pins. The bridesmaids received pearl fleur de lis brooches, and the maid of honour a pearl and turquoise pendant and gold chain.

Mrs. Hutchens, of Toronto, and Miss Hudspeth, of Lindsay, Ont., sister of the groom, were among the guests.

What We Claim for Ferrol

FERROL is an Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and if it were nothing more it would take front rank because of the quality and quantity of the oil used and the scientific method of preparation. But FERROL has special claims which take it out of the ordinary class of Emulsion altogether. For instance:

FERROL combines Iron and Phosphorus with the oil, and no other emulsion contains these ingredients, although it is well known that they should always be administered together, as each is the complement of the other.

FERROL is so scientifically prepared that the first processes of digestion are actually performed in the process of manufacture, and the emulsion is ready for instant absorption into the blood. This is of the utmost importance to persons with delicate stomachs.

FERROL

unlike other emulsions, is positively palatable, and not one in a thousand find any difficulty in taking it.

FERROL contains the three essentials of life, viz.: Fat, Iron, and Phosphorus—they have never been combined before.

FERROL holds the record for increasing the weight.

FERROL has received more endorsations from medical men than any other preparation on the market.

FERROL will cure any case of Consumption that is capable of cure.

FERROL is an absolute specific for Colds, Croup, Bronchitis and all kindred troubles.

FERROL is an unfailing remedy for nervous prostration, Chronic Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

Finally, the formula is freely published, and in taking FERROL you "Know what you take."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Rich deposits of silver have been, it is said, discovered in Manitoba. That's a comparatively trifling matter in a country where every farm is a gold mine—as good as the wheat.

The temperance people would be happy and grateful if Hon. Mr. Whitney would make as gallant an effort to make water the universal thirst, as he is doing to make it a power producer.

The provisions of the Whitney Government's new education bill fixing maximum and minimum salaries for teachers, is no doubt honestly intended to minimize an evil, which very injuriously affects our public school work. The lack of permanence in the employment of teachers, is due to salaries being too low to retain efficient teachers. While the new legislation may work fairly well in many places, it will work hardship on many school sections of small size, with a class and number of school supporters who cannot possibly afford to pay the minimum salary the law, as amended, stipulates. Besides the principle underlying the law of supply and demand may possibly conflict with the application of a law fixing salaries. Such action is arbitrary in its character, if not intention.

Suggests Changes In Rural School Trustees

Inspector of Kent Believes Academic Standing of Rural School Teaching is Not High Enough—Proposal to Enlarge School Boards in Rural Districts.

At the meeting of the Education Association in Toronto, Mr. W. H. G. Colles, inspector, East Kent, discussing the rural schools said the academic standing of the teachers is not high enough, and many subjects on the curriculum are almost unknown to them. He would raise the age limit to 20 years before admittance to a training school, and require that every subject upon the Public School curriculum be part of the academic course for teachers, and an examination subject. A knowledge of the Bible and Bible history should be provided in the schools.

He would enlarge the rural School Boards so that two trustees shall be elected each year with the provision that one of the two must be a ratepayer, or the wife of a ratepayer, having one or more children attending the school. This would ensure there being always at least three who have a direct interest in the progress of the school, upon the Board of six trustees, and would enable women to have places upon the School Boards.

TWO 'VERY' DRUNKS AT POLICE COURT

Jas. Bird and Melville Mallory, of Peterborough and Millbrook respectively, were guests at the "Bluecoat Inn" last night, and this morning were assessed $2 by Henry Rush, J.P., who was in the chair, this morning in the absence of His Worship Police Magistrate Dumble.

When asked to plead, Bird said "Guilty," and Mallory said "I guess I was drunk all right."

"Let me go till evening and pay you sure," said Bird.

"No credit in this court," said the Chief, "and the 15 days will do you good."

Both men were so badly intoxicated yesterday that they had to be conveyed to the police station in a wagon.

Was Presented With Ebony Bowls Silver Mounted

D. H. Moore, President of the Bowling Club Honoured by Fellow-Members — Presentation Accompaned by an Address at Annual Meeting—Address by Dr. Boucher—The President's Reply.

HAS BEEN FAITHFUL WORKER DURING YEAR

At the meeting of the Lawn Bowling Association last night the President, D. H. Moore, was presented with a beautiful pair of silver-mounted ebony bowls imported from Glasgow, Scotland, with his name engraved on each, accompanied by an address. Mr. Moore's services were such that the Club felt it could not let the occasion pass without some momento of his valuable work in promoting the interests of the Association.

G. H. Giroux read the following address and Dr. Boucher presented the bowls:—

To Mr. D. H. Moore,
President of The Peterborough Lawn Bowling Association.

Sir,—If our club is one of the most successful in the City of Peterborough, as well financially, as for its good comradeship, the result is largely due to your indefatigable exertions and personal character.

You, more than any one individual, have been the means of its present success, not only from the skill with which you have conducted its affairs, but also from the unselfish manner, in which you have promoted the enjoyment of your fellow members.

There being that feeling and something more, tangible to express the same being required, we therefore ask you to accept the accompanying pair of bowls.

It is our hope that they will be generally a victorious pair, but kindly disposed as we are to you, it would never do to have you win all the time, but on those rare occasions on which we hope to see you lose, we know the winner will have to work to win.

Signed on behalf of the club,
G. H. GIROUX,
Secretary Treasurer.

Peterborough, 18th April, 1906.

Dr. Boucher supplemented the address by a few extra remarks. It was certainly a pleasure he said, for the club to be able to present the President with the bowls. A great deal was owed to Mr. Moore for his zeal and energy and the success of the Association was greatly due to his efforts. The membership had been greatly increased under his regime which was probably the most perceptible proof of his labours.

In reply Mr. Moore thanked the Association for the beautiful and appropriate gift which would always be a reminder of his pleasant connection with the Club. He also expressed his great appreciation of the address which the members had presented him with and hoped that all would have as much pleasure in giving the gift as he had in receiving it.

Deranged Liver and Biliousness.

"For a long time I suffered from liver complaint and biliousness, and could find nothing to help me until I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have recommended these pills to many of my friends and they have all been well satisfied with the results." — Miss Julia Langlois, Manor, Assa.

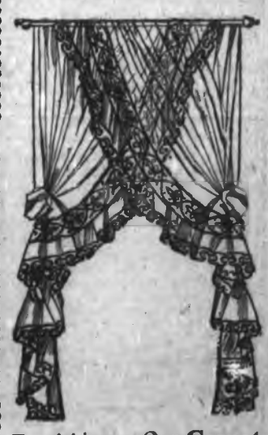
The Furnishing of The Bed-Rooms



Each room of your home has its own special usefulness, and all the decorations and furnishings should have some relation to the comfort and pleasure of the things we do in that room. The chambers are the rooms in which we sleep, in which we rest, in which we start the day. They are also the rooms wherein we are tended when we are ill. The bedrooms should, therefore, have a reposeful quiet, and a cheerfulness of tone and decoration. You will find that we have made a study of the subtleties of Home Furnishings. Our Carpets, Curtains and Draperies for Bed-Rooms excel anything heretofore shown in taste, quality and appropriateness. We will be pleased to show you these fabrics (in combination.)

Mr. Whitcroft Honoured By His Friends

Presented With a Handsome Diamond Pin and an Address.

Last evening a number of Mr. Fred Whitcroft's friends called on him, and presented the popular rover of the hockey team with a handsome diamond pin in recognition of his services during the past season. The presentation was made by Mr. J. B. Cuncannon, while accompanying the gift was the following address, read by Mr. R. H. Shepherd.

MR. FRED. WHITCROFT,
Who Was Honoured Last Night by a Number of His Friends.

Peterborough, April 16, 1906.

Mr. Fred. Whitcroft,
City.

Dear Whitty,—We, the undersigned of your friends wish to show you in some practical form the fact that we appreciate your work for the Peterborough Hockey Team this winter. You have been in a large measure instrumental in the winning of the Championship for the Peterborough Club, and we are pleased to see that at the same time you are taking an interest in and making a success of your work and while it may appear that you have made sacrifices this winter in remaining here, yet there is no doubt that your own good judgment will show you now that you pursued the proper course. While we would like to see you remain in the game for many years, we appreciate the fact that perhaps for business reasons this cannot be the case and for this season's work on the team we ask your acceptance of this pin.

We feel that we are but expressing the universal hope of your admirers in Peterborough, when we say that our hope is that if business interests permit, you may have many years before you of active participation in sports and we are assured that if this is not practicable you will always take a deep interest in the various games in which you have become so proficient.

Mr. Whitcroft thanked his friends in a neat speech after which refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour spent.

The Turner Firm Is In Opera House Businees

Has Option on Two Properties in Centre of City and Contract With Independent Circuit—Latter Promises Three Shows a Week if Local House is Built—Will be on Circuit With Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, London, &c.—Promise of Interesting Developments in Near Future.

There is evidently going to be something doing in theatrical circles in Peterborough in the near future. The Grand Opera House may change hands, but whether it does or not, according to advice which the Examiner has received, there is every prospect that another opera house will be erected here, and the owners of the new house will be Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, whose names were mentioned in connection with the reported prospective transfer of the Grand. To-day Mr. Turner, Sr., informed the Examiner that his firm had options on two pieces of property in the centre of the city, and while it was not definitely decided, there was a probability that they would build a new playhouse. He had also contracts with the promoters of the Independent Syndicate, by which the latter agreed to place three shows a week here in case the house was built. This is the Syndicate which will erect the $250,000 opera house in Toronto, as well as houses in Montreal, Kingston, Hamilton, London and other Ontario cities.

Mr. Turner was positive that the new circuit would be arranged, and that in case his firm decided to erect the house here, they would get the shows.

He stated that the promoters of the new circuit had offered to take a share in the erection of the new house here if it was desired, but Mr. Turner said that it would be built, if at all, by the local firm entirely, who had abandoned the proposal to buy the Grand. He admitted that negotiations had been carried on between his firm and Mr. Bradburn, but they had been dropped. His firm certainly meant business, but for a few days yet, nothing definite would be decided. They had thirty days' option on the two properties either of which would make good sites.

Since the negotiations between the Messrs. Turner and the Independent Syndicate were opened, the former have received offers from two architects to prepare plans, one from Messrs. Stewart & Witton, of Hamilton, where they are building a house, and the second from Theodore Tiller, Toronto. Mr. Tiller is at present working on the new house for Mr. Stair.

INCREASING INTEREST IN ART IS EVIDENCED

The ladies in charge of the art exhibition at the Y.M.C.A. are greatly pleased at the number of citizens who saw the pictures and other work of art last night. The result of the work of the local branch of the association is seen in the increased interest which the public generally is taking in art, since the local branch was organized.

Tea was served yesterday by Mrs. Gardiner and Miss Morrow.

The exhibition will close to-morrow evening, and all who can possibly do so should attend either to-day or to-morrow.

Gave An Address On Mission Work

Rev. J. G. Potter Spoke at the W. F. M. Society Meeting.

On Tuesday afternoon the ladies of St. Andrew's W. F. M. S. Auxiliary held their Easter meeting in the school hall, the president, Mrs. (Rev.) Potter, presiding.

A goodly number were present and listened to a very appropriate and inspiring address given by their pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter, on general mission work.

Mr. Potter expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the genuine and earnest work of this auxiliary, and emphasized the great importance of all our women becoming members of this society, as the true missionary spirit radiated its influence in the home and throughout all the other departments of the church's work, thereby counteracting the tendency to sympathize with and work in only one department of the church.

Mr. Potter also recommended all those interested in the spread of the gospel to invite their sisters to join them, as great results are often obtained by extending an invitation.

Several interesting papers were read by members of the society, and the "Glory Song," rendered by Miss Lila Tully, was much appreciated.

Mr. Potter, in his usual good voice, sang, "There were ninety and nine that safely lay."

Light refreshments were served and a pleasant social half-hour was spent before the close of the meeting.

King Edward Asked To Visit The Dominion

Resolution Inviting His Majesty and the Queen.

PARLIAMENT UNANIMOUS

Loyal Address Passed in the House of Commons—Mr. Bourassa on the Proposed Visit—Criticism of Mr. Aylesworth's Practice of Law — Mr. Lennox Moves His Resolution—Location of Eastern Section.

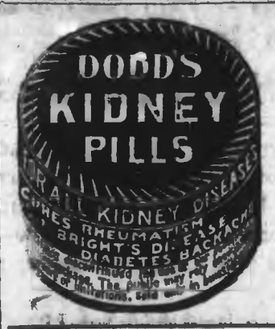
Ottawa, April 19.—The House this afternoon passed by a unanimous vote the following address:

"To the King's Most Gracious Majesty:

"Most Gracious Sovereign,—We, the members of the House of Commons of Canada, in Parliament assembled, beg to humbly convey to your Majesty, with the assurance of loyalty and devotion to your royal person, the expression of the desire and hope, long and fervently cherished by all British subjects inhabiting British North America, that your Majesty would be graciously pleased to honor them with your Majesty's presence, and thereby enable them to offer the personal tribute of their unwavering attachment to the Crown and the Government of the Empire, of their deep affection for your Majesty's person, and their profound admiration for those kingly virtues and truly humanitarian deeds, which have earned for your Majesty first place among the great sovereigns of the world. We, therefore, most humbly pray that your Majesty and her most gracious Majesty the Queen will lend their august presence at such time as may be selected by your Majesty."

Mr. Belcourt (Ottawa) moved the address, seconded by Mr. Northrup (E. Hastings).

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and R. L. Borden both cordially supported it. Col. Sam Hughes commented upon the silence of Mr. Bourassa, but the latter responded heartily, supporting the address. He admitted that he did not especially favor the principles of hereditary power, but the remarkable talents, virtues and attainments of King Edward entitled him to the gratitude and devotion of all his subjects. He was especially beloved by the French-Canadians as a ruler who would never interfere with the rights of the minority in any portion of the empire.



The motion was supported by Mr. Miller, Col. Hughes and Dr. Chisholm.

Mr. Bourassa.

Mr. Bourassa said none of his Majesty's subjects in Canada would be better pleased to welcome him than the French-Canadian Catholics of Quebec. One reason was that he was the personification of constitutional respect for all his liberty-loving subjects, and because he would be the last one in the whole empire to uphold any policy or support any scheme by which any section of the empire would be deprived of any portion of its liberty or authority.

The resolution was then carried unanimously, and ordered to be transmitted to the Senate.

Ministers' Law Practice.

Mr. Lennox moved his resolution expressing the opinion that it is inexpedient that any member of the Government or deputy head of a department should practice in any proceeding, except where Crown interests are involved, in any court presided over by Judges or a Judge appointed by the Government of Canada. Mr. Lennox directed his remarks chiefly to the conduct of Mr. Aylesworth, for whose legal standing he expressed the highest admiration. He said the Postmaster-General had never made it clear that he was not permitted by an understanding with the Premier to continue his practice. Mr. Lennox had not finished at 6 o'clock, and it was arranged he should resume on Monday.

Reorganized Harbor Board.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, introduced his bill reorganizing the Montreal harbor commission.

Was In Orillia On The Indian Claims Business

Mr. Johnston Paudash, of Hiawatha, Interviews Prof. Beatty, M.D.

Mr. Johnston Paudash, of Hiawatha, son of Chief Paudash, returned from Orillia last night where he has been since last Thursday on business. He had an interview with Prof. B. Beatty, M. D., member of the Indian Conference Committee also member of the Indian Grand Council, in connection with the claims of the Mississaugas of Rice, Mud and Scugog Lakes, and also the claims of the Lake Huron and Simcoe Indians. The above tribes want compensation for the loss of their forefathers' hunting grounds which embrace a line commencing from the east shore of Lake Nipissing and due south to 45th parallel of latitude and along that line to the Ottawa River, comprising altogether about 13,840 square miles. The tribes mentioned have repeatedly agitated to the Department of Indian affairs for the claims, but the matter has been put off from time to time and they have come to the conclusion that they will present a petition of right in the near future, either to their Great White Father, King Edward VII., or to his representative in Canada, Earl Grey, the Governor General.

The Earthquake Also Slightly Affected Canada

Disturbance Though Not Perceptible to Majority of Persons, Were Recorded at Observatory Offices in Ottawa and Toronto.

Toronto, April 18.—From north to south and from east to west the continent of America felt the shock.

California alone suffered, but adjoining states as far east as Washington and as far north as Ottawa, felt the vibration by seismograph.

Yesterday from the meteorological office in Queen's Park the following bulletin was issued by Director Stupart:

"The San Francisco earthquake was well recorded by the seismograph at the Toronto Observatory. The first earth tremors reached Toronto four minutes and 36 seconds after the reported time of the quake at San Francisco, and the larger surface waves were recorded after an interval of 23 minutes and 16 seconds, indicating a velocity of 3.3 kilometres per second. The amplitude of the swing of the Toronto pendulum was about 20 millimetres, showing a tilting of the stone pillar on which the instrument rests of nearly 13 seconds of arc."

Felt at Ottawa, Too.

At 1 o'clock a bulletin from Ottawa read:

"The vibrations resulting from the quake at San Francisco were recorded by the seismograph at the Dominion Observatory at the Central Experimental Farm. The preliminary tremors began at eight hours nine minutes 30 seconds in the morning. The principal part of the disturbance occurred at 8 hours 30 minutes 30 seconds and the maximum disturbance at 8.35. When the sheet was taken off at 9.50 quakes were still being recorded, but not so violently."

Canadians in Stricken Zone.

There are many Canadians in California for the winter, and in thousands of homes there is the greatest anxiety. This will continue until detailed statements of the loss of life is obtainable. At present San Francisco is isolated telegraphically. The sending of private messages is impossible. Patience must be exercised until the wires are restored.

Lake Under Town.

Chicago, April 19.—A despatch to The Record-Herald from Charleston, W. Va., says: The city of Charleston was thrown into excitement Tuesday by the discovery of a gigantic cave directly beneath the town. The cave contains a large lake.

Bole's Seat Protested.

Regina, April 19.—The seat of J. F. Bole for the City of Regina was protested yesterday. In addition to the seats of the four Ministers, five Government seats and seven of the eight Opposition seats have now been protested.

Suicide at Allotted Age.

Hamilton, April 19.—Even though he had reached the three-score and ten years allotted to man, John Fleming, a city laborer, could not wait for death to overtake him, and he ended his own life by carbolic acid yesterday.

Race War Fracas.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 19.—One Italian was fatally and another seriously shot by three negroes. After firing six shots the Italians took to their heels. The shooting is believed to be the result of a recent race war.

Gorky and His Hosts.

Paris, April 19.—Maxim Gorky has telegraphed the director of a French publication his impressions of the United States. Gorky says the Americans are the same spitting vulgar people that Charles Dickens found them, and that personal liberty is as much hampered in America as it is in Russia. The sooner he gets out of this wretched country the better he will be pleased.

Held Him Blameless.

Buffalo, April 19.—Rudolf Schilling, aged 19, who has been in custody since April 7, when he struck a fellow worker, Fred Cramus, of Brantford, with a file, causing death was given his liberty yesterday by the coroner's jury. Schilling's claim was that Cramus struck him first, and that he acted in self-defence, which contention was sustained.

Took Abram Off.

St. Petersburg, April 19.—Abram Off, the Cossack officer, who treated Maria Spiridonovd, the revolutionist, in an outrageous manner while she was in prison, has been assassinated at Borisoglebsk, Province of Tamboff. He was shot three times with a revolver.

THREE TRYING TIMES IN A WOMAN'S LIFE

There are three periods of a woman's life when she is in need of the heart strengthening, nerve toning, blood enriching action of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

The first of these is when the young girl is entering the portals of womanhood. At this time she is very often pale, weak and nervous, and unless her health is built up and her system strengthened she may fall a prey to consumption or be a weak woman for life.

The second period is motherhood. The drain on the system is great and the exhausted nerve force and depleted blood require replenishing. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills supply the elements needed to do this.

The third period is "change of life" and this is the period when she is most liable to heart and nerve troubles.

A tremendous change is taking place in the system, and it is at this time many chronic diseases manifest themselves. Fortify the heart and nerve system by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and thus tide over this dangerous period. Mrs. James King, Cornwall, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled very much with heart trouble—the cause being to a great extent due to "change of life." I have been taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for some time, and mean to continue doing so, for I can truthfully say they are the best remedy I have ever used for building up the system. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of other sufferers."

Scotch Bowlers May ---DURING COMING SEASON--- Visit Peterborough

Local Club Decided to Extend Invitation at Annual Meeting—Election of Officers—Mr. D. H. Moore Re-elected President—Secretary-Treasurer Presented Reports—Last Year a Successful One—A Presentation to the President.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Association was held last night in the Ontario Bank Chambers and was one of the most successful and enthusiastic in the history of the club. The chief business of the meeting was the submitting of the reports and the election of officers for the coming season. Other matters of interest were the president's address and also a presentation of a pair of bowls and included the following: Messrs. D. H. Moore.

Those present at the meeting included the following: Messrs. H. D. Moore, Geo. Giroux, R. Kerr, Hubert McBain, D. Belleghom, Wm. Atchison, Wm. Talbot, Thos. Pratt, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, S. T. Medd, Robert Cotterel, Dr. Boucher, W. S. Robinson, W. J. O'Brien, J. W. Green, W. F. Johnson, Jno. Crane, A. Moore, R. M. Waddell, D. Kerneghan, S. Sharp, R. J. Matchett, W. Deyman, Dr. Caldwell.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed the president gave the annual address to the members.

Report of the Executive to the Members of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club:

He was pleased to be permitted to again meet and render a brief account of his stewardship for the past year. In the language of the life insurance companies, "it has been the best yet." True, the Executive has had some serious losses early in the season losing Mr. Whiten. He removed from our city to Rat Portage. He was an ardent and enthusiastic bowler, and was very much missed. The Executive appointed Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Whiten's removal, and in making this selection they made no mistake, as he is a good executive man and fully alive to the best interests of the club.

The Executive also sustained a very serious loss in the removal of Mr. Fred. Dixon to China. He was resourceful, honourable, frank and firm, and seldom, if ever, wrong in his judgment. He was an exceptionally good executive man, and bland and courteous on the lawn, whether winning or losing, or only an interested spectator.

As instructed, your Executive, after viewing Mr. Hall, had the old fence removed, and have now a new fence erected, in keeping with the grounds. They also, after due consideration, decided to build a new club house, or rather, a new storehouse for the bowls and other accessories. The material was purchased, and most of the work was done by the members after hours, with the result that the building did not cost much, even though it is not very pretentious.

The spring was backward and delayed the seed and grass from coming up, and the members were a little restless on account of being delayed so long. Particularly was this the case, and, to some extent, pardonable, when the days were so inviting, though the grounds were anything but fit to play upon.

No record of the games played the past season has been kept, but it is safe to say that the half-acre was most popular, and afforded more genuine clean recreation than other like area in the city.

Mr. Moore also added that more efficient means of lighting and watering the bowling grounds would be a prominent question of consideration by the Executive during the season.

He also referred to the rumour that Canada would be favoured this year by a visit from the Old Country bowlers, and the secretary had been instructed to extend an invitation to them to visit Peterborough.

He was pleased to report that notwithstanding the improvements carried out last season and the deficit of over $81 at the close of last season, the club was now nearly clear with the world, the liabilities amounting to about $32. Taking into consideration the assets of the association, they show a surplus of about $100 over the liabilities.

The president, in conclusion, thanked the secretary-treasurer and the members of the Executive for the loyal and faithful co-operation in the carrying out of every detail of the work undertaken.

The secretary-treasurer's report was next presented by G. H. Giroux, and adopted. The following was the report:

In considering the question of the visit of the Old Country Bowlers coming here this year, the Club instructed the Secretary to write T. M Woodgate, the President of the Ontario Bowling Association, to extend an invitation to the Scotch Bowlers to come to Peterborough.

Judging from the intense interest manifested in the annual meeting last night, the Bowling game will flourish better than ever in Peterborough and to make assurance doubly sure three donations have been given by members of the Club. Mr. C. E. Frost will donate a silver cup to the winning Bowling rink; Mr. J. Crane, a pair of bowls to the best single bowler in the city, and Dr. Boucher and Dr. Greer, a set of bowls each to the winners of the Scotch doubles.

Votes of thanks were tendered Mr. Jno. Crane for his generosity in allowing the Club to hold their meetings in the Bank Chambers. Mr. Giroux, the Secretary-Treasurer, was also given a hearty vote of thanks for his faithful and valuable services during the year gone by.

The Club decided to hold a meeting on May 2nd, to select the skips for the season.

The meeting then adjourned.

ALSO TENDERED ON THE BRIDGE

Mr. C. R. S. Dinnick, of Toronto, one of the contractors who have tendered on the Charlotte street bridge, has secured the contract for erecting the New Press Building on the Toronto Exhibition Grounds. The Star, referring to it, says: — "The Board of Control this morning awarded to Mr. C. R. S. Dinnick the contract for the erection of the new Press Building at the Exhibition Grounds. Mr. Dinnick's bulk tender amounted to $9,999, as compared with two other bulk tenders of $11,897 and $12,700, and individual tenders amounting to $12,205.50.

A RIGHT WAY and A WRONG WAY

Many people have many ways to bring about the same result. Most of them are mistaken ways, but this is not known until the test of time points plainly to the error. Practically there are but two ways to accomplish anything; a right way and a wrong way. Take, for instance, a man with a bad back, there are lots of them, and of various kinds, some with stiches and twitches, others with cricks and twinges; then there's the dull, heavy continuous kind that lasts all day and doesn't sleep at night. They're all bad enough, they're all hard enough to get rid of. Some people rub the back with liniment, others cover it with plasters, either or both means often bring relief, but the pain comes back—it's the wrong way to cure the trouble.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

have a way to cure backache, a way that's all their own—the right way. They're made for the kidneys only. When the kidneys fail in their work of filtering the blood the back aches because they are situated in the small of the back; backache is the kidney's warning of trouble, and every day you let the warning go it brings you nearer to urinary disorders, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, etc.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of kidney ills and that's why they bring such quick relief from backache. Mr. Fred Gray, Good Corner, N.B., writes: "I was greatly troubled with pain across my back. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and received so much benefit from them that I consider them the best remedy for kidney trouble there is. I would not be without them in my house."

GENTLEMEN,—

I beg to acknowledge receipt to-day of cheque for $130 00 from the "Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company," in full settlement of my claim during the time I was unable to carry on Evangelistic work, owing to an accident received in a Dentist's chair, which caused ulceration of tooth and swelling of jaw.

I must express my appreciation of, and thanks to your Company, for the exceedingly prompt and satisfactory settlement of this claim, the cheque having been returned by first mail, after completion of claim paper.

Notwithstanding all that is said in the Press about Insurance generally, yet personally, from your treatment in my case, I take pleasure in heartily commending your Company to the Public.

Yours truly,

Clothiers and Furnishers to Men Who Know

480-482 GEORGE STREET, - - PETERBOROUGH

The Golden City's 'Quake Comes Pretty Near Home

Mr. Wm. Swain, a Nephew of Mr. Jas. Stevenson, One of the Sufferers—His Offices, Which Were in the Destroyed Section, go Down With the Rest—Mr. Stevenson's Impression of the City.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson, was, probably more interested in the record of the tarrible catastrophe in San Francisco yesterday than any other citizen of Peterborrough, the reason being that he was in all probability more affected by the destruction of the business portion of the city. Many readers will remember that last summer Mr. Stevenson visited San Francisco, spending several weeks in that city, visiting his sster, Mrs. Wm. Swain. While there Mr. Stevenson had an opportunity of seeing very much of the city, and was greatly pleased with it. The section in which the greatest destruction occurred Mr. Stevenson is quite familiar with, his late brother-in-law, Mr. Swain, and now his nephew being in business there, and Mr. Stevenson stated to the Examiner that he felt sure that his offices were included among those in the wake of the flames and earthquake.

To the Examiner Mr. Stevenson gave a most interesting story of his visit in the city of the Golden Gate, which he considers one of the most beautiful of all the American cities. A number of very costly buildings are in the area covered by the 'quake, the most valuable, perhaps, being the city hall, which Mr. Stevenson was in a number of times, and which is astimated to have cost about $7,000,000.

Mr. Stevenson was visibly affected by the news of the disaster, and read the bulletins eagerly to learn if possible the extent of the destruction (wrought. He has heard nothing yet from Mrs. Swain, as to whether the family is safe or not, but it is not at all probable that they were among the injured, for while the business offices of Mr. Swain are in the heart of the destroyed section, they resided some considerable distance from it.

While the population of the city proper is given as 350,000, it is in reality considerably more than that, when Oakland and Alameda, two surburban cities, one with 70,000 and the other with 16,000, are included.

The climate of San Francisco is uniform to a degree that is equalled in few regions, the lowest temperature recorded by the weather bureau during 30 years was 29 degrees Far., the highest, 100 degrees. The mean temperature during these 30 years was lowest in December, when it averaged 50 degrees, and highest in September, when it averaged 65 degrees. In other words the variation of mean temperature from month to month during 30 years has been only 13 degrees.

This even temperature was one of the features which impressed Mr. Stevenson most favourably, and his opinion of San Francisco is that, outside of the fact that it is looked upon as a city in which quakes are prevelnt, it is a delightful place to live.

Seven Bright Children For Adoption At Shelter

Something About the Little People in the Charge of the Children's Aid Society—Intelligent, Healthy Children.

There are no doubt in the city, or the surrounding townships, many people desiring to adopt children. For their benefit it might be stated that at present there is a number of children at the Children's Aid Society's Shelter, on Charlotte street. The younsters, seven in number, are all bright, intelligent, healthy children and in foster homes would, no doubt, make great progress. During their stay in the Shelter they have been carefully trained, and are as well disciplined, and well behaved coterie of youngsters as could be found anywhere in the city. Mr. Henry, who is in charge of the Shelter, said yesterday that he has never had the least bit of trouble with the little ones. It is a good opportunity for those who wish to adopt a child.

The children now in the Shelter are Ernest ——, eight years of age, and fair complexion, a bright looking, healthy boy, who has been an inmate since October 20, 1905.

Louise ——, six years of age, a winsome little fair-haired girl, who has been in the Shelter for about two months.

Fred ——, brother of Louise, a bright little lad, aged two years and a half.

Herbert ——, agad eight years, is a very sturdy and healthy boy. He has been in the Shelter for over a month.

Percy —— is a brother of Herbert and looks very much like him. He is five years of age.

Arthur —— is ten years of age, and is the oldest child in the Shelter, of which he has been an inmate since March 20th.

Miss ——, is a bright little girl, four years of age, and is well behaved and intelligent. All the children go to school regularly, and are making great progress in their studies.

Information concerning the children may be obtained from Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, secretary of the society; or Mr. George Cochrane, Division Court building, Water street.

Omemee Hotel Is Destroyed By Fire

$6,000 Conflagration Occurred in the Village This Morning—Guests Had to Fly in Night Clothes—Origin of Fire Not Known.

Special to The Examiner

Omemee, April 19th. — About four o'clock this morning the Bradburn Hotel, one of the oldest and most prosperous hotels in the village, was discovered to be on fire, and before it could be controlled the structure was completely destroyed. The village fire engine was used and did good service and was instrumental in saving the frame houses across the street. Several of the guests had a narrow escape, having to flee from the house in their night clothes, with only what they could pick up in their flight.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The building and contents, valued at $6000, were a total loss, but it is covered by insurance. It is not very likely that the hotel will be rebuilt.

ASSOCIATION WAS FORMED BY CITY MANUFACTURERS

A meeting of the manufacturers of the city was held last night in the office of Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck & Kenr, when it was decided to form a manufastuers' association. The object, briefly stated, is to meet and promote the interests of the manufasturers doing business in Peterborough. Those present were Messrs. E. G. Patterson, Canadian General Electric Co.; R. M. Dennistoun, F. H. Dobbin, Mr. Preen, of Brantons, Limited; S. W. English, of the English Canoe Co.; R. H. Fortye, of the Peterborough Shovel and Tool Co.; Wm. Hamilton, of the Hamilton Manufacturing Co.; Milne Hamilton, of the Peter Hamilton Co.; J. H. Larmonth, of the Peterborough Light & Power Co.; G. W. Green, of Green's Pump Works, and Col. Rogers, of the Peterborough Canoe Co.

The following officers were elected:

President, E. G. Patterson.
Vice-President, Wm. Hamilton.
Secretary, J. H. Larmouth.
Executive Committee—Jas. Kendry, T. F. Matthews, W. H. Denham, R. H. Fortye, Adam Hall.

EXTENSION SCHEME UP ON NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

On Friday night the question of extending George street at the south end, will be again taken up, when the Board of Works will meet and the parties through whose property the proposed street will run will be invited to meet the Board to further consider the matter. It is probable that in view of the fact that there is apparently a lack of unanimity on the question of opening the street in the manner proposed, the Board of Works will not take the responsibility of passing upon the matter, but will refer it to the Committee of the Whole Council.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

MADAME ALBANI

"Surprisingly good," was applied by the Montreal Star to Madame Albani's company, who appear here with the great artist on Saturday night, next, April 21st, at the Grand Opera House. Speaking of the singer herself, the Star says:—

"Of Madame Albani herself little need be said, beyond the fact that her voice retains its richness to a wonderful degree. Her low notes are as fine, and full as ever, and while perhaps the high registers are more difficult to accomplish than in the days when Victoria was Queen, still the voice of the great artist never wavers and never plays her false."

The balance of Madame Albani's company is composed of Mlle. Eva Gauthier, contralto; Mr. Albert Archdeacon, baritone; Miss Adela Verne, pianist, and Mr. Hayda Wood, violinist.

DROP CURTAINS FOR NEW OPERA HOUSES

RECRUIT CLASS MEETS TO-NIGHT

The 57th Battalion recruit class will meet to-night and it is important that there should be a big turn-out. There are many recruits in the regiment this year, about 75 in all and in order to learn the drill quickly and so increase the efficiency of the regiment it is necessary that they should regularly attend the Thursday night class.

To-day Mr. J. C. Smith and Mr M. Smith left on a trip to the mines of Hastings County. They will visit the Star of the East and Silver King Mines, in which the latter is largely interested. The Messrs. Smith will, it is expected, be away some days, inspecting these mines.

Fire Burns Fiercely Upon San Francisco Wreckage Dynamite Can't Stop Flames

Humanity Can do Nothing—Small Cities Wiped Out—San Francisco's Dead Will Number 250, But Reports From Other Places in California Show That Outside Death List Will Number Many Hundreds—Lack of Food Causing Great Distress.

New York, April 20.—William H. Baker, vice-president and general manager of the Postal Telegraph Co., at 10.30 o'clock last night received the following from the deputy chief of the San Francisco fire department:

"Seven-thirty to-night fire still under headway, gathering force and spreading. Two-thirds of business section of city devastated. Fire heading for residential district. Efforts to fight flames futile.

"Three hundred thousand will be homeless to-night. By Saturday San Francisco will be an ash heap.

"The following is the district north of Market street now devastated:

"Sansome to Market street, to Sacramento, thence to California to Hyde, to Eddy to Larkin, to Gough and to Market. On the south side of Market street the fire extends along Market street to Fourteenth and below the Southern Pacific Railway tracks to the boundary."

"Chief of Police Dinan to-night said 250 would fully cover the number of dead. About 50 bodies have thus far been found. There was considerable shooting of looters to-day, but the offenders escaped with wounds."

FIRE! FLAMES! FIRE!

Mile of Palatial Residences Blown Up in Vain Effort to Stay Flames—Thousands Flee—No Panic.

San Francisco, April 20.—Thousands upon thousands of persons fled from the fire yesterday, which, after burning steadily all day, is still unchecked. They flocked to the ferries, to the parks, to the military reservation, and to the suburbs.

But there was no panic. The people are calm, stunned. They do not seem to realise the extent of the calamity. They hear that the city is destroyed in so far as business plants are concerned. They tell each other in the most natural tone that their residences were destroyed by the flames, but there is no hysteria, no outcry, no criticism.

San Francisco is not discouraged. Its best and highest class already has begun to plan for restoration and to care for the stricken ones, and the relief will be immediate and effective. Total subscriptions of $180,000 were announced last night. Arrangements were made for the immediate relief of the needy.

Three Distinct Fires.

Last night, three distinct fires were burning. One was in the territory that extends from Nob Hill easterly towards the telegraph hill section and may die out from lack of material, or may sweep towards the extreme waterfront.

The second centre was in the Mission district. Here the fire had reached Eighteenth street, but was making little headway towards the hillsides to the west, where thousands of people are camped.

The third and most dangerous fire is that threatening the western part of the city. This really is a continuation of the Nob Hill fire. It is wedge-shaped, with the apex pulling forward. This is the point against which the firemen are bending their greatest efforts.

Devastation Complete.

All efforts to check the spread of the flames at Vanness avenue by blowing up a mile of buildings on the east side of Vanness avenue proved fruitless. The fire has spread across the broad thoroughfare, and from present indications the entire western addition, which contains the homes of San Francisco's wealthier class, is now doomed. The destruction of the western addition of the city completes the ravaging flames and marks the devastation of the entire city.

A Shortage of Food.

The possibility of famine already is presenting itself. At best the city nevtr carried more than three days' supplies of provisions and food, and now with the wholesale districts and warehouses wiped out, there is a shortage of food.

Prices yesterday were in most instances more than trebled.

Yesterday morning policemen were stationed at some of the retail shops and permitted only a small portion of goods to be delivered to each purchaser. Reports were received that numerous men caught in the act of looting had been shot.

Reports of Disaster.

Wednesday some sort of systematic communication could be had by means of automobiles, but yesterday every street was piled high with ruins, and, to add to this trouble, there is constant danger from falling walls.

On miles of streets the front walls of ruined buildings stand swaying with the concussions of distant dynamite explosions and rising winds. Frequently a crash of stone and brick, followed by a cloud of dust, gives warnings to pedestrians of the unsafety of travel. All manner of reports of death and disaster are coming to the temporary headquarters of the authorities, but these reports are received guardedly, allowances being made for the likelihood of exaggeration due to the confusion that prevails in the stricken city.

Residents Flee From City.

The flight of residents from the city continued yesterday in the nature of a panic. A slight earthquake at 5 a. m. accentuated their terrors. The ferry-boats to adjacent counties were crowded to the utmost, and to the westward portion of the peninsula a constant throng of homeless persons, carrying portable belongings, are adding to the colonies in the secure sand hills and parks. In Golden Gate Park and the unimproved blocks of the district North and south, many varieties of shelter have been improvised from bedding and blankets.

Course of the Flames.

The wind changed yesterday morning to the west, and the flames changed their devouring direction southward and began eating their wide swath from the waterfront on the north of Market street up to what is known as Nob Hill, an eminence that had been selected years ago by the multi-millionaires of the bonanza days upon which to erect their mansions. The hill is surmounted by the Hotel Fairmont, just finished at a cost of over a million dollars.

Steadily, but surely, the fire ate its way up the slope, consuming the homes of the late Mrs. Jane Stanford and the Hopkins' Art Institute, built by Mark Hopkins of Central Pacific fame.

From the upward slope the fire also took a direction northwesterly, to the district that had been left untouched Wednesday night. This portion of the town embraces the Latin quarter, populated by persons of various nationalities, and the houses are all of flimsy construction.

Checked by Dynamite.

In the Mission district, to the south of Market street, the zone of ruin was extended farther westward toward the extreme southern portion, but was checked at Fourteenth and Mission streets by the wholesale use of dynamite. At this point are located the Southern Pacific Hospital, the San Francisco Hospital, and the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Buildings were blown up all around them.

Chinatown, at noon yesterday, was a furnace, and the denizens of that quarter earlier in the day had their simple possessions bundled for departure. On the farther western side, the flames cut a wide path to Vanness avenue, but there, owing to the width of that thoroughfare, and to the additional fact that there was a weak water supply in the mains, it was hoped to check the ruin at this line.

Suffering From Thirst.

Yesterday was bright and warm. The sun beat down on the tired workers and rescuers. There is scarcely any water to relieve the thirst of the suffering. The dead, in many instances, are lying in the streets among the ruins.

The authorities are doing all in their power to remove the bodies in order that an epidemic may be prevented. It has been necessary repeatedly to move the injured from places where they sought refuge, where the fire kept increasing with alarming rapidity.

"Water!" is the incessant cry of the firemen and the people—one wants it to fight, the others to drink, but there is only a scant drinking supply.

RED CROSS IN CHARGE.

President Roosevelt Appeals to the Nation For Assistance.

Washington, April 20.—President Roosevelt yesterday issued a proclamation in which he said:

"In the face of so terrible and appalling a national calamity as that which has befallen San Francisco, the outpouring of the nation's aid should, as far as possible, be entrusted to the American Red Cross, the national organization best fitted to undertake such relief work.

"I appeal to the people of the United States, to all cities, all chambers of commerce, boards of trade, relief committees, and individuals, to express their sympathy and tender their aid by contributions to the American National Red Cross. They can be sent to Washington to be forwarded by telegraph from Washington to the Red Cross agents and officers in California.

(Signed) "Theodore Roosevelt."

$1,000,000 From Nation.

The Senate resolution appropriating $50,000 for the relief of the San Francisco earthquake sufferers was amended by the House committee on appropriations, the amount being increased to $1,000,000.

New York Responds.

New York, April 20.—Mayor McClellan last night issued a proclamation appointing a representative committee of relief, which will organize to-day.

The Pennsylvania and Erie Railways and Wells, Fargo & Co. have offered to ship supplies free of charge. The Western Union Telegraph Co. will handle all relief messages free.

Rockefeller's Gift.

Yesterday's big subscription list was headed by John D. Rockefeller with a contribution of $100,000. The United Railways Investment Co. subscribed $75,000; M. Guggenheim Sons contributed $50,000; the Carnegie Hero Fund and J P. Morgan Co. $25,000. The New York Exchange Brokers contributed $25,000, in addition to large individual subscriptions.

Generous Assistance.

San Francisco, April 20.—Hundreds of cities in the United States have appraised Mayor Schmits that they are securing subscriptions for the relief of the sufferers from the earthquake and fire. Many cities are now rushing tons of supplies by train and boat to this city. Railroads generally have announced that they will carry relief supplies free. The committee of safety contributed $65,000 at once.

Mayor Schmits has announced that the water company has promised a supply of water in the Mission section to-day.

A Toronto Contribution.

Toronto, April 20.—Commissioner Coombes for the Salvation Army in Toronto yesterday sent $100 to the general relief fund in San Francisco.

An Ottawa Grant

Ottawa, April 20.—The municipality, on motion of Ald. Grant, has wired $100 to the City of San Francisco.

INDIANA GETS SHOCK.

Miners Suffer From Earth's Tremors —There Was One Fatality.

Calumet, Mich., April 20.—An earthquake shock, which was felt distinctly throughout Hancock, Ind., was most pronounced in the Quincy mine, killing Timothy Leary and injured four others while working one mile below the earth's surface in that property yesterday. In numerous instances buildings rocked, chimneys fell and dishes rattled, terrifying the citizens. Many miners on the day shift refused to go below again.

HUNDREDS MORE DEAD.

Santa Rosa in Ruins—10,000 Homeless Men, Women and Children Watch Destruction of Their Homes.

San Francisco, April 20, via Oakland.—Reports from the interior are most alarming. Santa Rosa, one of the prettiest cities of the State, in the prosperous County of Sonoma, is a total wreck. There are 10,000 homeless men, women and children huddled together. The loss of life is not to be estimated. It will probably reach the thousands. The citizens deserted their homes. Not even their household goods were taken. They made for the fields and hills to watch the destruction of one of the most beautiful cities of the west.

Many Other Places Destroyed.

Messengers bring the saddest tidings of the destruction of Healdsburg, Geiserville, Cloverdale, Nopland and Ukiah. This report takes in the country as far north as Mendocino and Lake Counties and as far west as the Pacific Ocean.

Tumors Conquered Without Operations

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Cases of Mrs. Fox and Miss Adams.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain extending from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation; secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once and begin its use and write Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Read these strong letters from grateful women who have been cured:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First Letter.)

"In looking over your book I see that your medicine cures Tumors. I have been to a doctor and he tells me I have a tumor. I will be more than grateful if you can help me, as I do so dread an operation."—Fannie D. Fox, Bradford, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second Letter.)

"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine.

"Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician, and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation.

"I soon after read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed, the tumor is entirely gone. I have again been examined by the physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my periods around once more; and I am entirely well. I shall never be without a bottle of Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the house."—Fannie D. Fox, Bradford, Pa.

Another Case of Tumor Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About three years ago I had intense pain in my stomach, with cramps and raging headaches. The doctor prescribed for me, but finding that I did not get any better he examined me and, to my surprise, declared I had a tumor.

"I felt sure that it meant my death warrant, and was very disheartened. I spent hundred of dollars in doctoring, but the tumor kept growing, till the doctor said that nothing but an operation would save me. Fortunately I corresponded with my aunt in the New England States, who advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before submitting to an operation, and I at once started taking a regular treatment, finding to my great relief that my general health began to improve, and after three months I noticed that the tumor had reduced in size. I kept on taking the Compound, and in ten months it had entirely disappeared without an operation, and using no medicine but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and words fail to express how grateful I am for the good it has done me."—Miss Luella Adams, Colonnade Hotel, Seattle, Wash.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and should give confidence and hope to every sick woman.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all ailing women to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Dairy Farmers Given Some Good Advice

Mr. James Whitton Tells Them About the Evils of Feeding Turnips—Pumpkins are Much Better—His Experience is Given.

The opening of the cheese factories is close at hand again and in this connection Mr. James Whitton, one of the buyers on the Peterborough Board and one of the most successful dairy farmers in Ontario, has written a letter to the Canadian Dairyman, in which the question of turnips vs. pumpkins is dealt with. Mr. Whitton says:—

"Dairy farmers generally, and especially those who send their milk to the creamery or cheese factory, cannot afford to grow turnips to feed to dairy cows. Thee extra labour in cultivating and taking care of the crop and the deterioration in the quality of the milk must be considered. Anyone accustomed to handling milk from cows fed on turnips will agree that the milk has not that solidity that is required to make either fancy butter or first-grade cheese. It imparts a flavour much disliked by the trade.

In scoring butter and cheese 100 points are required for perfection. Forty-five of these are for flavour; therefore, dairymen should be very careful about feeding any food that is injurious to flavour.

The texture, too, is injured by the feeding of turnips. I consider it a very costly way of feeding and watering cattle, and would urge farmers and dairymen generally to stop this system of feeding while sending milk to be manufactured into cheese or butter. Butter tainted with turnips will not sell readily to the trade at three to five cents less per pound than fancy butter. It also lessens the consumption to a very great extent. In the same proportion the cheese business is spoiled.

I would advise each and every cheese and butter company to pass strong resolutions, agreeing that any parties sending milk tainted in this way to their factory should pay the damage.

The dairy farmer can avoid this trouble by growing pumpkins instead of turnips. The seed should be sown as early in the spring as danger of frost is past. Practical experience has shown me that a man can attend to and grow 10 bushels of pumpkins to two of turnips, and with one-tenth the labour. Besides fine flavoured milk is produced and no tainted product is sent to the factory. If farmers would give this crop a trial I am sure they would quit the system of spoiling the product of the cow by feeding turnips during the milking season. In sending the milk from eight cows last season's returns averaged 6,000 pounds in the factory season. During September, October and November I sent almost as much milk as in May June and July. The cows were on clover pasture and received all the pumpkins they would eat. I began feeding them September 1. All the pumkins that eight cows could eat for 31-2 months, besides enough for 214 shotes, that grew fine on them, and a little meal, were produced on 11-2 acres of well manured land.

In planting I first marked out the land in six to eight foot squares, and placed three to five seeds in each square. Pumpkins come up and grow quickly. Cultivation can be commenced early and the weeds never get ahead of the crop. As soon as the plants can be seen plainly an iron harrow can be run close to the row. Very little hand hoeing is required, as the vines soon spread and keep down weeds. The harrow can be used once a week until the spreading of the vines prevents it.

Latest News From Warsaw

Warsaw, April 17.—The At Home of the Women's Missionary Society, held on Monday evening was very successful. The attendance was not so large as that of last year, owing, no doubt, to the bad condition of the roads, but those who were fortunate enough to be present, seemed well pleased with the evening's entertainment. The basement of the church was prettily decorated and had a home-like appearance, the small tables upon which the supper was served adding much to the effect. About 8.30 p. m., the programme in the church was commenced. After the customary opening with song and prayer, the choir sang an Easter anthem which was followed by the secretary's report of the Society's work for the past year.

Master Arthur Blight, of Tamworth, gave a recitation, after which Miss Myrtle Kline, of Lakefield, rendered the solo "Rory Darlin'." Miss Kline in her first appearance here, greatly pleased the audience with her sweet and well cultured voice, each number being received with warm applause. A chorus by the Mission Band was a very pleasing number, after which an instrumental trio, consisting of mouth organ, auto harp and organ was given by Mrs. David Payne, Miss Dora Payne and Mr. Luther Payne, and by its reception proved to be one of the most pleasing numbers. Miss Julia Choate was heard in the solo "Risen Indeed" which received its meritted applause, after which Miss Lyall Douglas, in a recitation, showed considerable talent as an elocutionist. Mr. H. Choate rendered the solo "Four-leaf Clover" which was followed by "Co Robin Sang," in which Miss Kline was again heard and much enjoyed. A duet by Mrs. W. Wasson and Mrs. (Dr.) Douglas was well received and applauded. Rev. Mr. Steedman was called upon to give an address and as usual was listened to with much pleasure. Miss Julia Choate was heard again in the solo "The Choir Celestial," after which Master Cecil Wasson gave a recitation. A duet by Mrs. David Payne and Miss Dora Payne was a very pleasing number. Preceding the closing anthem by the choir, Mrs. S. R. Payne tendered the thanks of the Society to all those who assisted in the work.

A team consisting of five members of the Warsaw Rifle Association went down to defeat before a quintette of sharp shooters at Lakefield on Good Friday. The score at the finish showed the Lakefield team ten points in the lead. The locals claim that they did not receive fair treatment regarding the position in which they were required to shoot. The team insisted upon the standing shot, while the locals have been accustomed to the reclining position, as required by the Minister of Militia. The scores for the two ranges were as follows:

Lakefield:

Temple of Fame Given in Omemee

Other News From the Western Village.

Special to The Examiner.

Omemee, April 17.—The weather is very fine now and farmers are busy preparing to put in the spring crops.

The services on Easter Sunday were very cheering in the different churches and every old citizen was here amongst their friends and many students spent Easter under their parental roofs.

There were a good many of our citizens attended the Easter market at Peterborough and obtained good prices.

There is nothing new in railway circles and no hope for the C. P. Ry.

The "Temple of Fame" was put on here with great success. The Bradburn Hall was crowded to the doors with the best and most intellectual people of the village and community. The proceeds amounted to about $130 and were in aid of the public library. The different characters, including the Queens, Prima Donnas, and comic characters were all well taken. Mrs. Dr. Cameron took the Goddess parts and Mrs. Dr. Cochrane's mother came in for the crown.

There is a good market here for cattle and pigs. Isaac Richardson has been paying $7.10 per cwt.

Farmers are rejoicing over the high prices.

Has Taken a Thousand

Zutoo

Always Cured Headache. Never Affected her Heart.

Here is a testimonial from the wife of Doctor W. L. Shurtleff, K.C., of Coaticook, Que., who has taken a thousand Zutoo Tablets (the Japanese Vegetable Headache remedy.)

It should convince any doubting one, that while the tablets cure headache, they do not, like the drug cures, affect the heart, nerves or stomach. No one would or could take such a number if they were not perfectly harmless. Mrs. Shurtleff herself had to discard the drug cures.

Here is what she says:

I have always been a great sufferer from headache, and have taken a great many headache cures. I found that after taking them for a time they caused palpitation of the heart. Three years ago I began using Zutoo. I have likely taken over a thousand tablets. I have never yet felt the least ill-effect from using them and they cure my headaches as quickly as any remedy I ever took.

They are Harmless as Soda.

THE LAW'S MISTAKE

By DONALD ALLEN

Copyright, 1905, by Beatrix Reade

Whenever a man is sent to state prison his record reaches the institution ahead of him. The deputy warden gets it from the police who worked up the case and arrested him and from the published accounts of his trial. It is known before he arrives about what sort of a man he is, and he is sometimes assigned to this or that department in advance. If he is recorded as a bad man, the deputy gets ready to lay down the rules and regulations to him. If otherwise, the official heaves a sigh of relief. Nowhere is a bad man out of place more than in a penal institution, where his example may infect fifty others, and nowhere is a "good" man given a warmer welcome.

In broad daylight in a western city a stranger had entered a big dry goods store and held up the cashier, obtained something like $10,000 and got into the street. He would have made good his escape but for an accident. As it was, he got half a mile away before being captured. The money was not found on him, but there were half a dozen persons to swear to his identity.

The prisoner, who gave his name as James Drayton, decided that a mistake had been made. At his trial he actually proved that he was a resident of a village fifty miles away, and half a dozen of his fellow townsmen were on hand to swear that he was an industrious, honest man.

There are times when waves of crime seem to sweep over a community, and there are also times when waves of justice follow, and in their zealousness the courts seem determined to convict at any cost. The two waves happened to be sweeping over the western city at the time, and the law made an example of Drayton. He was sentenced to state prison for five years, and the judge read him a severe moral lecture from the bench in addition. The prisoner protested to the last, and his whole community felt that the law had made a grievous mistake, but there was a spurt of reform on, and the prosecution would have it that justice had her hands on the right man.

The deputy at K. prison had read a full account of the trial, but he did not let a doubt creep into his mind. Whoever came to his prison had been adjudged guilty by the courts and put into his keeping, and it was not for him to doubt or criticise. He looked for a man who would whine and beg for sympathy and carry himself as a martyr, but he was agreeably surprised to discover quite the contrary.

Drayton was in the prime of life, clear eyed and frank faced, and he had nothing to say against his sentence. He seemed to realize that the time had gone by for that. In the department to which he was assigned he made such a record that after a year he was appointed a "trusty." He had served almost two years of his time before the deputy heard his story. It had the ring of truth, and the officer believed it, but at the time he was going to leave the prison and take another position, and he felt helpless in the matter. In the course of a week he went to a distant state and took up a new occupation, and three months passed away.

Then one day the former deputy made a day's journey by rail, and as he sat down to dinner in the dining car his amazement was unbounded to observe Drayton at a nearby table. The convict looked up at him without recognition and did not seem at all abashed. Here was a man who had seen Drayton every day for two years, talked with him, noticed every peculiarity about him and could swear to him a thousand times over.

There was no more doubt in his mind that the convict sat before him than that he was living, and he was presently absorbed in speculation. It was just possible that the man had been pardoned. If so, why did he not recognize and greet his old friend? The deputy had been as friendly with him as the regulations permitted, even more than that.

If he had not been pardoned, then he must have escaped, but that he could sit there with such brazen assurance was not like Drayton. The deputy found his position embarrassing in a way, and yet it did not take him long to make up his mind what to do. He would have been glad to see Drayton get a pardon, but if he had escaped he must go back and serve the rest of his time.

During the meal the eyes of the two men met a dozen times, and of the two Drayton was the less confused. His hair was yet short from the prison regulations, and he had on civilian's dress of good texture. His demeanor was that of any traveler, careless and indifferent to a certain degree, and it was certain that if addressed he would promptly deny his identity and carry the matter through with a high hand. This dissembling and assurance on his part were new phases of his character, and dinner had been finished half an hour before the deputy approached him and said:

"I have a good memory for faces, and I am sure I have seen yours before."

"It may be so," was the careless reply, accompanied by a smile.

"Haven't I met you in the village of Wadsworth?" naming the place where the K. state prison was situated.

"I may have passed through the place on a train, but I am sure I never stopped there. It is possible that we have met before while traveling."

The voice, the movement of the mouth while speaking, the look of the eyes, everything about the man was perfectly familiar to the officer, but he suddenly decided to adopt a new line of policy for awhile. He would meet finesse with finesse. The pair entered into general conversation for two hours, and then the deputy sent out a telegram asking the warden of the state prison if Drayton had been pardoned or had escaped. Two hours later, as he was nearing the end of the journey, he received an answer reading:

"Drayton is still with us and has just been locked in his cell."

Here was another puzzle, but it did not take the astute official long to reach a conclusion. Drayton had claimed that the felony had been committed by some man resembling him. Here was his prototype, his twin brother. While he looked more like a respectable business man than a thief, the ex-deputy determined not to let him go without a rigid examination.

It happened that the two got off at the same city, and they had scarcely descended from the train before the stranger was given in charge by the official and taken to a police station. It was a high handed thing to do, and if he was what he represented or seemed to be he could make trouble for the other.

He seemed stunned at first over his arrest and then grew indignant and threatening. He gave a certain name and claimed a certain city as his residence, and for a time the police were inclined to apologize and let him go. It was only when the ex-deputy began to question him about a certain date, the date of the robbery, that he tripped in his answers and aroused new suspicion.

Few men have done for another what the deputy did for Drayton. He remained with the stranger until he got good grounds for his arrest on the old charge. He brought the cashier and others on at his own expense and got the authorities to extradite the man and the courts to put him on trial and sentence Drayton from state prison.

When the two men finally stood together there were wonder and amazement in the court. Their own mothers could not have told them apart. A little detective work had unearthed a bad record for the stranger, and, although he started out to make a great local fight, he ended by confessing that he was the guilty party and that Drayton had served two years for a crime he had not committed. The latter was pardoned and restored to citizenship and respectability, while the guilty party was sent to occupy his place in prison, and the judge who had read a moral lesson from the bench had something more to say. His conscience had been troubling him for the way he charged the jury against an innocent man, and he sought to console it by admitting that somewhere in the world every man may find his prototype, but that the law could not take cognisance of the fact.

A Flattering Testimonial.

A very eminent London surgeon, one of the lights of the profession, one day observed a gentleman knocked down by a runaway horse. He went to his aid and found he had broken his leg. It was only a simple fracture, but the man was badly hurt.

The surgeon used his umbrella as a splint and with his own hands borrowed handkerchiefs, bandaged the limb tightly, put the patient in a cab and drove to the nearest hospital. There they were received by a young medical student.

"You've bandaged this pretty well," said the youth patronisingly.

"Not at all," said the other.

"I suppose you have been attending some ambulance class. They say a little learning is a dangerous thing, but the little you've learned you've put to good account. I can't give you your umbrella now, but if you leave your address it shall be sent to your house."

"I had better give you my card," said the eminent surgeon, and he did so.—Pearson's Weekly.

Revenge.

An old man leaving work got into a car. He had not gone far before the conductor asked him for twopence. The man said it was a penny for the distance he was going. The conductor said sharply to him, "Shut up and pay twopence." So he paid it.

The next morning the conductor received a letter without a stamp, which was surcharged as usual. When he opened it he was surprised to see written on paper, "Shut up and pay twopence."—London Tit-Bits.

DRESS ACCESSORIES.

Some Dainty Washable Embroidered Belts For the Summer Girl.

Here are two pretty styles in embroidered, washable belts, which are the most practical as well as the most popular belts for wear with the shirt waist suit.

Both of these belts are finished with mother-of-pearl buckles and so constructed that they may be removed from the buckle and laundered without the slightest difficulty.

Fig. 2 shows a pretty stock of embroidered linen, with bands of pale blue ribbon brought from the back and passing through a small pearl buckle at the front. The ends, hanging below the buckle, are each run through a still smaller buckle.

Fig. 3 shows a new "bunch" for the ever popular turnover collar. Many people who like to wear a small turnover collar with a ribbon tie will not do so because, as they say, "it takes so much fussing to get it fixed."

For the benefit of people like this there is shown a turnover with buttonhole in the back, to be fastened over a small button on the collar band of the waist, and in the front is a soft ribbon bow securely fastened to the turnover.

The fourth cut shows one of the "arm garters" for holding in place the long sleeves of silk or kid. This "arm garter" is essentially a summer one, being made with dainty lace frills on either side of the silk covered elastic band which holds the glove.

The Way to Rest.

Few women know how to rest as they should. They think that they must undress and go to bed to be thoroughly comfortable. This is a mistake, provided there is a little footstool in the room on which the feet may rest while the other part of the body is supported by a chair. You can read and rest comfortably in this fashion, and let it be whispered here between ourselves that if we want to gain the maximum of rest in a minimum of time we should copy that inelegant but healthful trick of the masculine drones and put our feet occasionally higher than our heads.

Vigilant Captures Nets.

Departure Of British Redcoats At Halifax

DOMINION OF CANADA BIDS EMPIRE'S SOLDIERS GOOD-BYE.

Military Symbol of Union Between Mother Country and Her Greatest Daughter Have Disappeared—Change In Accordance With Policy of Empire Statesmen For the Past 50 Years—Financial Responsibility.

The departure of the remaining redcoats at Halifax, and the transfer of all the military property at that point to Canada, coupled with the circumstance that soon the fortifications at Esquimalt will be passed over to the Dominion, is an interesting fact in Canadian history. It marks the termination of the occupation of any part of the Dominion by the British regulars, and lays upon the people the full responsibility for the defence of the country.

The British Defensive Policy.

While many will regret the disappearance of the symbols of union as exhibited in the military, it must be admitted that the change is in accordance with the policy of the Empire as laid down by statesmen of various schools during the past fifty years Half a century ago the Imperial authorities exerted themselves to impress upon us the desirability of undertaking a share, at least, of our internal defence, by establishing a properly organized militia. This move was the initiation of the present militia system, the foundations for which were laid by the Act of 1855. Prior to that we had a militia service — a body of yeoman who had done splendid work in the defence of the country. But this service was under the British officers, and was not, for it could not be, owing to the sparseness of settlement and the absence of the responsible system of government, a purely Canadian force. The Act of 1855 made the militia a charge upon the Government and the people of the united provinces, both regards the management and the cost of maintenance.

Confederation Influence.

The Confederation of the provinces and the establishment of the Dominion led to further action by the Imperial authorities. It was laid down as a rule that the British dependencies must take another step towards their own defence. Mr. Gladstone put the case very directly when he stated that no community can be said to enjoy the full blessings of freedom unless it has the liberty to provide for its own protection. The same statesman laid down the rule, which, in view of the then Government, ought to be observed. He said the British North American colonies must defend themselves. But he did not mean by this that "in case of danger the armies of England are not to be employed in aid of the colonial defences." "On the contrary, every effort will be made by this country, in connection with British North America, to aid and protect the colonists from aggression. But that is a totally different matter from maintaining, by a large expenditure of money to be paid out of the British Treasury a defensive force in Canada." To the argument that the change in policy would have some influence upon the connection Mr. Gladstone replied that:

"So far from any tie being broken, I believe that the connection between the Mother Country and the colonies will be closer than it would if we maintained a standing army in Canada for its security."

This notification was followed by the enforcement of the policy thus laid down.

Departure of the Troops.

At that time there was a large British force in Canada—some 13,000 soldiers—the Trent affair and the threat of invasion from the United States having necessitated precautionary measures. The troops, in accordance with the determination of the British authorities, were, except as regards the Halifax garrison, gradually withdrawn. In 1871 the last Imperial battalion to garrison Quebec — the 69th Royal Rifles—embarked, and from that date onwards all the military property, save that at Halifax and that afterwards created at Esquimalt, B. C., was passed over to Canada. It was during 1870 and 1871 that the fortifications and the munitions of war belonging to the Imperial Government passed to the care of Canadians. The New Fort at Toronto was the first place to be given up. That was passed over on July 15, 1870. The Old Fort was transferred on Sept. 30, the same year. The Kingston fortifications came into our possession in September, 1870; the Montreal works in December of that year, and the great fortifications of Quebec on Dec. 3, 1871.

Two Remaining Strongholds.

While the western forts were transferred to the new Dominion, the War Office kept control of the vast fortifications at Halifax and of those on the Pacific. These were held as they were related to the naval defence, in that they were protective of the dockyards and the ships. The Halifax stronghold is one of exceptional interest. It is believed to be impregnable, and there is no place on the continent to equal it. That at Esquimalt is not so notable; but it has marvelous artillery. Its disappearing guns of vast range render it impossible for an enemy to approach it from the sea.

Our Financial Responsibility.

The result was that the Imperial Government looked for another way by which the object aimed at, namely, the relief of the British taxpayer in so far as military expenses were concerned, could be achieved. And the passage to Canada of the right to bear the cost of her own garrisons is the plan adopted to enable us to share in the burden of Imperial defence. The transfer will cost us possibly a million and a half annually as pay for the garrisons, in addition to which we must keep everything in repair, and have on hand the necessary munitions of war. Some people think that the disappearance of the last regular soldier will affect our future, in that it makes for independence. But loyal Canadians will see to it that the relations of Canada towards the Crown are not injuriously affected.

A STRONG HEART AND STEADY NERVES

Very important it is in this age of competition to have a clear cool head, a strong heart and steady nerves.

Too much rush and hustle, work and worry, fall to the lot of the average business man—his heart and nerve system will not stand it—he gives them too much work to do.

Women also are doing the same thing attending to their household duties and looking after their social obligations. The constant strain under which they have to continue day in and day out, the irregularities of habits and loss of rest will soon shatter the strongest system. Before long you become nervous, starting at the least sudden sound, the heart flutters and palpitates, specks float before the eyes, the pulse becomes weak and irregular, you have faint and dizzy spells, lack of self-confidence, rush of blood to the head, irritability of temper, shortness of breath, starting in sleep, sensation of pins and needles, sleeplessness, restlessness and finally physical breakdown or nervous prostration.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

are the remedy you require to restore your strength and health. Their extraordinary curative power manifests itself immediately they are taken. Through the medium of the nervous system they impart a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ and tissue of the body. Many have been cured, among them being Mr. Ray V. Coomier, Wellington, P.E.I., Mrs. E. Kilmer, Humberstone, Ont., Mrs. C. McDonald, Portage la Prairie, Man., Mr. Walter Cleveland, Bayswater, N.S., Mrs. Owen Martin, Alma, N.B. and thousands of others.

Government Proposes To Issue Bonds

More Money Needed For Extending Temiskaming Railway.

THE ELECTION LEGISLATION

General Measure Promised For Next Session—Premier Whitney Withdraws His Bill to Repeal Manhood Suffrage Registration Act—The University Bill Introduced—The New Railway Bills Reported.

Toronto, April 19.—Hon. Mr. Matheson formally introduced a motion for the issue of $3,000,000 inscribed stock or bonds for the Temiskaming Railway in the Legislature yesterday. Out of the consolidated funds at hand $1,900,000 has been already advanced, and this will be replaced from the new loan, which is to be a Canadian one. The loan will not be floated until July, when tenders will be called for by the Government. Hon. Mr. Matheson believes that should a subsidy be received from the Dominion the loan will be sufficient to finish the second contract on the road, after which about fifty miles remain to reach the G. T. P. Railway.

Will Go to Charity.

A bill was introduced to enable the money in the hands of the Court of Judicature in connection with the Gamey charges to be paid to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, who may dispose of it for benevolent purposes. Premier Whitney withdrew his bill to repeal the manhood suffrage act, with the intimation that general legislation touching elections would be introduced next year. Both the new railway bills were reported. In reply to Hon. Mr. Ross the Premier stated that the supplementary estimates were not yet ready.

Mines Bill.

Hon. Frank Cochrane gave an explanation of his mines bill, a synopsis of which was given some days ago.

Mr. Ross asked the intention of the Minister regarding royalties, and Mr. Cochrane replied that they would be provided for in a subsequent bill.

The ex-Premier spoke of the importance of the mining industry, and hoped there was nothing in the bill to discourage the prospector. He cordially approved of the feature which would prevent a prospector squatting upon a claim. He promised fuller consideration later, as he had not had time to digest the bill.

Bills in Committee.

Mr. Downey's Pharmacy Act amendment was taken up in committee of the whole House. After some discussion the bill was reported.

On the House going into committee on Mr. Whitney's bill to amend the Election Act, the Premier said it would remove every vestige of a number from the ballot. Whether this was a wise thing to do, he was not prepared to say, but by next session something would be done that would give them proper protection.

The ex-Premier explained the working of the Dominion ballot, and Mr. Whitney observed that the Government would either adopt it or something else that would serve the same purpose.

"It will be the Dominion ballot, I hope," said Mr. Ross.

Telephone Bill.

On Hon. Mr. Beck's municipal telephone bill being reached in committee, Mr. Graham put in the objection that it did not stipulate the number who might petition to the council.

Both promoter and the Premier said it should not be necessary to require any number, as a very few subscribers might be willing to pay for a service extending over a large area.

Mr. Beck said, on the third reading, he would move that municipalities may take over existing lines, "with the consent of their owners."

The Government's railway bill was taken up again in committee and carried through to an end.

"We intend to stand by the law as it is as to Sunday observance," was the emphatic assertion of the Premier, in reply to a complaint from Mr. Bowyer, who pointed out that electric railways operating under Dominion charters were privileged to run on Sunday.

Manhood Suffrage Stays.

On the opening of the evening session of the Legislature Premier Whitney announced the withdrawal of his bill to repeal the Manhood Suffrage Registration Act. He said that the Government would revise the whole Election Act next year.

The House went into committee on Mr. Hendrie's bill for the appointment of a railway and municipal board. Several amendments to the bill were adopted, which were reported. Mr. Whitney said on the third reading, the blanks would be filled in and an opportunity given for further discussion.

The University Bill.

The University Act was introduced and follows very closely upon the lines of the commission's report, though a few amendments appear. The act, as has been pointed out by the Premier, is by no means in a finished state.

It is provided that the election of a chancellor and elective members of the Senate shall take place this year. The registrar must, between June 15 and Aug. 15, register the names and known addresses of all graduates entitled to vote, and no one not thus registered shall have the right to vote.

It is also provided that the lands to be set apart for the use of the university and University College as part of their endowment, shall be Provincial Crown lands.

Trinity College is empowered to raise money by loan, guaranteed by the province.

End Is In Sight.

At 9 o'clock the Premier announced that the end of the Government bill of fare was in sight and for want of business the House would adjourn.

In reply to Mr. Ross he said the supplementary estimates were not yet ready.

Pledged to Cheap Power.

Toronto, April 19.—"We are not pledged to any scheme, but we are pledged to any scheme, but we are people of Ontario. You may rely on it that all reasonable methods will be exhausted in order that cheap power may be brought to the people of Ontario."

Thus spoke Hon. Premier Whitney on Wednesday in reply to a large deputation from Niagara Falls and vicinity, who appeared to protest against Government development and transmission of Niagara Falls power.

TEACHERS OF ONTARIO.

Had Busy Day of Papers and Valuable Discussions Wednesday.

Toronto, April 19.—The many sections of the Ontario Education Association were again very busy yesterday.

It was also resolved that the majority of the advisory board to be formed by the education bill consist of those interested in public schools, viz: Public and separate school teachers, inspectors and trustees.

At the night session the election of officers resulted as follows: President, Dr. Wm. Scott, principal Toronto Normal school; general secretary, Robert W. Doan, Toronto; treasurer, W. J. Hendry, Toronto.

Dowie Gets Freedom of Zion.

Rockford, Ill., April 19.—Following the filing of a bill to set aside the conveyance of property in Zion City, valued at $21,000,000, Judge R. Wright of the circuit court, yesterday granted an injunction restraining Wilbur G. Voliva and others from interfering with or in any way preventing John Alexander Dowie from going to Zion City and remaining there, or entering his house or his barn at will. The hearing is set for April 25, before Judge Wright in Belvidere.

BLOOD HUMORS

PIMPLES
FLESHWORMS
HUMORS

Many an otherwise beautiful and attractive face is sadly marred by unseemly Blotches, Pimples, Eruptions, Fleshworms and Humors, and various other blood diseases.

Their presence is a source of embarrassment to those afflicted, as well as pain and regret to their friends.

Many a cheek and brow—cast in the mould of grace and beauty—have been sadly defaced, their attractiveness lost, and their possessor rendered unhappy for years.

Why, then, consent to rest under this cloud of embarrassment?

There is an effectual remedy for all these defects, it is,

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

This remedy will drive out all the impurities from the blood and leave the complexion healthy and clear.

Miss Annie Tobin, Madoc, Ont., writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending your Burdock Blood Bitters to any one who may be troubled with pimples on the face. I paid out money to doctors, but could not get cured, and was almost discouraged, and despaired of ever getting rid of them. I thought I would give B.B.B. a trial, so got two bottles, and before I had taken them I was completely cured and have had no sign of pimples since."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, for over 30 years, and has cured thousands in that time. Do not accept a substitute which unscrupulous dealers say is "just as good." "It can't be."

The Control Of Telephones By Government

Referred to a Special Committee of House of Commons.

RAILWAY ACT AMENDMENTS

Several Clauses of Hon. Mr. Emmerson's Bill Agreed To—Long Debate on the Government's Immigration Policy—Opposition Still Thirsting For Information—Hon. Mr. Fielding Warmly Greeted.

Ottawa, April 18.—The reappearance in the House yesterday of the Minister of Finance after a prolonged absence was the signal for a gratifying demonstration of the popularity he enjoys on both sides of the House. In committee Mr. Emmerson's measure to amend the railway act was considered, and the greater part of the clauses dealing with railways were agreed to. At the suggestion of the Minister of Railways clauses referring to the control and regulation of telephone companies were referred to a special committee. In Committee of Supply various phases of the immigration policy were debated and the Opposition criticized the policy of the Government and the expenditure for encouraging immigration to Canada. Incidentally the question whether the personnel of the North Atlantic Trading Co. should be disclosed was discussed."

Mr. Fielding Returns.

In the midst of the presentation of a shoal of petitions respecting the Lord's Day bill at the opening yesterday afternoon, Hon. Mr. Fielding entered, having so far recovered from his accident as to be able to walk with the aid of crutches. He was somewhat pale and bore marks of the severe strain of his illness, but he walked with much of his old-time vigorous haste. His entrance was the signal for a most gratifying demonstration from the House, in which the Opposition members joined with heartiness.

Mr. Fisher introduced a bill concerning leprosy.

Mr. Beauparlant introduced a bill to regulate the hay trade, which he briefly explained in French. The bill provides that those who press hay shall put their names on each bale, together with the exact weight, also that inspectors shall be appointed for various shipping points to control the quality of hay exported.

Listing of Colonial Securities.

Mr. R. L. Borden called attention to the correspondence recently tabled respecting the listing of colonial securities in Britain, and asked if any steps had been taken by the Government to carry out the request of the Province of Ontario to be placed on the trustee list.

Mr. Fielding said he thought all the correspondence that had taken place had been presented. However, he would be glad to look into the matter, and if the Government could facilitate the listing of securities they would be very glad to do so. He reminded the House, however, that there were great difficulties in the way, as even the Dominion Government had found opposition which they at least had not thought reasonable.

The Fallen Tower.

Mr. R. L. Borden asked if there was any further information respecting the investigation into the recent falling of the tower, especially could the Minister say who had been clerk of the works for the department.

Mr. Hyman said the Commission had begun its work on Monday. He expected an interim report before long and would at once present it. Mr. Taylor had had supervision of the work, but the question was now before the commission. Replying to a further question by Mr. Borden, Mr. Hyman said the Ottawa postoffice building was almost finished. There had some time ago been charges of irregularities against one of the officials employed on the building. An investigation had been held, but there was nothing against the officers. The papers would be laid before the House.

A Preliminary Canter.

As the leader of the Opposition intimated that the requests for information preferred last evening were only a preliminary canter, Mr. Paterson, who was leading the House, suggested that there was no use sitting longer if progress could not be made, and the House adjourned at 12.15 a. m.

For people who are weak and run down there is no medicine so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Many diseases in organs remote from the stomach have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and its allied organs. When the stomach is "weak" there is a failure to properly digest and assimilate the food which is eaten. Hence the whole body, and each organ of it, suffers from lack of nutrition, so that as a consequence of "weak" stomach, there may be "weak" lungs, "weak" heart, "weak" or torpid liver, "weak" nerves, etc. By curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, "Golden Medical Discovery" enables the assimilation of the nutriment necessary for the requirements of a healthy body. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of blood which is the vital fluid of the body.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Sick and ailing people especially those suffering from disease in its chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no similar offer of free medical advice which has behind it an institute of national note such as the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., presided over by Dr. Pierce, its chief consulting physician, with the assistance of nearly a score of skilled specialists.

"The Wonderful Medicine."

"I must again send a few lines to you to let you know how I am getting along since taking the wonderful medicine which cured me two years ago," write Miss Bertha Rheler, of 1416 Benton Street, St. Louis, Mo. "I still continue in very good health and think there is not a better medicine on earth than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. We would not be without it in the house, and also the little 'Pellets.'

"I have recommended Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to many friends, and they all think it will do just what is claimed for it. It is the best thing for nervousness and for a weak, run down condition that any body could want. I was very nervous and weak last summer. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it just made me feel like a new person. It gives a person new life and new blood. I can now work all day long without feeling the least bit tired. In fact I feel like a new person.

"My mother was also cured by it of a very bad case of stomach trouble about three years ago. I thank you a thousand times for what you have done for me and for your kind advice."

Wasted to a Skeleton.

"About six years ago my health failed," writes Miss Alethea E. Green, of Coopstown, Harford Co., Maryland. "I kept getting down lower and lower, until I could scarcely walk across the floor without struggling and gasping for breath. My home physician pronounced it general debility and catarrh of the throat, but although he did all he could, he failed to even relieve me. I tried various remedies, but all of no avail. I soon wasted away to a mere skeleton. Finally I was persuaded to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., which I did immediately. And on receiving his very kind advice I commenced the use of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription.' I took fourteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and nine of the 'Favorite Prescription' and to-day I am a well woman. I do heartily thank God and Dr. Pierce for my good health."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the book in cloth binding, or 21 stamps for the paper covered volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE ENGLISH PRINTERS.

To Act as Strike-Breakers, Says Deputy Minister of Labor.

Ottawa, April 18.—The report of the Deputy Minister of Labor upon the Winnipeg printers' strike is quite voluminous. The principal finding is this: "My investigation has shown that the real grievance of which the English printers complain is the injustice done them, in inducing them to leave their homes in England and come to Canada with the expectation that the employment which they were to receive was to be in connection with new papers starting up in Canada, in consequence of the western development, and to meet the demand for which there was not sufficient supply of printers in Canada, whereas, they were, in reality, brought under false pretences to take the places of fellow craftsmen, who were conducting a peaceful strike, in other words, to act as 'strike-breakers.'"

DESIRE OF CANADA.

What Our Section of International Waterways Commission Will Do At the Next Conference.

Ottawa, April 18.—(Toronto Star Special)—The Canadian Ministers have made no secret of their desire that the scenic grandeur of Niagara Falls should not be destroyed by the power interests, and the speech from the throne at the opening of the present session of Parliament contained an expression to that effect. But they are also determined that if we meet the wishes of the United States for a treaty between the two countries to preserve the Falls, Uncle Sam must at the same time consent to a permanent understanding upon other water-power questions of importance to Canadian interests that have arisen along the international boundary.

This is the view that the Canadian representatives on the International Waterways Commission will present to their American brethren when the commission meets on the 26th inst., either in Buffalo or Washington, to resume consideration of the Niagara Falls problem.

If the American commissioners are not possessed of the authority to reply, the Canadians will probably advise an adjournment until the Washington powers have been consulted.

THE BIGAMY LAW.

Indian Arrested At Montreal, Broke the Law In Error.

Montreal, April 18.—"I alone am guilty, the girl is entirely innocent," cried Frank Butler, forty years old, yesterday at the police court, when arraigned for bigamy.

Despite his admission, however, Judge Lafontaine liberated him, as the second marriage was performed in New York, and therefore, does not constitute a crime of bigamy under the criminal code.

Eight years ago, Butler, who is a half breed Indian, from the United States, was married by Rev. Father Forbes, at Chaughawaga, to one of the women of the reserve there. Shortly after he left the country, and his wife, hearing he was dead, married again. A few months ago, Butler married in New York, a Miss Fitzgerald, of this city, and they came to live in Montreal. While at work at the switch works, Butler was recognized, and the brother of the second wife was told. He went to a priest, who referred the matter to the police.

Butler, when he left the dock, cried like a child. To young Fitzgerald he said: "I am sorry now, and I deeply regret having got your sister into trouble, but she is blameless. She knew nothing whatever of my previous marriage.

Butler, who is a native of Decatur, Ills., will probably return to his own country, while Miss Fitzgerald will remain with her relatives in Montreal.

New Scheme In Connection With The Text Books

Suggested Nationalization By Minister of Education.

FOR A UNION OF TEACHERS

Ontario Educational Association Has An Attendance at Its 45th Annual Meeting Which Eclipses All Former Records—A Scheme for Superannuation Discussed — Modern Language Education.

Toronto, April 18.—The attendance at the forty-fifth annual meeting of the Ontario Educational Association, which opened in the university building yesterday morning, has eclipsed all previous records. Interest in the new education bill at present before the Legislature is accountable in part for the heavy registration. At an early hour the halls of the university were crowded with visiting teachers from all parts of the province. There were sixteen sections, each of which was largely attended. In each of the sections interesting papers on technical subjects were read and discussed.

Teachers' Union and Pensions.

Secretary R. A. Ward, presented the report of the Public School Department, and remarked it would be well if a plan could be agreed upon to get into closer and more practical relation with the local associations, so that work started might be carried to a successful end. This might ultimately involve the formation of a teachers' union.

C. G. Fraser, Toronto, presented a report of a committee recommending the formation of the Ontario Teachers' Union, for mutual protection and improvement, that teachers may give expression to their collective opinions, the recognition of public school teachers in appointments to higher positions; the adoption of an equitable superannuation scheme for teachers of the province, and the protection of any of its members who may be wrongfully treated. He moved that this report be considered at the meeting of the general association on Wednesday night. The motion was heartily supported by Vice-President Atcheson, and carried.

Superannuation Scheme.

In the course of his presidential address on "The Proposed Superannuation Scheme," J. Bennett characterised the question of the organization of a fund as of the greatest importance. A superannuation scheme would give greater permanency to the profession and greater inducement to the teacher to continue in the profession, whereas under the present circumstances some teachers were apt to seek other spheres where their services would be more highly appreciated. The president reviewed the general principles which included that the later the retirement of a teacher the larger the benefits he should receive; that the larger the amounts contributed to the fund the larger the benefits would accrue, that male and female teachers should draw the same retirement money after having paid the same into the fund; that a female teacher should retire five years younger than a male; male teachers not to retire before 60, but must retire at 65, and that if they retired after sixty they should retire as soon as they had taught 40 years.

It was proposed to make the scheme compulsory when once brought into force. Nothing kept salaries down so much as the fact that so many teachers entered the profession, taught for two or three years and then left. The committee, he thought, had very wisely determined that the collections should be undertaken by the Government, and that the Government should hold these moneys in trust, in order that there might be perfect security. It was also proposed that the Government should contribute 11-2 per cent. of the total salaries paid in Ontario.

Vice-President S. Acheson said that the committee, in addition to teachers, included two actuaries and one skilled lawyer, so that they had some good figures. The 1 1-2 per cent. proposed to be paid by the Government would be on $4,000,000.

Modern Language Education.

J. S. Lane, B. A., president of the modern language department, said that in the high schools 12,874 were students in modern languages, and 23,359 in natural sciences. For the benefit of the science apparatus of a value of $90,611 had been provided as well as special rooms equipped as laboratories, and the typewriting departments have an equipment of $16,383. There was practically no provision for modern languages pupils. These departments were not fairly dealt with. Mr. Lane made an earnest plea for better conditions in the modern language teaching branch, a room without other classes, and one provided with a phonograph and adapted for lantern work.

"Educational Value of Manual Training" was the subject of a paper read in the manual arts section in the afternoon by Prof. Scott.

In the natural science section, President R. Lees, B. A., pleaded for the study of science for its culture value, speaking strongly against forcing the public school teachers to take up the study of classics.

Government Committee Appointed.

The trustees' department appointed C. W. Keely (Guelph), Col. Farewell (Whitby) and R. E. LeSueur to select a representative committee of ten who should submit to the Minister of Education all matters that might be determined upon by this department.

E. J. Kylie, B. A., read an interesting paper on "Aims and Methods of Historical Study."

Prof. Fletcher of University College presided over the classical section in the afternoon, and, in an address, said the indications of general improvement in scholarship was satisfactory; yet all the circumstances were not such as to call for self-congratulation to any extent.

The nationalizing of the school textbooks of Canada, suggested by Hon. R. A. Pyne in an address before the Ontario Educational Association last night, followed upon the remarks of John Ball Dow, B. A., its president, in which he expressed warm advocacy of the nationalization of the country's entire school system. The meeting was held in the west hall of the university.

Hon. Dr. Pyne was given a cordial welcome. He expressed the hope that the public indifference, especially as to the public schools, was at an end. It had been glibly said Ontario had the best school system in the world, allowing the child to enter at the kindergarten and pass directly through the public and high schools to the university, but he opined that few pupils got a thorough ticket. Ninety-five per cent. never got beyond the public school station.

The speaker's allusion to the public schools as requiring attention while the high schools were doing well enough was warmly applauded.

Dr. Pyne announced a firm conviction that a school's success, especially a rural school, depended on its teacher, and gave assurance that the education bills were for the association to consider. He invited suggestions.

"I hope the time may come when the finances of the province will permit of double the grants for education," said Dr. Pyne, who acknowledged other ideals. "A great problem," said Dr. Pyne, anent rural schools. The consolidated school system impressed him, but he doubted its general utility. Dr. Pyne took a strong stand for technical education.

The text-book question was a burning question, said Dr. Pyne. "Why not try and establish over the whole Dominion a national series?" he suggested as a solution. It would increase the publisher's field of producing millions of books where there were thousands, and the individual cost should be less.

An interesting address on "Natural History and Nature Study," by James Fletcher, LL.D., followed, after which routine business wound up the evening.

Accused Each Other.

St. Cesaire, Que., April 18.—Gendreau, husband of the woman found strangled, and Puce Lapointe, a dismissed boarder, each accused the other. Both refuse to talk to the authorities.

DANGER FOR THE PRINCE.

Accident While "Shooting the Chutes" Gave Onlookers a Thrill.

Ottawa, April 19.—The event of yesterday morning for Prince Arthur was his trip down the slides in a lumberman's boat. The party, in three large 36-foot lumbermen's boats, each manned by four experienced men, one of whom was a pilot, made a run through the Remoux Rapids, the Little Chaudiere Rapids, and then down the Long Slide.

When the two batteaux containing the party were within from 75 to 100 feet of the head of the last slide, one of the chains holding the stop-log broke, and a shout of warning was given barely in time. The crews of the batteaux were alert, however, and stopped the boats with their pike poles. Had the break occurred when the boat was passing under, the party would have been swamped inevitably.

No Chance For Women To Obtain The Franchise

Widows and Spinsters Denied Voice in the Elections.

DEFEATED BY 66 TO 8 VOTES

Nurses' Graduate Bill Held Over For Further Debate After Some Discussion—Hon. Dr. Willoughby Wished to Give Objectors a Chance to Be Heard—Mr. Foy's Answer to Mr. Graham re. Phillips.

Toronto, April 20.—Once again was the familiar bill of Mr. Smith (Peel) to give widows and spinsters qualified to vote in municipal elections the right to vote in Parliamentary contests, given its quietus in the Legislature yesterday, being snowed under on division. After some debate, the vote was taken. It was defeated by 66 to 8. The ayes were Auld, Hislop, Smith (Peel), Thompson (Wentworth), Currie, McMullen, Racine, McDougall.

The competition of prison labor with free labor was discussed on Mr. Hanna's motion to ratify contracts with E. C. Taylor for the manufacture of woodenware at the Central Prison.

Hon. Mr. Willoughby, in moving, as chairman of the special committee that dealt with the nurses' bill, that the graduate bill be held over as some important bodies had asked to be heard drew some words of criticism from Mr. Crawford and Mr. Gamey. In reply to these dissentient members, the Premier said there should be no delay, but that Dr. Willoughby was to be commended for wishing to allow other bodies to be heard.

At six o'clock Premier Whitney moved, seconded by Mr. Ross, the sympathy of the Legislature for the people of San Francisco.

Mr. Graham asked the Attorney-General if a promise had been given to President Phillips of the York Loan that he would not be prosecuted if certain assets were handed over.

Mr. Foy said negotiations had been in progress and the department had promised that if restitution were made due consideration would be given, but no promise of immunity had been given.

Third Readings.

The following bills were read a third time:

Respecting the Town of Galt (Pattinson); respecting the Sao Paulo Tramway Co. (Crawford).

Hon. Dr. Reaume withdrew his bill respecting colonization roads. It would be remembered next year, he said.

Principle Accepted.

At the evening session the nurses' bill was again taken up. Mr. Harcourt desired to know the intention of the House.

After some further discussion, the Premier said it was the intention of the Government to allow the bill to go through if it was the wish of the House. He did not see why the committee could not rise and report progress, and then it could be decided later to send it back to the special committee. Since he had come into the House he had been handed a list of objections to the bill.

Finally, on the suggestions of Mr. Harcourt, the committee accepted clause one of the bill and then rose. This ensures further consideration at a later period.

BODY FOUND IN CREEK.

Collapse of Framework Kills One Man. Badly Injures Second.

Cobourg, April 20.—The body of Jas. Kearns was found in the creek running about a mile back of the town yesterday. He was a man about seventy years of age. It is supposed Kearns slipped off the culvert.

While removing the frame of the Cobourg rink last evening, a serious accident occurred, which resulted in the death of one man and perhaps fatal injury to another. Edward Terry and Norman Purser were engaged in pulling a rope fastened to one of the girders, when the whole structure collapsed instantly killing Terry and breaking Purser's shoulder besides injuring him internally. Coroner Elliott has ordered an inquest.

Terry, who was twenty-four years old, leaves a wife and two children.

Senator Lougheed to Lead.

Ottawa, April 20.—Senator Lougheed of Calgary has been chosen by his fellow Conservatives to succeed Sir Mackenzie Bowell as leader of the Opposition in the Senate.

Petrolea, April 20.—The two-year-old son of John Hollingshead, Jr., was drowned by falling into an open sewer-hole yesterday.

He Wants To Repeal Present Salary Act

Bill Introduced In the House By Mr. Uriah Wilson.

THE PRINCE'S RECEPTION

Short Sitting of the House of Commons —Routine Business the Order of the Day—Mr. Bole's Question Regarding Relief For San Francisco Sufferers—Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Reply Was Sympathetic.

Ottawa, April 20.—The visit of Prince Arthur, the subsequent reception to members in the Senate chamber, and the State ball last night all contributed to the shortening of yesterday's sitting of the House to less than an hour. Routine business occupied most of the sitting, another batch of questions being cleared from the order paper.

Mr. Uriah Wilson introduced his bill to repeal the act respecting annuities for certain Privy Councillors, and respecting the sessional allowance of members of Parliament.

"Explain," said Mr. Haggart.

"There's nothing to explain," retorted Mr. Wilson.

The San Francisco Disaster.

Mr. Bole (Winnipeg) on the orders of the day being called, said: "I would ask the Prime Minister if it is the intention of the Government to officially notice the great calamity that has just occurred in San Francisco? If the Government could see its way to make a substantial contribution, either in cash or in kind. I believe it would be supported by the people of Canada."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied: "The Government, in common with everybody else, has noticed with the greatest concern the great calamity which has befallen the large city of our friends on the other side of the line, but we have not considered the advisability of making any contribution for their relief. We do not know the extent of the calamity. We have no information whether or not the resources of that great nation are not adequate for the purpose."

The House adjourned at 3.50 p. m.

The capital of the company is 3,000 pounds sterling in 1,000 shares, £10 each.

"I am endeavoring to get list of shareholders and the amount actually subscribed and paid up. The company was incorporated in the Island of Guernsey as the North Atlantic Trading Co., Limited, registered June 3, 1905, and certificate registration dated Greffe, Guernsey, June 4, 1905. HE MADE RESTITUTION.

Phillips Turns Over $106,000 to York Loan Co. Liquidators—Committed For Trial—Out on Bail.

Toronto, April 20.—Within two minutes after Joseph Phillips signed an order turning over $50,000 in stock in the Toronto Life to the liquidators of the York Loan, he was committed to trial by Magistrate Denison.

Later in the evening he was allowed bail under two sureties of $2,500 each furnished by Andrew M. Hobberlin and John Hudson and himself in $5,000.

Among the shares turned over to the liquidators were those held in the names of Burt, the Hudsons, Joan McCann and Mrs. Sauter. It leaves the Hudson girls with only sixty shares of Toronto Life stock in their possession. These were actually purchased with cash. Burt also turned in the amount of the overwriting commission given him by Phillips and invested in Toronto Life stock.

Another of the turnovers made by Phillips were The National Monthly, and The Canadian Monthly. The Lisst Piano Co. has been in the hands of the liquidators for the past week.

The value of the Toronto Life stock is placed at $50,000, The National Monthly, $6,500, and the Lisst Piano Co. $50,000, making a total of $106,000 turned over by Phillips for the benefit of the shareholders in the York Loan.

Phillips was photographed and the Bertillion measurements taken.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, April 19.—Reports of live stock at the city market as reported by the railways were since Tuesday 96 cars, 1001 cattle, 1042 hogs, 281 sheep, 1009 calves. Besides the hogs mentioned above there were 1055 hogs to Park, Blackwell, 668 to King for Montreal packing Co. and 70 to Puddy Bros. that were shipped in from country points f. o. b. cars, a total of 1793 hogs, of about 18 car loads, not counted in the above report, as they were not for sale and many of them never near the market.

Exporters.

Trade in exporters is dull on this market in comparison with what the farmers are reported as getting in the country. One commission firm sold 60 exporters to-day at $5.10 per cwt. that cost $5.25 per cwt. in the country, the drover losing 15c per cwt. and all expenses. There were about 5 loads of exporters sold on the market to-day at $4.75 to $5.10 per cwt. Export bulls sold at $3.60 to $4.15.

Butchers.

Picked lots sold at $4.75 to $5 per cwt. loads of good at $4.40 to $4.70, medium at $4 to $4.30, common at $3 to $4 per cwt. cows at $3 to $4.25 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. Murby reports a dull trade on stockers and feeders, except for a few odd lots of the assorted kind, which sold at about steady prices. The other kinds have been slow and hard to sell all week. Good breedy short-keep steers have been scarce all week and more of this class would have sold. The run of stockers and light feeders wasn't very heavy, but more than the demand called for.

Mr. Murby bought about 250 head this week at the following quotations: Best feeders, 1100 to 1200 lbs., at $4.50 to $4.75; best feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs., at $4.25 to $4.60; best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. at $4 to $4.25; best feeders, 800 to 900 lbs., at $3.85 to $4.10; best stockers, 500 to 700 lbs., at $3.50 to $3.65; common stockers, 400 to 600 lbs., at $3.

Milch Cows.

About 15 milch cows and springers sold at $30 to $52 each. More good quality cows would have sold, as the trade is good for such.

Veal Calves.

About 1200 veal calves were reported by the railways as having arrived in the city, but many of these went direct to the packing house or abattoirs. This heavy run had the effect of easing off prices, which ranged from $3 to $6 per cwt. for the bulk.

Sheep and Lambs.

The run was not large, but prices again went lower all round as follows: Export ewes sold at $4.50 to $5 per cwt.; bucks, $3.50 to $3.75; yearling lambs, $6.25 to $6.75 per cwt.; spring lambs sold at $3 to $6 each.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris got 1043 hogs and reports prices unhanged at $7.15 for selects and $6.90 for lights and fats; sows at $4 to $5 and stags at $2.50 to $3.50 per cwt.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, April 19.—Cattle—Receipts, 200 head; steady; prime steers, $5.25 to $5.75; shipping, $4.75 to $5.15; butchers', $4.25 to $5; heifers, $3.75 to $5; cows, $3 to $4.60.

Veals—Receipts, 500 head; slow and 25c lower at $5 to $6.25, a few at $6.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 2800 head; slow; heavy and mixed, $6.90 to $7; yorkers, $6.85 to $6.90; pigs, $6.80; roughs, $5 to $6.20; stags, $4.25 to $4.75.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 6400 head; sheep steady; lambs slow, 5c to 10c higher; lambs, $6.25 to $7.30; yearlings, $6.25 to $6.50; wethers, $6 to $6.25; ewes, $5.50 to $5.75; sheep, mixed, $5 to $5.75.

Calves—Receipts, 460; trade slow and prices 25c to 50c lower. Veals, $4 to $6; dressed calves weak at 7c to 10½c for city dressed veals and 5c to 8½c for country dressed.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 298; spring lambs, $8.50 to $9 per head; sheep and yearlings entirely nominal.

Hogs—Receipts, 1043; market steady; state hogs, $7 to $7.10.

The C. P. R. and G. N. W. Telegraph Companies, together with American telegraphic concerns, have decided to only accept messages for San Francisco at the sender's risk. PREVALENCE OF MAPLE SUGAR ADULTERATION

Montreal Herald.

While the drip of sap in the pan, the sounds of men and teams in the maple groves, and the sweet odour arising from the sugar houses tell that the maple season has come, it is with something like a shock that one reads the debate in the House of Commons this week on the resolution which was adopted urging energetic measures for the prevention of the adulteration of the maple products In a land where the conditions for obtaining the real sugar and syrup of the maple are so favourable, where, as the Minister of Inland Revenue pointed out, an industry which is worth $1,750,000 to-day could easily be increased to eight or ten millions of dollars, it is much to be regretted that the market should be captured by a spurious compound that robs the producer of the genuine syrup and sugar of the reward of his industry.

This year the maple season is late and promises to be short, but the sap is unusually sweet and the sugar and syrup of high quality and delicate flavour; but for these choice products other and coarser substances are being substituted and sold, according to Mr. Boyer, the member for Vaudreuil, at prices against which the honest farmer is unable to compete.

Mr. Templeman declared that there is widespread adulteration of maple syrup and sugar, and Mr. Brodeur, his predecessor in the Inland Revenue Department, expressed the opinion that the law for the prevention of adulteration should be rendered more effective.

The spurious and adulterated products are evolved in various ways, such as by melting down the sugar and adding glucose and flavouring extracts, and by boiling hickory wood and bark and mixing the concoction with the ordinary syrup that can be bought cheaply in the market. The sugar is adulterated by the addition of cane sugar and this product is often melted down and sold for syrup.

Some of the farmers are themselves becoming "foxy," for having learned that the cane sugar can be used with the maple they use it to some extent themselves. In the United States seven-eighths of the product marketed to-day is declared by the bureau of chemistry in the Department of Agriculture to be spurious. We stand better than that, but according to Mr. Boyer, only nineteen per cent. of the maple syrup in the market is pure. Such blended stuff as sugar three or four years old, glucose, settlings in molasses barrels, with a little flavouring is sent out as the pure product, although it is hardly less deletarious than that which is manufactured without a particle of maple in its composition.

Those who have learned the taste of the real maple in its native woods are never deceived by these rank imitations. Its flavour is pronounced by scientific authorities to be the result of the combination of different substances in the sap, but to be chiefly due to an ether or aldehyde a high boiling point. The phenomenon of the sap flow is still imperfectly understood. The old idea was that sap rose to the branches in the spring and dropped to the roots in the fall, but tests have shown that the flow of sap is both upwards and downwards in the trunk. It has been observed that during the day there has been a pressure of twenty pounds to the square inch, while at night this is lost and in its place there is a suction of varying degrees of strength. Nature's laboratory produces many marvels, and the maple sap is one of them. It is worth protecting from its enemies.

To Miss Mary Tucker:

It is with feelings of deepest sorrow that the choir of the Presbyterian church has learned of the death of your noble mother, after a long and painful illness, borne so patiently and in the spirit of such sweet and full submission to the will of the Master she had so long and so lovingly served, and into Whose presence she has now entered.

In these moments of loneliness we would commend you to the loving care of Him Whose praises we so often joined together in leading in the services of the House of God. Those precious words of promise, of comfort, of encouragement, of hope, which we so often and so heartily sang there to help those in trouble, will surely come to you now as messages of peace and glad tidings, when the heart is sore and the life is lonely.

In time to come those departed will greet us on the heavenly shore; meantime, let us labour on until the end of our life's day, that we may enter into the rest our Saviour has promised His loved ones.

We also unite in extending our sincere sympathy to your sisters and brother.

In the name of the choir,

Hermes W. Nicol,
Choir Master.

Additional Detail Of Genesis of Fife Wheat

Mrs. Aitkin, Still Living, had Prominent Share in Nurturing it.

Mr. John J. Aitkin, of Swift Current, Saskatchewan, grandson of the late David Fife, of Fife Wheat fame, writes the following letter to The Globe:

I was surprised, but much pleased, on receiving The Globe of 20th March, to see a letter therein from Samuel Armstrong, of Jermyn, Ont., telling the story of the origin of Fife wheat. You will understand my deep interest in the story when I tell you that Mr. David Fife, the importer of Fife wheat, was my mother's father.

After reading the letter and editorial carefully to myself, I commenced plying my mother with questions regarding the wheat, and was surprised to find her memory quite clear on the subject, although it must be years since it has been mentioned. It appears that in those early days a man by the name of Wm. Struthers, a resident of the city of Glasgow, who was sight-seeing in that part of Canada, stayed at grandfather's for almost a year.

On returning to his native land, Mr. Struthers sent my grandfather a sample of wheat, which was received in due time. The ground was prepared at once. Mother says it was a new piece of land, where a large log heap had been for some time. The logs were burned, and the ground prepared. Grandmother sowed the wheat and my mother covered it with a garden rake. Mother was visibly touched, and there was a tremor in her voice as she recalled old days. But, sir, I could not help smiling to myself when I noticed in my mother's face some of the ire that, I suppose, held sway for a time, when from the window of the old home, she saw two of the five good heads of wheat disappear in the bovine mouth. And I must say I was glad that a particular specimen was not here, for mother is quite capable yet of handling just such a case. Mother remembers well the three heads of wheat hanging to the ceiling of the kitchen until the spring, when they were threshed in the palm of grandfather's hand, the seeds counted and dropped like small pieces of gold into the ground, and watched with deep interest by all. Mother melted to tears when she recalled the long evenings in the old home when around the kitchen table, with a plate of the precious grains, they sat picking out the good seeds, so that none of the faulty ones would be sown the coming spring.

From time to time grandfather gave his neighbours small quantities of the wheat. But Mr. David Henderson was the first to buy a bushel, for which he paid the same price that common varieties were selling for. Mr. Armstrong's letter was clear and full, and I do not write this letter to improve on it, but to substantiate it and to show that, as grandfather had much to do with the origin and spread of this great cereal, grandmother was equally praiseworthy. And it would be hard to find anyone more interested in farming interests of our country than my mother, who has lived to see the few kernels of wheat sown in those early days grow into the great loaf from which a great part of the world now eats daily bread.

I had spells of weakness and had bad cramps in stomach and limbs. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to my attention, and eight boxes cured me." — Mr. Jas. IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. Robert Richardson, Otonabee, who died January 11th, 1906, aged 69 years.

Dearest friend thou art gone to rest;
Gone to thy home above;
Gone to reign with spirits bleat,
And Christ, whom thou didst love.

Our home is strangely sad and lone
Thy loss we deeply feel,
But God so merciful and kind
Our broken hearts can heal.

We miss thy form at home, abroad
We miss it everywhere,
And oh! what sorrow fills our hearts
As we see that vacant chair.

The sharer of thy joys and cares
Thy husband in this life,
Is left to weep and mourn the loss,
Of a kind and faithful wife.

Thy children too, whom thou didst love
And cherish with tender care,
Have none like thee to comfort them
And all their sorrows share.

But though thy loss we deeply mourn
Thou dear departed friend,
We know tot is our Father's will
And to that will we bend.

We know that round the great white throne
The ransomed spirits sing
The everlasting praises of Our Lord the King of Kings.

And in that land of Heavenly bliss
Where Christ Himself doth reign,
We hope upon that rapturous shore
To meet with thee again,

We'll lay our woe at Jesus feet
He'll all our burdens bear,
And live in faith and trust till called
To meet our loved ones there.

Those lines which I have just written
Are from one whose sorrow is deep
And hope they shall be of some slight comfort
To those who cannot help but weep.

SUSPECTED MURDER AROUSES KIRKFIELD; FOUL PLAY LIKELY

Eldon Township the Scene of a Death Which Looks Much Like Murder Yesterday—Man Named Miller, a Farm Hand Employed by John McNulty, Found Lying in Bush With Great Gash in His Head.

(Lindsay Post Special.)

Kirkfield, April 19.—The entire community is in a state of excitement in consequence of a terrible occurrence in this neighbourhood yesterday morning. The facts, as learned, are as follows:

Two men named Miller and Dillon had been in the employ of a farmer named John McNulty, living about four miles north of the village, and yesterday morning at an early hour they were given a task of chopping wood in a bush on the farm. Their employer, after issuing necessary directions, returned to the barn to feed his cattle and perform other morning chores.

About 10.30 McNulty returned to the bush, when a horrible sight met his gaze. Miller was lying dead beside a log he had been cutting, the ground about being deluged with the blood that had gushed from the terrible wound in the head. Dillon was nowhere to be seen. Presumably the two men had quarrelled soon after their employer had left them, as very little wood had been cut.

McNulty at once informed the authorities of the dreadful affair, and Dillon was arrested a few hours later.

Took 22 Days For Letter To Reach Here

From Toronto—But it Went to London, England, in the Meantime—Mysterious Journey of a Letter Posted in Toronto.

From Toronto to Peterborough, via London, England, is rather a long way round, but that is the course a letter recently received by a local business man, took.

About three weeks ago a letter was posted in Toronto by a wholesale house, addressed to a local merchant, and exactly 22 days after it was posted, it reached this city. That was a pretty good record, too, considering the journey which the letter took to reach its destination, for instead of coming direct to Peterborough it took a jaunt across the Atlantic to the world's metropolis, which was the first place that a postmark was placed on the letter, the stamp not having been cancelled at Toronto. It is a pretty hard matter to explain just how it was that the letter took this course, but the postmaster here thinks the solution of the mystery is that in the Toronto office it slipped into the fold of a newspaper going to England, and was not found until the paper was opened there, when it was sent back to its intended destination. It made a pretty quick trip at that too, for 22 days after it was posted in Toronto it reached this city, which, allowing for the four days, or thereabouts, journey that it would have on land, made a quick trip across the Atlantic two ways.

Fed Seed Clover To His Horses

An Expensive Meal Which the Hostler Gave.

A good story is told of a certain hotel in the city. It appears that last Saturday a prosperous farmer came on his weekly trip to the city, after disposing of his produce on the market he bought a bushel of red clover seed, worth $10, and placed it in the light waggon he was driving. He then went to the White House, where he usually stays when in the city. The stables there were full, and he then went to the Munro House where a similar condition prevailed, at a third hotel he met with better success, and told the hostler to put his horses in and feed them, and when, in the afternoon he came to get his team again, he noticed that the bag of clover seed had disappeared from the waggon, and upon questioning the hostler he was informed that he had feed it to the horses, dividing the bushel between them. This was a pretty expensive meal—almost up to King Edward prices. The remarks of the farmer when he learned the facts were not told for publication.

San Francisco Completely Annihilated: City of Golden Gate To Be Wiped Off Map

This Seems To Be the Fate of One of the Most Beautiful Cities in America--Fire Now Burning Fiercely--No Power on Earth Can Save City From Total Destruction -- Fire Must Burn Till It Reaches Golden Gate--A Shock at Honolula--Sanford University Damaged to Extent of $4,000,000--Bogus Telegram From Mayor Says City Only Half Destroyed An Improbable Story in Face of Known Facts.

The first ray of hope in the San Francisco tragedy came this afternoon when a despatch revealed the fact that the firemen were gradually gaining control of the flames, and that there were hopes that at least a remnant of the city would be saved. This is but poor comfort, however, for already the city had practically fallen a complete victim to the awful conflagration. While it appears that the actual loss of life was not quite as great as was at first estimated, the death roll will mount up to several hundred, perhaps to the thousands. The loss in property, however, will be something enormous, almost incomprehensible. It is utterly impossible for us to conceive the extent to which the people of that city have suffered material losses. Added to the temporary suffering is the realization of the the fact that at least for many thousands of them, they will be ruined, and will have to start life over again.

San Francisco Will Undoubtedly Be Rebuilt. The People are Progressive and Stout of Heart, but it will never be the same San Francisco. Steel Buildings Will be Built and they will be smaller, because there will never be a feeling of absolute security from a repetition of this week's disaster. San Francisco will always remain the gateway to the Southern Seas, and it is reasonable to expect that in a few years a large city will again stand on the site of the ruins of the present city. Nothing further has been heard from the Peterborough people there. Mr. Jas. Stevenson, Mr. Ferguson and Mrs. Ellis are waiting anxiously to hear from their relatives, but up to the hour of going to pass no word has been heard.

G. N. W. Despatches.

Sweeps to Golden Gate.

New York, April 20.—The Western Union Telegraph Company, at 9 o'clock this morning, received the following message from San Francisco: The fire, which heretofore had swept around the base of telegraph hill, has left a few houses standing there, has swept back from the west, and is now in full possession of the houses on the hill, and will no doubt have everything down to the waterfront on Van Ness avenue and west of there. The main fire has reached Octavia street, and is going at a fast rate. There is no one in from the fire since midnight. At that time it had started afresh at the south end, and was burning fast. The Ferry Buildings present a fearful sight of men, women and children, and the few articles they have tried to save. They are all here to leave the city by the first boat they can get. On the roads leading from the ferry north and around the shore of the bay as far as Fort Mason are strewn all sorts of vehicles that have broken down. Baby carriages, wheel-barrows, etc., that would not stand the loads over the rough way have been abandoned, and, in some cases, with their loads. The fire came very close to Fort Mason last night, and the big Fontana warehouse and nearby canneries will no doubt go to-day. I think the fire will make a clean sweep of everything as far as Golden Gate Park.

Cliff House Story Untrue.

San Francisco, April 20.—The report that the famous Cliff House had toppled into the sea cannot be verified, and is probably untrue. In the confusion it is impossible to get to the place.

Quake at Honolulu.

Cleveland, O., April 20.—Brown & Co., brokers, have received a despatch saying there has been an earthquake at Honolulu. The shock lasted six minutes, and but little damage was done.

Ray of Hope.

New York, April 20.—A Western Union bulletin timed 9.45, San Francisco time, states that the flames are yielding to the persistent efforts of the firemen. It is now thought that the section of the city north of Market street and west of a point at Octavia and Market streets, on an irregular line to Vannese and Broadway may be saved.

Rel of Trains.

Portland, Ore., April 20. — The Southern Pacific las night started a special train of 26 cars for San Francisco, carrying ten physicians, twenty trained nurses and 9,000 pounds of provisions. Twenty-six more cars will start to-day.

University Damaged.

San Francisco, April 20.—The following signed statement was furnished by President Jordan, of Leland University. The earthquake did great damage to the buildings of Sanford University. Only two deaths, one a student, J. A. Hanna, of Bradford, Pa., and a fireman, Hans Strep. Students were injured, but none seriously. The buildings that were wrecked are the Memorial church, the new library, the gymnasium, the memorial arch and the power house. Many buildings of the outer quadrangle were seriously damaged, as well as some of the shops. The chemistry building, Encina Hall and the inner quadrangle are practically uninjured. The damage will approximate $4,000,000. The books, collections and apparatus are not greatly damaged.

Heintz and Co's. Wires.

London Co.'s Losses.

London, April 10.—It is estimated here in well informed insurance circles that the British companies are involved in the San Francisco fire losses to the extent of £50,000,000. It is believed that the whole amount will be promptly met.

Bogus Dispatches.

New York, noon.—Harriman & Co., have just received the following from their Washington office:

"The mayor of San Francisco has telegraphed President Roosevelt that the fire is now under control. About half the city destroyed; not the entire city."

A similar despatch is said to have been received from Mayor Schmitz, but in view of its conflicting with all the news gathered by Press association and telegraph companies, as well as the bulletins of the War Department, the despatch was regarded generally as a forgery, or the product of a highly nervous and upset person. The latest Associated Press despatch states that the fire is raging along the bay, now, wiping out the large warehouses.

Trains Running.

Washington, 12.10 p.m.— General Funston wires that the Ferry Buildings and wharves to the north of Market street are intact and out of danger. The ferry is running regularly to Oakland. Railroads have established their offices in the Ferry Building. Trains are now running regularly via Stockton, to the east and north.

To Preserve Order.

Washington, D.C., April 20.—For the purpose of preserving order and assisting in the work of relief at San Francisco the War Department has ordered two battalions of the 20th Infantry and the 2nd Squadron of the 14th Cavalry, to that city from Monterey, Cal.

Hope Grows.

New York, April 20.—2. p. m. — South of Market street fire has passed to west of Dolores street, but north of Market. Entire line under control from about Fillmore and Market on irregular line to Vanes and Broadway. The region of the

CALCUTT COMPANY PERMANENTLY OUT OF STEAMBOAT BUSINESS

Statement Made by an Official of the Company to This Effect--Unless Sold, the "City of Peterborough" Will Not be Operated This Season--A Long Record in Transportation Business.

"The Calcutt Company is out of the steamboat business for good." This is the statement made to the Examiner to-day by one of the officials of the Company, in answer to the question as to when the "City of Peterborough" the only boat in the fleet which the Company has left, would be placed in commission. He added that the Company did not intend to operate any steamers this year, nor at any future time. Unless the "City" is sold she will be idle this summer, so that the number of boats plying the Otonabee will be be smaller this year than it has been for many years.

It has been known for some time that the Calcutt Company was anxious to sell the steamers comprising its fleet, and go out of that branch of the business, one of the reasons, and no doubt the principal one, being that the brewery end of the business was assuming such large proportions that it requires practically all the time of the executive members of the firm to handle it, and since the steamboat business represented such a small proportion of the aggregate trade of the Company, it was decided to dispose of it, and work the other, and, perhaps, more profitable end of it more extensively.

This season, therefore, the "City" will not be run, unless, of course, she is sold, and her new owners decide to operate her. While she has seen a good many years' service, she is still in good shape, and would be able to ply the river for many years to come. This will mean one less excursion steamer on the Otonabee this year. The "North Star" was burned last season and is now rebuilding, but it will be some time before she will be ready to operate, and the same is true of the "Water Lily," so that there will be only the "Rainbow" at least in the early part of the season, until the others are ready.

The withdrawal of the Calcutt Company from the steamboat end of their business removes from the transportation interests one of the most prominent and oldest firms of steamboat men in the Midland district. For many years, the Calcutt line of steamers has sailed the waters of the Otonabee and Rice Lake and, with the opening of the lift lock, the upper waters of the canal, and while of late years the transportation end of the business of the Company has been subordinate to the manufacturing, the Calcutt interests have always been considered a factor in the steamboat trade.

In his earlier days, before the infirmities of age and illness necessitated his withdrawal from active participation in business, Mr. H. Calcutt, the head of the firm, took a deep interest in the steamboat business, and his boats were his special pride.

In the earlier days the transportation business bore, perhaps, a closer relation to the manufacturing end of the business than it has in later years.

The "City of Peterborough" is still the property of the Calcutt interests, but whether she will be disposed of in the near future or not is not yet known.

Offers to Buy Strip of Land

Toronto Saving and Loan Co. Would Buy From City.

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company want to purchase a strip of land from the city. The land in question is a small strip adjoining the Kelly property on Sherbrooke street. The piece is 15 feet wide at one end and about 30 feet at the other. The company has purchased the rest of the property and wants this strip.

At the meeting of the Committee of the Whole last night Mr. W. Johnston and Mr. H. Morphett waited on the committee, and the former addressed the members, asking that a valuation be placed upon it as soon as possible, because the company wished to proceed with building operations at once, and wished to know if the property could be purchased.

The Mayor asked Mr. Johnston if he would make an offer for the property, and the latter offered $100, which the Mayor thought was too low.

Ald. Adams moved that the council accept $300. It was finally decided to allow the matter to go to the Board of Works to deal with.

Was Presented With Past First Principal's Jewel

Ex.-Com. W. J. Francis Honoured by Members of Corinthian Chapter and Other Masonic Friends—Many Eulogistic References Were Made to Mr. Francis' Connection With the Masonic Order.

HE LEAVES FOR NELSON TO-MORROW

Last night about forty members of Corinthian Chapter, No. 30, Royal Arch Masons and other Masonic friends, assembled in their hall to say farewell to Ex-Comp. Walter J. Francis, who leaves to-morrow night to take up residence in Nelson, B.C. Ex-Comp. Francis has been of great service to the Masonic Order and his friends decided to show their esteem in some tangible form. The departing brother was presented with the Past First Principal's jewel. The gift which was richly set with diamonds and rubies bore the inscription: "Presented to Ex-Com. Walter J. Francis, P. Z., by Corinthian Chapter, No. 30, R.A.M., and other Masonic friends."

The presentation was made on behalf of the Chapter and friends by Ex-Com. W. A. Brundrette, who referred in eulogistic terms to Mr. Francis' connection with the Masonic Order and of the value of his services.

Preceding the presentation an informal but very enjoyable banquet was held, the brethren present doing ample justice to the excellent repast served. The toast to the King was honoured in the usual loyal manner, after which the health of the departing brother was drunk. Wor. Bro. W. H. Bradburn, speaking on behalf of Corinthian Lodge; Wor. Bro. Ald. Geo. J. Tovey, for Peterborough Lodge; Rt. Ex-Comp. R. E. Wood, for Corinthian Chapter, and Rt. Em. Sir Kt. W. H. Walkey, for Moore Preceptory, K.T., and Bro. F. H. Dobbin for the citizens, generally, made glowing and appreciative references to Ex-Com. Francis' connection with the Masons.

Ex-Com. Francis made an appropriate response expressing his regret at having to sever his connection with Peterborough and his deep gratitude for the kindnesses shown him.

Annexation Plan Objected To By The Property Owners

No Agreement Was Reached at the Joint Meeting Held Last Night--North Monaghan Residents Hold Out for Twenty Years Fixed Assessment and Rate--Council Says Ten.

The question of the annexation of the North Monaghan property to the city is at present in the same position that it was before the matter had been discussed by either the city or township Councils. The matter will likely go to the Lieutenant-Governor to be dealt with, when those who are opposed to the proposal will have an opportunity of presenting their views to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

At the meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council last night the property owners on the north side of the sugar property were present and the whole matter of the proposed annexation was thrashed out again. An agreement was almost reached, but the disinclination of the property owners to agree to a fixed assessment for 10 years was the rock upon which they split, and as a result the whole negotiations are off.

A proposition was made to the effect that the property should be taken into the city and the assessment and rate fixed for 20 years at the present assessment and rate all the township, with the provision that any land sold or improved should be subject to the usual city rate. This was agreed to by the property owners, but the Council would not stand for the 20-year clause, and an amendment was carried making it 10 years, but this was not satisfactory to the North Monaghan people, the result being that nothing was done, and the whole matter will now go to the Lieutenant-Governor, who will decide it in council.

Ald. Ball was opposed strenuously to the proposal to effect the annexation at all, and declared that it was an injustice to the present ratepayers of the city to take the North Monaghan people in on the terms proposed. He thought the Council had all it could handle now without taking anything more, and he advised the North Monaghan people, for their own good, to stay where they are. He lived in the west end of the city, and could not get any sidewalks, and they would likely be troubled the same way if they came into the city.

A number of the property owners affected were at the meeting of the Committee, as well as Reeve Madill and Councillor Holmes, of North Monaghan, the others being Messrs.

Offenders Will Be Punished

George Street Merchants are Littering Streets With Waste Paper.

Police Magistrate Dumble this morning strongly objected to the waste papers which some George street merchants are continually littering the streets. The Magistrate characterized it as a filthy habit, and a disgrace to the city. He further intimated that the police would see that the bylaw was rigidly enforced. "There will be no $2 fine imposed, either," he added emphatically.

TRENTON ROUTE AND WATER POWER.

The Lindsay Watchman-Warder travels a good deal out of its way to try to demonstrate the impracticability of the Trent route as a terminus of the Trent Canal, and its reasons seem to be quite wide of the mark. It says that the Trenton route would be extremely expensive as compared with the Port Hope route, and that the additional money required would be spent to better advantage in "developing the natural water-powers." That is one of the strongest claims of the Trenton route. The construction of the canal, while primarily intended to make a navigable waterway, will incidentally and practically develop great quantities of water power—on the Trenton route it is estimated, 70,000 horse power. This the canal has done when it has been completed. At Burleigh Falls, canal construction has created conditions that make development of a large quantity of electrical power easily possible, and if the right sort of enterprise is directed to the making use of the privileges at Burleigh, Lindsay may easily get a supply of electric power for that place, and the Watchman-Warder may soon have its issue printed by means of power rendered easy of development by canal construction, as would be the case to a larger degree from the canalization of the waterway from Rice Lake to Trenton. We want the canal for transportation purposes, chiefly, but we want it for the incidental possibilities of easy power development its construction will create.

TAXATION OF RAILWAYS.

The State of Michigan prides itself upon the success of the law for the taxation of railways, which is based upon the idea that great corporations, which enjoy important statedgiven franchises, should be made to pay liberally for their privileges. It may be, theoretically the proper thing to do to tax railways to a reasonable extent, but it must be borne in mind that railway corporations, in addition to getting important franchises and advantages, confer important advantages upon the country which they serve. We owe the development of the material resources, the development of commerce and manufacturers, the comfort and convenience of the people, to the railways. While railways are thus public benefactors, whose withdrawal would be a national calamity, they should reasonably expect to contribute a fair share to the support of civic institutions, but this contribution should not be made excessive. It is to be hoped that Ontario will take a reasonable view of the matter in dealing with proposed legislation in regard to the taxation of railways. They should not be exempt, but pay well for the privileges they enjoy, but the impost should not be unduly burdensome.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Germans declare that they intend — "they are absolutely determined" — to take the lead upon the European continent. One of the important means of reaching an object is inflexible resolution of intention and corresponding effort; but the effort must be properly directed to constructive ends — not by harrassing or pulling down somebody else.

The force behind the agitation in Ontario would drive the Ontario Government into the electrical power business, as the expectation of getting power for the small consumer at the price at which the present suppliers are ready to sell it to large consumers. If it succeeds, Ontario, says the Montreal Gazette, will speedily accumulate a financial disaster.

Since it was announced that the crew who won the recent boat race in England were trained on eggs, ben fruit has, the Hamilton Times remarks, become a popular article of diet. According to the figures which have just been issued by the Statistical Office of the British Customs House, fifteen million more eggs were imported in one week than during the same period last year. To quote the figures: Week ending March 24, 1905, actual number of eggs imported, 38,202,720; while in the same week this year the number had risen to the enormous total of 52,841,760. Hurrah for the hen!

A study of Chamberlain's career, says Mr. Goldwin Smith in a letter moment, has appeared showing that in the course of it he has not only been upon both sides of every great question, including Free Trade, Home Rule, and Imperialism, but extreme on each side. He was extreme as a radical, he outvied Cobden as a Free Trader, he was for Home Rule as strongly as now, he is against it. Nor has he, in passing from one extreme to the other, cared to explain or justify his change or offer the slightest tribute to conscience and consistency. He has simply, as a political gambler, transferred his money from Rogue to Noir.

The Great Earthquakes In World's Past History

Details of Other West Coast Visitations—The Tremendous Calamities Which Have Destroyed Great Cities—Data for Comparison With the Recent Disaster.

Appalling and stunning as is the great catastrophe which has wrought such devastation in California, it is in comparison with some of the tremendous calamities that have befallen in the past history of the world. Perusal of a record of these literally world-shaking happenings, gives one some faint conception of the tremendous forces existing in the centre of the earth. In view of the great calamity in the west it may be interesting to note the former visitations of this continent, especially of the west, so that when the full proportions of the San Francisco cataclysm are revealed means may be available for comparison, and also for comparison with the great earthquakes of the past.

Volcanoes and Quakes.

The year 1902 was marked by the last appearance of such unusual volcanic and seismic activity as has been part of the history of the last few months. In Mexico, Guatemala, the West Indies, the Aleutian Islands and Russia severe disturbances occurred, and, singularly, as this year, the Volcanoes of Vesuvious and Mauna Loa, Hawaii, displayed marked activity. But two apparently quiescent and almost forgotten volcanoes gave the most striking exhibition of the terrors of an upheaval of nature. In one moment a great blast from the crater of Mont Pelee, in the Island of Martinique, wiped out the beautiful commercial centre of that island and destroyed the entire population of 30,000 except one, who escaped, and that one, a condemned murderer, was confined in an underground chamber. About the same time La Soufriere, in the neighboring island of St. Vincent, burst forth covering the country with desolation and destroying thousands of lives.

The Charleston Disaster.

In August, 1886, there were a series of earthquakes in Greece, Naples and Charleston, South Carolina, in which six hundred persons were killed, and one thousand injured. The Mediterranean countries were severely visited; a Greek town was completely destroyed. At that time Vesuvius was in full eruption. The area of the earth disturbance in Greece on August 28, 1886, was phenomenally wide. At least six towns were entirely destroyed, and a score of others in part. On the mainland much damage was done, but there was little loss of live. The Greek Cabinet sat at Athens almost continuously, considering relief measures.

On August 31 of the same year an earthquake swept over Charleston about 10 o'clock at night, causing more loss and injury to property and far more loss of life than the cyclone of the year before. There were 96 lives lost, and seven million dollars of property destroyed. In twelve hours there were ten distinct shocks felt, extending throughout Virginia and eastern Tennessee.

Prof. Campbell, director of the magnetic observatory in Toronto at that time, reported that on the night of August 31, the self-recording magnetographs at the Observatory showed the effects of the quake. In connection with the Charleston disaster a Mansion House fund was opened in London, and a large sum realized for the sufferers.

Other Quakes on Coast.

San Francisco and the neighbouring part of the State were shaken by an earthquake on March 30th, 1893. The water in the bay rose in a wave two feet high, but almost immediately subsided. The shock lasted thirty to forty seconds. The greatest damage was done at Mare Island Navy Yard, where it amounted to $340,000. The damage at Vallejo was estimated at $50,000. Early on Christmas morning, 1899, a large part of southern California was shaken by an earthquake. The centre of the disturbance was at San Jacinto, Riverside county, and the undulations continued about twelve seconds. Many buildings were damaged.

Great Quakes of History.

The earthquakes of history in the number of lives lost and amount of property destroyed dwarf in importance even the great catastrophe of Wednesday. The most celebrated historic earthquake is certainly that appalling event which occurred at Lisbon on November 1, 1755. Within eight minutes the whole city was reduced to ruins and 50,000 inhabitants were swallowed up. Perhaps the most awe-inspiring event was the disappearance without leaving a trace behind of the great Lisbon pier, with its crowd of terror-stricken fugitives, who had flown to it for safety. This earthquake also did incalculable damage at Coembra, Oporto, Malaga, Fez, in Morocco, where thousands of people perished, and at the Madeira Islands. According to Humboldt, a noted student of seismic disturbances, it extended over an area equal to about one-eleventh of the earth's surface.

At Calabria, in Italy, there have been several destructive earthquakes at various times, the last great one, by which about ten thousand lives were lost, occurring on December 16, 1857.

One of the most recent of the great earthquakes of the past occurred at Kuchan, Persia, in 1893, when 12,000 people were killed. There was great loss of life in Japan in 1891, when violent shocks caused great desolation among the inhabitants, about 10,000 of whom were killed. Over four thousand were killed in Yunnan, China, in 1888, and in the preceeding year 170 people perished in Montezuma. The town of Joana, in Java, was completely destroyed by an earthquake in 1890, and were numerous destructive shocks in Greece, Constantinople, Macedonia, Sicily, Japan and southern Italy, with great loss of life, notably in San Juan, Argentina, in 1894.

The Imperial Potentate Travels

Mystic Shriners Charter Luxurious Special Train.

The annual convention of the Imperial Council, Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will be held this year in Los Angeles, Cal., May 7t o 10. With a view to comfortable and fraternal travel and sight-seeing en route, the Shriners of Eastern Canada and New England have completed arrangements for a through special train, going via the States, returning through Canada. The train itself is to be a model of comfort and luxury, made up with vestibuled Pullman sleepers, observation and dining car, baggage car, and a first-class day car for lounging.

This train will be known all along the route as the "Imperial Special," as befitting the caravan of the Imperial Potentate. Leaves Toronto at 7.30 p.m. Monday, April 30th. Two or more through sleepers are arranged to leave New England points and Montreal in time to join the main train at Toronto. Once away from Toronto and Chicago, the old "Mormon Trail" will be followed to Denver and the Colorado wonderland, where the train will be held while passengers visit the famous Springs, the "Garden of the Gods," Pike's Peak and other well-known points. A visit to Salt Lake City will be paid before reaching Los Angeles. Arrived in that city, five days will be spent attending the convention and seeing the many interesting and beautiful spots within easy reach. May weather in California speaks for itself, delightful drives and outings are for every day. Throughout the trip special attention is promised the train party; guides and committees will be on hand to help secure accommodation, and the pleasure of the visitors will be studied in every way.

The return journey will be by way of monterey, San Francisco, Shasta Springs and Portland, Ore., to Seattle, where a Canadian Pacific passenger steamer will be in waiting to convey the party to Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., traversing the beautiful waters of Puget Sound en route. Return to the train will be made for the trans-Canadian journey, at first through the world-famous scenery of the Canadian Rockies, where nature presents her grandest and most stupendous aspects, and later through the boundless prairie and wheat lands of the Northwest. At all principal points, as in the States, stops will be made. A full day will be devoted to Winnipeg alone. At North Bay the party will divide, the members from Toronto arriving home May 20th, those from the east a day later.

Perfect attendance and catering is assured, and in every way the Imperial Potentate's special train offers an exceptional opportunity for a comfortable and sociable trip to the Coast and back. A special low rate has been fixed, covering passage and all meals and berths on train, and as the number of passengers is strictly limited, early application for berths should be made. The special rates and privileges of this party are through the courtesy of the Shriners, open to a limited number of the public. If you are interested, ask the nearest Canadian Pacific Railway agent for further information, rates, etc., or a postal card to-day to C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, C.P.R., Toronto, will bring you a copy of illustrated descriptive itinerary and desired information.

San Francisco One Of Greatest Cities

Some Interesting Facts About the City Which Has Practically Been Destroyed—Its Rapid Growth—The Gold Fever Gave City its Start.

San Francisco, the city in which the terrible disaster of yesterday occurred, has a population of over 350,000. It is the largest city west of the Mississippi, and the ninth in rank in the United States. It is the seventh seaport in commercial importance.

The site is a very hilly peninsula between the Bay of San Francisco and the Pacific Ocean on the south side of the strait known as the Golden Gate. It has about 47 square miles of territory, or 30,000 acres, within the city limits. Many of the streets are very steep. There is a street railway system of 280 miles. The aristocratic residencial sections are known as "Nob Hill" and the "Pacific Heights," both of which command superb views of the bay and the Golden Gate. Market street, a broad thoroughfare, 120 feet wide, runs from the waterfront by a gradual ascent into the interior of the peninsula. The districts on either side of Market street are designated north and south respectfully.

Beautiful Parks.

San Francisco has six large and twenty-eight small parks. The most famous is the Golden Gate, occupying 1,014 acres. Beginning in the centre of the city it extends in a beautiful broad sweep to the ocean on the west. Its beautiful broad walks and winding boulevards, together with the magnificent views of the ocean and the city, constitute one of its greatest charms. It contains a most complete museum, Japanese tea gardens, children's playgrounds, and a magnificent chain of lakes. Here is situated the celebrated Cliff House, built at an enormous cost, and in full view of the rocks, whereon the seals lie basking in the sun. Here are also the Sutro Baths, to which the water is admitted directly from the ocean, and warmed in immense tanks 500 feet long and containing 1,804,902 gallons. Other striking features on the peninsula are the "Presidio," the military reservation of the United States, containing 1,500 acres, on which are the barracks, officers' quarters, and many other handsome buildings needed for the troops of the Department of California.

Famous Buildings.

San Francisco is famed throughout the world by reason of its beautiful public buildings. The Union Ferry Depot was erected at a cost of more than $1,000,000. It is 359 feet long, 156 feet wide. The United States appraisers' building is of brick, four stories high, cost $1,050,000, and contains the coast and geodetic surveys.

The city hall is the most imposing building in the south, and was erected at a cost of more than $3,000,000. The dome is 134 feet high, by 115 feet in diameter, and rises 335 feet above the sidewalk. From its top can be seen one of the finest panoramic views of river, ocean and land anywhere visible. The public library building is a magnificent structure, and contains 150,000 volumes. The citizens recently voted $1,617,000 for the building of a new library, which Mr. Carnegie has offered to supplement by $750,000 more.

San Francisco has 50 hotels, among the most famous being the Palace, occupying one whole block on Market street.

Until the discovery of petroleum San Francisco was handicapped in the manufacturing industries. The coal used was formerly brought from Puget Sound and British Columbia. The use of coal has now been supplemented by petroleum, which sells for 75 cents per barrel.

The United States battleship Oregon and the cruiser Wisconsin, were built in San Francisco.

In 1900 there were 4,002 manufacturing establishments in the city, employing $80,103,367 of capital, 4,041 salaried officials at $4,619,033 per annum, and 41,978 wage earners, at a cost of $22,037,527 per annum.

Among the largest establishments are the Union Iron Works, employing 4,000 men. The Oregon, the Charleston, the Olympic, San Francisco, Monterey, the Ohio, the Wisconsin, and other battleships were built there. The great Alaskan fisheries are conducted and controlled from San Francisco, and send into the city upwards of 2,000,000 cases of canned salmon alone each year.

Commercial Centre.

Most of the foreign commerce of the United States on the Pacific slope passes through the port of San Francisco. The wharves and warehouses constitute one of the sights of the city. The total exports in 1902 were $62,500,000. In 1902 488 sailing vessels and 420 ocean steamships entered the Golden Gate.

The assessed value of the buildings of the city is $128,159,408. San Francisco has no debt but the city in 1903 voted to issue $1,000,000 in bonds for a city and country hospital, $7,250,000 for a sewer system, $3,595,000 for school houses, $1,621,000 for streets, $697,000 for jails, $1,647,000 for a library, $741,000 for children's playgrounds and $623,000 for parks.

Lindsay Still Clings To Port Hope Route

Watchman-Warder Comments on Report of Transportation Commission Which Recommends the Trenton Route for the Outlet of Trent Canal—Bridge Question is Revived.

Lindsay remains true to its espousal of the cause of Port Hope in the latter's agitation for the outlet of the Trent Canal, as an editorial in the Lindsay Watchman-Warder shows. At the same time the paper evidences its lack of appreciation of the canal, and the benefits which it would confer upon not only that town but the whole section of the country served, when it advocates spending the money for the development of water powers. The proposal of the Watchman-Warder in this respect is so unpractical that it requires no argument to convince one of this fact. The article follows:—

The report of the royal commission in favour of the Bay of Quinte outlet of the Trent Canal, may not be final, but it doubtless represents the opinion of the Government. The chief reason of the decision is based on the argument that the 28 miles of lake coasting between Port Hope and Presqu' Isle is dangerous sailing for small craft. It has been shown, however, by a statement issued by 32 well-known mariners with years of experience on Lake Ontario, that the danger and possible delay in that stretch of water is not serious, and in their opinion the opening between Amherst Island and Four Mile Point, west of Kingston, a distance of five or six miles, is just as much exposed. But as the signal service gives notice of a storm five hours ahead, neither stretch is dangerous, for vessels could easily find shelter. The expense of construction and the necessary bridges by the Trent route will make the cost aggregate an enormous sum and before the country is through with it the impracticability of the scheme will cause regret. And, indeed, the opinion is expressed in many quarters that we shall be sorry for the whole canal scheme; for if the money spent in canal construction and the constant repairs necessary were used to develop the natural water powers and to establish trolley lines throughout this section, the country would be better served and there would be enough power to supply all the towns and cities in Central Ontario, besides running the cars on the railways, and the friction that threatens between navigation interests and water power companies' interests would be averted.

Los Angeles Is a City Of Remarkable Beauty

A Few Impressions Given By Mr. R. H. Leary--A Manufacturing City of Considerable Renown--Famous Oil Wells Within the City Limits--Situated About 250 Miles From San Francisco--Some Tall Buildings.

Ex-Ald. R. H. Leary, when spoken to last night in reference to the shock, which is reported to have been felt at Los Angeles, was very much moved. Although Mr. Leary has no special interest in that city, yet, in his visit there last year, he was so greatly pleased with the remarkable beauty and picturesqueness of it that he was sorry to learn of it being on the verge of a dire calamity.

It will be remembered by many that Mr. Leary went to Mexico last winter, at the time his brother was injured, and took him to Los Angeles. He has recovered, however, and has returned to Mexico to resume his work.

Although Mr. Leary only remained in that city for four days — from December 20th to 23rd — yet he was much impressed by its elegance, and considered it the most symetrical city he had visited during his southern tour. The city, he said, has a population of about 140,000 inhabitants, and is situated about 250 miles to the south of San Francisco. In latitude it is about 33 degrees north, and about 7 south of the city of the Golden Gate, which is now in utter ruin.

Los Angeles is growing rapidly, said Mr. Leary, having increased about 30,000 in the past six years. At the last census, in order of size, it stood 36th, San Francisco being 9th. It is a city, which if no serious damage is done, bids fair to be one of the brightest and most industrious of the western states. It lies about 20 miles inland, but when Mr. Leary was there last December a canal was being built to connect it with the harbour to allow the big ocean vessels to come in.

As a manufacturing city it is unsurpassed in progress as it has within its boundaries the great Los Angeles oil wells. Almost every bit of machinery in the city is run by using oil. All the electricity used is generated by burning oil, as well as all cooking and heating, on account of its cheapness. Should a conflagration occur there as in San Francisco, remarked Mr. Leary, all earthly power could not save the city.

The city has many sky scrapers of steel, brick and stone structures, and the damage done by their fall would be inconceivable. There were also many handsome hotels in construction when he was there. These were found necessary on account of the extensive tourist traffic which has been so rapidly increasing during the past few years. While there Mr. Leary called upon a Mr. Ritchie, manager of an oil well, who formerly was a Peterborough resident, and who has two brothers living here at the present time.

Los Angeles is situated about thirty miles from the Rocky Mountains, and at the time Mr. Leary visited there the valley between — fertile and beautiful with orange and lemon trees — was as grand a spectacle as he has ever viewed. It was a pity, he said, that a repetition of what has befallen San Francisco should destroy a city so beautiful as that of Los Angeles.

Annexation Plan Is Objected To

James O'Keefe, W. D. Morris, Wm. Smithson, D. Mahoney, W. G. Howden, Michael Grady, W. Collins. The members of the Council present were Mayor Best, Ald. Elliott, Tovey, Bull, Wilson, McIntyre, Graham, Adams, Hicks, McWilliams, Duncan, Mason.

The mayor stated the object of the meeting, which was that of considering the proposal to annex the former sugar property, and the terms of the annexation in case it should be decided upon.

Reeve Madill, on behalf of the ratepayers and the North Monaghan Council, read a petition which had been presented to the Monaghan Council. The petition was as follows:

To the Reeve and Councillors of the Township of North Monaghan—

Gentlemen,—

We, the undersigned property owners, living on lot 15, con. 11, North Monaghan, beg leave to inform you that we object to being annexed to the city of Peterborough on account of the city not being willing to give us the terms offered to us by Mr. Dumble.

Signed by James O'Keefe, Michael Grady, Mrs. Bridget McCabe, W. D. Morris, D. Maher, Wm. Smithson, D. Mahoney, W. G. Howden, J. J. Howden, Henry T. Everett, Wm. Stewart, Mrs. Wm. Close, Alex. Gordon.

Ald. Adams stated that there would be no objection to taking the private property into the city on the same terms as the sugar property, viz., that it should be used for manufacturing purposes.

Ald. Elliott informed the Committee that at a meeting of the Manufacturing Committee a proposal was made by which the property owners would come into the city on a fixed assessment for 20 years on the property as it stood at present, any improvements to be assessed at city rates, the same to apply if it was sold. He thought this was a fair proposition, and one which the North Monaghan people should accept.

Reference was made in the petition to the agreement with Mr. Dumble, and some discussion arose as to what that agreement was, and by whom Mr. Dumble was authorized to prepare the agreement. Ald. McWilliams explained that the agreement was to the effect that for twenty years the assessment and rate on the property should remain as at present, with no provision for an increase, if either it be sold or improved, and said that Mr. Dumble was acting for the Toronto Savings and Loan Company when he had the property-owners sign the agreement. Mr. Morrow took the responsibility for the terms of the agreement, but had informed him that it was in pursuance of a conversation with the Mayor that these terms were included in the agreement. His Worship repudiated this and said there must be some misunderstanding on the matter, as he did not agree to these terms.

Ald. Ball here raised his objection, and said that the people in the township would be making a big mistake if they came into the city. Ashburnham had made a mistake, and they would find it out in a few days.

Ald. McWilliams explained that to take in part of the property and not all, would give a divided control over the streets, which was undesirable to both councils.

He stated that for the ratepayers to come in under the terms proposed would inure to their benefit, by reason of the largely increased value which their property would be given because of the number of new industries which would be located in the near locality.

There appeared to be a very general misunderstanding on the part of the North Monaghan people as to the exact nature of the proposal, and they were not inclined to accept any except that made by Mr. Dumble. And a number stated that they had turned the whole matter over to the counsil of the township, and they were inclined to leave it there.

Reeve Madill said in answer to the Mayor that the township council would raise no objection to the city taking in the Sugar property without the other property coming in.

Finally after reading it over to the property owners, explaining it and securing their consent to the proposal, Ald Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that providing the property owners agree in the application to the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council for the annexation of lot 15 and 16, concession 11, North Monaghan, the city ask that the property except that owned by the Toronto Savings and Loan Company have a fixed assessment for twenty years at its present assessment, and a fixed rate of taxation at the present rate of taxes for the same term, except the school rates of the city as fixed from year to year, provided that if the land is transferred or built upon, it shall be assessed and pay taxes in the same way and at the same rate as other property in the city and provided, further, that the cost of local improvements benefitting that property shall be borne by the property.

Trouble now developed in the council, and a number of the aldermen thought that the term of years was too long.

Ald. Tovey therefore moved, in amendment to Ald. Hicks' motion, seconded by Ald. Adams, that the term of fixed assessment be ten years, which was carried, and the motion lost. The vote on the amendment stood, Yea—Ald. Tovey, Adams, Wilson, McIntyre, and Graham. Nay — Ald. Hicks, Elliott and Mason. The motion was lost on the same vote, which closed the matter.

Group Comes Suddenly

HENCE THE WISDOM OF KEEPING IN THE HOUSE THE MOST EFFECTIVE CURE.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Slight hoarseness in the evening is the only warning of croup.

About midnight the child awakes coughing—that peculiar, metallic cough called croupy, and which strikes terror to the mother's heart.

Then begins the struggle for breath, and if relief is to be obtained treatment must be prompt and effective.

Anyone who has tested Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for croup will not hesitate to pronounce it an unqualified success.

It is wonderfully prompt in loosening the cough, clearing the air passages of the head, and soothing the excited nerves.

People who realize the suddenness with which croup comes on, and the danger which accompanies it, usually keep some of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house for use in case of emergency.

For bronchitis, whooping cough, asthma, and every form of throat and bronchial trouble, this great family medicine is a quick and certain cure.

Mr. Wm. McGee, 49 Wright avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes: "There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief and cure."

There are imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Be sure you see the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, on the bottle you buy; 25 cents a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60 cts.; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

INSPECTION OF THE CREEK DECIDED ON BY HEALTH BOARD

A meeting of the Board of Health was called this morning to take further action in the Isolation Hospital question, but there was not a quorum and no business could be transacted. Those present at the hour appointed were Messrs. Wm. Eyres, chairman; Mr. A. Parker and Dr. Burnham. Several questions were, however, talked over informally, and will come up at the next meeting, which will be held on Monday morning.

One thing considered was the inspection of White's Creek, which, the inspector thought, should be done at once, as he considered the present state of the creek injurious to the health of the people living near the stream. Chief Roszel reported that in several places sewage emptied into the creek. Chief Roszel was instructed to see that the creek was inspected from its outlet to the westerly limits of the city.

"If the city won't pay the bill, I'll pay it myself, and then resign," said Chairman Eyres, emphatically.

The chairman called attention to the state of affairs existing at Lakefield. The Board had no jurisdiction in the matter, but he thought they should insist that the Provincial Board of Health should take action. The sewage emptying into the river there was a great injury to Peterborough. This matter will also come up at Monday's meeting.

Chief Roszel, who acts as city sanitary inspector, said that he had more work now than he could do satisfactorily, and he could not properly look after the sanitary inspection of the city. The chairman thought that the Council should be asked to appoint an inspector, and it is probable that a motion to this effect will be introduced on Monday.

CEMENT BRICK PLANT RESUMES OPERATIONS

The cement brick works of Messrs. William Taylor & Co., at the head of George street, commenced operations for the season this week, and the prospects are that the industry will have a busy year. Last year 700,000 brick were manufactured, and sold, by this company, and Mr. Taylor states that the product has given entire satisfaction, so that the prospects are good for an enlarged output this year.

The builders have been placing large orders for this season's business and with the large amount of building that is sure to be done, the company is confident that a large amount of the cement brick will be used.

The capacity of the plant is 20,000 brick a day. All the cement pipe manufactured by the company has been sold, the city using it extensively.

OBJECTS TO REMARKS ON DEPLETION OF POPULATION

They are calling people hard names in Millbrook, as the following from the Millbrook Reporter will indicate: Some fool writing in the Port Hope Guide from Millbrook spent the departures from here to the West, speaks of our town as "A Deserted Village," on account of the emigration. The facts are that not two families have left us, and not more than half a dozen individuals. Some who had been up there and home for the winter returned again, and of the number that went, nearly all were from the country. As a fact Millbrook is booming as it never has in years, and a decent house to rent is an impossibility, while real estate has doubled in value in five years. Don't foul your own nest or draw on your blinded imagination so much in future, pretty correspondent, please.

SOME LESSONS LEARNED FROM THE EARTHQUAKE

At the mission to men at the Y.M.C.A. there was a very largely increased attendance last night. Good results are being seen from the keen interest on the part of the audiences from night to night. Rev. J. G. Potter possesses the evangelistic gift, and his addresses are such as convince men of the reasonableness of the Christian life.

Last night he drew many pointed lessons from the earthquake, and spoke from the text, "Prepare to meet thy Lord."

One feature of worth in the mission is the participation of many in the open meeting, which was very helpful and impressive last evening.

Mr. Potter will speak to-night on "The Two Processions at the City Gate."

Cobourg Rinks Collapsed

One Man Killed and Another Seriously Injured.

Cobourg, April 19.—While removing the frame work of the Cobourg rink this evening a serious accident occurred, which resulted in the death of one man and perhaps fatal injury to another. Edward Terry and Norman Porser were engaged in pulling on a rope fastened to one of the girders when the whole structure collapsed instantly killing Terry, and breaking Porser's shoulder, besides injuring him internally. Coroner Elliott has ordered an inquest into the cause of the accident. Terry, who was twenty-four years of age, leaves a wife and two children.

BLAIRTON ORE MADE GOOD IRON

The Havelock Standard says: We are informed by reliable authority that the samples of iron ore taken from the Blairton mine and sent to the Soo works, produce 63 per cent. of metallic iron. There are millions of tons of ore in sight at Blairton and some time in the near future those mines will be worth a mint of money.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff on sound by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

The last of the Brass Workers' dances of the season was held in the Foresters' Hall last night. This series of social events have proved most enjoyable and have always been looked forward to with great interest. One may be socially accepted without the frock coat; but it is just as well to have the frock coat. There is a cast and a swing about the Semi-ready which the ordinary tailor cannot produce.

INVITE PROVINCIAL AUTHORITIES HERE

At the meeting of the Committee of the Whole last night, the question of the Isolation Hospital was discussed, and it was decided, instead of sending a deputation to Toronto to interview the Provincial Health Authorities, to invite Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, and Dr. R. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Hospitals, to visit Peterborough, and look the ground over themselves, and confer with the local Board of Health authorities and the council.

The opinion was expressed that the prices suggested by Mr. Blackwell, for the building, which he had prepared plans, for $6000, was too expensive for a city the size of Peterborough. The aldermen were of the opinion that $3000 to $3500 was sufficient to erect a building suitable for Peterborough, and it was recalled that Dr. Smith, when he had been interviewed had said that $3500 was the outside figure that such a hospital should cost.

Armour Estate Will Give

---ON CERTAIN CONDITIONS---

Right-of-Way To Lift Lock

Will Sell One and Three-Quarter Acres of Land for $400 —Permission of the Present Tenant Must be Obtained —Other Conditions are also Provided.

The question of the extension of Hunter street east as far as the Lift Lock, came up at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council last night, and a letter was read from the executors of the Armour estate in reference to the matter.

The letter, in part, says:

The estate which we represent, would not be benefitted by such proposed extension, and it is not in our interests at the present time to have a roadway through our property; but, as the city is so desirous of having access to the Lift Lock, we will agree to sell that portion of the land shown as the extension of Hunter street on plan 408 made by Mr. Hay, being about one and three-quarters acre for $400, under the following conditions:

1. That the consent of the tenant now in possession of the property can be obtained to the proposed sale in a manner satisfactory to the executors.

2. That the city will agree that our remaining property shall not be assessed with any local improvement costs or charges, in respect to the opening up of the proposed roadway, either for grading, sidewalks, sewers, the opening up of the street itself, or for costs in any other matter, the intention being that the land sold for the roadway shall net the estate $400 cash free from any deductions for any of the above purposes and that the assessment of the remaining land shall not be increased by any means in respect of the proposed roadway.

3. That the city shall not grade the street more than is shown on the plan of the proposed extension of Hunter street, by T. A. S. Hay, City Engineer, Peterborough, numbered 408. This offer may be withdrawn at any time by the executors of the estate, and in any event not to be in force for more than one month from date thereof.

Yours truly,
E. DOUGLAS ARMOUR,
ERIC N. ARMOUR,
Executors Armour Estate.

It was moved by Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Mason, that the matter be left to the Mayor and Ald. Adams, Elliott, and Ball. — Carried.

Start a Campaign To Protect Game

Enthusiastic Meeting of Local Branch Was Held Last Night--Will Educate Children Value of Birds--To Prosecute Offenders.

A meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association, was held last night in the office of Mr. G. W. Hatton, when the Jack's Lake and the C. G. E. Fishing Club were elected as associate branches. Steps were taken to distribute to the farmers, fishermen and others, in the district, information on the value and methods of protecting fish and game.

It was also decided to place before school teachers the desirability of requesting the children to preserve song and insectivorous birds.

The following resolution was unanimously passed:

"That this association request the Fishery Department officials to bring all guilty parties, both the man that caught the fish, and the purchaser of the same, as well as all implicated, before a police magistrate for punishment, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Fishery Inspectors of the district, and to the department."

There was a good attendance and the members of the association were enthusiastic in their determination to protect the game of the district.

ARRANGEMENTS TO ENTERTAIN DELEGATES

A general meeting of the Grand Lodge Committee, of the I.O.O.F., was held last night at which considerable progress was made.

Plans and suggestions were made for several of the sub-committees, and part of the work outlined will be attended to at once. It was decided that Thursday evening be chosen as the night for holding meetings of this committee. The next meeting will be on Thursday, May 3rd, at 8 o'clock sharp, when every member is expected to be on hand. Arrangements for the reception of the visiting Grand Lodge delegates, who will come to Peterborough on the 4th of August next, were advanced.

It is thought that six hundred delegates will be present and they will come from all parts of the province.

The delegates of the Grand Lodge of the daughters of Rebecca, who it is thought will be about two hundred strong, will be here on the same date.

CELEBRATION SCHEME MAY FALL THROUGH

Ald. Ball wants to keep the people in the city on Dominion Day, and, in order to effect this council to hold a meeting to arrange a demonstration to celebrate the first anniversary of Peterborough as a city. He brought the matter up last night at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole, and asked that a committee be appointed by the council to co-operate with a committee of the citizens. The majority of the council, however, thought that the first step should come from the outside, and that it would be better to get some fraternal or other society to take the matter up, and the city could help financially.

BACHELORS' BALL A BRILLIANT SUCCESS

Among the many brilliant after-Lenten social events which have taken place in the city this week was the dance given by the Bachelors last night in the Hotel National. The folding doors between the large sample rooms of the hotel were thrown open to the merry guests numbering about a hundred and thirty, and the rooms converted into a spacious dancing hall. This was tastefully decorated with flags, bunting and electric fixtures and presented a most beautiful appearance. All the pretty little nooks and corners of the old hotel were frequently utilized by sitting out parties while others roamed about the big halls in search of antiquities. Supper was served about midnight in the large dining hall of the National and it also was prettily decorated for the unique occasion.

The music was provided by Mr. Musgrove of Toronto, who is a popular favourite with Peterborough dancers.

The Patronesses of the charming affair were Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, Mrs. (Dr.) Boucher, Mrs. John Crane, Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, Mrs. K. Bardley-Wilmot, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. J. D. Mulholland, Mrs. Geo. Rubidge, and Mrs. A. H. Stratton.

The stewards were Messrs. E. S. Clarry, W. H. Clinton, R. Dobie, W. S. Davidson, Jas. Hamilton, W. C. P. Heathcote, F. D. Kerr, and H. Morris Saunders. The Hon. Sec. was Mr. Frank C. Smallpiece.

Among those who were present from a distance were:—Miss Hudspeth, Port Hope; Miss Heath, Toronto; The Misses Hunt, Cobourg; Miss McCrimmon, St. Thomas, and Miss Henderson, Montreal.

Clarke's New Scribbler Is Worth Having

Contains Splendid Reproduction of Peterborough Hockey Team.

Mr. F. A. Clarke, Peterborough's leading hatter and furrier, issues an attractive scribbler every spring, but the one he offers this year with every purchase at his store, no matter how trifling, excels anything in the scribbler line this enterprising merchant has ever before attempted. On the front of the scribbler is a splendid reproduction from a half-tone cut of the Peterborough hockey team, this year's intermediate O. H. A. champions, with the names and positions of the players, the officers of the club, and the team's record during the past season. Mr. Clarke has lost no time in getting out this novel scribbler, as the photo was only posed for three weeks ago. His last year's scribblers, on which was the lift lock photo, went like hot cakes, and he found it necessary to secure 4,000 copies to supply the demand.

The cut of the team is seven inches by five inches, beautifully finished, and is suitable for passepartout work or framing. The scribbler is a very creditable and novel advertising product, and the photo is a fine souvenir of the seven that brought such honour to the city last winter. It is well to remember that, to secure one of Clarke's 1906 scribblers is to obtain a lasting remembrance of the best hockey team that Ontario produced last winter. Everybody should have a photo of the blue and white septette.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

MADAME ALBANI

A writer in the London Free Press gives the following very interesting synopsis of Albani's great charm as a singer:

"Albani — the real meaning of the word cannot be grasped by one who has not heard Albani sing. To such a one you may explain that Albani is a queen of the opera and the oratorio, a woman with a wonderful control of the organs of voice, with a fascinating power of dramatic expression."

THE CONVICT'S DAUGHTER.

An original melodrama of absorbing interest, "The Convict's Daughter," will be offered at the Grand on Tuesday night, April 24. It portrays phases of human nature that are encountered every day. Stupendous scenic features, sensational realism and heart interest are its dominant elements. Five acts are required to develop the story. The first is a southern homestead; the second, Col. Gould's drawing-room; the third, a shabby home in the quarries; the fourth, a jail; and the fifth, as a repetition of the first scene. The principal characters are true to southern life. Among them are Col. Gould, a banker; James Blackadder, a trusted employee, but a villain; William Woodford, known as "Weary Willie," an educated, philosophical "bobe"; Jack Warburton and Edith the adopted daughter of Col. Gould, and the heroine of the play. J. A. Fraser, jr., the author, has placed these characters naturally, and arranged life-like scenes from beginning to end. The play is strongly cast and magnificently produced.

THE YANKEE CONSUL.

To-night the "Yankee Consul" for the second time during the theatrical season, will be presented at the Grand Opera House. The bride and groom were unattended. The little flower girl, Miss Kathleen Fanning, carried the ring in a lily.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie left last night on a wedding trip to Port Hope and western points.

Temple Of Fame Concert

WAS VERY ABLY PRESENTED

By Charlotte Street Ladies

Entertainment Last Night Was a Decided Success—Famous Women of History Were Presented to the Gaze of Their Sisters of This Century—Very Large Audience Saw the Production.

Those who attended the Temple of Fame entertainment in the Charlotte street Methodist lecture room last night, were transported to the presence of the most famous of the world's women — queen and poetess, noble born lady and peasant girl, heroine and reformer, in turn, told or sang, her claims to the crown of fame.

The entertainment, which was under the joint auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, and the choir, from all points of view, must be pronounced a decided success.

The accommodation of the capacious lecture room was hardly sufficient for the very large crowd that assembled, a fact which may be taken as indicative of the high reputation gained by the ladies of the Charlotte street church in the past and which was fully sustained last night.

Those who took part in the programme are to be congratulated upon the success which crowned their efforts. The entire performance was carried out without a single mishap, and the appreciation of the audience was evidenced by the hearty applause with which each lady was greeted. The performers displayed none of the stage-fright or nervousness which makes the average amateur entertainment, to say the least, rather wearisome. The different characters were cleverly protrayed by the ladies, the majority of whom had good voices, and clear articulation, which added greatly to the effect of their work. The costumes worn were most beautiful, and must have demanded a good deal of labour, as well as expense. It would be unfair to particularize any of those taking part. All did their share in making the affair what it was — a grand success.

Mr. R. N. Jolliffe's robust baritone was displayed to the greatest advantage in "Rule Britannia," during the evening, and solos by Miss Sperry, Miss Olive Howell, Miss Edna Jobbitt and Miss Pearl Buell were much appreciated features.

The platform was handsomely decorated with flags and bunting and presented a striking appearance, making a very effective background for the pretty costumes worn by those taking part.

The performance showed the result of diligent practice, and the ladies are to be congratulated upon the excellent evening's entertainment they provided.

No more interesting or novel concert has been given in Peterborough this season and when it is considered that out of the fifty or more people taking part, all, but one lady, are members of the Charlotte street congregation, this fact is all the more creditable and praiseworthy.

Miss Clarry added greatly to the effect of the performance by her brilliant playing of the accompaniments.

The list of characters is as follows:

Goddess of Fame, Mrs. William Christie.
Canada, Miss Pearl Buell, Millbrook.
Rosa Bonheur, Mrs. Henning.
Queen of Sheba, Mrs. Cunningham.
Automobile Girl, Miss Ruby Adamson.
Jenny Lind, Miss Clara Bellegheem
Red Cross Nurse, Miss Eva Bradd.
Sappho, Miss Ruby Clegg.
Barbara Fretchie, Miss Lightfoot.

Florence Nightingale, Miss Tena Elliott.
Ruth, Miss Netta Dawe.
Mother Goose, Mrs. (Dr.) Neale.
Queen of Hearts, Emma Cox.
Little Miss Muffit, Annie Christie.
Little Boy Blue, Master Kimberley.
Little Jack Horner, Master Madill
20th Century Girl, Miss Grace Goldie.
Mother, Mrs. Ed. Cox.
Children, Gladys and Kenneth Cox.
Queen Alexandra, Miss Olive Bradburn.
Attendants on Goddess, Mabel Christie, Ethel Morrison.
Heralds, Messrs. Fred Hall and Ernest Tovey.
Guard of Honour, Sergt., Mr. Walter Stocker; Messrs. A. S. Armstrong, S. A. Clarke, J. LeBar and Charles Harmer.

The entertainment will be repeated to-night, when no doubt there will be a still larger crowd present to see the very clever production.

The committee in charge wish to thank the following firms for goods kindly loaned for use in connection with the entertainment:—Messrs. T. Barrie & Co., A. W. Cressman, Robert Fair & Co., and Richard Hall & Son.

Scene from the most wonderful Mele-Drama, "The Convict's Daughter," which comes to the Grand Opera House, Tuesday, April 24. Popular Prices—50, 35 and 25 Cents. Gallery—15 Cents.

Aldermen Wouldn't Stand For Re-opening The Question

And When it Was Proposed to Agree to the Twenty-Year Clause in the Agreement With North Monaghan Residents They Left the Room--Ald. McIntyre, Wilson and Graham Blocked the Re-opening.

A peculiar circumstance occurred at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole last night, just prior to the adjournment some of the aldermen had retired, and the reporters, thinking the business was over, had also left. Ald. Adams who had seconded Ald. Tovey's amendment in respect to the proposal to annex the North Monaghan property, providing that the period of fixed assessment should be for ten years instead of twenty, re-opened the question, and stated that he was of the opinion that rather than have the thing fall through he would be prepared to vote for the twenty year clause; and, Ald. Duncan, who did not vote on the first motion at all was also prepared to support the twenty year clause in order to get it through. Ald. Tovey had left the meeting to attend a Masonic function previously, and there were only three supporters of the ten year proposal left, Ald. Graham, Wilson and McIntyre, when the proposal come to re-open the question, and it looked as if the ten year men were to be defeated. Since they were then in the minority, the 20 year men being Ald. Hicks, Mason, Adams, Elliott and Duncan, three aldermen, Messrs. McIntyre, Graham and Wilson, left the meeting, which prevented further business being done, since there was not a quorum left.

THE GAOL FOR HENRY WATTS

Harry Watts, an Albionite, who said his foreman had left him in town last night, was ordered to pay $2 forthwith for being drunk, and as he didn't have the money he will have up to go up the hill for ten days.

"I just came here for a night's lodging," he informed the magistrate.

If it doesn't do anything else, Henry's sentence will save him, for that time anyway, from "ten nights in a bar-room."

This Decision Reached by Hotel Keepers' Committee.

There is no doubt but this decision will be ratified at the next general meeting of the Peterborough License Holders' Association.

BIGGEST RUN OF SUCKERS IN HISTORY

"Suckers are up." To-day for the first time this spring these fish are reported in quantities in the river. At noon word was received in the city that at Nassau dam there were hundreds of thousands of the finny tribe there, the river being practically full of them. It is stated that never in the history of those who have followed piscatorial pursuits have there been as many suckers seen at one time as there are in the river at the present time. It's now up to the boys with their nets and spears to reap the harvest.

Hill & Co. Get Contract

---FOR METAL WORK ON NEW BRIDGE---

Concrete By Day Labour

Mitchell Firm's Tender of $1,344 for Iron Work—City Engineer Reported That Concrete Work Could be Done for $2,350—Other Business Transacted at Board of Works Meeting.

At the Board of Works meeting last night, the chief business besides the discussion of the extension of George street, was the letting of the contract for the metal work on the Charlotte street bridge to Messrs A. Hill & Co., of Mitchiel, whose tender, $1,344, was the lowest. It was decided to do the concrete work by day labour.

The city engineer reported as to the tenders. He stated that the lowest tenders were as follows:

For concrete work, Jinks & Dresser, $2,508.74.

For metal work, A. Hill & Co., $1,344.

The report further stated that the engineer estimated that the concrete work could be built by day labour for $2,350, which, with the lowest tender for the metal work would make the total $3,694, which would be $158.74 less than the total of the two lowest tenders.

The tenders for the concrete work were as follows:

J. E. Hayes, $3,619.50.
R. Sheehy, $4,296.
J. Hogue, $3,398.50.
Jenks and Dresser, $2,508.74.
Donlke, $8,969.60.

The aldermen generally thought that as the concrete work could be done cheaper by day labour it would be well to thus do it.

It was moved by Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the tender of A. Hill & Co. for the metal work be accepted, and that the concrete work be done by day labour.

To Supply Catch Basins.

A letter was read from J. E. Hayes, offering to build catch basins on Lake street at $14 each, on certain conditions.

It was moved by Ald. Graham, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the matter be left to the city engineer, and if the price is satisfactory, Mr. Sheehy will be authorized to complete the work.

Duplicate Plans.

Another matter which came up last night was in reference to having duplicate copies made of the plans in the city engineer's office. Chairman Hicks pointed out that as the plans are needed every day it was inconvenient to have them placed in the vault, the only safe place for them. If duplicates were made they could be stored in the vault, and the original plans kept in the engineer's office.

On motion, a committee, composed of the chairman, Ald. Adams and Ald. Elliott, was appointed to look into the matter.

The opinion was also expressed that the engineer has too much work in the office, which prevents him, to a considerable extent, in his outdoor occupations. This matter will also be looked into, and it is likely that an assistant will be appointed.

Ald. Elliott pointed out that in view of the large amount of concrete work to be done this year, another cement mixer would be necessary. On motion, the city engineer was instructed to get prices.

The Board then adjourned.

News From England Specially Gathered

The Examiner's London Letter—Miss McCollum's Death Causes Widespread Regret in Literary Circles in World's Metropolis—Doings of People in Whom Peterborough Citizens are Interested—The Latest News From the Capital of the Empire.

From Our Own Correspondent.

London, April 11.—Great excitement prevailed here for a day or so last week over the arrival of the Japanese sailors who are to take home with them the new Japanese ships just completed on the Clyde. A fine body of men they are, six hundred strong, all having seen service under the great Admiral Togo, and they fully deserved the hearty welcome they obtained. They were shown the Tower, Westminster Abbey and all the usual sights, were taken to several music halls and theatres and every day hundreds of them invaded the tops of the 'buses and saw wonderful London from that best of possible places. One of their officers, Tayo Harashi by name, told me in excellent English that he had taken a trip through Canada several years ago and had been delighted with what he saw of the country. After the somewhat crowded condition of the fertile portions of his own country he was especially struck with the limitless prairies that he saw from the train. Pointing to a group of unemployed workmen (and one sees such groups in hundreds) he said: "You tell me that there are thousands such as these in London, who cannot obtain work. They are your own people, why then do you not sent them to those prairies that I saw, that they might work and be useful to your race?" I could only echo his thoughts.

Emmigration Work.

The Salvation Army and other philanthropic bodies, however, are doing very good work in this direction.

One of the London evening papers this week printed a most interesting letter from their correspondent on the steamship Kensington, a ship chartered by the Salvation Army and conveying 1,185 new inhabitants to Canada. By his account they are a fine body of people, and with none of that free admixture of n'er-do-walls and "wasters" so common among emigrants as all Canadians know. He makes a special point of the fact that forty of them have been trained on the Salvation Army "Farm Colony" at Hadleigh in Essex, but as to this being an advantage I have my doubts; few practical Canadian farmers that I have met have much use for men who have been "trained" in farming, especially as there is so much difference between farming in England and in Canada, but no doubt these are sensible, hard-headed men who will soon get rid of any conventional English ideas and quickly learn the Canadian maxim "Everything comes to those who hustle."

English farmers are being severely criticised as being ignorant of scientific methods in their dairy and other work. My belief is that the fault lies more with the Government than with the farmer, and that the Mother Country might learn a valuable lesson from the admirable bureau of information at Ottawa. I have known farmers in the vicinity of Peterborough reduce their failures to a minimum and to greatly increase their successes by an intelligent use of information supplied by the bureau.

I suppose there is considerable excitement among you in Peterborough over the probable general coal strike. Not only would such a strike indirectly affect many people over here, but Canada would feel it severely, and to Peterborough, as a manufacturing centre, it would mean severe loss. Many influential papers here express the opinion that the U. S. Government will take some steps to put a stop to it if it assumes as serious proportions as the one we suffered under in 1902, and, it is to be hoped that such will be the case.

The Coal Strike.

Hockey in England.

Peterboronians, as lovers of the great game of hockey, will be glad to hear that Canadians in England keep up their interest in the game, and that many keenly contested matches are played over here. Of course the great difficulty is the lack of ice, but occasional frosts give Canadians in the country a chance with their skates, and for those in London there are several splendid artificial ice rinks. Several matches have been played at the "Princess," the superb rink in Knights-bridge, between the Canadians at Oxford University, and an English team, under alternate English and Canadian rules, and I believe the honours have been considerably in favour of the Canadians. Canadians in London, are invited to communicate with the Secretary, Princes' Hockey Club, Knights-bridge, London W., who takes a great interest in furthering the game in England, and is pleased to hear from any hockey player who wishes to see something of his favourite sport while over here. Peterborough hockey players should remember this if any of them happen over here, and in fact if the movement succeeds, I see no reason why some of our champion Canadian teams should not add English victories to their laurels.

Miss McCollum's Death.

The death of Miss Alma Frances McCollum of Peterborough caused general regret in literary circles here where her work was well known. Her poems have given pleasure to so many that her loss will be sadly felt.

Another announcement that will be greeted with sorrow is that of the death of Senator Fulford of Brockville, who made such a generous bequest of more than $400,000 to found a home for aged Canadian women. Some surprise was expressed here when his will was probated, at the fact of his estate being upwards of $6,500,000. People are well used to hearing of American millionaires, but Canadian ones if we except Lord Strathcona, seem to surprise them.

I am glad to see that the Legislature is at last having a Forestry Bill drafted. All other countries that derive a large portion of their wealth from their forests have efficient systems of forest protection; Canada and the United States have alone done nothing to prevent the entire destruction of their valuable woods. In the United States the time has passed when this is possible; but in Canada there is yet time and it is to be hoped that effective steps will soon be taken.

Real Flowers.

The ladies will be interested to hear that hats trimmed with real flowers are to be the rage this summer. An enterprising florist in the Tottenham Court Road advertises "floral trimmed hats," and offers straw shapes in dainty styles trimmed with freshly cut and tastefully arranged flowers at $2.50, or a lady's own hat can be trimmed at a charge of $1.25. Will Peterborough florists follow suit, and make it possible for the summer girl to make trips to Cobourg or Stony Lake with a confection of perfumed flowers on her head?

A lady, evidently an American, and registering herself as "Marie Derval," stayed for some time at an hotel in Pimlico, London, and on March 14 was found poisoned in her room. Circumstances pointed to suicide, and at the coroner's inquest a verdict to that effect was given. A Mrs. Wood identified the dead woman as Mrs. Cushing, of Boston, her sister, and on the most striking circumstantial evidence. Mrs. Wood never saw the body, however, and based her identification on the following facts:

The handwriting of a letter left by the dead woman.

A chased silver pen-knife.

The gloves, which showed traces of a marked malformation of a finger of the left hand.

The statement of the doctor that he found traces in the dead woman of an illness that Mrs. Cushing suffered from.

And garments worn by deceased.

In spite of this identification, however, Mrs. Cushing has appeared in Paris, well and indisputably alive. The identity of the dead woman is therefore still a mystery; but surely such a coincidence could hardly happen twice in centuries.

Spring Arrives.

Spring has come for keeps at last here, though I suppose in Canada you have still a little while to wait. The sun shone as brightly to-day as it ever does in smoky London, and one wished one had left one's overcoat at home; a few flowers are showing in the parks, and English farmers are already busy with their lambs. After such a winter as last one may expect almost anything; but I hardly think you have spring with you yet (though the spring poets may be), and there I have the advantage of you.

Militia Council An Improvement

Lord Aylmer Commends Action of its Appointment.

The first annual report of the Militia Council has been laid on the table in the House of Commons. Included in this report is that of Lord Aylmer, inspector-general, who says: "The substitution of a Militia Council for a general officer commanding has happily brought about a greatly to be desired attempt at decentralisation, but, so far as I can learn, the departure remains more a theory than a reality, the outside force being, as in the past, to too great an extent dry-nursed from headquarters, and instead of officers commanding the higher commands, officers commanding districts, or those commanding units of the permanent corps being obliged to rely absolutely upon themselves and upon their own judgment in matters of importance, they are inclined, partly from force of habit, to rely upon staff at headquarters, who are already burdened with all their official shoulders can reasonably be expected to bear."

A New Theatre In Brantford

The A. J. Small Interests Will Build One.

The Brantford Expositor says:—Another company are negotiating to establish a theatre in Brantford this year. It is composed of theatrical men, including A. J. Small, Toronto, and already a considerable amount of stock has been subscribed, including some locally.

The plan is to purchase the vacant lot below the Kirby House, in the rear of the Hunt & Colter stables, and build a theatre on that site. Negotiations for an option on the property are in progress to-day, the outside capitalists interested being in the city for that purpose.

Mr. Dennistoun Is The Solicitor

Appointed To That Position For Otonabee.

Keene, April 16.—Otonabee Council met, all the members were present. A bylaw was passed appointing R. M. Dennistoun Township solicitor.

J. E. Hampson representing Sawyer-Massey Co., and W. R. Smith the Good Roards Machinery Co., were present, soliciting an order for stone crusher. After the merits of both machines had been presented a No. 4 Champion Good Road Crusher was purchased at a cost of $1,[illegible]. The clerk was instructed to order bit for the grader. On motion $[illegible] was appropriated for the improvement of the roads.

A communication was received from the township solicitor, stating that in his opinion, where the Medical Health Officer, in his official capacity was called in by the attending physician to examine a suspected case of infectious disease, the municipality should pay his fees, this is not the opinion of Dr. Hodgetts, Provincial Health Officer.

Council adjourned to the 14th May to meet as Court of Revision.

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"You are right," said I. "Nine o'clock it was. But, like you, I have been unavoidably delayed. So please don't apologize."

A smile lit up his face—and he was always best when he smiled—and his eyes twinkled.

"I begin to see, Mr. Greatorex," he said, "how it is that you have come so near winning this campaign."

"I have no doubt I shall win it yet," I returned.

"No doubt," he replied cordially. "But forgive me, Mr. Greatorex. I see you have no refreshments here, and I am sure you are in need of them. It was unpardonable of Hood." So saying, he rose and went to the door, shouting some order to a man below, whom, I judged, I must consider my sentry. Presently, and before the captain resumed his seat, Hood himself entered, bearing in his hands a tray containing a bottle of whisky, a carafe of water and some glasses. He cast an eye of scrutiny on Sercombe, who lolled once more in his chair, but he said nothing and retired to the door. Sercombe filled two glasses.

"Allow me, Mr. Greatorex," he said and puffed for some minutes in silence. Indeed, it was I who first resumed the conversation.

"I presume, Captain Sercombe," I said, "that you have come to tell me that you do not accept my offer."

"Precisely," he owned, taking his cigar from his mouth. "That is exactly the position, Mr. Greatorex. I don't know how you guessed it, but there it is. I do not feel justified, in consideration of my relations with Mr. Hood, in accepting your proposals."

"Then," I said bluffly, but keeping up the farce, "I see no reason for our continuing this interview, and, as I am somewhat tired, if you will excuse me"—

"I would not trespass upon you in the slightest," he interrupted. "But I had an idea that perhaps we might arrive at a compromise." I said nothing, for I had not the faintest notion of what he was driving at.

"You are aware," he continued in his pleasant voice, "that there is an access to the dungeon in which, justifiably or otherwise—I express no opinion—you confined our host."

I bowed and sipped my whisky and water.

"You are also aware," he went on, "that now you, the only other person who has knowledge of that private road, are, let us say, enjoying the hospitality of the Woodman, the treasure chests are not likely to remain long where they are."

He waited on my answer as if something anxious, but I merely nodded and watched him. Captain Sercombe from his comfortable attitude bent his red brows at me. "May I ask you, Mr. Greatorex," he said quite coolly, "if you happen to have locked the door of the dungeon?"

For answer and without giving the matter a thought I produced the key, which, as I have already narrated, I had put in my pocket.

Sercombe's eye lightened. He rose and went to the door, opening it and glancing into the darkness. Then he returned and drew his chair nearer to mine.

"You made me a proposition this afternoon," he said earnestly.

"I did," said I, "which I now beg to retract."

"It was not good enough," he went on, paying no attention to my sarcasm—"not nearly good enough. But what do you say if I make one to you now?"

I shrugged my shoulders. "I am at your mercy," I said.

"I envy you your powers of ease," he said. "I am pretty good, but I admit you beat me. But come, I am making you a proposition. What do you say?"

"I have already said it."

"I see I will get no more change out of you," he said soberly. "But I know a man to trust when I see him. That has been my safeguard, Mr. Greatorex. And I know a man to distrust, though sometimes it is unavoidable"— He broke off. "Your friends don't know where you went tonight?" he asked suddenly.

"Why do you ask?" I said.

"If the dungeon door is locked it is impossible that they can get into it. But if your friends had the key," he went on, growing very earnest, "what would happen? I imagine that they would open the door, find the bird flown and perhaps the entrance to the secret passage disclosed."

This began to interest me. What was the rascal's purpose?

"Well?" I put in.

He lowered his voice, which conveyed a certain effect of fear to my mind.

"In which case the treasure would remain in the possession of the castle."

"You speak like a book of Euclid," I returned, after a pause. "And now, captain, let me ask in my turn what proposition are you making to me?"

He considered for a moment. "There are three of you," he said. "But I confess I cannot reckon my friend Montgomery. Let us say two, then. I am willing to go halves with you. In which case, as you will see, there is a quarter for yourself."

"You would betray your associates," I said dryly.

"Pardon me," said the captain, "we are not here to pass criticisms on morals. And, if it comes to that, what are we all? I see no pin prick between us. I do not invite your conclusions on my conduct. I have the honor to make you a proposal."

The rascal leaned back in his chair and watched me with a curious air of satisfaction. Indeed, his complacency was well grounded, and I could not but admit to myself that he was making me a handsome offer. His distrust or his fear of Hood was stronger than his greed, and it was to that we owed this unexpected intercession when fate had turned clean against us. Here was I, a prisoner and with no possibility of escape. The treasure lay at the mercy of these vagabonds, and even at this moment the pieces might be slipping through Hood's loving fingers. Assuredly I should be a fool, I thought, to refuse Sercombe's compromise. He must certainly have made the proposal in good faith, for all I was invited to do was to surrender the key, a key which could be of no possible use to him now that the subterranean entrance to the dungeon had been discovered. I withdrew it from my pocket. He nodded confidentially.

"That is all I ask," he said.

"And I?" I queried.

"You shall be at liberty at the earliest opportunity I can find," he returned. "Observe, Mr. Greatorex, that I am taking a great risk. I am depending upon your word."

"If I give it," I replied, "you may depend upon it. You will warn my companions?" I asked.

"I will see that they pay a visit to their prisoner," said he, "and I reckon they will want little warning after that."

"You may take the key," said I after a pause. But at that moment a slight sound as of soft feet upon the creaking stairway reached us. Sercombe whitened visibly and looked uneasily at the door.

"It is better that I should leave you now," he said hurriedly. "We can settle this tomorrow morning." And, showing clear signs of discomposure, he left the barn.

As for me, I sat with the key in my hand, considering. I thought I could put a name on the owner of those steps.

CHAPTER XVI.

SERCOMBE was not so good as his word. So far from completing the bargain on the morrow, he never came near me, and I passed the day quite alone, save for the occasional visits of one of the Greeks bringing my food. I began to have a very intelligible view of the situation. Sercombe had been frightened off the arrangement he had contemplated by the fear of his companion, or if that were not so, though I was now quite prepared to credit it, he deemed it wiser to postpone the adventure still further, in which case I might still keep my hopes alive and nourish an ambition of final success. But the truth was that each day lost was so much gained toward the accomplishment of Hood's object, and even as I sat and gnawed my fingers and reflected in this doleful mood the treasure was fast leaving the castle, passing into the possession of alien and bloody hands.

There was yet another alternative, about which I could not make up my mind. Hood might have bought the allegiance of his traitorous associate, and, if so, I wished them both joy of their bargain together. I would trust neither scoundrel beyond the reach of my arms or the audit of my ears, and I was pretty sure that neither would trust the other. Their whole association rested upon a mutual compact of greed, and it was odds but, the gold once under their hands, they would fall out in some mortal strife, according to the ancient proverb. If that should happen, perhaps, according to the ancient proverb, we, as representing honest men as nearly as possible in the circumstances, might come by our own, or, speaking more properly, some one else's own.

For the present I had gained nothing, and lay, a disconsolate prisoner, in that airy cell, guarded by watches of the Greeks. So far as I could determine, we, the defenders of the castle and the treasure, were in a bad position, and there was nothing for it on my part but resignation with as civil a grace as might be. I had already taken account of the defenses of my prison and saw little prospect of escape, but I will confess that throughout the first day of my captivity I was somewhat under the influence of hope and hourly expected a conference with Sercombe. This, as you may imagine, drew my attention from the immediate scrutiny of my surroundings, but upon the morning of the second day, when Sercombe still failed to visit me, I cast about for other means of escape.

First of all, I examined the barn very carefully. It was a huge building and rose at the apex to a height of fifteen feet or more. The sides were of wood, but the top was composed of a skeleton of rafters, thickly coated with thatch. Two windows shone in the room, one at the back part and away from the door, the other inserted in one of the remaining walls. The door was, of course, kept locked, but by screwing my face against the side window and craning my neck I could see the figure of a man on guard, evidently at the foot of the ladder. There was little chance of breaking out this way. The second window gave on a low lying stable at the back, and beyond that there were the great trees and cool deeps of the forest. It was securely barred and fastened, and that, from all appearances, quite newly. The second exploration seemed to offer no more encouragement than the first, but I was not yet resigned to defeat, and, sitting down upon the floor, I fell to thinking, mechanically opening a small penknife which was in my pocket, and paring my nails.

I do not know if I were conscious of the act, but I remember that it was quite a long time, and when I had grown almost desperate in my counsels, that the advantage of this tiny weapon occurred to me. The wooden walls were not thicker than six or seven feet, and above them, as I have explained, rose the superstructure of thatch to the pinnacle of the roof. I paused in my occupation and rose quickly. By standing on a chair I could easily reach the thatch between the rafters, and without a momentary hesitation I plunged my knife into the mass of reeds. Sharp as a razor, the small blade cut through the straw at a stroke, with a slight rasping noise. My blood flowed in a strong stream of excitement. Here surely was a road to the outer air.

But this was a venture to be essayed by night and after my jailers had retired for the evening; consequently I put aside the knife and waited very impatiently for the fall of dusk. It was not until 10 o'clock at night that I dared to make my experiment. By that time my supper had been cleared, and the Greeks had been gone for an hour. The barn was in solid darkness, which was all the better for my purpose, and, getting upon my chair, I set to work at once among the straw of the thatch. If any one should come in from this point onward my adventure would be hopeless. I should stand confessed in my task and doubtless be doomed forthwith to a more secure and less comfortable prison. Therefore the need of haste was the greater, and with fingers and knife I sheared through and tore asunder the thatch with the utmost celerity. The job was none too easy, and I sweated at the work, with my head buried under the debris of the straw and my throat choking with the dry and rotten stubble. Yet I had worked hard and fast enough to have opened a hole two feet through the thatch in a couple of hours. Through this the night lowered dark and somber upon me.

There was now no necessity for delay. Indeed, the necessity was all for instant action. I listened at the door and window for sounds of the sentry, but I could hear nothing. He might be asleep. At any rate, he lay upon the farther side of the barn, and I might hope to escape his notice by breaking over the stables into the wood. Hastening back, I got upon the chair and, pulling myself up by the rafters, gradually drew to the level of the hole. My head once outside, I breathed deeply of the purer air. Then, dragging up the rest of my body, I dropped gently to the ground beyond. It was a deeper fall than I had anticipated, and I came down with a certain clatter, but, resting a moment in the shadows, I heard nothing. No alarm was raised. So, creeping to the stable, I climbed softly upon the roof and clambered across the eaves in the direction of the forest.

Suddenly a small noise arrested me, but ere I could collect my senses to determine it a dark body crept round a corner of the roof and grappled with me. I seized it fiercely, resolved to do battle for my liberty with all the strength at my command, and together we rolled and struggled on the housetop. Then my opponent gave a shrill whistle, and the next thing I was conscious of was the grasp of a fresh pair of arms from behind. After that I gave it up, more especially as we had rolled to the edge of the roof, and a renewal of the struggle would send us over into the yard with broken limbs and bloody pates.

"If some one will take his foot out of my stomach," I said, "I will descend into the yard."

At that the tension upon me was relaxed, and I was pushed forward roughly to what appeared to be a trap-door in the roof, down which I climbed, thrust brusquely from above. Here I found myself in a small loft above the stalls of the stable. My captors followed, and one of them struck a match, when the light fell upon Hood's face. From that familiar and sinister countenance my eyes glanced about me to several figures in the half light. I saw at once what had been my undoing, for this loft was used as a dormitory for the Greeks, and the noise of my passage along the roof had evidently alarmed them. At a gesture from Hood two of these brutes seized my arms, and I was forced to descend the ladder to the ground. I protested against this treatment, saying that I had given my word not to attempt to escape, and I suppose some sign passed from Hood, for the men suffered me to proceed unmolested, keeping, however, upon either side of me. We entered the inn by the back way, and I expected nothing now but to be thrust into some dismal cellar, there to rot and fester until such time as my jailers were pleased to deliver me. To my surprise, however, I was taken into an inner parlor of the inn, where I was left to myself, the Greeks turning the key in the door as they retired. No word had been uttered upon their side throughout the scene. They moved like automata at the beck of the innkeeper. A lamp was burning on the table, which was covered with a green baize tablecloth, and the little window looked upon the road, where the sign of the Woodman, with his uplifted ax, was swinging gently.

Immediately afterward Sercombe entered, with Hood upon his heels.

"I regret, Mr. Greatorex," said the adventurer, "that you should have so small a notion of us as to try this game."

"It very nearly came off," I answered.

"I grant you it was very ingenious. Mr. Hood and I have just been making some investigations, and I congratulate you on your fertility of idea. But your cleverness is only partial. You have never throughout the whole affair been thorough, Mr. Greatorex, for which naturally you pay the penalty." He spoke very jauntily and plucked his mustache quite gayly, while it sickened me to see the blackguard there in his new role, who but forty-eight hours before had pledged me his word to carry out another arrangement. But if he could betray his friends I had certainly no ground of complaint that he should also betray me. I don't suppose it cost him a moment's scruple. Indeed, looking at him there, I brought myself for the first time almost to prefer Hood to him. Hood at least was a frank enemy, diabolic though he might be.

"I am going to ask you, Mr. Greatorex," went on Sercombe, "to pass your word to make no effort to escape tonight."

"I see no reason why not," I said, somewhat bitterly. "If I do not, I certainly think better of you than to suppose you will let me break out again. I pass my word. Take it, and have done with it."

"That is right," he answered cheerfully. "You will find an excellent sofa here, though it is soft in the springs."

And the two retired, leaving me to the night and my own angry thoughts.

I was punctually called and punctually served the next morning by Hood himself, who, whatever his faults, was a capital servant. He said nothing beyond making the customary inquiries of a landlord, and if I had been in any other mood than that of desperate chagrin the irony of that "Tea or coffee, sir?" would have tickled my sense of the ludicrous. But I was not disposed to talk, and so I was equally silent with him. Nor was my quietude broken until some two hours later, when Sercombe entered.

"Look here, Mr. Greatorex," said he quickly, "if we're not careful, this little enterprise of ours will be taken clean out of our hands."

"I thought," I observed, "that the game was over," wondering all the time what he was meaning.

"Yes, and no," said he, "but there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip, and you don't know what has been happening while you've been here."

"In other words," I answered, "my friends may not have been caught as easily as myself, although you will note that I still have that key."

I fancied that he winced, but he went on hastily. "That is so, and besides, in any case, you are bound by your compact of silence."

"If you will tell me what you are driving at"— I began.

"See here, sir," he broke in. "There's been a deal of talk in the countryside, and, what with that mutton faced fool Jones' suspicions, the authorities have begun to smell a rat."

"I am very sorry for you," said I dryly. "I understood that he had not a high opinion of you."

"His opinion be hanged," he retorted; "but I won't have any interference—nor, I take it, will you."

"No; I prefer my prison, naturally," I declared.

"What I want to tell you is this," he resumed, paying no heed to my sarcasm. "It seems that Jones and the other meddler have got wind of your disappearance. The police have been scouring the Gwent, and what must the beast do but cast his suspicious eyes on me."

He dropped his voice. "They are outside now, and Hood is parleying with them. They've got that silly ass of a parson with them, who is by way of being my friend. He's taken to me mightily because I had a brother or a cousin at Rugby, and neither must

for women

Who Feel Tired and Run Down.

A Remedy that Gives New Life and Vigor and makes Women Feel Good.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women are the prescription of a specialist.

We don't say that no other living physician could prescribe so good a remedy for women. But we do say this. The ordinary practising physician cannot prescribe so good a one, and no living physician can prescribe a better one.

Dr. Hugo put into the prescription all the knowledge, experience and skill which he had acquired in forty years' practice as a specialist in women's diseases, and included as well the discoveries of all other great physicians.

All that is latest in medicine—all that has been found useful to women, is contained in them. Nothing useless has been included. Nothing useful has been left out.

The result is, that every requirement of the female system in any possible condition is met by them.

And this fact has been certified to by leading physicians and chemists on this continent, to whom Dr. Hugo's prescription was submitted.

If you are in a run-down condition and don't feel as well as you would like to, or suffer from any menstruation difficulty, or weakness peculiar to your sex, avail yourself at once of the prescription of this great and good physician.

The cost of 72 tablets, enough for an extended treatment, is only 50c.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets Make Healthy Women.

The Difference Between Expert and Unskilful Tea Blending

THE qualities of different teas prove that there is a distinct difference between expert Red Rose blending methods and the usual methods.

Several kinds of teas may be blended, but if unskilfully selected they will not combine to make a perfect blend; they will retain their original individual characteristics with their roughness and harshness emphasized.

Such tea is bitter, poorly flavored in the cup (and there is much of it in bulk and package form on the market). It emphasizes the result of inexperience, lack of knowledge of combining qualities of different teas, imperfect blending, poor selection, and the hundred and one other causes of poor tea.

But my expert Red Rose blenders select the right grades of strong, rich Indian teas and delicate fragrant Ceylon teas, and produce Red Rose Tea with entirely new characteristics—a tea with that "rich fruity flavor"—a tea so exquisitely different and better than any brand of Ceylon alone, that no one who once tries it ever goes back to Ceylon again.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. serve them out that they must make investigations in the inn."

I shrugged my shoulders. "Upon my word, I don't see what I can do for you," I said.

"Yes, you do," he replied sharply. "I have told the sergeant that you are here right enough, but are staying with me as my guest. He swears he must see you and find out for himself. And the parson, amiably embarrassed, vows I am being insulted. However, there you are."

"Very well," said I slowly; "let them in."

Sercombe scrutinised me keenly, as though he would read my soul, and then, apparently satisfied, left the room.

In another moment a knock sounded at the door, and Hood, flinging it open, said, "Gentlemen to see you, sir."

The little parson entered, followed by the sergeant who had called at the castle. I looked up from my books and rose instantly.

"How do you do, vicar?" I said, offering him a hand. "Good day, sergeant."

The policeman was taken aback and stared at me sheepishly, but the parson turned to him triumphantly.

"I told you so, Jones," he declared. "I am not in the habit of doubting Captain Sercombe's word."

"Gentlemen," I said, feigning astonishment, "may I ask what is this?"

"Oh, it's an absurd piece of business from the start," said the vicar emphatically. "What is coming over the police I don't know. No man of position is safe from them."

"You would think if he had a cousin at Rugby it would be sufficient," interrupted the suave voice of Sercombe.

The vicar turned. "Precisely, captain," he said eagerly. "I think I did my best to explode the foolish notion."

"May I ask, gentlemen"— I began, but Sercombe interrupted.

"There was a notion that you were being detained by force," he said, smiling.

I laughed. "By force. Is every man who spends a couple of days with a friend to become a case of abduction?"

"Very well put, sir," approved the Rev. Mr. Morgan. "I was never at Rugby myself, but I had an uncle who"—

"Excuse me, sir," said Jones obstinately, "do your friends know where you are?"

"Did they inform you of my disappearance?" I asked.

Jones hesitated. "No, sir," he said at last.

"I should think not," I replied.

A murmur of approbation came from the vicar. Jones looked abashed, but he had the proper Welsh obstinacy and still lingered. The vicar turned on him.

"Come, Jones," he said, "I think apologies are due from you to both these gentlemen, and I trust you see how preposterous your theories are."

"I beg your pardon, sir, for intruding," said Jones to me, but he did not look at Sercombe, and he made him no apology. He retired clumsily, and Sercombe burst out laughing and, throwing his hat on the table, sat down. "Take a seat, Mr. Morgan," he said. "Let us all have a glass of wine after this trying ordeal. Greatorex, you'll join us?"

I declined, but the parson accepted and sat down to an amiable gossip. Branching from his uncle, who had been—I forget where—in some school, I fancy, he lingered affectionately on a friend who had been heir presumptive to a baronetcy, and was undoubtedly bent upon a further revelation of his connections with the aristocracy when Sercombe by running devious rured his tongue to another topic, in which both of us were interested. It appeared that there was a great curiosity spreading as to the castle and the events of the past weeks. Some went so far as to speak knowingly of a "mystery;" but, as the little vicar said, "the lower classes are fond of talking about their superiors and imputing to them abominable crimes." He sipped his wine and confided in us, getting back at last through all Sercombe's nets to his respectable connections. Finally he concluded in a pleasant mixture of snobbery and religion and prepared to take his leave. I got up simultaneously.

"I will accompany you, Mr. Morgan," I said. "I will walk as far as the castle, if that is your way."

Sercombe started and then a broad grin grew on his face.

"I congratulate you on your quickness of wit," he whispered as I passed him.

It was a tiny triumph, but I enjoyed it all the more because I had been for so long a mere tool in their hands. I took the parson's arm and walked out into the roadway. Sercombe and Hood stood in conference before the door when I looked back, and I thought I perceived in the distance a grim and shallow smile flash over the latter's face.

CHAPTER XVII.

I PARTED from the vicar at the gates of the castle and hurried through the park in a lively state of anxiety. I had not yet conceived for myself what had happened in the interval of my absence. Sercombe, to be sure, had thrown out hints, but I knew better than to put any faith in him. Still it was certain that anything might have happened, and we might even now be in possession of the treasure. But what gave me my first blow was the sight of the drawbridge peacefully spanning the waters of the moat, and the spikes of the portcullis protruding just below the archway. These appearances seemed to point in one direction and to acquaint me that the game was up.

Inside I met Mrs. Main, who started in alarm and pursued me with her excited inquiries—so that it was very plain whence the news of my disappearance had reached the police. She informed me that Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Montgomery were both within and seated, in fact, at lunch. In the dining room, therefore, I sought them and broke in upon them. I will not say with what delight I was welcomed, embraced affectionately by Sheppard and sturdily shaken by Montgomery's great fist. They had been anxious, and yet not alarmed, by my absence. Sheppard's wits were always quick, and said he:

"I knew that it was not worth their while to slaughter you, Ned, but what other devilment they might be up to I could not guess. On the whole, we decided finally in favor of what actually occurred:" And then, "So you were taken?" he asked. "But how?"

"Give me food and wine and I will give you my story," I replied, sitting down to the table.

Sheppard laid his hand on my shoulder. "No," said he; "not yet. There is something further first." And, looking at him, I perceived a great gravity on his features. He showed a worn and troubled face, now that the excitement of my return was over.

"What is the matter?" I asked. "Is the treasure"—

"That is it," he said. "I want that key. We tried the door in vain. We could not break it down. It is adamant. God knows it was not for want of trying."

"I fear the key is no use to us now," I said quickly.

He regarded me seriously and with a pale face.

"You must forget, Ned," he said gently, "what you left there."

Montgomery's face had fallen, and he sat echoing Sheppard's consternation. Suddenly a light dawned on me. It was Hood they had in mind.

"Hood's not there," I said. Sheppard stared at me.

"Not a bit of it," I went on. "He's plump and live as ever, and a worse rascal."

"But how—but why?" exclaimed Montgomery. "I thought the poor devil was dead and rotten by now. We tried all we could"—

"Oh, I see, I must hasten on to my story without more ado," I said, and accordingly began at once upon my narrative. Chagrin grew upon their was not any longer in the room of Hood, which meant for us that Hood was absent.

Was he absent, looking after the treasure? Upon consideration I decided that this was unlikely; otherwise Sercombe would not be resting so comfortably in his chair. The two scoundrels dared not trust one another. In that case the odds were that the treasure lay in the Woodman, and here was Sercombe, and as likely as not a Greek or two, keeping guard upon it. This was all I wanted to know, and, having gained this information, I deemed it time to retire. You will think me rash in my conjectures, but you must conceive that in the game we were playing it was necessary to come to a conclusion quickly, and I had learned to come to a conclusion on the slightest evidence. Anyhow, I gave the signal for retreat, and back we went to the castle by a circuitous route, so as to avoid any suspicions on the part of the captain.

Night was the occasion I wanted, and it was for the fall of dark that we waited with great impatience. Sheppard agreed with me that the treasure lay in the inn and most probably in the cellars. The two thieves would secure it against one another. I admit that I entertained little hope of cutting out the treasure under the noses of the enemy. On the other hand, it would be difficult to say what I really did anticipate or aim at in this nocturnal expedition. I think we all felt that we could not compose our minds to rest and an imperturbable indifference. We must be upon our legs and bustling about some business, even though it should prove the veriest moonshine, and I believe, too, that a notion was current among us that we might by some felicitous chance or by some heroic effort accomplish something under the cover of darkness, if we might not actually wrest from its abominable holders the gold and jewels of the treasure. At 10 o'clock we three were gathered within the shelter of the deep thicket before the Woodman. Montgomery had taken up his position there by light, but reported that there had been no movement in the inn.

A Historical Review of The University

TORONTO UNIVERSITY COMING NEARER IDEAL OF FOUNDERS.

First College Building Designed to Be Centre of Education For the New Province — Contentions Interfered and Provincial College Was Relegated to Corner of the Park—An Initial Mistake—Better Days Dawning.

The great change that is being effected in the constitution of the University of Toronto means that that institution is coming nearer than has hitherto been the case to the ideal of its founders. When the university was projected it was expected that it would occupy the site that has since been allotted to the Legislative buildings. It was with a view to the carrying out of this policy that the first college building—King's College—was erected in that part of the park which lies immediately opposite Grosvenor street, where the monument to the heroes of the Northwest now stands.

The First College.

This structure was designed as the nucleus of the university that was to be. It was thought that, by gradually extending it, it would assume large proportions, and command the Queen's Park avenue, where there would rise around it other buildings for educational purposes. Thus what we know as the park would become the centre of education for the new province. The plans as originally thought out were not destined to be carried into execution. The university became a subject of contention. The interests were divided. Other institutions were opened. The provincial college was relegated to a corner of the park, and there it remained until the differences of early days had been settled, or until other views prevailed. Then the quieting of the old disputes opened the way to a situation under which the State-endowed institution can impart knowledge in the subjects that are not controversial, while the other institutions organized for special religious purposes can employ their resources in the work that is particular to themselves.

An Initial Mistake.

There can be no doubt that the situation which created the long-drawn-out educational quarrel was the result of a mistake made in London. When the province was founded the leading men agreed that a college for the training of youth in the higher branches was a necessity. Governor Simcoe said on this subject, in his quaint style, that "a college of a higher class would be eminently useful, and would give a tone of principle and manners that would be of infinite support to government." It is easy to understand what our pioneer ruler meant by this remark, although few of us would put the idea in this language. The grant in 1797 of 500,000 acres of land in support of four grammar schools and one university was clearly a provision for higher education, regardless of religious questions. Similarly, the call for a principal for the contemplated university in 1799 was suggestive of non-denominationalism. Governor Simcoe sent to Scotland for the head of the proposed institution, and the offer of the principalship was given to two Presbyterians—first to the celebrated Dr. Chalmers, and afterwards to Mr. John Strachan, who accepted, and afterwards became the first Bishop of Toronto.

Delays and Disputes.

When Dr. Strachan reached Canada, in conformity with his invitation to become the head of the new college, the face of matters had changed. Governor Simcoe had left for England, and there was no university to direct. Under these circumstances the bishop-to-be turned to other educational enterprises, and ultimately took orders in the Church of England. In the meantime the campaign for a university was continued, and was crowned with a measure of success. George IV., in 1827, gave a charter for King's College, making it, however, an exclusively Church of England seat of learning. This charter was the subject of protest on the part of the Legislature, and the Imperial authorities undertook to modify it; but the changes were not such as the province as a whole agreed to. In the forties the charter of George IV. was made operative. Bishop Strachan brought the university into being, and helped, on April 23, 1843, at the laying, by Sir Charles Bagot, of the foundation stone of the first college, on the site in Queen's Park already described.

The Secularization Struggle.

When the work of organization under Church of England auspices was commenced, the movement for secularization became the stronger. The Methodist body, for its part, had commenced work upon their own university at Cobourg, which was chartered in 1836, and the Presbyterians had begun upon Queen's, which received its charter in 1841. As these church institutions enjoyed no State subsidy, while King's had been granted some 225,000 acres as its share of the grant made forty years earlier in the interests of higher education, the fight for secularization became the more vigorous. In the Legislature the matter was taken up, and the consequence was the reincorporation of the university in 1849 as a provincial institution, with no religious control and no religious tests for the professors. There can be little doubt that Bishop Strachan had looked upon King's as the theological college for his diocese. His writings, however, show that he did not wish it to be exclusive, in the sense that it could be resorted to by none but members of the Church of England. What he aimed at was just such Church control as appertained in those days to Oxford and Cambridge.

Trinity Established.

The elimination of Church influence and the suppression of the theological department was a severe trial to the bishop. He, however, was not cast down. To England he went, and secured a charter and endowments for Trinity University, the first stone of which was laid in 1852. It is said of Bishop Strachan that he was really the founder of two universities within ten years of each other. Thus it was that we had Trinity in the West end of the city, with Toronto in the park. For years the tendency has been towards a series of denominational or Church universities, and one State university—all of them weak and struggling for an existence. Now the situation has changed. It seems to be recognised that a strong university, teaching the subjects that are common to all, and leaving to each of the Church foundations the theological instruction that is distinctive, renders the more substantial service to the people. This is what we are coming to, and it is interesting to observe that it is the very idea that was entertained when a central institution of learning was first designed.

THE BOND OF AFFECTION.

The White Man Never Deserts Indian Wife—Story Illustrating Constancy of Couples.

M. C. B., writing from Regina, Sask., to The Toronto Star says: I have the authority of the Man from Prince Albert for it, that a white man never deserts his Indian wife.

The Man from Prince Albert ran on for some time about the Breeds and their ways, and he should know them, for he has made a fortune in the last 30 years trading with them. "If a Breed girl sets her cap for a man," he said, musingly, "she gets him sure, and keeps him, too."

Then, straightening up, he declared with animation that a white man never deserted his Indian wife, though his business and social relations suffered, as they must, from the union "A white man will desert his white wife quick enough, and sometimes even a Breed, but he will cling to his squaw wife. I do not know why it is, unless she does not talk back, and is used to submission. There may be something in that. Anyway she can hold her husband."

"There was Sinclair," he said. "He told me himself that he came down to Winnipeg, intending to run off to Scotland, leaving his squaw and their five children, but he could not do it. I used to think that Scotchmen were cold, until I heard Sinclair tell that story. I never saw a man so moved before, and I do not wish to again, either. He turned his head to the wall when he said: 'My God, Man! She is only an Indian, I know, but she is my wife, and they are our children,' and I got up and left the room then."

Sinclair was a poor Caithness lad, belonging to the clan whom the Duke of Sutherland scattered to the four corners of the earth to make room for his sheep. His parents procured him a clerkship in the Hudson's Bay Co., and he was only a lad when he saw Dunnet Head sink below the ocean, the last time he was ever to set eyes on Scotland. He proved a good servant to the great company, and when he became factor took a wife of an Indian tribe according to the custom of the country. This custom, which had the force of law, provided that she was his wife so long as he remained in the country, but if he were to leave it he was to provide for her and her children, and she had no further claim upon him.

For nearly twenty years they lived the austere, busy life of the wilds, happy in their work and in each other and their children's society. He had taken pains to teach her to read, and she had learned to sing her children to sleep with the songs of her husband's native land. Yet she forgot not the legends of her own people and clung to many of their ways.

In all the years he spent in the wilds Sinclair nursed one ambition—to return to his native land and live as a gentleman. He prospered so that he was able to retire with honor at a comparatively early age, settling down where his property interests centered, at Prince Albert.

One day he told her he must go to Winnipeg on important business, which would detain him some time.

"How many suns?" she asked relapsing to her native speech.

"Twelve," he told her in the same tongue.

She said nothing, and not a muscle of her face moved, but her eyes clouded up, which caused Sinclair to wince guiltily. In the loneliness of the wilds these two had learned the wisdom of taciturnity. She set about making preparations for his journey, as one crushed by a great sorrow, and Sinclair fled the place. They had been parted before, but not for long, and the poor Indian wife seemed to dread this separation. His voice trembled that night when he "took the Book," as was his wont, according to custom of his fathers. She, on the contrary, seemed to have regained her cheerfulness. But the next morning, before the dawn, when he started for his train, the untutored Indian wife hung about his neck, murmuring endearing words in her soft native speech, until he fled with a mist before his eyes and a sob choking him.

Two days later, in Winnipeg, he was distracted by reunions with old friends and his business arrangements. He instructed his lawyers, and purchased his ticket for Montreal, whither he had arranged to depart on a Sunday evening. A few days later he would be on the ocean bound for the dear land which he had left nearly thirty years before. He had done more than he was bound to do for his savage love and her offspring, and the bitterness of the parting was over. He was rich, rich enough to realize his ambition and take his place in the society of his native land. Is it strange that he glowed with pleasure in anticipation of what was before him?

But he had not yet told her his intentions. He must write, and that at once, and he drew pen and paper before him. After repeated trials to write that letter, he sat back in his chair with closed eyes and drawn face. It was evening, and he thought of his own fireside with the children clustered about it. She had wee Donald in her arms crooning him to sleep. His brown limbs showed beneath his red night robe, and his dark hair fell in waves across her arm, while one hand rested gently on her breast. He opened his dark eyes so pitifully like his mother's to ask a question, and a moment later the long lashes had again closed over them, while the dark woman watched with a cloud of trouble in her eyes, and continued to sing. Their first-born, almost a man now, was poring over a Scottish romance. He thought of her joy at the birth of this first-born, and her childish glee that his hair was fair and like his father's. The whole panorama of their almost twenty years of married life surged up before him until he burst out: "My God! she is only an Indian, I know, but she is my wife, and these are our children."

The clerk of the Leland Hotel was surprised when Sinclair rushed down, paid his bill, and posted off in a cab to catch the west-bound train, whereas he had announced that he was going east. Sinclair and his family still reside in Prince Albert, for the desire to return to Scotland died that night, and has never come to life again. Just how much his wife knows of his intentions is still a mystery to Sinclair, and will remain such.

Man Who Beheaded Charles I.

The mysterious masked man who beheaded Charles I. remains British analogue for the Man With the Iron Mask. Lilly, the lying astrologer, denounced Cornet Joyce at the restoration, but Joyce on the fatal 30th of January was not in favor with Cromwell. The parish register of Whitechapel records the burial in 1649 of Richard Brandon, the common hangman, and opposite the entry a contemporary hand wrote that "he cut off the head of Charles the First." Brandon himself asserted that "they made him do it for £30," with which he drank himself to death.—Dundee Advertiser.

Trouble For Government Clerks.

"Congress makes lots of unnecessary trouble for the government clerks," said a veteran employee, "but the worst case I know of occurred some years ago. A certain senator asked the comptroller of the currency to tell him how much stock a certain man had in a national bank. He was informed that such information was regarded as confidential and could not be given out."

"We'll see about that," said the senator, who was plainly disappointed and displeased.

"Several days later he secured the passage of a resolution calling upon the secretary of the treasury to furnish the senate with the names and holdings of the stockholders in all the national banks in the country. He really wanted to know only the interest of one man in a bank, but he knew that he couldn't get a resolution of that kind through the senate, so he included the stockholders in all national banks. It took the entire force of the comptroller's office several weeks to prepare the information, and when it reached the senate nobody paid any attention to it except the author of the resolution, and he merely looked at the mass of papers only long enough to see about the man he was after and then tossed the papers aside. It was an immense lot of work for nothing."

Rural Delivery Too Costly.

The Postmaster-General has presented to the House a report of the investigation made by Mr. William Smith, secretary of the Postoffice Department, and Mr. George Ross, chief postoffice superintendent, into the workings of the rural free delivery service in the United States. The two officials went to Washington last year and were received with every courtesy by the United States postal officials. They state that it was obvious that the service was popular amongst the officials, but there is not the slightest likelihood that it will ever become self-sustaining. In the spring of last year there were 20,000 rural free delivery routes in operation, and new ones being aded at the rate of 500 a month. The rule requires a population of at least one hundred families on a route from 25 to 30 miles in length before the district becomes entitled to free delivery. The rural carrier stops within half a mile of any established postoffice. There is no free delivery in cities or towns of less than 10,000 inhabitants, and an annual revenue of $10,000, but the report says that a demand in this direction is bound to come.

According to present plans and at the present rates of pay the cost of the service to the United States this year will certainly be not less than from thirty-two and one-half to thirty-three million dollars, while the deficit cannot be less than twenty millions, and may go over thirty million dollars.

The report says that if such a service were established in Canada the annual deficit would amount to millions of dollars, the greater portion of the burden falling upon the agricultural population.

The report closes with the statement that in the opinion of the two officials the time has not arrived for the Canadian Postoffice Department to enter upon a rural free delivery service.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last If FERROZONE is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Heer, Pharmacist, 23 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

LOVE FOR HIS MOTHER.

Distinguishing Characteristic of Late Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax.

The late Archbishop O'Brien who passed away recently at Halifax, N. S. was the son of the late Terrance O'Brien, of New Glasgow, Prince Edward Island, and grandson of Walter O'Brien, Esquire, of Newross, Wexford, Ireland. His father in early manhood went to Newfoundland, where he was for some years engaged in shipbuilding with his cousin, the Hon. Lawrence O'Brien. Visiting Prince Edward Island later on, he married there Miss Katherine O'Driscoll, of Charlottetown, and settled in New Glasgow, where in 1843 the future prelate was born.

And he, fitting himself in his early education for commercial life to which his mind seemed strongly turned, entered while quite young upon a business career—only to find himself more and more drawn to the Church as his real vocation. After a short experience of business life he abandoned it and began a classical course at St. Dunstan's College, from where he proceeded to Rome, enrolling as a student of the Propaganda College. He obtained there in competition with students from all parts of the world the gold medal for general excellence awarded every ten years, graduating also with the degrees of D.D. and Ph.D. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1871.

Perhaps the most marked feature of the private life of the Archbishop was his surpassing devotion to his mother during life, and to her memory after death. It was a more than ordinary filial attachment and exerted a very strong influence upon his life. In his sermons, his books, and in ordinary conversation he everywhere expressed the ideal of Christian motherhood as obtained from her life.

In his last Lenten pastoral, written a few weeks ago, fresh evidence of this is given in this earnest passage:

"There is no spectacle on earth so pleasing to God and His Angels, as that of a mother endeavoring to consecrate the heart and the lips of her child to His service, by teaching it to pray. In no other way can such pure joy be given to herself, or any service be performed for her offspring, which can compare with this in lasting results for good. Let Christian mothers realise the nobility, the sacred character impressed on them by motherhood; the tender love by which the Eternal Father encircles and ennobles them, making them his co-operators in peopling the heavens made vacant by the fall of the rebellious angels. To rightly acquit themselves in this great work, God's grace and guidance are to be obtained for the asking."

Carlyle and Goldwin Smith.

In "Mrs. Brookfield and Her Circle," a book by Charles and Francis Brookfield, and dealing with one of the most brilliant of mid-Victorian coteries in the old country, an interesting story is told, showing that one of the best-known men in Toronto enjoys the distinction of befriending Thomas Carlyle at an extremely delicate juncture. Here is the extract:

"Tennyson arrived at Lady Ashburton's, and next day came the first copy of his new poem, 'Maud,' which he promised to read aloud to us. But Carlyle, who was among the guests, could not endure to listen to anyone reading aloud—not even to Alfred Tennyson. Carlyle was accustomed to take an early walk daily, and to be accompanied by an appreciative companion. What was to be done? All the visitors presumably wished to listen to Tennyson's delightful reading. Lord and Lady Ashburton were kept waiting; chairs had been arranged in a quiet sitting-room; the visitors were taking their places. Alfred was ready. So was Carlyle—in the hall—waiting for a companion in his walk, and evidently determined not to stir without one. It was an anxious moment. Each of us wondered which would volunteer, like Quintus Curtius, to leap into the gulf. At length Mr. Goldwin Smith generously stepped forward and joined the philosopher, and then William (Brookfield) joined them both, while the rest of us remained enthralled to listen to the words of the poet."

Canadians may feel perplexed as to whether they should commiserate with Prof. Goldwin Smith for not hearing Tennyson recite, or envy him for his walk round the garden with the Sage of Chelsea.

Saved in Snow Shovelling.

The light snowfall and mild weather of the past winter effected a great saving in the snow shovelling bill, says The Hillsburg Beaver. During the winters of 1903-4 and 1904-5 it cost the County of Wellington an average each winter of nearly $50 a mile to keep the road from Guelph to Erin open. This sum represented expenditure for snow shovelling and ice picking alone—there was no permanent improvement, nothing to show for it once the thaw came. But this winter what a change. The Beaver has been informed by Warden Alex., McKinnon that in his district which, we presume, means the county roads within the Township of Erin, the total expenditure for keeping the roads open did not exceed $10.

Eyes and Animals.

Dr. Lindsay Johnson, the celebrated ophthalmologist, says that the dog has two ancestors, one round eyed, the other oval eyed. The first is the hyena, the second the bear, through the raccoon. All dogs descend from these animals. The "corpus niger," or black body of pigment in the eye of the horse, which has puzzled veterinarians, naturalists and zoologists so much, provides through the ophthalmoscope a new means of tracing the ancestry and relationship of the horse. It is the same eye curtain that is found in tropical animals—the onager, the camel and the antelope—for protection from sunlight.

Tall Englishwomen.

After taking measurements of the height of women in France, England, and America, a doctor announces that the Englishwomen is the tallest and the American woman comes next. The average height of the French woman is 5 feet 1 inch. The American woman is nearly 2 inches taller, and the women of Great Britain 1-2 inch taller than the latter. American women, however, weigh slightly more than either of the others their average weight being about 117 pounds.

Drinking Hot Water.

Persons who have irritability of the heart should not drink hot water. Hot water will cause palpitation in such cases. Persons with dilated stomachs should avoid the drinking of hot water; persons afflicted with "sour stomachs;" persons who have soreness of the stomach or pain induced by light pressure should also refrain from drinking it. Hot water will relieve thirst better than cold water, and for that purpose it should not be condemned, but hot water is an excitant, and in cases in which irritation of the stomach exists it should be avoided.

Drudgery.

The everyday cares and duties which men call drudgery are the weights and counterpoises of the clock of time, giving its pendulum a true vibration and its hands a regular motion, and when they cease to hang upon its wheels the pendulum no longer swings, the hands no longer move, the clock stands still.—Longfellow.

THIS PRETTY CANADIENNE

Saved From Terrible Kidney Disease By "Fruit-a-tives."

MASSON, P.Q., Nov. 25th., 1905.

"I have much pleasure in reporting to you the great benefit I have received from taking "Fruit-a-tives"—and I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of a medicine which has done me so much good. I was a martyr to that distressing complaint chronic constipation accompanied with severe headaches backache sick stomach and all the symptoms of dyspepsia. I had also a dreadful complexion, sallow in the extreme and black under the eyes. I had every symptom of kidney irritation and I had been told by physicians that my kidneys were affected. I consulted a number of physicians and took various remedies but received very little benefit. Last May I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and when I began to take them I had little faith of getting anything to give me permanent relief, but after I had taken half a box of "Fruit-a-tives" I began to feel better and before I had finished one box the constipation was relieved, the headaches left me, the pain in my back was better and I could sleep as soundly as when I was child. Also, my complexion began to clear up again, all the sallowness disappeared and the black circles under my eyes went away. The pain in the back gradually left me and all signs of kidney disease disappeared by the first of August after I had taken three boxes. Since then I have continued to improve and now I have none of my old symptoms and my appetite is good, digestion splendid and my complexion as clear as when I was a young girl. Also the constipation from which I had suffered so long has been entirely cured and it is not necessary for me to take the "Fruit-a-tives" now as I am quite well in every way. I took no medicine but "Fruit-a-tives" but I followed faithfully the directions as to diet etc., given in the pamphlet which accompanies each box of "Fruit-a-tives."

Every part of the body is constantly decaying and being renewed. The dead cells, or tissue waste, should be removed by the skin, kidneys and bowels. When these organs do not act regularly, this poisonous matter stays in the system—is taken up by the blood—carried to heart, liver, stomach, brain and nerves all over the body—and poisons everything it touches.

"Fruit-a-tives" keep each organ clean and healthy. "Fruit-a-tives" act on the skin, stimulating the millions of minute glands and opening the pores so the waste can escape. They act on the liver sending more bile into the bowels and making the bowels move regularly and naturally every day. They act on the kidneys, strengthening and invigorating these organs and curing all kidney disorders.

The Latest In Fashion's Realm; Items Of Interest To Ladies

SNAPSHOTS OF THE MODE.

A New Trimming For Muslin Frocks. Dainty Dance Slippers.

An economical as well as effective fashion is that of providing muslin or voile skirts with a crossway hem of silk. The hem is generally about four inches deep and headed by a tiny frill either of the silk or the material composing the dress.

Very delicate pearl gray and deep ivory suede gloves are worn even more than the white ones which have been so long in favor.

Rosebuds of satin and chiffon trim the latest dance slippers. When satin roses ornament the slipper, chiffon of the same shade is used to soften the edges and to make a few of the leaves. A small cluster of buds is easily made by the girl who is clever with her needle.

Small capes and pelerines are assuming considerable importance among the smart spring wraps. The sack bolero, which is really nothing more than a cape provided with short bell sleeves with a tight fitting waistcoat as a foundation, is another favorite style.

Narrow belts are to be worn this summer, and for shirt waist wear nothing is in better form than the narrow belt of patent leather, finished with a gold monogram buckle. Belts for dressy blouses are of heavy white satin, embroidered in skeleton patterns, with white silk. The belt is then lined with silk, and a fancy buckle finishes the smart effect.

The spring gown seen in the cut has a skirt of gray blue plaid, laid in double box plaits. On each double plait are button trimmed straps of blue velvet ribbon. The little sack bolero is of plain blue cloth with revers of velvet.

LINGERIE NEWS.

Empire Effects Lead—Fascinating Creations of Lawn and Lace.

Judging from various representative trousseaux recently made, empire styles will lead in lingerie.

A dainty empire chemise is made from two yards of the sheerest nainsook. The neck and armholes are marked with a spool in scallops, then buttonholed and cut out. A row of eyelet holes is worked an inch below the scallops, one-half inch apart, through which ribbon is run. On the left side, just below the eyelets, the owner's initials are worked, surrounded by a wreath. The work is all done with embroidery cotton.

Flat trimmings are the mode on lingerie, ruffles and fluffy effects being decidedly out of style.

Among the luxurious items in the lingerie world is the boudoir or breakfast cap. This piece of headgear had its advent among fastidious convalescents.

All the handmade lingerie is put together with lace insertions of tiny beading.

The chemise pictured is ornamented with solid and openwork embroidery. A half wreath of morning glories is worked solid, and above these flowers are blades of wheat done in eyelet holes. The neck and armholes are scalloped, and in each curve is embroidered a French dot.

SARTORIAL HINTS.

How to Alter Last Season's Costumes. Green the Smart Spring Color.

No well bred skirt has an old fashioned placket. The up to date idea is to fasten the skirt in the center underneath the middle plait. A row of invisible hooks and eyes is placed at the side where the plaits lap over from right to left.

The round waist is approved of in mode, and skirts that have belts cut down in a point in front are decidedly de mode. Waists are worn on the outside of the skirt, and consequently the waistband is snug.

Most of the smart spring coats are high in the neck. To alter a last season's jacket attach a triangular piece of velvet or cloth at the neck opening, and trim it with braid or some fanciful design. Then fit about the neck a two inch turnover collar.

To be sure, the modistes would have one believe that short or three-quarter sleeves are the only ones approved by

APPLE GREEN VOILE GOWN.

Dame Fashion, but as a matter of fact many of the best suits have long sleeves on their jackets. The short sleeve, though, on certain costumes is very fashionable.

Green in all shades is the modish spring color. It appears in nile, emerald and several tones of hunter's green, but the bright apple green is the most striking of all.

The gown illustrated is of apple green voile. The skirt has at the hem an elaborate design, carried out in velvet ribbon of a darker shade. Baby Irish lace makes the deep yoke stole ends, belt and inset piece on the sleeves. A smart little butterfly bow of black satin gives a Frenchy touch that is very attractive.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

The Milkmaid Sleeve—Lace Wristlets and the Flirtation Veil.

The milkmaid sleeve is a variation of the elbow length. It ends in an upturned cuff of pure white lawn delicately embroidered in white thread and is matched by a chemisette of the same fabric. This new sleeve will appear on coats as well as on gowns.

Very smart are the lace wristlets for wear with short sleeves, and the dog collar to match is also a smart addition.

If you have any garnet jewelry in old fashioned settings wear it upon every occasion when it will be harmonious. The rage for garnets is a recent Parisian fad.

The flirtation veil is one of the summer vogues. It is three yards long and made of washable chiffon so fine in texture that it would [illegible] Peter Pan ashamed when he [illegible] his lost shadow up to the public eye. The ends are hand painted in large flowers, and a painted border extends down both sides.

Never before have veils and veilings by the yard been obtainable in colorings so becoming. Even the plainest woman, if she has the right sense of color, can find something in the new veils to hide her defects and enhance her charms.

Many of the new veils have pin dots very close together and a border of real lace.

The girl's frock pictured is of beige pastel cloth. The box plaited blouse and skirt are arranged with bands and buttons made of cloth. The yoke is of embroidery. Through the lower part of the blouse is drawn plain silk ribbon, which makes the folded belt.

Ostrich Tips Worn in Mourning. Embroidered Sleeves on Blouses.

Ostrich feathers are now considered suitable for mourning. The desired touch is given by pasting crape over the stem and adding flecks of the same to the feather part. Another novelty for mourning wear is the quill of crape.

For morning wear smart little toques of fine straw or crin are trimmed with a single stiff wing in front or to one side and a bunch of ribbon loops at the back.

Embroidered sleeves add one more touch of richness to the new blouses. The design of the front is repeated in a smaller way upon the back and broken up and scattered over the sleeves.

Smooth satin crowns are a feature on many of the spring hats.

The black velvet coat collars and cuffs which were introduced upon the tailored coat and skirt costumes of white panama, serge, mohair and linen last summer are once more in evidence upon white tailored frocks. Some models are supplemented by bands of black velvet on the skirt. The tendency toward plainness of skirts observed in winter frocks is running over into the spring styles. One sees some of the prettiest voiles, silks, cottons, etc., trimmed only in self tucks.

To take the place of the shirt waist dress a severe tailor suit of rajah is excellent. It should be of a color that will not easily soil and that can be readily washed or cleaned.

Satin, the traditional material for the wedding gown, has been in high favor this season, but it is the "chiffon" weight and not the "stand alone" fabric of past years that is used. Moire chiffon taffeta is the silk spring brides are selecting for their wedding gowns.

The spring hat seen in the illustration is a charming affair carried out in white chip. Around the crown are bands of woven mallnes in several shades of green with a thread of black. A chou of green velvet and panache of white plumes and an aigret trim the smart little shape at one side.

Embroidery Designs For Summer Frocks—The Empire Skirt.

Lovely dresses of fine lawn have an embroidered design done in tall, flowered stalks, commencing at the hem and extending to the knees. Between these hand embroidered effects are inset motifs of swiss embroidery.

Circular skirts, although popular, are not quite so good for young girls' gowns as they are for those of older ones. The circular skirt is apt to sag at the sides, and this sag fault is much more noticeable upon short skirts than upon longer ones. There is a skirt which for no reason whatever is called "empire" that is immensely popular. It is circular in effect, but that effect is gained by gores which, with their many seams, keep the skirt in shape.

Long coats will not be as much worn as the short effects, taking the form of the bolero, jacket, pony coat and a funny little short waisted wrap with sparrow-like tails in the back.

AN INVALID'S JACKET.

Not so much white is worn in Paris. For the moment Parisiennes are favoring very pale gray and bluish green.

The invalid's jacket seen in the sketch is made of pale blue challie. It is cut from a straight piece of material, and the sleeve portions are tacked together a few inches from the wrist for protection against cold. The entire jacket is trimmed with a blue silk gimp, or a ribbon binding is equally attractive.

Smart Materials For Spring and Summer Gowns—Handsome Silks.

For those who find the new silks too expensive mohair, which is being offered under its old fashioned name of alpaca, makes a serviceable alternative.

There is a range of fancy alpacas in which the pattern consists of an invisible check. These designs are very good for traveling and general wear.

Flannel will be a popular material for summer outing frocks. It comes in hair line stripes in blue and black. Made up in a severe tailor style, with collar and cuffs on the jacket of plain colored flannel, these gowns are very smart.

Small patterns, hair thread embroidered designs and blurred and raised effects are the most noticeable features of the moment in silks. Tiny fleur-de-lis in black and white alternately are noticeable on some of the new gray silks. Little detached bunches of flowers in delicate colorings are woven on cream and ivory grounds.

Moire chiffon taffeta is one of the smart but expensive new silks of the season.

There is a net for summer gowns that is stunning. It is like a coarse mesh of the black and white face veils that are being worn. A lace for trimming comes to match the all over net buttonholed at the edge.

The baby's bonnet illustrated is of drawn taffeta silk fashioned into something of a continental shape. Tiny plaitings of chiffon soften the edge of the brim. A rosette of satin ribbon and wide strings of the same adorn this dainty chapeau.

ABOUT THINGS OF INDIA

FAST DISAPPEARING BEFORE EFFORTS OF CIVILIZATION.

Original Members of the Order of Criminals Were Religious Devotees Who Reduced Murder to An Art — Not Mere Vulgar Slayers of Men—Criminal Life Where Son Follows Father.

It was a happy inspiration that led to the adoption of the word "thug" as a synonym for a ferocious criminal. Its very sound is suggestive of silent and sudden murder. It echoes the thug of the slungshot.

This, of course, is a mere coincidence; the word is not English, in spite of its sound. It is Hindoostanee. In England it has no newspaper currency, but retains its historical meaning, a caste of Indian stranglers.

In becoming popular the term has suffered some degradation, for the thugs of India were no vulgar sluggers and murderers. They were religious devotees and artists in crime. De Quincey would have given them high rank among the practitioners of "Murder Considered as a Fine Art."

The thugs, indeed, were under vows to Kali Devi, the black-browed consort of Siva the Destroyer. She is that terrible personage who appears in the Hindoo pantheon as a fierce but beautiful woman, riding on a tiger, or as a hideous, blood-stained idol, garlanded with skulls. Banded together as caste brethren, the thugs hunted men to offer them the deity of destruction, and because she required a bloodless sacrifice they killed their victim by suffocation.

The thugs, not being cannibals, could not live by mere murder, so they robbed their victims and divided the spoils between themselves and the temples of Kali. As a religious body they were protected by the Brahmins and by pious but impecunious rajahs, who licensed and taxed them. It was an easy way for a ruler to increase his revenue, and the victims were traveling merchants who would not be missed.

During the many centuries of war and anarchy in India Thuggee flourished mightily. Under Aurungzebe, to whom as a Moslem Kali was an abhorrent idol, it suffered a check. Hindoo fanaticism supported it. The Nawab of Surat had captured a band of thugs and was about to release them for a ransom offered by certain Banians, who hoped to acquire "religious merit" by the act. The Emperor ordered the thugs to be strung up by the left hands in the jungle and left there to die. The Banians, prototypes of the sentimentalists who present notorious modern criminals with bouquets, banqueted the stranglers before the execution.

These terrors of the Indian highway are now extinct, like the sabre-toothed tiger. About sixty years ago many hundreds were executed and the remainder transported or put to work at tent-making and other peaceful trades in strict confinement.

It was the writer's privilege a few years back to visit one of the last of these world famous stranglers. He had been captured young and sentenced to imprisonment for life in a central Indian jail.

In a cool corridor that overlooked the sunlit garden a venerable old man was weaving the pattern of a Persian carpet. Tall and erect, with snowy mustache and high caste features, he might have passed in uniform for a British colonel bronzed by years of service. He showed not a single one of the criteria of the type criminal as described by Lombroso.

Nadhoo, so he was called, had been so long a prisoner that he was rather cared for as a curiosity, a museum specimen, than treated as a criminal. He had become an expert in weaving, and when the loom were idle was by no means unwilling to talk of his experiences as a thug. He had been born in the caste, and devoted early to the service of the Kali. His father led him to the secret place in the jungle and there initiated him by the weird rite of the corpse and the dagger, into the freemasonry of the brotherhood.

He learned their signs, how to interpret the omen of the owl, the patter of the "ramawsi"—the secret language of the craft. Being a precocious youth, as he said, he was selected to play the part of "talker," or confidence man. He was ostensibly a traveler on the Delhi road, where the Indian Midland Railway now runs, for his brother, who dealt in silks and cotton goods in a Deccan city. Of his exploits as talker of the band of Tulsi Ram, a notorious thug, executed long ago for his crimes, he told this tale:

"Tulsi Ram was the right arm of Kali, and I was the right arm of Tulsi Ram. It was I who decoyed Nasur Khan, the rich jeweler, with coaxing words, as men take carp from a pond by tickling their sides.

"Nasur was journeying to Delhi with gems from Mysore and a caravan laden with silks in bales and rich brocades. I came before him as a poor trader, begging for permission to join his train for the sake of protection against thieves."

A twinkle in the old man's eyes betrayed his relish of the irony of the situation.

"Nasur was as hard as the stones he dwelt in," he continued, "and the price he demanded for his protection was high. Then I told him that the Rajah of Mulwa had news of the approach of his caravan, and Nasur's heart became as water, for he feared the horsemen of Mulwa and the toll they take.

"Nasur's heart was glad within him when he rode aside from Mulwa, and when he met Tulsi Ram merry was his greeting. Quiet merchants all, they seemed—my brothers—and Nasur's men chatted with them, as travelers, of price and grain. And as they conversed together they made a jest about the thugs so my brethren gathered around Nasur Khan and his men, two to a traveler, and when all were listening open-mouthed to a story of Hatim Tai's an owl hooted twice from the jungle. That was the signal."

The old man illustrated with wrist and knuckle the act of tightening the dumal, a handkerchief, around the neck of the victim. He told how the travelers were buried while warm in the graves that had been prepared for them. For himself, it was his destiny to be a thug. "It is our custom," he said. "The potter's son takes to the potter's wheel; the coppersmith's to the tinkling hammer."

Strangely enough, the veteran became himself a sacrifice to the goddess of his vows. For Kali Devi is also the patroness of that scourge of India, cholera morbus, and next hot weather the old thug passed away during an epidemic. Kali had stretched out one of her hundred hands and called her devotees away.

From this confession it seems that winning the confidence of their victims was the mainstay of the thug business. Theirs was not the bold overt, "Your money or your life" attack of the bandit, but the crafty approach of the criminal tactician. They reckoned on taking their man off his guard, as the "confidence catcher" did in sixteenth century London and as the bunco man does to-day in Western America. Confidence operators are as old as graft itself.

The work of suppressing thuggee was done by Col. Sleeman, one of those martyrs to exile and official duty that the Indian civil service needs and trains. In the district where he replaced blackmail and brigandage by law and order the town of Sleemanabad—Sleeman's city—stands for his monument. The long task of rounding up the thug bands was made easier by disaffection within their ranks. The powerful religious band was broken when unbelieving Moslems were admitted as members of the robber caste and rose to be leaders. The Kali worship became a mere pretext for robbery and murder, and thuggee fell before the repressive measures of a strong executive.

One is not surprised to hear of European criminals adopting methods more or less like those of the thugs. If a robber can trust his pal, two heads and two pairs of hands are better than one. A skilful grasp on the throat by one man stifles the cry for help and safeguards the operations of his partner. But as no idea of religious duty would avail in court they must stop short of strangulation or risk a charge of murder.

The garrotters who infested London in the '60's choked but did not kill the late returning citizens. When chloroform came into use in surgery the under world of crime, or at any rate its master minds, at once appreciated its value. It was painless, it was safe—for them; the victim would awake in a state of mental confusion; he could give the police no clew. The drug became popular with the scientific criminals who operated on English railroad lines, where the closed compartments secure privacy. Sometimes a subject died under chloroform by misadventure, but that might have happened at the hands of a young medical practitioner.

In Paris, however, the tricks of Indian thuggees have been closely followed. Look over the files of the Parisian papers of recent years and you will find accounts of men found dead in lonely places with leather cords around their necks and empty pockets. They had resisted the attacks of strangler thieves. In other cases wealthy men, returning late from the opera on foot, fell victims to the handkerchief trick. In this case the "foulard" of heavy Lyons silk took the place of the cotton "rumal" of the thug.

A robber dressed like a workman or petit bourgeois would approach a belated clubman and offer him for sale a ring, ostensibly picked up from the pavement. If monsieur did not take alarm the robber's partner, who had crept behind his victim, snared his mouth and throat in a noose. Then with a quick jiu-jitsu turn the thug heaved him off the ground on to his back, like a sack of coal, and his partner stepped up and rifled monsieur's pockets. The victim was then dropped on the pavement with force enough to stun him and the thugs made their escape.

The French gendarmerie trace this clever and bloodless operation to the teaching of a professor who lectured in the criminal quarter of Paris some sixty years since. About that time the thugs of India were being brought to trial and the revelations that followed excited great interest in Europe. It is very likely that the professor borrowed his line of treatment from these published cases. But old Nadhoo of the jail would have said that the spirit of an executed thug had incarnated itself in the Frenchman in order to propagate the mystery of thuggee in the virgin soil of France.

The thugs of India, it was said, began as devotees, but ended as brigands. Some form of brigandage, indeed, seems epidemic in Asiatic countries that are not ruled by the strong hand. Burmah is a case in point and so are the Philippines.

The thugs of Burmah were called dacoits. During the first few years of the British occupation the troops were actively employed in small detachments in running down the "dakus" and laying their chiefs by the heels. It was a rough school for subalterns. The nature of the warfare is well illustrated in Kipling's "The Taking of Lungtungpen," a tale of the harrying of a dacoit stronghold by Mulvaney's detachment. But dacoity is now extinct in Burmah and the country is policed by native constabulary.

The Color of Flames.

You have often noticed the many tinted bars and bands that rise in the shape of "forked tongues of flames" from wood burning in the grate. It is ten to one, however, that you never have thought to figure on the cause of the variegated hues presented by flames. To bring the matter quickly to the point, we will say that the many colors are the result of combustion among the different elements of the wood. The light blue is from the hydrogen and the white from the carbon; the violet is from the manganese, the red from the magnesia and the yellow from the soda, which are constituent parts of the wood.

The First Man Dressmaker.

As far back as 1730 there was in Paris a man dressmaker, probably the first of his kind. His name was Rhomberg, and he was the son of a Bavarian peasant from the neighborhood of Munich. He owed his success to his genius for concealing and remedying defects of figure. He drove a beautiful carriage on the boulevard and had an escutcheon in the shape of a pair of corsets and an open pair of scissors painted on the panel of each door. He left a large fortune to his heirs.

Can Consumption be Cured?

There is plenty of indisputable evidence to prove that Consumption has been cured even after the symptoms were well defined and the lungs actually involved.

On the other hand, there has always been a point beyond which the disease has been considered incurable. Until a comparatively recent date this point had a place at a very early stage of the malady, but modern scientific discovery and common-sense methods of treatment have gradually moved the hopeless point further and further back, until now the Consumptive is not "given up" until the very last stage of the disease is reached.

Nothing in recent years has done so much to improve the chances of Consumptives as the advent of

FERROL

In fact, it is claimed that, with plenty of fresh air, sunlight and comfortable surroundings, FERROL has pushed the hopeless point to the limit, that is to say, where these fail the chances of cure are very slim indeed.

FERROL does not kill the germs of Consumption (anything that will do that will kill the patient), but FERROL does the work by repairing the waste tissue, enriching the blood, toning the nerves, in short, by building up the whole system and thus enabling nature to expel the disease.

The only possible chance of curing Consumption is by proper nutrition, and FERROL is the only perfect nutrient, because it combines in palatable and easily digested form the very essentials of life—Oil, Iron and Phosphorus.

We feel some diffidence in claiming that FERROL will cure Consumption, lest we be misunderstood, but we have not the slightest hesitation in stating that it is an infallible cure for BRONCHITIS, CHRONIC COUGHS, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, SCROFULA and all wasting diseases.

For restoring lost weight and building up the run-down system FERROL is absolutely without an equal.

THE PRINCE IN INDIA.

In a Ceremonial Sense the Tour Has Been Attended With Complete Success — Display of Loyalty.

The closing scenes of the Prince and Princess of Wales' visit to India have been fully in keeping with the spirit which has made their progress remarkable even among royal journeys. In the ceremonial sense the tour has been attended with complete success. With the exception of the tiger-hunt in Nepal the long and exacting program has been carried out without a single hitch. The presence of the Prince and Princess has evoked a display of enthusiastic and affectionate loyalty from all classes of the King-Emperor's subjects. That outburst of feeling has been due in no small degree to the tact and sympathy characteristic indeed of all members of the royal family, and not least of our furture King and Queen. Practically every important centre of the Indian Empire has been visited. The Prince's drive up the Khyber Pass without any guard except an escort of Afridis will remain an especially memorable incident, and the confidence which he thereby reposed in the chivalry of the hill-tribes is among the most valuable political results of the tour. But if in its ceremonial aspect the royal progress has been thus singularly felicitous, other consequences to which it is bound to give rise are almost more significant. People in England are apt to overlook the fact that in the last resort the dominant factor in our Indian administration is the personal relation between the governors and the governed. In this country the vicissitudes of political life give color to the impression that the fortunes of our great dependency are determined, at least to a large extent, by the Minister who by the suffrages of his fellow countrymen finds himself temporarily in charge of the Indian Office. In a great measure this is of course true, but it is nevertheless a consideration which is seldom or never present to the minds of the majority of our fellow-subjects in India. In their eyes the raison d'etre of the Government, to which they stand in a relation of almost questioning obedience, is the rule of the Emperor of India. Personal sovereignty is, in short, the source of the only power which they recognize or which indeed they are able to understand. In this sense the person of the King-Emperor acts as a connecting link between India and this country, without which our dominion would at once cease to be intelligible. The loyalty and affection with which this personal rule is associated in the eyes of the great masses of Hindoos is due in the first instance to the veneration with which they regarded the late Queen, the first Empress of India. Although Queen Victoria was never able to visit her dominions in Asia, the sympathy which she never failed to display in the fortunes of her subjects in that continent, her efforts to learn their language, and her constant reliance on her Indian attendants secured for her a regard indistinguishable from the closest personal ties. To the millions who dwell in India the death of the Queen was a loss which they could only compare to the loss of a mother. The affection with which Queen Victoria was regarded by her Indian subjects has been extended without diminution to King Edward. The memory of his visit, as Prince of Wales, is still green in the memories of a people singularly alive to the qualities of sympathy and justice. It is well, therefore, that the traditions of English sovereignty in India should have been worthily continued at the hands of the Prince of Wales. The experience he has gained can hardly fail to be of the utmost value when he in turn is called upon to wield the sceptre over the millions who will hail him as their Emperor. The outcome of his journey was well expressed in the concluding words of his speech at Karachi in which he referred to the figures of Peace and Justice at the base of Queen Victoria's statue. "You do well," said the Prince, "to connect them with the memory of Queen Victoria, for she greatly desired that her Indian subjects should ever enjoy these blessings."—London Morning Post.

Queen Is Taller Than King.

There is hardly a King in Christendom to-day whose wife does not overtop him by a head.

King Edward is quite six inches shorter than Queen Alexandra.

The Czar is overtopped a full head by the Czarina.

Kaiser Wilhelm is of the medium height, but the German Empress is tall, and that is why the proud Kaiser will never consent to be photographed beside his wife, unless she sits while he stands.

The King of Italy, short and squat, hardly comes up to the shoulders of the tall, athletic Queen Helena.

The King of Portugal, though fatter, is less tall than his Queen.

Even the Prince of Wales is shorter a good four inches than the Princess.

The young King of Spain is several inches shorter than his new bride.

The Queen of Denmark towers above her royal spouse.

In Bonny Scotland.

Pressing business engagements made it highly important that a tourist in Scotland should catch the 6 o'clock train for the south on Monday morning. Boots was interviewed on Sunday night, a hansel administered, perhaps incautiously, and a solemn promise received of an early call. Next morning the tourist awoke of his own accord at half-past seven and aroused the boots, who listened to the torrent of anger that was poured upon him in mild surprise. "Cot bless me, sir, you was not so bad at all! The man in the next room to you was to catch the 5 o'clock boat, and he's no wakened yet."

For His Vocabulary's Sake.

"Indirectly, more forcibly sometimes than directly," said a senator, "a man may be accused."

"Thus a good woman of Cincinnati called her cook one morning and said:

"'Mary, come and take the parrot out of the bedroom at once. The master has lost his collar button.'"

The Difference.

Mr. Wholesale—Want a job, eh? What can you do? Applicant—Nothing, Mr. Wholesale—Say, you don't want a "job." What you want is a "position."

SON OF AN OLD COMRADE.

Gen. Laurie Does a Nice Thing Nicely —An Incident of Parliamentary Life Told by Dr. Macnamara.

The most interesting feature of the recent dinner of the Canada Club of London, England, in honor of Canadians returned to the new British Parliament, was that of Dr. Macnamara, the Liberal member for the Camberwell Division of Lambeth, who, in responding, said in part: I stand here as a man born in Montreal, who in his early days wandered about in Toronto, Quebec, eastern and western Canada—the son of a sergeant in a British regiment which has the privilege to call itself "Wolfe's Own." (Cheers.) I see the fourth ribbon and the medal of the fifth on Admiral Douglas' breast. He has the fourth ribbon of the 1866 Canadian medal. As a boy I used to look with pride at my father's Crimean medal and Turkish medal and his long-service medal. He used to tell me there was another medal due, and some day it would arrive. That was the medal for the 1866 Fenian raid, which arrived, thanks to the alacrity of the British War Office, a year after he died, and 26 years after the campaign. (Laughter.) And if I am not to-night so cheerful as I otherwise might be, it is due to the fact that I caught that ribbon in the tail of my eye upon Admiral Douglas' breast. I am always proud to be a member of the British Parliament, but I have never been so proud as here to-night, for the first time, the guest of many who are my fellow-countrymen. I join with Mr. Hurd—politics aside—in expressing regret at the loss of many Canadians and friends of Canada in the new Parliament. I am particularly sorry that a most urbane and agreeable gentleman, whose kindness was almost enough to make me agree with his politics, Mr. Ian Malcolm, is no longer a member of the British Parliament.

As for Gen. Laurie, let me just say this. In the Parliament of 1900 — my first Parliament — I said a few words about the condition of the soldier, and stated that my only excuse for intervening was that I happened to be the son of a man who fought in the trenches of Sebastopol. Gen. Laurie came across the floor and sat by my side. He said to me, "I was in the Crimea. What was your father in?" I told him, "The 47th," and he said, "I don't remember the name Macnamara." I replied, "Very likely you don't; he was a private soldier." I thought there was a shade of disappointment on the old man's face. Another member, a Liberal, then came and sat beside Gen. Laurie, and said to him, "We have never seen you over on this side before, Gen. Laurie. What are you doing here?" Gen. Laurie's reply disarmed all class hatred in me, and made me proud of the instinct of the British Parliament. He said, "I have come over here to talk to the son of an old comrade." (Cheers.) Remember, he was a British General, and my father was a private soldier. (Cheers.)

A Pioneer Schoolmaster.

Another old and respected citizen, James R. McNeillie, has been called, very suddenly, to his reward, "in a full age like as a shook of corn." Mr. McNeillie, who died on Friday last in Port Hope, was born in Dumfriesshire, Scotland, on March 19, 1821, came to Canada in 1853 and settled in the Township of Clarke, where he taught school until coming to Port Hope in the year 1868. After taking up his residence in town he was on the public school staff for twelve years. In the year 1880 he retired from the profession, having taught in all over forty-two years. During all these years he came in touch with many young lives and helped to shape their destiny for good, as numbers in this community well know. He was a man of retiring but kindly nature, and possessed a most remarkable memory. He was an ardent church-

To Rebuild The Body

WHEN IT IS WEAK AND WASTED BY OVERWORK OR DISEASE YOU CAN USE

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

"Our bodies," says Huxley, "may be likened to an eddy in the river, which retains its shape for a while, though every instant each particle of water is changing."

The tissues of the body, composed of millions of tiny cells, are being constantly broken down and wasted away by the process of life and especially by overwork and disease.

In order to reconstruct these wasted tissues there are necessary such elements as iron, sulphur, magnesia, potash, etc., and when these are not supplied in sufficient quantities in the food we eat it is necessary to aid Nature by the use of certain restorative preparations.

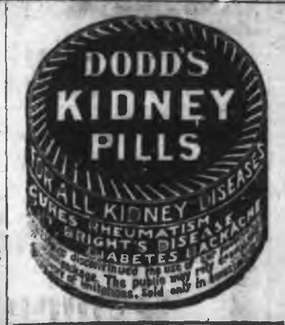
Especially during the winter season foods are unusually artificial and as a result the spring finds the body in a weak and run-down condition.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is particularly effective under such circumstances because it is composed of the very elements of nature which go to form new, rich blood, create new nerve cells and rebuild wasted tissues.

This great food cure is radically different to the medicines that are usually used for nervous diseases, for while they stimulate tired nerves to overexertion or by narcotic influence soothe and deaden them, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food revitalizes the wasted nerve cells and so accomplishes lastingly beneficial results.

While modern and scientific in composition and preparation, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been on the market sufficiently long to prove in thousands of cases its extraordinary restorative and reconstructive power.

For men who are suffering from headaches, indigestion and sleeplessness, for women who besides these symptoms suffer from weaknesses and irregularities of the delicate feminine organism, for children who are pale, weak and puny, there is, we believe, no preparation extant which will bring about such satisfactory results as the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.



...having been an elder in the Presbyterian Church for over forty-five years.

In the work of the First Presbyterian Church at Port Hope he took the deepest interest and was ever ready to sacrifice himself for the good of others. Up to the very last his interest in the new church, now in course of erection, was intense. On the day before his death he paid his usual visit to see what progress was being made.

Mr. McNeillie's mother was a near relative of Jane Walsh Carlyle, the gifted wife of the illustrious Thomas Carlyle. Her early home was Shillingland, mentioned in Froude's "Reminiscences of the Ballogopher."

The Champlain Society.

The history of Canada is cultivated at the present time by Canadians, in a way that the general public has little idea of. For instance, there was formed in Toronto last year, a printing society to do for us what the Hakluyt, Camden, and other historical societies do for the Mother Country. It was only fitting that Canadian historical works that are rare and curious should be printed here, instead of across the line and labelled "American." Accordingly, a project was set on foot to secure two hundred subscribers at an annual subscription of ten dollars. In return, two volumes are to be ready for each subscriber each year. The society was to know no east and no west, no divisions of race or religion. It originated in "fanatic" Toronto; but it bears the name of the famous French explorer Champlain. It must gratify every good Canadian, French and English, to know that the Champlain Society is an assured success. The two hundred members have been secured, the annual income is certain, and it has been necessary to begin a waiting list.—Montreal Standard.

Where Divinity Students Labor.

The mission fields of western Canada and of New Ontario will be the scenes of the labors of most of the Knox College, Toronto, students for the next six months. These young men are sent out by the Knox Students' Missionary Society to introduce the Gospel into the newly-settled districts of Canada. In almost every case their work is pioneer in character, that is, their mission is to arouse sufficient religious zest in the communities to which they are sent to ensure the establishment of churches there. Every year new settlements are made in the Northwest, and the Knox students, in their efforts to implant religion among the rude settlers, are really contributing their mite to the upbuilding of our national character.

The Air of London.

There is no fresh air in the heart of London, according to the conclusions of a recent investigator. He says: "No evidence of ozone was anywhere apparent except at Brownswood park, in the northeast. It was from the northeast quarter the wind was blowing, and the air had lost all trace of ozone before it had reached Hyde park. At Bushey park, although practically a country district, no ozone was present in the air. London had not only abstracted the goodness out of the air that swept over it, but had added to it the exhalations from the breath and bodies of millions of human beings and of tens of thousands of animals. Persons living within a one or two mile radius of Charing Cross cannot have fresh air entering their dwellings at any time."

Parsee Burial Customs.

A Bombay correspondent, writing of the burial customs of the Parsees, says: "The approach of that transition we call death is a signal for the relatives to leave the presence of the dying one, the priest alone remaining to whisper Zend-Avesta precepts into his ear. He in turn passes out of the room and admits a dog, who is trained to gaze steadily into the face of the dying one. A dog is accounted the only living creature that can terrorize the evil spirits, so the 'nas-did,' or 'dog stare,' is the last sight the Parsee has on earth. No human shadow must intervene; otherwise the guardian virtue of the dog's gaze is annulled."

To Scrape an Acquaintance.

"To scrape an acquaintance" was originated by the Emperor Hadrian. Once when visiting the public bath he found an old veteran scraping himself with a piece of broken crockery in lieu of an iron or copper scraper. Hadrian gave him a sum of money to provide the necessary materials for a bath and on his next visit to the institution found it full of veterans scraping themselves with potsherds. "Scrape away, gentlemen, but you shall not scrape an acquaintance with me," was Hadrian's comment as he went out.

The Poet's Inconsistency.

"You speak of the brooks," said the critic as he looked over his friend's poem, "as the most joyous things in nature."

"So they are," said the poet.

"But you are inconsistent."

"Why?"

"Because later on you say they are ever murmuring."

Dodging Him.

Mr. Borem—I didn't see you last Sunday—" Miss Cutting—Oh, you must have if you saw me at all! Mr. Borem—I—er—beg pardon. I don't understand. Miss Cutting—I say if you saw me Sunday you must have seen me last, for I was careful to see you first.

BRITISH POSTAL SAVINGS.

System Started In 1855 With 435 Depositors—Number Now Reaches 9,403,852 In United Kingdom.

Great Britain's postal savings banks to-day hold deposits aggregating nearly $1,000,000,000.

The banks were established in 1855 after the disastrous failure of many private banks. Three hundred stations were opened at the beginning and on the first day 435 working men deposited in all $5,000.

Penny banks followed, and school banks came as a matter of course, finding the children eager to start an account in their own names.

To-day there are 14,262 postoffice savings banks in the United Kingdom, with 9,403,852 depositors. Taking the population of Great Britain and Ireland at 40,000,000, it proves that one person in every four and a half has deposits, and that the average amount per person is $77.70.

Every class is represented among the depositors, and the fisherman often elbows the clerk at the postoffice.

The advantage to the public are: First, the absolute security from loss; second, the convenience of making deposits; third, the ease of repayment which is not affected by change of residence; fourth, safety against personation and fraud; fifth, the prevention of poverty by the development of thrift; sixth, the ready means where no other banks exist, of a safe deposit; seventh the education of the young and untrained to the knowledge of the use and management of money; eighth, the tendency to discourage reckless and speculative expenditures.

The advantages to the country itself group themselves under seven headings: First, the people receive the profits as interest on their savings when these are used as a public investment; second, the country's wealth is kept growing within itself; third, by the wide distribution of these savings money can promptly reach points needing it suddenly from local causes; fourth, in remote places stringency from too limited banking facilities is prevented or lessened; fifth, the laboring people feel a direct personal interest in the stability of the country; sixth, sectionalism among the less intelligent classes is lessened by continual and close touch with a common financial institution; seventh, by special investment, the people's savings may be made the foundation of securities for financial institutions, or loans for municipal improvements or special national undertakings

Cruel Elephant Hunters.

A correspondent of The London Times writes of elephant-hunting in Africa: "The most deadly method of killing elephants, and that most frequently employed by the natives of East Africa is the pit, sufficiently deep—roughly, 20 feet—long and wide to engulf and hold an elephant. After a period of frantic struggling, hunger and exhaustion the wretched animal is done to death by native spears. If the size and powers of the animal are remembered, it is difficult to imagine a more revolting, brutal picture of torture, but this is the common practice of the natives of the country, and is being enacted daily throughout British territory.

"A priest had taken out a sportsman's license ($250), with the object of building a church in the event of his hunting venture being successful. He shot a fine elephant, with heavy tusks, and while he was examining the animal natives appeared and claimed the tusks; the elephant belonged, they said, to their chief, Maquenda. To clinch their claims they asserted that the elephant had been lame, and pointed to a festering opening in the sole of one of its feet, extending up the leg.

"But the priest ascertained that the chief Maquenda had caused spearheads to be rigidly placed upright in the ground in the forest game paths for the purpose of laming elephants and so rendering them a prey to his hunters. This happy discovery put an end, at least for a time to this abominable measure, for the circumstances were reported to the authorities and the chief was punished."

Willing to Compromise.

An Englishman at a dinner once told a tale of a tiger he had shot which measured twenty-four feet from snout to tail tip. Every one was astonished but no one ventured to insinuate a doubt of the truth of the story. Presently a Scotchman told his tale. He had once caught a fish which, he said, he was unable to pull in alone, managing only to land it at last with the aid of six friends. It was a skate, and it covered two acres." Silence followed this recital, during which the offended Englishman left the table. The host followed. After returning he said to the Scotchman: "Sir, you have insulted my friend. You must apologise." "I dinna insooit him," said the Scot. "Yes you did, with your two acre fish story You must apologise. "Well," said the offender slowly, with the air of one making a great concession, "tell him I will take ten feet off that tiger I will see what I can do with the fish."

Out of the Public.

When I was a very little boy, writes Sir William Gregory in his autobiography, my grandfather, who was then undersecretary for Ireland, took me to the chief secretary's room in Dublin castle and formally introduced me to Lord Melbourne.

After I had been with him for some little time he said, "Now, my boy, is there anything here you would like?"

"Yes," I answered, pointing to a very large stick of sealing wax.

"That's right," said Lord Melbourne, pressing on me a bundle of pens; "begin life early. All these things belong to the public, and your business must always be to get out of the public as much as you can."

Omens of Bricklayers.

Bricklayers believe it is unlucky to lay the top brick at the north corner of a building. Some of them would lose a day's pay rather than imperil their future by doing such a piece of work. A bricklayer often bricks up in the hollow of a wall a horseshoe with a cent tied to it. This he does for good luck. To lay the first and last brick of any building but a church brings good luck to the bricklayer. Churches are the luckiest buildings to work on; theaters are the unluckiest. It is bad luck to break a trowel.

Corroborative.

"This," exclaimed the orator, "is a decadent nation! As before the fall of Rome everything was rotten, so today in our erstwhile fair land everything"—Just here an egg struck him fairly. His nostrils dilated.

"I desire," he continued, "before retiring to add that this egg is corroborative evidence."

Three-Quarters Of San Francisco Is Now In Ruins

But The Fires Have at Last Been Brought Under Control—Pressing Danger Now is Lack of Food---Looters And Other Law-Breakers Are Promptly Shot---Miraculous Escape of Eleven Postal Clerks Buried in Debris For Three Days---Many Generous Subscriptions Tendered Dominion of Canada Gives $100,000.

San Francisco, April 21.—Mayor Schmits issued the following proclamation yesterday:

"To the citizens of San Francisco: The fire is now under control and all danger is passed. The only fear is that other fires may start should the people build fires in their stoves, and I therefore warn all citizens not to build fires in their homes until the chimneys have been inspected and repaired properly. All citizens are urged to discontinuance the building of fires. I congratulate the citizens of San Francisco upon the fortitude they have displayed and I urge upon you the necessity of aiding the authorities in the work of relieving the destitute and suffering. For the relief of those persons who are encamped in the various sections of the city, everything possible is being done. In Golden Gate Park, where there are approximately 200,000 homeless persons, relief stations have been established. The spring Valley Water Co. has informed me that the mission district will be supplied with water this afternoon, between 10 and 12 million gallons daily being available. Lake Merced will be taken by the federal troops."

City Will Be Restored.

Mayor Schmits sent a telegram to President Roosevelt, saying:

"General contributions of $1,000,000 from the Federal Givernment for relief of the destitute persons received and deeply appreciated. The people overwhelmed by your generosity. All of this money will be used for relief purposes. Property owners determined to rebuild as soon as fire ceases. City will immediately proceed to provide capital for the purpose of reconstructing public buildings, schools, jails, the hospitals, sewers and salt and fresh water systems. The people hope that the Federal Government will at once provide ample appropriations to rebuild all Federal buildings on a scale benefiting the new San Francisco. We are determined to restore to the nation its chief port on the Pacific."

To Avert Famine.

The grave question is: "How soon will an adequately supply of food arrive from outside points to avert famine and destitution? There is little food in San Francisco outside of what little each person possesses, and this cannot last more than a few days. San Francisco geographically is an isolated city. Its nearest neighbor on the south is Los Angeles, 500 miles away. To the north is Portland, nearly 800 miles distant, and its nearest sister in the great east is Salt Lake City, 1,000 miles away. These cities and all of the less populated nearer towns are making sacrifices for the destitute here, but it is to the big cities of the nation that San Francisco looks with anxiety for relief."

Mayor Schmitz looked weary yesterday, but was energetically at work at his desk, though he had had little or no sleep. A policeman reported that two grocery stores in the neighborhood were closed, although the clerks were present. "Smash the stores open," ordered the mayor, "and guard them."

Seizing Supplies.

The seizure of supplies coming in on the trains by the relief committee has been authorized by the mayor. The relief committee yesterday seized a carload of flour containing 310 sacks. A carload of ice also was seized for the hospitals. A carload of potatoes also was taken.

Livermore sent in a wagon load of butter yesterday. Winters also has notified the committee that there is a carload of hams, butter and eggs on its way here from that locality. Other cities are sending supplies. At present the supply stations is emptied as fast as goods are received.

Sixty carloads of provisions, clothing and other supplies for the San Francisco sufferers left Los Angeles yesterday and last night. Supplies are piled high at Fort Depots, people bringing offerings in endless procession. The Santa Fe Railroad sent a trainload of provisions with instructions to take on additional carloads of supplies along the way to San Francisco.

Quarter of City Saved.

At 2 p. m. it was positively stated that the fire was under control with the probability that one-quarter of the city lying west of Franklin street and known as the western addition, northward to the Presidio, will be served. The stand made at Vanness avenue generally was successful, the flames crossing that avenue to the west in only a few places. Two men were shot and killed yesterday morning. Policeman Flood, on entering his home, encountered a stranger, who attacked him. Flood shot him dead.

Killing Law-Breakers.

Special Policeman Snyder killed a man, but the details are not known.

Fourteen men were killed Thursday night by soldiers guarding the mint, and Policeman Jos. M. Myers was bayonetted by a national guardsman over a dispute as to authority. The men at the mint were killed for attempting robbery.

Recovering the Dead.

From a three-storey lodging house at 50th and Minna street, which collapsed Wednesday morning, more than 75 bodies were taken out yesterday. There are 50 other dead bodies in sight in the ruins. This building was one of the first to take fire on 50th street.

At least 100 persons were killed in the Cosmopolitan on 40th street.

Many persons dropped dead yesterday of heat and suffocation.

More than 150 persons are reported dead in the Brunswick Hotel, 7th and Mission streets.

Citizens Forced to Dig Graves.

Portsmouth square yesterday became for a time a public morgue. Twenty or thirty corpses were laid upon the trodden grass in the absence of more suitable accommodations. Out at the Presidio soldiers pressed into service all men who came near and forced them to aid in burying the dead. So thick were the corpses piled up that they were becoming a menace, and early in the day the order was issued to bury them at any cost. The soldiers were needed for other work, so, at the point of rifles, the citizens were compelled to take to the work of burying. Some objected at first, but the troops stood no trifling, and every man who came in reach was forced to work at least one hour. Rich men, unused to physical exertion, labored by the side of working men, digging trenches in which to bury the dead.

A Miraculous Escape.

Eleven postal clerks, all alive, were taken from the debris of the postoffice yesterday. All at first were thought to be dead, but it was found that although they were buried among the stones every one was alive. They had been for three days without food or water. All the mail was saved.

All Letters Free.

It is announced that until further notice letters from San Francisco will be sent through the mails free of postage. This has been made necessary on account of the unprecedented demand for stamps, which the local postoffice cannot supply.

Messages are stacked yards high in all the telegraph offices waiting to be sent throughout the world.

Back to Work.

Construction companies have opened employment offices, and last night hundreds of survivors have been employed to be sent immediately to the quarries that there may be no lack of building and repair material. Already many of the buildings damaged by the earthquake of Wednesday are being repaired, and activity of a healthy and reassuring sort is noted.

50,000 Camp at Presidio.

At the Presidio military reservation, where probably 50,000 persons are camped, affairs are conducted with military precision. Water was plentiful and rations were dealt out all day long. The refugees stand patiently in line, and there is not a murmur. This characteristic is observable all over the city. The people are brave and patient, and the wonderful order preserved by them has been of great assistance.

CANADA TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Practical Proof of the Sympathy of the Canadian People.

Ottawa, April 21.—The first business transacted by the House upon assembling yesterday was to give practical proof of the sympathy of the Canadian people with the sufferers by the great catastrophe at San Francisco. The Minister of Finance, as a matter of emergency, with the cordial approval of both sides of the House, presented a special message from his Excellency, transmitting for the consideration of the House a special supplementary estimate for $100,000 in aid of the sufferers.

The occasion of the presentation of a message from his Excellency is, in accordance with Parliamentary practice, a mere formal proceeding, the message being received by the House standing, and without discussion. In this instance Mr. Fielding varied the procedure by making a preliminary explanation of the nature of the message. He asked the consent of the House to present a matter which he was assured both sides of the House would regard as one of emergency. Reference had already been made in the House to the disaster which had come to one of the great cities of the neighboring republic. Sufficient information had reached Canada through the press to convince the House of the extent of the disaster and the need of prompt assistance not only from the people of the United States, but other parts of the world. "We," he said, "in this Parliament, representing the people inhabiting the northern portion of the continent, are glad to share the opportunities of ministering to the comfort and welfare of our afflicted brethren of the south. I propose, therefore, at the conclusion of any observations which honorable gentlemen may desire to make, to present a message from his Excellency recommending a contribution of $100,000 from the people of Canada to aid the afflicted people of San Francisco." (Cheers.)

The Opposition Concur.

Mr. R. L. Borden, on behalf of the Opposition, said that the disaster was one the extent of which almost staggered belief. Occasions in the past had occurred when the people of Canada have received substantial proof of the sympathy of the people of the United States in time of disaster to Canadian citizens and Canadian cities. He wished, in endorsing the proposal of the Finance Minister, merely to add that in the presence of an appalling disaster such as this, and for the purpose of rendering aid and succor to the suffering people, the two nations were one. (Cheers.)

Mr. Fielding then presented the Governor-General's message, which was immediately referred to Committee of Supply.

At London, England, the U. S. Ambassador last evening presided over a gathering of 500 Americans in the Hotel Cecil and $125,000 was subscribed. A British subscription will be opened.

At New York yesterday over $1,000,000 was subscribed, $3,000,000 will be raised.

The Salvation Army will take up a three-days' street collection in all the cities.

The Barnum and Bailey Circus will send out 100 wagons to collect supplies.

E. H. Harriman, on behalf of his railway interests, authorizes the expenditure of $200,000 on relief work.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce has contributed $25,000.

Sacramento, Cal., April 21.—President Jordan, in an address to the students after the shock, asked them to remain at Stanford and help clear the debris. He said that the university did not depend entirely upon its buildings. The damage at the university approximates $4,000,000."

Oakland, Cal., April 21.—A landslide on Loma Prieta mountain, buried nine men alive in their cabins at the Hinckley Creek Mill, of the Loma Prieta Lumber Co. Another fatal landslide occurred at Deer Creek mill, where two men were caught in their cabins and killed.

Suffer From Similar Cause.

CUTICURA REMEDIES WORK WONDERS

"As I was a sufferer with eczema I write to tell you what a great friend I found in Cuticura Remedies. In six months I had tried three doctors, but did not get any better. It was on my body and on my feet so thick that I could hardly put a pin on me without touching eczema. My face was covered, my eyebrows came out, and then it got in my eye. I then went to another doctor. He asked me what I was taking for it, and I told him Cuticura. He said that was a very good thing, but that he thought that my face would be marked for life. But Cuticura did its work and my face is now just as clear as it ever was.

"My brother-in-law told me about the wonderful Cuticura remedies. I took his advice and got the Ointment, Soap, and Resolvent. I washed with the Cuticura Soap and then applied the Ointment, and took Cuticura Resolvent as directed. In a short time my face began to get better, and when I had taken one bottle of Resolvent I could brush the scales off my face like a powder. When I had taken four bottles my face was as clear as ever.

"I told all my friends about my remarkable cure. I feel so thankful I want everybody far and wide to know what Cuticura can do. It is a sure cure for eczema. (signed) Mrs. Emma White, 641 Cherrier Place, Camden, N. J., April 25, 1905."

School Needs Of West Ward Are Being Neglected

A Citizen From the West Gives His Views on the Proposal to Spend $35,000 in the South End While Ignoring Needs of the West Ward—Building There is Antiquated—School Population Increased But no More Accommodation.

Last evening a resident of the west ward called upon the Examiner, and gave expression to his views on the proposal of the Board of Education to erect a $35,000 school, in the south ward. He stated that he did not care to write a letter to the press, not that he was afraid to give his views over his name, but if he commenced writing letter he would have to continue a controversy, which he had no time for.

His opinion was that it was a crying shame that the Board of Education should ever think of spending the sum of money suggested for a school in the south ward, when the conditions of the school building in the west ward was considered. It was erected nearly 35 years ago and is not almost utterly unfit for the purpose to which it is being put. It is heated by antiquated means, and taken altogether, to call it a modern school is a misnomer.

At the time this school was erected the school population in the ward was 60 per cent. less than it is at present, there are at least 60 per cent. more buildings there now than at that time, while the assessment of the ward has likewise increased by at least the same proportion. The resident referred to stated that taking the city generally, there was a larger assessment in the west ward in proportion to the value of school buildings than in any other ward in Peterborough, and in spite of this fact; in spite of the fact that in the past fifteen years the health of perhaps hundreds of children attending the school had been perhaps, permanently affected, the Board proposed to ignore the conditions existing there and spend $35,000 for a school in the south end, anticipating the requirements at least fifteen years.

The money to provide for the sinking fund and interest to pay the debenture debt will have to be paid by the ratepayers generally, and while the children in the west ward have totally inadequate school accommodation, the Board is spending money extravagantly in another part of the city.

A twelve-roomed school, in his opinion, so far removed from the centre of population of the ward, is ridiculous. His idea is that a four or six-roomed school should be built farther north, and place a school in the south when the population needs it. The people of the west ward have been in need of a new school for the past ten years, and what did they get in return for waiting all those years? While the west ward has increased in population rapidly and the assessment has increased correspondingly with a proportionate increase in taxes While the ratepayers there pay the bulk of the taxes their school accommodation remains the same as it was years ago.

The Evidences Point To Dillon's Guilt

Further Details of the Death of Miller Near Kirkfield—Two Men Cutting Wood When Deed Was Committed—Victim Was Former Inmate of House of Refuge at Lindsay—Dillon Placed Under Arrest.

A Lindsay despatch says: Further particulars are to hand in reference to the horrible occurrence which took place six miles from Kirkfield, in Cardan Township, on Tuesday. They are as follows:

It seems that on that morning McNulty, the owner of the farm, sent Miller out to chop wood, while he himself went out to the barn to feed some swine, Dillon remaining in the house. A short time after, McNulty came to the door of the barn, and, happening to look towards the house, saw Miller lying down among the wood and chips. Running to his aid, he found him in a pool of blood, which was flowing from two severe cuts on the back of the head, evidently made with the blade of the axe.

McNulty shouted for Dillon, who was in the house, and asked, "What is the matter with this man?" Dillon came to the door and said something to the effect that Miller had fainted or sat himself, and then he walked back into the house, where he laid down on a lounge, and remained there while McNulty hitched up his horse, told the neighbours, and drove to Kirkfield, where he got Police Magistrate McCrae, who afterwards arrested Dillon at the house and put him in the lock-up.

Dillon is a brother-in-law of McNulty, and is a large, husky fellow, some 35 or 40 years of age, while the deceased, Miller, was a man of small frame and rather weak-minded, he having been in the Lindsay House of Refuge for a few days, when he ran away and walked back to Kirkfield. Both men were unhired help, but did chores for Mr. McNulty on the farm.

Dr. J. W. Wood, coroner, and Crown Attorney Devlin leave for Kirkfield to-night to hold an inquest and further particulars will be published later.

Fury Of The Flames Spent; Better News Comes To-day From Fated City, San Francisco

Fire Under Control, But Disease and Sickness Now are to be Dreaded---Thieves Attempt to Loot Treasury of $300,000,000---35 are Shot Dead---Gen. Funston Reports That Water Supply Will Soon be Sufficient---Statement That Smallpox and Typhoid Fever Had Broken Out---Dead are Being Burned and Buried in Trenches.

To-day's despatches from San Francisco seem to indicate that the fury of the demon of flame has been spent, and from now on better news may be looked for. At least one-quarter of the city will apparently be saved.

A wire this morning stating that smallpox and typhoid fever had broken out in the city has not been confirmed, and there seems little reason to think that this can be true to any extent, although undoubtedly there will be much sickness, and an official despatch to the War Department at Washington anticipating such a condition.

Anxiety has been felt as to safety of the ferry building and wharves between which communication is made with the mainland, but it was a great relief to learn that the building was saved largely through the services rendered by the tug boats and steamers.

An effort made to rob Sub-Treasury of its store of $300,000,000 in gold was frustrated by the militia, and in the engagement thirty-five men were shot.

The world now will wait eagerly for the list of the 600 persons estimated dead. All over there are persons who have relatives and until they hear from them they will naturally be alarmed Doubtless it will be difficult, perhaps impossible to ever give a complete list of the dead.

Supplies are being hurried to the scene of the disaster, and everything that can be done is being done for the sufferers.

G. N. W. Despatches.

Burning Dead Bodies.

New York, April 21.—The Western Union Telegraph Company received the following from its office, foot of Market street, San Francisco, early to-day:—"The fire is still burning around the wharves. The Ferry Building is safe. It is still difficult to estimate the number of dead, as bodies are scattered all over the city. They are burning them in trenches and putting fifteen bodies in a ditch.

Shocks in Italy.

Rome, April 21.—Thirteen earthquake shocks were felt in succession this morning in the Province of Siena, Tuscany. Several buildings were damaged, including the City Hall at Poggobonni, 19 miles south of Florence.

Much Sickness Expected.

Washington, April 21.—The following despatch from General Funston, San Francisco, Cal., to the War Department at 5.40 o'clock this morning: Fire is making no progress to the west from Vaness avenue. West wind of considerable force beginning. Indications now that all that part of the city east of Vaness avenue and north of the bay will be destroyed. Apprehension is felt as to the post of Fort Mason, but believed we can save it. It will be impossible at once to establish proper sanitary conditions. Much sickness must necessarily be expected. If the city to the west now standing, remains intact, there are many good buildings that can be used as hospitals. The Spring Valley water people believe they can deliver from ten million to twelve million daily. This with other sources will prevent a water famine.

Ferry Dock Safe.

San Francisco, April 21. — There is no immediate danger from fire as far as the ferry dock is concerned, as the wind has died down, and several warships and tugs are pouring water from the bay on the flames, which are quite a distance from the ferry building, where the Western Union Telegraph Office is located. The building is now quite safe and there is no immediate danger from fire..

Attempt to Rob.

New York, April 21st. — A Journal item says that an attempt was made in San Francisco to rob the sub-treasury of its $300,000,000. Some thirty-five of the guculs were shot by the soldiers who kept watch.

Heintz & Co's Wires.

New York, April 21.—A newspaper man who left San Francisco last night says that small pox and typhoid fever have broken out, and that conditions are growing something awful. It is very probable, he said, that the whole city of San Francisco will be placed under quarantine to-day and those who failed to get away last night will have to stay until the quarantine is raised.

In the news summary to Messrs. Heintz & Co., are the following:—

Better news from San Francisco, indicating smaller damage than was anticipated and lighter loss of life. Atchison losses by Frisco fire will probably not exceed $150,000.

Southern Pacific losses are small.

The Federal Government will rebuild all Government buildings in San Francisco.

Bradstreet's says San Francisco disaster has had a sobering effect on the entire country.

Mayor's Message.

San Francisco, April 21. — Mayor Schmitz issued the following proclamation to the citizens of San Francisco:—The fire is now under control and the danger is past.

New York, April 21.—The following message was received from General Funston this morning:—

The fire is making no progress throughout the west from Van Ness avenue. A west wind of considerable force is beginning. Indications are that part of the district south of Van Ness avenue and north of the bay will be destroyed. The water supply is encouraging.

Washington, D.C., April 21. The war department this morning received the following bulletin, sent by a Western Union telegraph operator: "San Francisco, 5 a.m.—There seems to be no immediate changes from fire. Wind has died down and several warships and tugs are now pouring water from the bay on the flames.

The Grand Trunk Will Investigate Both Routes

Deputation from Warsaw Board of Trade Waits on the Officials--An Encouraging Answer Given by Mr. Fitz Hugh--Mr. Edward Hawthorne Tells of Resources of Dummer and Douro.

The deputation sent by the Warsaw Board of Trade to the Grand Trunk authorities in Montreal in connection with the proposed new railway line, arrived home this morning with encouraging reports.

The representatives were E. Hawthorne, President; Dr. Douglas, Secretary, and Wasson Lynn, Treasurer, and on Thursday morning had a lengthy interview with Mr. Fitz-Hugh, third vice-president of the Grand Trunk, Montreal.

Mr. FitzHugh, after hearing of the resources of the district of the two proposed routes, and the many advantages to be gained, was very much in favour of the scheme, and promised to send the general traffic manager in the near future to investigate both routes, and will report his investigations to the authorities, and all depends on this report.

In presenting the question, the deputation pointed out that it was not only to meet the wants of the people who would be benefitted by the railway, but also that it was to the interests of the Grand Trunk to hold the traffic with the lakes to the north. Two routes were proposed—one from Lakefield, through Douro to McCracken's Landing, via Warsaw, and the other from East City along the valley which runs all the way to Warsaw, and thence to McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake.

Mr. FitzHugh was more impressed by the latter route, as it was the more direct to the lakes, no bridges were necessary to be built, and a smoother road would be the result.

Resources of the District.

Mr. Hawthorne, when spoken to by the Examiner this morning, was greatly pleased with the reception tendered the deputation while in Montreal, and there was no question, he said, as to the onward march of Warsaw. He also referred to the resources of that section of the county, many of them now dormant for lack of better transportation facilities.

Dummer and Douro are two of the best agricultural districts in the county, and the grain traffic itself is immense. On either of the proposed routes are situated five cheese factories, which export about 8,000 cheese yearly, which in round numbers would benefit the farmers to the extent of some $75,000 each year. These factories are Maple Leaf, Warsaw, Warminster, North Dummer and Stony Lake. The stone quarry just beyond Warsaw contains all manner of building stones, varying in thickness from six inches to six feet. It is a number of years since the quarries there have been operated, and should a railway be opened these would immediately be re-opened.

Warsaw contains one of the best flour mills in the county, and also the only tannery in the County of Peterborough. There are also three sawmills along the Indian River, manufacturing yearly thousands of feet of lumber.

Long Lake, which is situated about two miles to the northwest of Warsaw, is capable of producing 1,000 horse power. In that district there are five falls, the most important being that at the head of Quarry Lake, which has a fall of 30 feet, and one at the foot of the same lake.

With these resources, besides traffic in cattle, hogs, implements, wood, timber, and numberless other things, Mr. Hawthorne considered that a railway through to Stony Lake would be a proposition of great benefit to the Grand Trunk and the people affected by its line, as it would open up that vast intervening country, part of which has for so long remained inert.

Much Smoke, But Very Little Fire

Excitement Caused in the I. O. O. F. Building This Afternoon.

Considerable excitement was caused in the I. O. O. F. Building this afternoon, when dense smoke began to circulate through the halls and rooms greatly to the alarm of the inmates. A call was sent to the brigade, who responded at once, but for some time could not find the source of the smoke. A thorough examination of the building resulted in no fire being found. Still "Il n'y a gas fume sans feu," and a shopper missing a pipe hole at the top of the building explained the trouble, which was caused by smoke from the furnace in Adams' store. No damage was caused.

Preston Property Now Transferred

Passed into the Hands of the County To-Day.

The Property Committee of the County Council met this afternoon in the office of Mr. E. A. Peck, County Solicitor, for the purpose of effecting the official transfer of the Preston Property to the County Council.

Those present besides Mr. Peck were Warden Johnston, Councillor Garbutt and Mr. Preston. All the papers in connection with the transfer have now been signed and sealed, and the Preston property to-day passed into the hands of the County Council as the official site of the new House of Refuge.

Property Owners Coy About Naming Their Terms

Extension of George Street is Blocked by Action of Several Land Owners—No Agreement Was Reached at Last Night's Meeting of the Board of Works.

A meeting of the Board of Works was called last night to endeavour to come to agreement with the property owners through whose property the proposed extension of George street must run. The meeting, in a great measure, was a failure, as no agreement was reached with two out of the three property owners at the central and northern portions of the streets. The owners of the park lots south of the others, have come to terms with the committee at a previous meeting, and it remained only to win over the other property owners. One of these, Mr. D. W. Dumble, left the room without coming to any agreement. Mr. N. T. Laplante, another of those most interested, was unable to name his terms at last night's meeting. The committee was, however, successful in obtaining from the third man, Mr. D. Oliver, a renewal of his offer of 1905.

Those present were: Ald. Hicks, in the chair, Ald. Adams, Tovey, Elliott, Graham, Wilson, McIntyre, Johnston and Mayor Best.

The chairman explained to the property owners present that at a meeting some time ago the owners of the park lots to the south had given the city a right of way, and had agreed upon a plan of extension. The meeting had been called to the plan proposed. The city to state their views.

Mr. Dumble very strongly objected to allow the others interested was laying out this street in the interests of men who made slight sacrifices for it. Their land was no good to them unless they had streets. "I have given you two or three streets, and got nothing," said Mr. Dumble. "You have sacrificed me by leaving thirty feet of my land worth nothing. I will get every farthing I can out of it."

Ald. Adams — "The people who granted the right of way should be given more consideration than those who ask to be paid."

"We can't have it where both parties want it," said the chairman, "but the street must be opened."

Ald. Adams suggested that the road be run straight through Mr. Dumble's property, and then take a jog, being widened out to 66 feet.

"What do you want for the whole property?" Mr. Dumble was asked.

"I want all I can get!" was the reply.

"Are you prepared to give the right of way free if you get your way?" asked the Mayor.

Mr. Dumble would not agree with that, and left the meeting, saying as he took his departure, "You can settle with Mr. Laplante and 'and I will settle with you afterwards."

"We can't build this street to suit everyone," said the chairman.

The committee then tried to come to an agreement with Mr. Laplante but that gentleman was not however in a position to name his terms. He wanted to see the street extended, because he liked to see the town go ahead.

"Will you make an offer?" asked Ald. Adams.

"No; I can't to-night," replied Mr. Laplante.

"Would you renew your offer of two years ago?" he was asked.

"No; if I had changed my mind I would have left my option there," was the reply.

Mr. Oliver who owns property on Wescott street was more easily dealt with, and the committee persuaded him to renew the offer made last year.

Nothing more could be done with the question last night.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The appalling San Francisco disaster has naturally aroused intense interest among the people of Peterborough, especially those having friends or acquaintances in the shaken city; and the Examiner's efforts to present the latest and fullest news has been greatly promoted through the kindness of Mr. John Barber, manager of Messrs. Heintz & Co., brokers. He has most obligingly placed his bulletins from the seat of the disaster at the disposal of the Examiner and through it, of the Examiner's readers. While our telegraphic press service has been excellent, that was a matter of course, it is their business to supply despatches. But the courtesy of Mr. Barber and his principals is as a courtesy worthy of the warmest acknowledgment, which all our readers join the Examiner in extending. It is to be hoped that a similar courtesy may never be required for a similar cause.

DR. E. FREDERICK'S CONSULTING ROOMS

Dr. E. Frederick will open consulting rooms at 191 Brock street, where he will be found after Wednesday next at regular office hours. He will, however, still maintain his ordinary office and residence on the east side of the river, but will remove them to Hunter street, next door to Lang's drug store. Dr. Frederick is making this change on account of the increase in his out-of-town and west side connection.

WELCOME NEW SUBJECTS.

The Brantford Expositor calls attention to a duty which confronts Canadians, in reference to their relations to the new citizens which are entering our country so plentifully. It is palpably out duty to welcome them kindly and make them feel that their new home is their own in as large a sense as applies to our place in the country. We have invited them, we need them. They are necessary to our growth and prosperity. Accustomed to the measured round of simple things in their native land, they suddenly find themselves aliens under an unfamiliar sky. All the sights and sounds and accents are strange. All the security which they found in the old life is gone. They are fronting a new environment. The sense of loneliness oppresses them. Many of what we call the 'foreign' immigrants hear the accents of a strange tongue. They look wistfully into the faces of the people they meet. They would fain be comforted. Thousands of them are coming from Central Europe and Russia and have yet to learn to grow up into the vigorous manhood of a young democracy. In order that the best results may be secured from the policy of immigration that is being followed in this Dominion, the citizenship of the country in every possible way should aid the new comers in the fostering of a home feeling for Canada. While Canada may be the guiding star towards which the pilgrims of the earth will come, the splendid spectacle of a united country and a contented and prosperous people should not fade from view.

THE COMING OF THE KING.

The Dominion Parliament in inviting King Edward to visit Canada, has done a graceful act, which will in all probability, however, end in being an act of courtesy. The King is sixty-five years of age, and it is not probable that he will contemplate willingly so long a journey, and the hail of addresses that would in all certainty cast their platitudinous shadow over every moment of his stay with us. The journey, however, is not the formidable thing it was when as Prince of Wales, King Edward VII. came to Canada. It is hardly more to be now dreaded in the year 1906, than crossing the channel was in 1860. It would be a happy thing if the King could come. He would see in Canada a development and growth, which would give him a new idea of the importance of the dominions beyond the seas, over which he rules. Forty-six years have ripened the stripling prince of those days into the greatest, most prudent, and most honoured of living monarchs, and the same time has developed his greatest possession into one of the most stalwart, progressive and promising of young national giants on the globe. His Majesty's welcome, if he visits Canada would not consist in mere acclaim; he would be welcomed by a young nation emerging into national manhood; welcomed with evidences of growth and progress, which would be astounding to him in their extent and significance of future potentialities.

NICE HAIR FOR ALL.

Once Destroy the Dandruff Germ, and Hair Grows Luxuriantly.

Anyone can have nice hair if he or she has not dandruff which causes brittle, dry hair, falling hair and baldness. To cure dandruff it is necessary to kill the germ that causes it, and that is just what Newbro's Herpicide does. Cornelius Grew, Colfax, Wash., says:

One bottle of Newbro's Herpicide completely cured me of dandruff, which was very thick and it has stopped my hair from falling out."

It makes hair soft and glossy as silk; delightful odour and a refreshing hair dressing. It prevents the hair to grow abundantly and kills the dandruff germ.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps, for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

THE RECENT or rather present—for its results are still being effected—earthquake in California makes of interest anything contributing to a knowledge of the causes and courses of these stupendous manifestations of the tremendous forces working, warring and seething underneath the crust of the popularly regarded "firm set earth." As solid as the earth is a common form of comparison. The earth is not solid by any means, nor firm set, for it is practically an immense hollow sphere—hollow at least as compared with what we call the solid surface—with an interior of solid matter fused into a molten condition to be likened to the interior of the familiar foundry cupola, with its "melt" at casting heat.

NOR IS THE earth "firm set" as Shakspere describes it, for when an earthquake asserts itself the terrestrial tremour is often communicated across a continent as was the case in the San Francisco quake, when the Cyclopean force that up-heaved that unfortunate city, was felt in Toronto, 3,000 miles distant—a distance more than equal to a third of the earth's diameter, the seismographic ("Seismos," earthquake, and "graphein" to write) needle faithfully recording the dying yet distinct tremor impelled from San Francisco.

THE TERM "earthquake is applied to any tremor or shaking of the ground. Many earthquakes are so gentle as to pass unrecognised except by delicate recording instruments; others are sufficiently pronounced to excite general remark or alarm, without, however, causing any damage, while some wreak destruction over wide areas. Probably no part of the earth's crust is entirely free from vibration, but destructive earthquakes are, fortunately for the rest of the world, confined to comparatively limited areas. According to Mallet, the well known authority on seismology, the almost universal course of, so to speak, the symptoms in severe quakes is first a trembling, next a quick shock or several in succession with, in severe quakes, an upheaval of the earth in waves and lastly a trembling gradually, but for the most part, rapidly ceasing. In most cases each shock only lasts a few seconds—in San Francisco it was three minutes.

PHYSICISTS generally agree that an earthquake is a wave or true undulation of the earth-crust and the depth from which the impulse proceeds is from one and a half to five miles below the surface. The impulse from this centre spreads in all directions like widening circles in a disturbed surface of water, and the force of the impulse—the real earthquake force — manifests itself vertically above the point of origin of the impulse.

EARTHQUAKES are of most common occurrence in volcanic and mountainous regions — the difference between a volcano and an earthquake consisting broadly in the circumstance that the "impulse" mentioned above in the case of the volcano, has an open crater, through which its energy is expended, carrying with the masses of molten matter in the form of lava, or showers of ashes, as in the late Vesuvius upthrow. The "great belt of fire," which circles around the shores of the Pacific Ocean, mark out the most earth-shaken regions of the globe.

WHEN inquiry enters upon search of the causes of earthquakes, the field of conjecture is reached. Some earthquakes may be due to the collapse of underground cavities, while others may result from the sudden snapping of strata subjected to great strain, such as must occur during movements of elevation. The largest number probably arise from water passing through fissures to the underlying heated rocks, set into a white heat by the molten mass still further down, creating immense volumes of steam, of inconceivable force. Many earthquakes appear to originate in volcanoes themselves, and these, doubtless, are in like manner due to the explosion of elastic vapours. We cannot be surprised at the terrific force exerted when we consider the humanly irresistible force proceeding from the steam in the boiler of an eight or ten thousand horse power boiler. If a few pounds of burning coal acting upon a few barrels of water creates such tremendous force in a boiler, what must be the incomprehensible great force created from millions of tons of water, perhaps, suddenly converted into steam, by coming in contact with many square miles of molten matter!

MALLET, the authority previously quoted, considered an earthquake to be only an uncompleted and unsuccessful attempt of subterranean, or submarine, gasses or vapours, to find an outlet — if an outlet is found a crater is formed and a volcano is created. If no outlet is found we have an earthquake over the attempted point of exit, such as came to San Francisco on Wednesday morning. Many other causes or, rather, perhaps, contributory conditions, are given to account for earthquakes, but those connected with volcanic activity is the most generally accepted cause.

• • •

IN A WORD, an earthquake may be regarded as the labour pains of nature in an endeavour to give birth to a volcano.

Butter and Eggs Become Cheaper

Timothy Hay Has Reached $14 Per Ton.

The threatening rain clouds this morning were answerable for preventing a large number of the regular marketers from attending. As a result the outside market was not patronised as well as usual, but nevertheless the hall where, where the weather conditions were more favourable, was fairly well filled.

Vegetables were very conspicuous this morning, especially potatoes, which appeared to be in great demand. They sold at from 90c to $1 per bag.

The quantity of maple syrup is dwindling, as the season is about over. This morning only one can was present, and it was rapidly disposed of at $1.25 per gallon.

Veal was a little more plentiful than usual and was offered at 7 and 8c per lb for fore and hind quarters respectively. There was no beef or pork on this morning's market.

The price that hay has reached is surprising. Best timothy was selling this week at $14 per ton; and clover was offered at $12. The supply is not sufficient to meet the demand.

Butter and eggs were the prominent articles in the market hall; both are lessening up in price — the former generally sold at 23c lb. and the latter at 15c per dozen.

Chickens could not be had at any price.

The following were to-day's prevailing quotations:

THE TESTIMONY OF THOSE WHO KNOW

An Ontario Man Tells of His Experience with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and How They Cured Him of Indigestion.

Mr. A. D. Miller, of Tomstown, Ont., says:

"For many years I suffered from Indigestion and could not find any cure. My doctor treated me for liver complaint, but instead of getting better I grew worse. My appetite was very irregular. I would bloat so much after eating that my stomach was constantly in pain. I had palpitation and my heart would beat so violently that I thought I should drop, and I was so bad I could hardly get around. I was persuaded to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and after taking a few I felt better. I persevered with them, and now I am pleased to say I am quite cured, and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have done it."

Such a statement as this cannot help but carry conviction with it, and sufferers from Indigestion should follow Mr. Miller's example and take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets if they wish to get cured.

WEDDING BELLS

BRUCE—BRIMMEL

A pretty Easter wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mrs. Charlotte Brimmell, No. 2 Albert street, on Tuesday afternoon, April 17, when her third daughter, Matilda Miriam, was united in marriage to Mr. Norman F. Bruce, son of Mr. Wm. Bruce, Lindsay. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. E. Roberts, in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

The bride was prettily attired in a tailor-made suit of green ladies' cloth opening over a blouse of white Louisine silk, and was attended by her sister, Miss Edytho, who was prettily costumed in a tailor-made suit of light gray goods. Both carried bouquets of pink and white carnations. The groom was very ably supported through the pleasing ordeal by his brother, Mr. Stanley Bruce, of Galt.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many valuable and handsome presents, including a handsome parlour suit from the groom's personal friends. The happy couple left via G.T.R. for Montreal and points east. The Sylvester Band paraded to the home of the happy couple last night and serenaded. Mr. Bruce was a member of the band.—Lindsay Post.

He reports that the general quality of the seed being offered by the trade this year is much improved.

Missionaries Tell of Work and Life at Teulon

A Settlement in Northern Manitoba—Gallicians the Chief Inhabitants — Gospel Rapidly Spreading in the West—Western Canada Will be Home of World's Bread Stuffs—Money Needed to Propagate the Work.

AMERICANS CROSS THE BORDERLAND

Teulon, its people, and the work carried on by the missionaries there, was the subject of addresses given by Miss Bell and Miss Robinson at St. Paul's church last night.

These ladies are making a tour of Ontario for the purpose of getting the people of the Province interested in the welfare of Christianity among the foreigners who are yearly flocking into the great Northwest.

Teulon is a settlement in Manitoba, about 40 miles north of the city of Winnipeg, in a bush country. The inhabitants are mainly Gallicians, in whom the missionaries are most interested; yet also, Jews, Swedes and French are there in large numbers. Rev. Dr. Torrance introduced the speakers by a few remarks suitable to the occasion.

Miss Bell dealt with the topic of life in that district in an excellent manner, vividly portraying scenes of suffering and methods of conversion among the Gallicians. Although they are not very desirable citizens, Miss Bell remarked, they are here amongst Canadians, and they must be looked after. Their homes are small, poorly ventilated, and in an ill condition, and the people themselves are very careless in caring for the sick. Many of them, however, have high ideals of what is good. They are a very interesting people to work with, and are very teachable. When Dr. Hunter went there a few years ago he found conditions such that a hospital was absolutely necessary. Prejudice at first kept a great many away from that institution, but now it has become the important medium of converting the settlers to Christianity.

The Gallicians appreciate kindness and love and respond willingly when-ever these are extended to them. The missionaries there were very thankful for all clothing which had been sent them by their eastern friends. Their object is to have the boys and girls educated, and they must have clothing for them to wear to school. It was compensation enough for their labour, said Miss Bell, to know that they were building up a noble people from what these settlers first are, and she hoped the East would join with the West in the great work of spreading the gospel.

Miss Robinson spoke next, and explained what their work consisted of and why they were here.

The educational work of that race be-fore the missionaries in the place, and assistance must be received from outsiders in order to accomplish their plans. There are hundreds of places in the West that need missionaries and means to carry on the work of teaching the gospel. The foreigners are there to stay, and it is the duty of the church to make them as desirable Canadian citizens as possible. The missionary societies are making rapid strides to this end. It is reported that 125,000 Americans will cross the border this year, and there is much work to be done. It is a widely-known fact that the West is rich in resources. The territory there is able to support 100,000,000 people. It has been prophesied, said Miss Robinson, that the West in the future will be the home of the production of bread stuffs for the world. Canada will be second to none as a nation in years to come. All should be persistent in working together for God, and this will be the prominent step in producing the best results.

After the address, a solo was beautifully rendered by Miss Helen Davies, and devotional exercises closed the meeting.

CHILDHOOD'S PERILS.

The so-called soothing medicines contain poisonous opiates that deaden and stupefy but never cure the little ailments of children. Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to contain no opiate; they act on the stomach and bowels and thus remove the cause of nearly all the ills that afflict the little ones. In this way they bring natural, healthy sleep, and the child wakes up bright and well. Mrs. M. Weeks, Vernon, B.C., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and can cheerfully say that I have found them all that you claim for them." These Tablets are good for children of all ages from birth onward. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 25 cents a box, by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EASTER MONDAY HOP IN HAVELOCK

The hop in the Havelock town hall on Monday night, given by the local lodges of the Trainmen and Firemen, was a big success. A very large number were present, including guests from Toronto, Peterborough, Hastings, Campbellford, Norwood, Marmora, Smith's Falls and other points, and all enjoyed themselves hugely. The catering was first-class, and the lunch daintily served. Mr. Archie Moore, of this city, was the director of the dance.

STURDY FARMERS KEEP OFF ALL CATARRHAL ILLS BY TAKING PE-RU-NA.

Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

Pe-ru-na a Necessity in the Home.

J. B. Alexander, Publisher of the "Fruit and Floral Guide, A Magazine of Horticulture," published in Hartford City, Ind., says of Peruna:

"I was afflicted with catarrh of the throat and head for over ten years. I was treated by many physicians, but grew worse until I was seldom able to go out in cold weather.

"About one year ago I was advised to try Peruna, which I did, and I am now entirely well of the catarrh.

"Peruna is a necessity in our home. With the first symptoms of a cold we use it, and are never afflicted with catarrh.

"I advise all who are afflicted with catarrh to try Peruna. There is certainly nothing equal to it as a catarrh medicine."—J. B. Alexander.

Pe-ru-na is a Systemic Remedy.

If Peruna will cure catarrh in one place, it will cure it in any other place, because it is a systemic remedy.

Pe-ru-na Always on Hand.

Mr. Fred Schnell Lakeview, Erie Co., N. Y., writes:

"I had been a sufferer for more than thirty years with catarrh of the intestines. I had used a great deal of medicine to no avail, so I decided to try Peruna.

"I have now used thirteen bottles and can give you the joyful tidings that I have no more trouble. I always keep Peruna on hand."—Fred. Schnell.

The people generally are very much misinformed as to the nature of catarrh.

Catarrh is usually believed to be confined to the head, nose and throat. Latterly we sometimes hear of catarrh of the stomach and catarrh of the bladder. Seldom, if ever, do we hear of catarrh of any other organs.

It is not because these organs are not subject to catarrh, nor that catarrh of these organs is not a very common disease, but simply because it is not generally known that affections of these organs may be due to catarrh.

Had Catarrh Thirty Years.—Pe-ru-na Cured Him.

Mr. Gustav M. Schmidt, Spring Valley, Ill., writes:

"I had catarrh of the head and throat for over thirty years. It became worse every year.

"About three months ago I commenced to take Peruna and Manalin, and now I am entirely cured of that troublesome sickness. Your medicine is surely a blessing to mankind.

"You can truly say that you have not lived in vain, Doctor, and I thank you for the good you have done me. May you enjoy a long life to help suffering humanity."—Gustav M. Schmidt.

Dr. Hartman Makes Personal Use of Pe-ru-na.

In speaking of his own personal use of Peruna, Dr. Hartman says:

"For a number of years my professional duties have compelled me to be much on the road, traveling long distances by rail, night and day, exposed to all kinds of vicissitudes, sleeping and eating in different hotels continually, and through it all I have preserved myself from any derangement of the body resulting from catching cold.

"At the slightest evidence of a cold, a few doses of Peruna invariably checked it."

Pe-ru-na a Household Friend.

Mr. Henry Schroeder, Route 2, Napoleon, O., writes:

"I suffered for almost ten years with catarrh of the stomach and all doctoring was of no avail.

"I took nine bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin and am now entirely cured.

"I recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this disease. It is my household friend." -Henry Schroeder.

A Farmer's Talk to Farmers.

Before Dr. Hartman began the study of medicine he was a farmer boy. He was brought up on a farm in Southern Pennsylvania.

He belonged to that industrial, successful class of farmers known as the Pennsylvania Dutch, the best farmers in the world.

It was here that he early learned the lesson of pulling obnoxious things out by the roots.

Dr. Hartman's Method of Treating Catarrh.

Naturally, when he began the study of medicine his mind turned instinctively toward the removing of causes. He could not content himself with doctoring symptoms any more than his enterprising father could have contented himself by pulling off the tops of weeds to eradicate them from the soil.

The Doctor turned his attention early to the actions of removing the cause of diseases, believing that obnoxious symptoms would disappear if the cause of the disease was removed.

In other words, Dr. Hartman applied the common sense of the practical farmer to medicine, and after much experimentation Peruna was compounded.

The sensible farmer does not think of cutting off the tops of weeds to kill them. He pulls them up by the roots.

Dr. Hartman Interested in Farming

Notwithstanding Dr. Hartman's busy professional career, he still continues to be interested in farming. He is the owner and manager of one of the largest farms in the State of Ohio, with several thousand acres of the best tilled land in the Middle West, and with hundreds of the best blooded percheron horses ever imported or raised in this country.

Dr. Hartman relies upon Peruna entirely in case of sickness in his own family.

At Work on the Farm.—Praises Pe-ru-na.

Geo. H. Thompson, Raleigh, Miss., writes:

"I have been cured of catarrh by your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I had been affected with catarrh of the stomach about all my life, and was taken bad every spring and summer.

"I used several kinds of patent medicines, but they did me no good. I then took a treatment under an M. D., which did me but little good. By this time I had got where I could eat nothing but a little soup. I had severe pains, had lost in weight and could not do anything.

"I began taking your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I then weighed 126 pounds, but after taking 17 bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Manalin, I weighed 166 pounds.

"I am now at work on the farm and feel well all of the time. I eat all I want to and my friends say that I look better than ever before. I will ever praise Peruna for its healing power." Geo. H. Thompson.

SHORT SKETCH OF SHAKSPERE'S LIFE

Written in Honour of His 342nd Birthday, April 23rd, by Miss Jean Campbell, Keene.

It has often been said that we know practically nothing of Shakspere's life except that he was born at Stratford, wrote plays in London and died at Stratford at the age of fifty-two; and this being the case most of us have come to regard his character, both as a man and an artist, as inscrutable. But in reality the authentic records of Shakespere's life fill a volume.

The exact date of his birth is not known but April 22nd or 23rd is generally accepted. He was christened 26th April, 1564, and as tradition says that the day of his birthday, it is considered that the 23rd April is his birthday. His father was John Shakspere, a burgess and glover of Stratford. William was sent to the Free Grammar School of Stratford, where, as Ben Johnson says, he learned "small Latin and less Greek."

As his father became financially embarrassed, William was withdrawn from school, thus becoming early familiar with the humiliations of poverty. "Sweet are the uses of adversity." His precise employment in the interval between leaving school and leaving Stratford is a matter of conjecture. One says he was "bound apprentice to a butcher," another, that he was a "schoolmaster in the country," while still another says he was placed in an attorney's office, on account of his fondness for legal phraseology.

At the age of nineteen he married Anne Hathaway, a woman who was his elder by eight years, which not of imprudence may be forgiven on account of his youth. Worshippers of Shakespere are glad to say that the story of his early poaching, and imprisonment by Sir Thomas Lucy, rests on no certain evidence. However, there exists a ballad attributed by some to Shakespere, which lampoons Lucy, the chief point of it turning upon the fact that "luce" and "louse" were pronounced the same in rustic dialect. His love for drama was probably excited by witnessing the performance of some London companies who acted at Stratford while making provisional tours, his father being the first bailiff of the village to break through the prejudice against strolling players by licensing their performances.

He left Stratford for London, where he proved wonderfully steady and thrifty, being satirized as a "Jack-of-all-trades" — call-boy, actor, playwright, manager. He was a successful dramatist and through his energy and affection restored his father to a position of comfort.

There is no ground for the assertion that Shakspere was not duly appreciated during his life, and neglected afterwards. There is ample evidence that his popularity was immediate, and continuous. He was, perhaps, the only literary man of his time, who made a large fortune, and there is no poet, whose works, separately and collectively, have been so often reprinted. He was conscious of no high mission, or spiritual message to deliver. He gave no heed to the permanence of his fame, as he did not even publish his plays.

With one exception, he took the plots for his plays from others. Many of his plays, even of his masterpieces, notably "Hamlet," "Romeo and Juliet," and "The Merchant of Venice," are mere revisions of plays by obscure predecessors. Supreme as was his genius, he studied the changes of taste in his audience, and was content to follow into new fields upon the lead of others—"Perfecting so much, he originated next to nothing." Yet there was little question of plagiarism. When Moliere said he took his own wherever he found it he voiced the practice of centuries.

We know very little of the poet personally. Greene says: "It in the very grandeur of his genius which precludes us from discovering any personal trait in his works.

During all his life he looked forward to retiring at Stratford, which he did eventually, although he did not altogether leave London, and abandon his profession. However he retired for good between 1610 and 1612. On April 23, 1616, the world lost Shakspere, one of the greatest men God ever placed upon this sphere. He was buried in his birthplace, his grave being covered by a flat stone, bearing an inscription attributed to Shakspere himself:

Good frend, for Jesus' sake, forbeare
To digg the dust enclosed here;
Blest be the man that spares these stones,
And curst be he that moves my bones.

A TORONTO MAN TRIES SOMETHING NEW AND IS DELIGHTED, FEELS LIKE A BOY.

MR. M. N. DAFOE

Mr. M. N. Dafoe, Manager The Dustless Brush Co., 20 Colborne St., Toronto, is telling his friends how he found health after years of illness and pain. He says:

"I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia for many years, and have been treated by local doctors and have taken nearly all the advertised remedies, with only temporary relief, if any at all, but since using Anti-Pill I can eat any thing, the same as when a boy. I have been taking one Anti-Pill at bedtime for the past three months, and find they regulate both stomach and bowels. My old-time vigor has returned, so that my spirits are buoyant and temper normal. As a result of this unhoped for experience I am on duty bound to give all credit to this wonderful remedy, Anti-Pill."

Every druggist sells Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill, or a sample will be sent free by The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

The remedy that cured Mr. Dafoe so completely is surely worth a trial. 508

Cats and Husbands.

From the Kansas City Journal.

WOMEN ARE said to be queer, says Bent Murdock. The family cat, which was away two nights, came home with a split ear, a banged-up leg, and sore eye, and the woeman took him in, fed, coddled, and aniated him. That in a couple of days he was fairly comfortable. Suppose the man of the house, after staying out two nights, had returned home like the tomcat, what do you suppose would have happened to him?

What He Was There For.

From the Boston Herald.

A CERTAIN minister of Bangor, Me., joined a fishing party of his friends for two weeks in a woods camp. Sunday morning some of the boys wanted to go fishing, and got away without being seen by the minister; but one fellow, slower than the rest, was caught by the minister just as he was setting up his pole. The fisherman made excuses, and added, "I suppose you would not care to go?"

In answer, the minister told the following story: "When I was settled in the church at Diament, in the first years of my ministry, I was called out of bed one night to marry a couple who had both been bereft of their first partners by death. When I got to the place where I asked the man if he took this woman to be his lawful wife, he exclaimed, 'Look-a-here, parson, what in —— do you think I'm here for?'"

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—While it may be rather premature to discuss the matter, it seems to me that steps should be taken to prevent the rowdyism and obnoxious behaviour that has been prevalent in Jackson Park since that place has become a popular resort. Last season the objectionable conduct of the rougher element was most severely condemned by the respectable citizens and I think the authorities should provide more adequate means of protecting the decent people of Peterborough this summer.

Yours truly

The Best Method Dumping Dredging

A Question That is Causing the Board of Works Some Worry.

A question that is causing the Board of Works some worry just now is in regard to the best method of dumping the dredging from the river into the shallow pond between the C.P.R. siding to the Cereal Company's mills and the west bank. It had been suggested that a track be laid, upon which dump cars could be run. This method has its disadvantage in the fact that movable tracks would have to be provided to cross the C. P. R. tracks.

Chairman Hicks favours doing the work by means of dump carts. A hopper could be constructed from which the dredging could be dropped into the wagons beneath.

At the Board of Works meeting last night this suggestion met with the approval of the aldermen present, and it is likely that it will be carried out. The matter was left in the hands of the chairman.

Baraca Class Hold Banquet

A Delightful Social Evening Spent at Murray Street

The Baraca Literary and Debating Society met for a social evening last night in the Murray street Baptist Church.

The meeting was a decided success, and the interesting programme was highly appreciated by the members present.

The programme was of a varied character, Mr. James Ellis opening with a short speech on "The value of the Christian church to Young Men." This was followed by an instrumental solo by Miss Janet Quinn.

A solo from Miss E. Miller was followed by short descriptive speeches by Messrs. Walter Garbutt and Harry Cross, both speeches were of a humourous character and dealt with their trip to the west.

Miss Walker then contributed an instrumental solo followed by Mr. John Hardwicke, with a speech on "The Value of Education."

A solo by Mr. Hooker brought this part of the programme to a conclusion.

The members then adjourned to the banquetting table, where a goodly array of eatables had been provided by the ladies of the Society.

The first toast, "The King," was proposed by Rev. F. J. Scott, and was responded to by the whole company singing "God Save the King."

"The Church" was proposed by the toast master and responded to by the company standing and singing, "Blest be the tie that Binds."

"Literature" was the next toast, and was responded to by Miss Kathleen Martin, who, in a very able speech referred to the position of literature in our educational system.

"Our Society" was responded to by Mr. George Armstrong, who prophesied a wider and grander sphere of usefulness for the society in the future.

The last toast, "The Ladies," was proposed by Mr. Hooker, and responded to by Mr. Percy Blide.

The president of the society, Mr. Wilford Shiner, occupied the chair, and also the position of toast master during the evening.

THE MEETING IS POSTPONED

The meeting of the License Holders' Association that was to have been held on Monday next, has been postponed until after the meeting of the License Commissioners.

Dreaded Insomnia.

"I was afflicted with nervousness and dread insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and had bad cramps in stomach and limbs. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to my attention, and eight boxes cured me." — Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont.

School Board's Disregard Of Needs Of Other Wards

Extravagant Expenditure Not Demanded by People or by Interests of Education--Neglect of Other Wards, to Promote or Bulldoze Through a Pet Scheme.

Indications accumulate of additional lack of popular sympathy with the action of the School Board in placing an expensive school building upon an out-of-the-way site in the South Ward.

Is not the very fact of the residents of North Monaghan, next door to the new building, declining to be annexed to Peterborough, adjacent to the new $35,000 school, sufficient proof that the School Board's enterprise is not appreciated. But a fact that is appreciated is that the taxes that will have to be paid as a result of the School Board's extravagance, will roll up uncomfortably large.

Mr. John Bell is a type of a class. He writes to a xotem, attacking the Examiner's position upon the school question. Has not Mr. Bell a valuable park lot in North Monaghan, within a stone's throw of the proposed school? Of course, he is anxious for the school to be built. His sympathy with some members of the Board, similarly situated, may explain his fondness for the School Board's big school idea. The Examiner finds no fault with Mr. Bell, nor those wanting to have park lots made valuable at the general expense of the taxpayers. It is only pointed out that the proposed site and placing of the school are unreasonable—out of reach of the school children who will have to use it.

It is proposed to spend for a new school costing $35,000, and additional street extension, a sum that will probably reach $45,000, and without paying any attention to other school accommodation needs.

The West Ward has a building quite out of date and quite inadequate, built thirty-five years ago. Last year it was denounced by the Board of Health and the ratepayers as unsanitary. It seems as if the school grounds and surroundings of the West Ward School, when warm weather develops malarial conditions, will make an unwelcome addition to unhealthy environments, and the Board of Health may have to consider the adoption of radical measures to remedy conditions, as far as can be done, with the inferior buildings, in the interests of the health, and perhaps lives, of pupils and teachers.

Why do the injustice to the West Ward of spending so much money in a big school building—with a flat roof like the "lean-to" to a farmer's stable—and neglecting a ward which needs improved school accommodation in the worst possible way?

The West Ward has, within a few years—since the school was built — increased 50 per cent. While there has been this increase in population, in assessed value, in tax rate, the school accommodation has remained stationery, or, indeed, grown worse.

Is the West Ward to have no attention to its school needs, and a big $35,000 school built in a pastre, to meet the needs of a school population yet unborn?

The interview with a West Ward ratepayer in another column, is worth reading, as the views expressed correspond with those of a majority of the people of that ward.

The action of the Board in connection with the South Ward School matter does not particularly concern the Examiner, except in its capacity of a protector of the interests of the citizens. The Examiner has simply done its duty in calling attention to a course of action which seems to it to be hostile to the best interests of citizens and the best interests of education as affects the city generally.

Temple Of Fame Was Repeated

Another Successful Presentation Before a Large Audience.

Another large audience gathered in the Charlotte street Sunday school room last evening, when "The Temple of Fame" was repeated. As on the previous evening, the affair was a splendid success, and the approval and appreciation of those present were manifest in the very hearty manner in which all those taking part were received.

A feature of last evening's performance was the very amusing part played by "Topsy," who kept the audience in continual roars of laughter.

At the conclusion of the programme those taking part were photographed by Mr. R. M. Roy.

The ladies of the church who were instrumental in carrying to such a successful issue their efforts in connection with the presentation of "The Temple of Fame," are deserving of every congratulation, and have reason to feel highly gratified upon their splendid success.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO FAMINE FUND

The River Road Junior Sunday School during the past week raised $40 in aid of the Japanese famine fund, which has been forwarded to the proper authorities. Ennismore Still Is Enterprising Building Greater Barns, New Residences, and General Improvements.

Ennismore has come up smiling to meet the spring. The crops look promising; winter wheat, of which a large acreage is sown, looks well, and clover and meadows give promise of abundant yields.

Many farmers have begun spring seeding, and if the weather continues favourable seeding will be general in a few days.

The farmers are prosperous and are preparing to house the full crops the season promises. Several fine new barns will be erected this season. Mr. Timothy Crough is building a large new, high-roof modern barn with stone foundation.

Mr. Pat Crough, Mr. Alex. Stabler, Mr. Jas. Garvey and Mr. Alex Stabler are following his example and will each erect fine large barns, and Mr. John Young will build a fine new brick residence.

Mr. P. J. Scollard feels the effects of the prosperity of his neighbours, and with an enlarged store at the Cross with many added conveniences and improvements is prepared to meet the increasing demands of the township dwellers, with every facility for serving their wants in the various lines of merchandise he carries in stock.

Ennismore is noted for its good quality of its horse stock and is still aiming at improvement. The syndicate Percheron stallion "Trenton," imported by a syndicate of eleven Ennismore farmers has changed hands but will still remain in the township to be a big factor in the improvement of the quality of the horse stock. Mr. W. J. Scollard, a member of the syndicate, has purchased the interests of the other members and will hereafter manage "Trenton" one of the finest stock horses in the Midland district.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE YANKEE CONSUL.

The return engagement of the "Yankee Consul," presented at the Grand last night was marked by a small house, much smaller than the quality of the show deserved. There have been some changes in the cast since it was presented here last November. Reuben Fax is missed from the role of Abijah Booze, the Consul, but Harry Short, who takes his place, is a worthy successor. The "Mosquito Dance" and solo and chorus, "My San Domingo Maid," pleased the audience again, and there was enough humour to make it acceptable to those who heard it.

A RARE MUSICAL TREAT

One of the most enjoyable musical events of the season will be the recital given by Miss Alice Roger in the Y.M.C.A. hall on Friday evening, April 27. Miss Roger will be assisted by Mr. H. M. Field, the celebrated piano virtuoso, and also by Mr. Harold Jarvis, who is a great favourite with Peterborough audiences. The admission fee will be 50 cents and tickets may be had at the Y.W.C.A., Y.M.C.A., Peterborough Conservatory of Music and McDonald's drug store.

A "Thank You"

How It Relates to the Past What It Promises for the Future

The close of this week we enter our third year in business. Having a hearty good-bye to say as we pass the second milestone, makes us also feel very greatful for the proof which has been afforded us of the popularity of this store.

The better the ladies of Peterborough and vicinity know ADAMS' the better they like to shop here.

"Thank You" is as much a part of every transaction in our store as the right change back.

By ceaseless effort to improve along the fixed lines of our policy in the future, we hope to continue to grow in the respect of the ladies.

The Art Exhibition OF THE LADIES WAS A Gratifying Success

Much Public Interest Aroused in the Subject by the Exhibit Which Closed Last Night.

Last night the Art Exhibition held under the Auspices of the Peterborough Branch of the W. A. A., of Canada, came to a successful close.

The ladies, who have worked so industriously for its success are greatly encouraged at the interest which the public generally have taken in the exhibition, and in this respect, a marked improvement is noticed over former exhibitions held under the auspices of the association.

Yesterday afternoon tea was served by Miss Bertram, and the attendance, both in the afternoon and evening, was quite satisfatory.

A number of sales were made, to local persons who could not help admiring the works of art displayed.

The members of the local branch are to be congratulated upon the gratifying success of the exhibition.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS WILL MEET MONDAY

The Board of License Commissioners did not transact any business last night. The intention was that the applications for licenses should have been dealt with, but Mr. Jas. Kendry, one of the members of the Board, was in Montreal on business, and did not return in time for the meeting; as a consequence the other members simply met and adjourned, to meet again on Monday night, when Mr. Kendry will be present.

ICE GOES FROM THE KAWARTHA LAKES

Mr. Frank Young, of Young's Point, one of the most popular lake captains on the Kawartha waters, was in the city to-day, and stated that the ice had all gone from the lakes and that navigation would open in a few days. Capt. Young was enthusiastic when speaking of the prospects for steamer traffic on the lakes this season. The present outlook was good, and the Captain was sure that more persons than ever before would visit the beautiful Kawartha Lakes this year.

The Board Of Health
OBJECTS TO ATTITUDE
Of The City Council

Chairman of the Board Writes Strong Letter Replying to Alleged Statements Made by Mayor and Council.—Charge of Extravagance is denied.—Board of Health Has the Authority to Act Independently.

The chairman of the Board of Health takes strong objection to the reported attitude of the city council towards that body, and writes a strong letter in reply to remarks credited by the Review, to the Mayor, and some of the aldermen. The position he takes is that the Board is not exceeding its right, by any means, and he objects strongly to the alleged charge of extravagance. The inference that the City Council is afraid to trust the Board of Health with the expenditure of the money necessary to erect the hospital, and its maintenance, after it has been built, is particularly galling to the Board, because, it is pointed out, that it is only by courtesy that the Board of Health consults the council in the matter at all, because absolute power is given by statute to the Board to build the hospital, without reference to the council.

In view of this fact the Board feels aggrieved that the council should take the position credited to it. In reply to the article in the Review, the chairmnn of the Board, Mr. W. Eyres, writes the following letter:

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—In reply to the report in the Review of 20th inst., Facts of Isolation Hospital" by our city fathers, I beg to say said report is entirely misleading, and does great injustice to the Board of Healgh. This Board has never said how much or how little they propose to spend on the Isolation Hospital for the City of Peterborough, but I can assure the city council that said Board is anxious to keep expenditure down to the lowest point consistent with the requirements of our city.

This has been the policy of the Board of Health since I have been connected with it, and I think said Board has succeeded fairly well, and I defy successful contradiction and further, if the city council bring Dr. Hodgetts and Dr. Smith here "to meet the city council" (I quote verbatim from report in the paper of 20th inst.) and entirely ignore the Board of Health and settle the whole matter with said doctors, and manage the business assigned to the Board of Health by statute, as well as their own Aldermen of the city and dispense entirely with the Board of Health as "The Aldermen could not see the Board of Health managing an Isolation Hospital."

The charge of extravagance in the closing paragraph of the report against the Board of Health is a slander, on said Board, being entirely without foundation.

The Board of Health never had any intention of keeping a permanent staff of nurses to say nothing of doctors and other help, as the report has it.

I am unwilling to believe our honourable Mayor and Aldermen hold such views or would give expression to any language consistent with the report. The Board of Health wishes to act in harmony with the city council, if possible, and provided the necessary hospital accommodation, at the lowest cost, consistent with efficiency being forced by our Government to do so.

Yours respectfully,
WM. EYRES,
Chairman Board of Health.

Lynch Law.

In an article in Law Notes on "The Origin of the Term 'Lynch Law'" mention was made of the fact that formerly the term "Lydford law" was used in the same sense in England. A North Carolina judge in a recent case quoted the following lines:

I oft have heard of Lydford law—
How in the morn they hang and draw
And sit in judgment after.

They seem to show the existence of a similar summary punishment in England.

Local Option
Term Is Fixed
Three Years

Present Period Is Not to Be Changed By New Act.

SETTLED AT THREE YEARS

Opposition Members Offer a Strong Objection to the Three-Fifths Vote—Government to Take Power to Issue Wholesale Licenses, and Are Pledged Not to Issue Them in the Local Option Districts.

Toronto, April 21.—The Legislature, in Committee of the Whole, yesterday afternoon took up the license bill, and after the consideration of the greater number of the clauses and making some amendments reported it. The Government will issue wholesale licenses, this power being taken to insure that none shall be issued in local option districts. The term before a new vote can be taken on local option was settled at three years. A smart debate occurred over the three-fifths clause, which stands.

The Prospectus Bill.

On the third reading of Mr. Hoyle's bill respecting prospectuses Mr. MacKay renewed his suggestion that the clause by which all stock sales shall be deemed to be induced by the prospectus of the company should be amended by adding the words "as against the company." Hon. Mr. Hanna intimated that this had been adopted. Another point brought up by Mr. MacKay was that no subscription for stock induced or obtained by verbal representation should be binding unless the purchaser should first have received a copy of the prospectus. Consideration of this was adjourned.

Hon. Dr. Pyne's bill authorizing certain payments under the public libraries act was read a third time.

On motion of the Premier it was decided that the House should on Tuesday next consider in committee the resolutions necessitated by the university bill.

Fees to Be Charged.

On the section referring to license duties being reached a new division was inserted. Towns having a population of less than 5,000, and more than 2,000, will pay a license fee of $350. Towns having population of 2,000 or less will pay $250, while the same fee applies to incorporated villages.

It was pointed out in the large cities the shop license was less than the tavern license, while in villages the reverse was the case.

The Government takes the power to issue wholesale licenses, but not in local option municipalities.

Regarding the cancellation of licenses after three convictions in two years, this is made to read three years. The section providing that a conviction since May 1, 1905, shall be counted as one of the convictions was stricken out.

The Three-Fifths Vote.

Mr. Mackay objected to the three-fifths clause, and argued that it secured minority rule both ways! A minority could prevent the adoption of local option, and a minority could retain it when adopted. It was a mechanical balance at the expense of common sense.

Premier Whitney observed that the settled expression of public opinion should not be disturbed.

Hon. Mr. Hanna said he had a letter from a girl ten years old, who had experience of liquor in her family. She had read the bill, and considered it un-British, un-Christian and un-democratic. He quoted Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt's local veto bill as a precedent.

Mr. MacKay—It did not become law.

Hon. Mr. Hanna replied that it was withdrawn over the compensation clauses. Sir Wilfrid Lawson's bill, the Welsh, Irish, Paddington, Manchester and Westminster bills, all that the two-thirds clause. The bill will not be retroactive.

Mr. Preston (Brant) objected to the argument from British usage, as there was no local option law there. Australia had the majority vote; New Zealand two-thirds.

Mr. Hislop thought it would be in the interests of temperance if the three-fifths vote provisions were struck out. The old local option vote had worked very well. He suggested that Councils should have the option of passing a by-law putting local option into effect if the people gave any majority in favor of doing so.

Hon. Mr. Ross' Views.

Hon. Mr. Ross did not think the provisions compatible with the promise of the Government to restrict the evils of the liquor traffic and enforce the license law. The provisions he regarded as making it almost impossible to secure local option, which had lately been carried in several places by small majorities. Under the present law it would not have carried; and that, he thought, was another proof of the unfairness of the proposition. Having regard to the promises of the Government and the strong feelings of temperance men, he could not regard it as a proposal that should be allowed to go through. It could not possibly be regarded as a concession to the temperance people, and it could only be looked upon as a concession to the liquor interests. Local option carried by small majorities had been easily enforced in the past and could now be. No church or temperance bodies had asked for it. The hon. gentleman would do himself honor by withdrawing the clauses.

The bill was reported.

Mr. MacKay asked whether the Government had considered the advisability of licensing houses that had no bars. A license would intimate to the traveling public that such houses were under Government supervision, and be a guarantee that board and lodgings could be obtained.

Hon. Mr. Hanna said representations of such a nature had been made to the Government, and they were considering them.

Mr. McDougall's bill to amend the rules of practice was referred to the Legal Committee.

The following private bills were read a second time:

To incorporate the Bell Telephone Memorial Association (Preston, Brant); to confirm bylaw 640 of the Town of Barrie (Montgomery); to incorporate the Port Elgin Spur Line (Bowman).

On Mr. McCowan's bill respecting cemetery companies being up for second reading Mr. Graham asked for information. Hon. Dr. Pyne suggested that the bill be sent to the legal committee, and this was done.

Vote Brought Up
In The House

Mr. Foster Denounces North Atlantic Contract.

HON. MR. OLIVER'S DEFENCE

Contract Was Better Than the Conservative Arrangement—How the "Siftonian" Policy Filled Up the Country—Reason For Cancelling Contract—Salary Grab Issue Partially Discussed.

Ottawa, April 21.—In the House yesterday Mr. McIntyre (South Perth) addressed the House on the general issue involved in the salary grab, and he was followed by Mr. Miller (South Grey).

Mr. Borden thought the discussion was premature. He was anxious to have the bills introduced by Mr. Maclean (South York), and Mr. Wilson (Lennox and Addington) put to their second reading. He urged that the matter be taken up next week.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he regretted that private members had not deferred to the Government's undoubted right to deal with this question. Public opinion would justify the fullest possible discussion at an early date.

At the evening session Mr. Galliher (Kootenay) resumed the debate upon the second reading of Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill concerning the payment of his indemnity to a member prevented from attending sessions of the House through illness. He urged that a per diem of $15 be paid to members in traveling to and from the capital. Mr. Fitzpatrick thought that a per diem of $8 should be sufficient.

Want of Confidence.

Mr. Foster moved his long-promised vote of want of confidence, and asked the House to declare that the contract with the North Atlantic Trading Co. was injurious, improvident and absurd. Mr. Foster was eloquent in his denunciation of the "Siftonian" policy, and charged that the contract had been entered into without the knowledge or authority of Parliament, that the Cabinet had been deliberately deceived by Mr. Sifton, and that the officers of the department had not taken steps to see that the company lived up to its contract, which Mr. Foster described as unmitigated fraud.

Mr. Oliver's Defence.

Mr. Oliver, who announced that the company had been notified on the 14th of April of the cancellation of the contract for failure to perform the conditions with respect to work in Scandinavian countries, said the Government had no excuse to offer for the contract. He quoted a similar contract entered into in 1882 with the Erie Railway Co., whereby $10 per head was paid by the Canadian Government on agriculturists and mechanics, and contrasted the results of the Siftonian and Fosterian immigration policies, respectively. In two and a half years under the Siftonian there had been 10,000 more homestead entries than in eighteen years of the Fosterian policy.

Canada Evidence Act.

In committee the House discussed amendments to the Canada Evidence Act. The bill as drafted by the Minister of Justice disqualifies either husband or wife from testifying for their own in criminal cases. Mr. Borden thought such witnesses should be competent, but not compellable. Mr. Macdonald (Pictou) supported Mr. Borden. The bill was reported.

The House restored the annual traveling allowances of $800 to the district judges of Ontario.

Not What Was Ordered.

Ottawa, April 21.—At the commission appointed to investigate the fallen tower yesterday morning, Mr. Ewart, chief architect, testified that the work was not carried out in accordance with specifications. The inside and outside walls were not properly bonded.

Mr. W. B. Wallace is a Well Man Today, But he was Pretty Bad Before he got Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Campbelltown, N.B., April 20.—Special.—"It was a cold started my trouble," says Mr. Wallace, of this place. "I am a contractor and builder, and my work causes me to be out and exposed to all weathers, so I suppose it was in that way, I got cold. Any way, it settled in my kidneys, and made me pretty sick. I got Lumbago in the back, cramps in the muscles, pains in the loins, shortness of breath, a dragging pain at the loins, and my urine was thick with a dark sediment. Then I knew the kidneys were to blame, so I took Dodd's Kidney Pills, and they soon put me in shape and cured me so that I have had no trouble with my kidneys since."

THE J. H. JONES' SPECIAL TRIP.

Goes to Rescue of Man Who Was Terribly Scalded.

Owen Sound, April 17.—The steamer J. H. Jones made a special trip yesterday morning, bringing in a man named Joseph Collins, who was terribly scalded while loading a tug with wood five days ago at Rattlesnake Harbor. Collins had been in the hold piling slabs, when a flying slab broke a steam tap. Collins was horribly scalded, and for four or five days lay without medical aid, his comrades not daring to move him.

A message was sent to Gore Bay for a doctor, but he did not come. The officers of the Jones, hearing of the accident, made a rush visit to Rattlesnake and, finding the man's condition to be very serious, started for Owen Sound with him at once.

Collins is reported as resting more comfortably now, but is still in a serious condition.

BULL KILLS A MAN.

Animal Had Been Dehorned, But It Used Its Feet.

Dauphin, Man., April 17.—William McFarlane, an employe on the farm of A. Bond, a few miles east of the town, was attacked by a bull on Saturday morning, and so badly injured that he died on Sunday night. McFarlane was herding the bull with other cattle when it attacked him. The animal was known to be of a vicious disposition, and some time ago was dehorned. McFarlane was knocked down by it and when lying prostrate on the ground it used its forefeet on him. Deceased was 45 years of age, and his home is at Venlow, near Gilbert Plains.

One Week's Doings in the Theatrical World

Three Big Successes; Bill for Next Week At Grand Opera House.

"The Tenderfoot" Comic Opera Hit on Thursday Night —Other Attractions are "Convict's Daughter" and "When Knighthood Was in Flower"—Doings Next Week in Theatrical Circles.

During the coming week three good attractions will be seen at the Grand Opera House here, and Mr. Bradburn promises his patrons one of the best week's bills ever put on the boards in any opera house in a medium sized city. On Tuesday the popular melodrama, "The Convict's Daughter," which played a week at the Majestic in Toronto some weeks ago, will be given, and for those whose tastes turn to that style of play, there is none better than that which will be produced on Tuesday night.

This week at His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, the patrons have been delighted by the work of the artists who have been playing "The Tenderfoot" to crowded houses every night. Peterborough people will, on Thursday night, have an opportunity of seeing this great comic opera success, one of the best on the whole circuit, and on Saturday night the week will close with "When Knighthood Was in Flower," with Roselle Knott in the role of Mary Tudor. This gives a good week's attractions, and no doubt the house will be filled each night.

Scene in Act I, "Convict's Daughter," Grand Opera House, Tuesday, April 24.

ROSELLE KNOTT

As Mary Tudor in "When Knighthood was in Flower," Act V. Grand Opera House, Saturday, April 28.

Texas Rangers kissed a fair damsel at a masked ball, first snatching aside the lady's mask. So the lady determined to have her revenge by marrying the first poor man who came along. The first poor man proved to be the colonel, but he was playing a part and sang his way in like a wandering troubadour. So they married, and after a few spats, patched up peace, and thereafter lived in peace and harmony. It takes three acts to tell all this, but there are so many side issues for the attention of the audience that there are no lagging moments.

Soldiers, cow-boys, cow-girls, soldieresses, Mexicans, and the various folk who live in comic operaland, were in strong evidence, and, aided by a smart caste, furnished pleasant pictures and harmonious choruses. The male chorus should have a word for itself. The men come on with some show of life and appear to have a shade more intelligence than the usual collection of men driven to seek starland through the humble start of the chorus ranks. Their first appearance is good but all through they sing well and move as if they had an interest in the affair.

OSCAR L. FIGMAN

As Professor Zachary Pettibone, L.L.D. F.A., in "The Tenderfoot." Grand Opera House, Thursday, April 26.

The merry-marry is good, too, and the ensemble numbers are well worth listening to.

Oscar Figman gets plenty of good fun out of his role, his song numbers are smart and his whole performance up to his excellent reputation as an entertainer.

Ruth White sings pleasantly, makes a charming appearance in her costumes, whether those which rightfully belong to her sex, or the handsome one which doesn't.

Harry Williams has a comedy role as a Chinese servant and later with Etta Lockhart, who has an amusing hungry-girl part to play, does some smart dancing. This team are lively all through the show.

Jethro Warner, a Montreal boy, has a fine tenor voice and sings well.

Fred Bailey, J. F. Rooney, H. S. Burns and N. H. Baldwin furnish plenty of lively action and make a good quartette to keep things on the move.

There are many good songs and choruses. "Fascinating Venus" gives Miss White an opportunity. "My Alsace Love" & Mr. Figman's best. "A Soldier of Fortune" is Mr. Warner's bit, whilst in "The Soldiery" the chorus makes good.

Mr. Carle appeared in the original production, and kept refurbishing his lines until he arranged a long series of quip and jest for Professor Zachary Pettibone, who is the tenderfoot of the piece, and there is a laugh every time that dignified character comes out. Oscar Figman is now in Carle's role, and that lanky, loose-limbed comedian is refreshingly funny from start to finish.

Another good thing about "The Tenderfoot" is that it has some shred of coherency. The main incident is a bit romantic, in more ways than one but it isn't too much for the imagination.

It appears that the colonel of the

"The Tenderfoot" One of Season's Big Successes

This Great Comic Opera Will be Seen Here on Thursday.

The Montreal Gazette, speaking of "The Tenderfoot," which will be seen here in the Grand Opera House, on Thursday, April 26th, and which has been in His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, all this week, says:

Cheerful, tuneful and as frolicsome as a capricious April wind, "The Tenderoot" amused two holiday audiences in His Majesty's yesterday. Bright and breezy it is full of life and go, something doing all the time and much fulfilled promise in the way of pleasing entertainment.

The locale is the Lone Star state, and the picturesque opportunities are not neglected even a leek burro being added to give a finishing touch. Usually burros are not sleek, but this being a well-fed opera burro had to be different from the rest of the family, even to the extent of having those mystic numbers "23" placed on his rear flank to distinguish which is his get-away part.

Richard Carle wrote the book and built up the comedy situations, while H. L. Heartz laboured on the score. The combined result is excellent. The libretto is lively and the music is worthy. Added is a host of delightful accessories and the sum total is a bully show. Frankly, it is a show, although described in the programme as an "operatic comedy."

Roselle Knott a Canadian Actress

Her Appearance Here Next Saturday Night Looked Forward to.

A right royal welcome is sure to be given by our Canadians to the clever Canadian actress, Miss Roselle Knott in her extended tour of the Dominion with "When Knighthood Was in Flower." Last season Miss Knott brought "Cousin Kate" to Canada. Her success in that difficult role was marked and it is said that her work in this romantic play by Charles Major is even better. The actress was born in the Province of Ontario about twelve miles from the city of Hamilton. Her parents were Episcopalians of the strictest sort to whom the things of the stage seemed irreligious. But the girl's nature bent for dramatic work could not be conquered. She came forth as a public reader and elocutionist in Hamilton and took the earliest opportunity of going on the stage with a company that played twice a week in the Hamilton Opera House. Then Agustus Pitou, then a popular producing manager engaged her on a three years' contract, to create Nourmale in the "Cherry Pickers." To Richard Mansfield's training, however, Miss Knott probably owes more than to any other person connected with the stage. She avers that Mansfield is not the rough bear that gossip pictures him to be, but on the contrary most helpful and encouraging to all beginners, who show intelligence and desire for improvement. Miss Knott remained three years with Mr. Mansfield playing the leading feminine roles as "Marcella" in Mansfield's production of "A Parisian Romance." The actress made a decided hit which was nightly increased as she improved upon her first work, aided by Baron Chevrials timely advice and criticism. Of recent years Miss Knott has been in the forefront of American theatricals, playing the important role of "Anne Austria" in Liabier & Co's production of "The Musketeers." She was the original Lygia in the New York production of "Quo Vadis." Then as Katinka in "A Modern Magdalen" and has played Mary Tudor in "When Knighthood Was in Flower" for three seasons. In the latter she challenged comparison with Julia Marlow, and far surpassed Effie Elisler in the interpretation of the role. Miss Knott is endowed with a pleasing stage presence, attractive, mobile features and a graceful figure. Her voice is rich and vibrant and runs the gamut of expression from mirth-evious humour to tear compelling pathos. So great a variety of expression is not common on the stage, but the union of such diverse qualities is highly necessary to the development of the role of Mary Tudor. Managers Sweely, Shipman & Co., who are directing Miss Knott's tour have arranged a New York appearance for her next fall in a new play written expressely for her entitled "The Dutchess of Devonshire."

Act II, "Convict's Daughter," Grand Opera House, Thursday, April 24

A Melodrama That Appeals to Hearers' Hearts

Is "The Convict's Daughter" Seen Here on Tuesday.

A frightful explosion occurred on a Mississippi River steamboat involving the loss of many lives and the injury of scores of passengers. Among those who escaped were Col. Gould, a Kentucky banker and his wife. As a result of her injury and nervous prostration, the Colonel's wife gave premature birth to a child that died. This nearly destroyed her mind. Her doctor told the Colonel that the only hope for her was in the adoption of an infant. Fortunately one was found unharmed among the rescued passengers. Its mother was killed. Mrs. Gould and the Colonel loved and reared the child, a girl whose name was Edith, as though she were really their own—as she regarded herself. When she became old enough, two young men sought her heart and hand. One was the confidential clerk of Colonel Gould, and the other was young Southerner. She preferred the latter. The Colonel told him frankly that he was willing Edith should marry him, but said she was the daughter of a woman whose identity was unknown. This did not deter the lover. Meanwhile the spurned love of the clerk made him a villain and he resorted to trickery, lying, forgery and other desperate methods to accomplish his purpose—the marriage to Edith. He uses an escaped convict to aid him in his villainous designs. It happened through force of circumstances and that the convict was really the father of Edith, but neither he, the villain, the girl, or anyone else conversant, knew it at the time the plot is in progress. But that fact was held relief and wins deserved commendation.

The story found in "The Convict's Daughter," a new sensational melodrama by J. A. Fraser, that will be the attration at the Grand, on April 24th. It introduces an original type of "hobo" known as "Weary Willie." For a time, through the development of the story, he shows a generous nature. It is not developed later when things

TO DRAW GUILD LEAGUE SCHEDULE WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday night next a meeting of the teams that propose entering the Guild Baseball League will be held in the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of arranging the schedule of games for the season. This was decided at the meeting of the Executive, which was held last night. Three teams were represented at the meeting, Charlotte Street, St. Paul's and St. Andrew's, vice-president McWilliams presiding in the absence of the president, Mr. P. A. Kerr.

The probability is that St. Andrew's, St. John's, and St. Luke's or All Saints, will enter teams in the league this year, which promises to be as interesting as in the past seasons. The prospects are that the fight for the championship this year will be even more closely contested than it has been in former years, the fact that Charlotte Street has won it twice in succession has given that team confidence in its ability to do the trick the third time, while the other teams are just as determined that they shall not.

Lawn Bowling for 9 Months in Year

Mr. F. H. Dixon Writes Home From Hong Kong to This Effect.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson has received a letter from Mr. F. H. Dixon, of Hong Kong, formerly one of Peterborough's most enthusiastic curlers and lawn bowlers. Mr. Dixon says that there is no curling in Hong Kong, but there is bowling for nine months in the year. He added that the annual fee is $40. Mr. Dixon also said that he was very favourably impressed with Hong Kong.

Cobourg Out Of Midland League

On Account of Unsatisfactory State of That Body.

Cobourg, April 20.—Cobourg Baseball Club, last year's champions of the Midland League, have withdrawn from the league owing to the unsatisfactory state of the league. They would like to secure holiday and Saturday dates with fast Toronto teams.

BASEBALL

The management of the Peterborough ball team are corresponding with several fast batteries, but so far no agreement has been made. It is ascertained, however, that a high grade pitcher will be corralled and also a good catcher. The two pitchers the team have in view are top-notchers and either one should be able to deliver the merchandise.

FOOTBALL

The meeting of the Midland Association Football League, for the purpose of drawing up the schedule for the coming season will be held in Peterborough Saturday, April 28th, in the Y.M.C.A. parlours at 1.30 o'clock.

There will be an intermediate and junior series this year and no doubt many teams will enter. Teams that were not fast enough during the past season to catch the intermediate series will be afforded a good opportunity of entering the league in the junior series. Any clubs intending to enter should send a representative to the meeting on Saturday 28th or notify J. E. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer.

LACROSSE

A lacrosse practice was called for this afternoon at the Riverside Park but the rain prevented a workout.

Mr. Neville will "rein" over Lady Gothard, bred in Le Roy, N.Y., but now owned by Martin Connors, the Mark Twain of Canada, this season. This little lady has plenty of speed, but is a bad breaker. Put the pajamas on, check her up and go down her back, and she'll step two miles in 2.15 over a half-mile track. And that will win the Canadian stake races next June. Lady Gothard has no record. Get ready to count the money, Mr. Connors.—Horse World.

STR. "WATER LILY" NEARING COMPLETION

Capt. White, the new proprietor of the Steamer "Water Lily", which is undergoing enlargement and other improvements, authorizes the statement that he expects to be able to launch the steamer next Saturday. The capacity of the newly remodelled "Water Lily" will be 225 passengers. Capt. White is hoping to be able to commence his regular season's trips between Peterborough and Rice Lake during the first week of May.

In this connection it may also be mentioned that Capt. White has decided to take up his residence in this city. He has purchased the property situated on the corner of Simcoe and Queen street, formerly owned by Mr. Torrance Smith, of Norwood. He is having the brick residence overhauled and improved and will move in as soon as completed.

OBITUARY.

ANNIE HICKEY.

At four o'clock yesterday evening Annie Hickey, daughter of the late Daniel Hickey, passed away at the age of 54 years. She had been ill for some two years, but it was only during the last week that her illness became acute. Death was due to a complication of diseases. She has always been a resident of Peterborough, and was much respected by all who knew her. She is survived by one brother, Thomas, with whom she lived. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3.30, from the residence of her brother, 91 Hunter street, and will proceed to St. Peter's church, and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

MOSES ARMSTRONG.

The death occurred this morning at 9.30 at the Protestant Home of Moses Armstrong. Nothing is known of Mr. Armstrong's life more than that he was born in Canada, and has been in the Home here for four years. He was 72 years of age and always a respected old man in the Home. The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon and the body will be buried in the Little Lake Cemetery.

PATRICK CROWLEY.

Further particulars concerning the death of Patrick Crowley, at Grand Rapids, Mich., have been received here. Mr. Crowley died on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock with heart disease. He had no relatives in Grand Rapids, and the sending of the body, which arrived here on Thursday on the 5.15 C.P.R. train, was looked after by a friend, Mr. Wm. Hoolihan, formerly of Peterborough.

Mr. Crowley had many friends here and also in Grand Rapids, where he worked at the lumber business for about 20 years. He had been very successful financially, as he was always a diligent workman.

He was born in the township of Otonabee 57 years ago, and was a son of the late Thos. Crowley, of that township. Two brothers survive him, John and Timothy, both of Otonabee, and two sisters, Misses Ellen and Mary, residing on Elm street.

The funeral took place this morning at nine o'clock from the residence of his sisters, 60 Elm street, to St. Peter's cemetery, and a large number of his former friends were present to pay their last respects to the dead man. The following were the pall bearers: Messrs. S. Shaughnessy, M. Mulcahy, F. Driscoll, D. Rice, M. Kiley and E. Lynch.

Madame Albani Likes Peterborough

Great Canadian Artist, Who Will be Heard To-night, Tells The Examiner of Her Pleasure at Visiting This City—Glad to be Here for Her Farewell Tour.

Madame Albani and her concert company arrived this morning over the Grand Trunk, travelling in their special car coming direct from Montreal. In a brief chat with Madame Albani this morning just as she arrived at the Oriental she said: "I am so pleased to come to your city. I have never had the pleasure of visiting you before and I am so glad Peterborough is included in the cities I shall visit to say good-bye to my native land, and I am quite sure that the name of Peterborough will always be dear to me." The question was asked, "But you will come come back to see us again?" The great diva's face lighted up and she said: "It would be a very sad thought to me if I thought I should never come back to my dear native land again, but never for a concert, only to go fishing and have a good time." There are many reasons why this great, good woman is a favourite with concert goers, and has earned the esteem of her very rivals. She is supremely endowed the temperament of an artist. Her audiences love, her, her company love her and all Canada adores her.

Accompanying Albani on this, her farewell tour, is Miss Eva Gauthier, contralto, a French Candian girl whose parents live in Ottawa. Miss Gauthier was sent abroad by Lady Laurier to complete her studies, and while there Madame Albani took a great interest in her advancement and brought her back to Canada with her for her farewell tour. Miss Adela Verne, solo pianiste, has not been forgotten since she last appeared in Canada with Madame Albani four years ago. Mr. Haydn Wood, violinist, is spoken of by the critics as a clever artist quite equal to some of the celebrated artists that have appeared in Canada before with great names. Mr. Frank T. Watkins, conductor, who has accompanied Albani on her tours for so many years is again with her company. The music lovers can expect the greatest musical treat of the season to-night.

More Help Needed In Engineer's Office

At Present that Official Has Too Much Work to Perform, Says Ald. Hicks—More Time Needed on Street Work--A Committee Will Deal With It--Duplication of Plans.

At the meeting of the Board of Works last night Ald. Hicks drew attention to the fact that the services of the City Engineer were not available in connection with work on the streets to the extent that they should be, by reason of the detail office work which he had to do, and the chairman suggested that it would be in the interest of the city to engage some office help, in order that some of the clerical work, which now has to be done by the Engineer, and which might just as well be performed by cheaper labour, could be taken off his hands, and he could devote more time to superintending the work on the streets.

The necessity for giving him greater time to do this is particularly strong this summer, when there is such a big programme of work laid out, such as extension of streets, sidewalks and sewers, of which there will be more constructed this year than in 1905.

In this connection Ald. Hicks also spoke of the desirability of making the assessments for the work, on the frontage basis while the work is being done. This requires a great deal more labour than the public has any idea of, and takes up much of the Engineer's time.

A proposal was also made by Ald. Hicks that the working plans in the Engineer's office should be made in duplicate, and one copy placed in the vault for safe keeping. Should a fire occur and the plans be destroyed it would entail a loss on the city which would be irreparable.

A committee composed of Ald. Hicks, Ald. Adams and Ald. Elliott was appointed to look into and deal with those matters referred to by the chairman.

SPRING ASSIZES WILL OPEN MONDAY MORNING

On Monday the Spring Assizes will open at the Court House before Hon. Justice Magee. At this sitting of the court a number of interesting cases will be tried. Perhaps the one in which the greatest interest will be centred is that in which Patrick McAuliffe will answer the charge of manslaughter. The particulars of this case are well known to everyone who reads the newspapers. It was to have been taken up at the fall assizes but the crown asked to have it enlarged till the spring sittings.

Two civil cases, that of Kidd vs. Kidd, and Hilt vs. Dewart, are also of considerable local interest. The particulars of these cases have also been published before.

Interesting Romance IS THE STORY OF PROF. D'Arville's Wedding

His Wife, a Former Miss Hoban, Ran Away From Home to Niagara Falls to Become His Wife--A Case of Love at First Sight.

It appears that some statements have been made in the city to the effect that Prof. D'Arville was not married. The professor, however, produces abundant proof of his matrimonial bondage, pleasant though it doubtless is. He produces newspaper clippings galore in support of his claim that he has been legally married, and these stories further furnish some interesting details, which add spice to it. It appears the marriage followed an elopement.

A despatch dated Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 24th, and published in the Buffalo, N.Y., News, is as follows:

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 24.—News of the elopement of Miss Kathryn Hoban of Midvale, a suburb of this city, and T. Herndon Tourville, a son of Count de Toulesaut, of the French navy, and their marriage at Niagara Falls at 11 o'clock on Monday morning, became known here to-day. The relatives received a brief telegram announcing the marriage. Miss Hoban gave no hint of her plans. She visited her sister in this city on Sunday and left in the evening, ostensibly for home, but instead took a late train for Niagara Falls, where she met Tourville. Meanwhile her mother believed her to be in this city with her sister, and the sister thought that she had returned home.

The family knows little of the courtship. Two summers ago Miss Hoban met Tourville, whose home is in St. Louis, at Colorado Springs, where she went to visit her brother, a mine owner, and during last winter they corresponded, but at no time did her relatives imagine that she was in love with Tourville. Miss Hoban is a tall, handsome girl, 24 years old.

Something Doing In Healey's Falls Power?

Campbellford People Worked Up Over Strange Visit to That Town of Two Men Who Ordered Special Train—They Visited the Falls, Too—Belief That They Have Something Up Their Sleeve.

The Campbellford Despatch this week says: Two distinguished gentlemen arrived in town on the morning train yesterday and registered at the windsor. They engaged a rig from Mulhearn's livery, and were driven to Healy's Falls by Mr. Stewart Shea, where they viewed the place, and made several entries in their note book. After dinner they ordered a special train through Mr. W. Harrison, the G.T.R. agent. They walked leisurely around town smoking fifty cent cigars, which they procured at C. H. Nadon's cigar store, until their special — an engine and one coach — arrived from Lindsay, when they departed for Toronto.

These gentlemen were registered as H. L. Cooper of New York, and G. E. A. Goldman of Toronto, and evidently had something up their sleeve concerning our town and Healy's Falls, but what it is no one in town knows, as they held no interview with anyone, neither were they entertained by any of our city fathers or private citizens. We surmise there is something doing in connection with the proposed electric railway.

Visited O. A. C. At Guelph

Messrs. W. G. Ferguson and B. Walker Accompanied the Delegates From the Convention.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson, chairman of the Board of Education, and Mr. D. Walker, Public School Inspector, returned last night from Toronto, where they were in attendance at the School Trustees of Ontario Convention.

Yesterday Peterborough's representatives, accompanied by the three hundred delegates who went to Guelph, inspected the Guelph Agricultural College.

Mr. Ferguson to the Examiner this morning, expressed his strong admiration for the system of teaching and for the magnificent buildings at Guelph. It was an ideal place for farmers' sons and daughters, where they could be taught to get the best out of the farm and its products. Mr. Ferguson was very much impressed with the Domestic Science and Manual Training branches taught in the College. The excursionists had not time to inspect the other educational institutions in Guelph.

Is Mr. H. D. Kennedy In The Earthquake?

Message Received From Chicago Gave Rise to Fear That He Had Met Death at Santa Rosa—But the Peterborough Evangelist Who Went to California a Few Weeeks Ago Was Not the Victim.

D. Kennedy, one of the victims of Santa Rosa, is not evangelist H. D. Kennedy, as at first supposed.

A telegraphic message was received yesterday by Mr. H. P. Kennedy, which has caused him much anxiety. It was as follows:—

Chicago, April 22.

To Percy Kennedy,

Peterborough,—

Have you heard from Harry? D. Kennedy reported dead at Santa Rosa, Cal.

S. SHERIN.

Mr. Sherin, the sender of the telegram, is an uncle of Mr. Kennedy, and he evidently saw in a despatch from the scene of the disaster the name of D. Kennedy as one of the victims, and thinking that it might be Mr. H. D. Kennedy, the evangelist, who went to Sebastopol, a town about six miles from Santa Rosa, a few weeks ago to conduct evangelistic services, wired his nephew to learn, if possible, he had been heard from.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy had received a letter from his brother since his arrival at Sebastopol, telling that he had commenced his meetings, the letter being written, of course, prior to the earthquake. Nothing further has been heard from him, and yesterday his brother called up Mr. Sherin at Chicago, on the telephone, in an effort to learn, if possible what ground there was for the suspicion that he had been among the victims. He found that the "D. Kennedy" referred to in the telegram was a "David. Kennedy," whereas his brother's name is "Dawson." There is a hope, therefore, that the suspicion that Mr. Kennedy had been killed, is unfounded.

Sends $200 Worth Of QUAKER OATS TO Earthquake Victims

City Council Decides to Contribute to San Francisco Sufferers—At Special Meeting of Council Held Saturday Night—Mayor Was Authorized to Contribute $200 in Cash or Goods.

San Francisco earthquake sufferers will be relieved to the extent of $200 worth of Quaker Oats which will be sent as the gift of the City of Peterborough. At a special meeting of the City Council held on Saturday night this was decided. On Saturday Mayor Best received the following telegram from Vancouver:—

Vancouver, B.C., April 20.

To the Mayor,

Peterborough Ont.,

Vancouver rushing food supplies to San Francisco. If you are contributing, Vancouver Relief Committee, will if you desire, purchase and transfer promptly on your account,

ALEXANDER BETHUNE,
Acting Mayor.
R. P. MACLENNAN,
President Board of Trade.

On the strength of this, and to decide what was the best course to pursue the Mayor decided to call the council. Those present were: Mayor Best, Ald. Duncan, Mason, Johnston, Graham, Wilson and McWilliams.

His Worship explained the object of the meeting, and stated that in his opinion the city should take some action, and that a grant should be made towards the sufferers.

After some discussion as to the amount which it would be desirable to contribute, the following motion was passed:—

Ald. Johnston moved, that this council make a grant of $200 to the funds being raised for the relief of the sufferers in San Francisco from the results of the earthquake, and that the Mayor be authorized to send either the money of supplies, and that the Vancouver Relief Committee be asked to forward the same to San Francisco. It was seconded by Ald. Duncan, and carried.

Some discussion took place subsequently as to whether it was better to send the cash or goods. It was suggested by Ald. Elliott that it would be appropriate to send it possible some of the products manufactured in Peterborough, and a shipment of Quaker Oats was suggested, if the company had a distributing awrehouse in Vancouver. It was finally decided to leave the matter in the hands of the Mayor, and after the meeting he placed an order with the American Cereal Company for 8200 worth of Quaker Oats to be delivered to the Relief Committee at Vancouver, on account of the city.

MR. McLEAN, OF LONDON.

Analysis of One of the Weekly Reports Sent to Headquarters.

R. C. McLean, of the Semi-ready, Wardrobe, London, in the report of his sales for for five days in March, shows that of thirty-four suits and overcoats sold, some eighteen were sold to former customers and sixteen to gentlemen who patronized his store for the first time.

The eighteen customers who buy again are sufficient proof of the satisfactoriness of Semi-ready, while the sixteen new customers is evidence of the growth of the Semi-ready idea of tailoring. Both form conclusive testimony that the man who to-day wants to be well dressed will wear Semi-ready clothes.

In this district the Semi-ready Wardrobe is controlled by Cressman.

The reports show that he has received his B. A. and B. Sc. degrees.

San Francisco Flames, Though Under Control, Break Out In New Places

Seven Square Miles of City Fire-Swept—Relief From Australia—The Fire Has Reached Great Coal Bunkers.

G. N. W. Despatches.

Seven Square Miles.

San Francisco, Cal., April 23.—The area of the burned district is seven square miles. Property owners had an opportunity yesterday to inspect some of their holdings, and, in a measure, to ascertain what damage had been done. The new modern steel buildings were found almost intact. The steel frames were in perfect plumb, and apparently as strong as ever. Even when the fire swept through them only the woodwork was damaged.

Help From Australia.

Melbourne, Australia, April 23.—Funds have been started at the various Australian capitals in aid of the San Francisco sufferers. Premier Seddon, on behalf of New Zealand, has offered $25,000.

South San Francisco Suffers.

Oakland, Cal., April 23.—A report reached here from San Francisco at midnight that a brisk fire was burning in South San Francisco. The illumination can be readily seen from this side of San Francisco, a distance of eight miles. It is believed that the fire broke out afresh from smouldering embers that could not be subdued on account of the lack of water.

When fire was announced practically under control in San Francisco, several frame buildings were standing in South San Francisco, but it is now feared that these will be swept away.

Fire Breaks out Afresh.

San Francisco, Cal., April 23.—The fire which seemed to have died out yesterday, broke out with renewed vigour in the coal bunkers, north of the Ferry Building shortly after midnight. The fire reached these bunkers Saturday, but was apparently checked after a hard fight, although the blaze stubbornly resisted all efforts of the firemen to extinguish it. Unless the flames can be subdued there is grave danger that they will eat their way across to the docks north of the Ferry Building and reach this great structure. Early this morning the fire was burning fiercely.

Heintz & Co's Wires:

$1,000,000 for San Francisco.

Washington, April 23rd. — The Secretary of the Treasury has authorized the deposit at the Chicago subtreasury of $1,000,000 in acceptable securities, and the mint at Denver will be instructed by wire to ship $1,000000 in gold at once to San Francisco.

A despatch to Heintz and Company at noon to-day said "Earthquake shocks are being felt at Portland, Oregon, and are causing considerable uneasiness.

Justice Magee Addressed Jury On McAuliffe Case

At the Opening of the Spring Assizes To-day—Grand Jury Empanelled—Only One Criminal Case on the List—Seven Civil Cases—The Members of the Bar Present—Hill vs. Gow Case Begun.

The Spring Assizes opened this afternoon at 1 o'clock, Justice Magee presiding. In reference to the cases before him, Justice Magee was pleased to find that there was only one criminal case before the court. That was the one in which Patrick McAuliffe was accused of killing Hudson in a bar-room in this city.

The following grand jurors were empannelled:

J. H. Larmonth, foreman, Peterborough.
B. F. Ackerman, Peterborough.
James Burnett, Peterborough.
Robert Doble, Peterborough.
James Dickson, Otonabee.
Allan Eason, Otonabee.
Wm. C. Elliot, Norwood.
Stephen O'Reilly, Ennismore.
John A. Sexsmith, Belmont.
G. B. Hilliard, Lakefield.
Richard White, Smith.
Joseph Barnhart.

In the address to the Grand Jury, His Honour Justice Magee reviewed the evidence which had been taken in the McAuliffe-Hudson case last fall. It was of the utmost importance, he said, that there should be nothing wanting in an indictment upon which the accused is put on trial. The criminal case in consideration is a case of manslaughter against Patrick McAuliffe, arising out of a barroom quarrel one day last year. From the evidence, there appeared to be a number of people in the room at the time the disturbance arose, in which it is supposed Hudson lost his life. It also appeared from the evidence of one person that the accused made use of some obscene language and that Hudson advanced towards him in a threatening manner to have him ejected from the bar room. McAuliffe retreated and made some motion behind his back and one witness stated that he saw some round substance in McAuliffe's hand and also that he saw this object put forward against Hudson who fell. Whatever it was it bounded from the head striking the bar and rolled away. Next morning the bartender found a stone under a piece of furniture. Several witnesses saw both parties coming together and Hudson fall.

Hudson lived for some time at his home, but on account of dangerous looking symptoms was removed to the hospital where a number of surgeons operated on him as some pressure on the brain was visible. Hudson died a few hours after the last operation.

Justice Magee then explained the difference between excusable and non-excusable homicide.

Excusable homicide is where the killing of another is done under circumstances indicating a pure accident, but where the killing is not a mere accident, but results from some quarrel, or is a deliberate act, the homicide is culpable. Murder is the killing of another with malice; manslaughter is the killing of another without malice.

In the case in question the charge is manslaughter, but if Patrick McAuliffe stood in the dear of his life, that he could only save it by using that degree of violence that he is accused of, then there is the excuse of self-defence.

At the conclusion of His Worship's address the Grand Jury retired to enter upon their duties.

The case of Hill v. Gow, an action for damages, on account of the death of plaintiff's son, was next proceeded with.

The following members of the bar were present: R. M. Dennistoun, K. E. Wood, Crown Attorney; F. D. Kerr, E. B. Edwards, L. M. Hayes, and W. R. Meredith, K.C., London.

Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health. —How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Fred Seydel.

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only.

Many thousands of cases of female diseases come before Mrs. Pinkham every year, some personally, others by mail. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence of women, and every testimonial letter published is done so with the written consent or request of the writer, in order that other sick women may be benefited as she has been.

Mrs. Fred Seydel, of 412 North 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Over a year ago I wrote you a letter asking advice, as I had female ills and could not carry a child to maturity. I received your kind letter of instructions and followed your advice. I am not only a well woman in consequence, but have a beautiful baby girl. I wish every suffering woman in the land would write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Just as surely as Mrs. Seydel was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ills.

If you are sick, write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helpful.

Health Board Censures Press Of Peterborough

City Papers Come in for a Good Deal of Criticism at This Morning's Meeting—Accused of Abusing Their Privileges—Not Much Business Was Transacted.

This morning's meeting of the Board of Health was devoted principally to the discussion of the stand taken by the City Council in regard to the isolation hospital, and incidentally to much censure of the press of Peterborough. Mr. Eyres, chairman, read the report of the last meeting of the Council as published in an evening contemporary, and also his reply to the same, which appeared in Saturday's papers. There was objection to the action of the Council as published in an evening contemporary, which said that Dr. Hodgetts, and Dr. Smith, the Provincial health authorities, would be asked to come to Peterborough to meet the Council. City clerk Armstrong read the resolution passed by the Council in reference to the matter, which was to the effect that Dr. Hodgetts and Dr. Smith be asked to meet the Board of Health and the Finance Committee.

This, in some measure, cleared the Council, and the Board turned their attention to the press. Chairman Eyres said that the resolution was very different from that published in the paper referred to. It was not right to allow such a report to go out to the ratepayers and leave the Board open to charges not founded on facts.

Dr. Burnham referred to what he termed the slanderous remarks of the Council, and thought they should be asked to take it back.

Mr. Neill referred to certain things which the papers of Peterborough had published, which he thought they had no right to publish. "A man can't cross the street these days without having his name in the papers," he said in conclusion.

Nothing was done in reference to the isolation hospital, and the Board will not be able to take any further steps until the Provincial authorities are heard from.

The chairman again called the attention of the Board to the condition of White's Creek. This subject was discussed at the last meeting, but as there was no quorum it was not possible to take any action. This morning, on motion, it was decided that the sanitary inspector should be instructed to inspect and make a report of the condition of the creek before May 30.

Chairman Eyres spoke of the conditions existing at Lakefield, where he said that several establishments had sewer connection with the river. The greater part of the sewage at Lakefield was going into the river. Last year the Provincial Board of Health had been communicated with, but Lakefield went right on with what they were doing. The Board had no jurisdiction beyond three miles of the city limits. They might, however, prevail upon the Provincial Board to take some steps or else a private individual might take action against Lakefield, authority to do which was given by the general law.

Dr. McNulty said no greater menace to the public health of the city existed.

It was decided to bring the matter before the Provincial health authorities during their visit, and that the Water Commissioners and Finance Committee be asked to be present.

Ireland's Beauties Told In An Essay

Miss L. Deannard's Instructive Paper at Meeting of Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's--History of the Emerald Isle--Her Record in War and Peace.

The Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T. A. S. held a most delightful meeting on Friday evening, when Miss L. Dennard read a beautiful and instructive paper on "Sketches from Ireland". The essayist showed a thorough knowledge of Irish history and held the attention of her hearers from start to finish.

As an introduction to her subject Miss Dennard very aptly recited an exquisite little poem "Morning on the Irish Court", and gave a short bidgraphical sketch of Ireland's great men.—Henry Grattan, of whose statue in front of the Bank of Ireland, J. L. Stoddart says, "Were I an Irishman, I should regard that statue as a shrine; for a purer patriot and more loyal son of Ireland never lived"; and of his successor, Daniel O'Connell, in whose honour a fine statue has been erected in Sackville tcget, "If there be any Irishman whose memory is more revered than that of Grattan, it is O'Connell." To Father Mathew's, the Apostle of Temperance, memory, a beautiful white marble monument has been erected in the most prominent street of Dublin, among the people whom he loved and sought to elevate. "A friend and contemporary of O'Connell, this eloquent priest laboured to emancipate his countrymen from the slavery to their appetites as strenuously as the "Liberator" strove to free them from political oppression". Briefly referring to Burke, Goldsmith, Swift, Curran and Moore, the essayist named a few of Ireland's illustrous soldiers and told what a race of warriors the Irish have always been. From her earliest days they have been noted for their bravery, and when driven from their native land by famine and persecution, they have swelled the ranks of the armies of France and Spain, and for many years Europe gathered her recruits from among the Irish. The Prince of Orange said they were born soldiers and Hugh O'Neil was called the third soldier of the age by the King of France. In spite of all her grievances Ireland has not hesitated to fight nobly for England. At Waterloo the Irish Grenadiers covered themselves with glory and the Enniskillen Dragoons were literally cut to pieces in the Boer war. The Duke of Wellington was Ireland's gift to England and who among the braves of Great Britain are more admired trusted and beloved than Lord Wolseley commander-in-chief; Lord Roberts, field marshall in the Transvaal; Sir George White, the hero of Ladysmith and Lord Kitchener, conqueror of the Soudan and commander in India, all of whom are Irish.

Carefully preserved in the library of the University of Dublin are found manuscripts of untold value, rare books and other interesting relics, of which the Irish are so justly proud. Miss Deannard described the wonderful beauty of the intricate patterns with which these parchments are decorated, mentioning particularly the "Book of Kells." Within the museum of Dublin many valuable objects of gold and silver are kept, the most remarkable of which is the sacred reliquary, known as the Cross of Cong, designed, as its inscription states, to contain a portion of the true cross. To fully appreciate this masterpiece, its intricate workmanship should be examined with a magnifying glass. The Ardagh Chalice and St. Patrick's Bell, also preserved in the museum were spoken of at some length.

In connection with the Golden Age of Ireland, when the "Island of Saints" surpassed all the rest of northern Europe in piety, learning and culture, the essayist dwelt for a moment on St. Columba the second grand ecclesiastical figure in Ireland in those early days, who in the course of his wonderful career is said to have founded 100 monasteries, 965 churches and to have ordained 3,000 priests.

Conquests, oppressions and bad government have blighted the superlatively brilliant prospects of her early national life and, "If on the grave of Ireland's promise a suitable epitaph could be inscribed none more fitting could be written, than that found on a tombstone near the ruined church of Glendalough—"Couldst love have saved, thou hadst not died."

In conclusion Miss Dennard read Stoddart's beautiful description of a thunderstorm on the Irish coast.

Miss O'Connel occupied the chair and a piano solo by Miss Daisy Conroy and a recitation by Miss Mary Feeney were very well rendered.

Splendid Place to Spend a Profitable Afternoon.

The Victoria Museum was opened last Wednesday for the season, and will be open to the public every afternoon during the week until 8 o'clock. This institution is one in which the citizens of Peterborough apparently take very little interest. No better place to spend an afternoon could be found, and the large number of interesting curios on exhibition is a source of surprise and interest to all who visit the museum.

Life's Purpose And Its Fulfillment Was The Subject

Practical and Profitable Sermon by Rev. Alfred Bright—Importance of Having a Definite Purpose in Life Was Strongly Emphasized—The Advantages That Followed This Course.

REV. MR. BRIGHT IS A FLUENT SPEAKER

Rev. Alfred Bright, the recently appointed assistant pastor of St. Paul's and Knox churches, preached to a large congregation in the latter church last evening. Mr. Bright is a fluent and most impressive speaker. He makes no use of his notes, and his discourses are marked by brilliancy of thought and originality of treatment. His sermon last night was a most practical and helpful one, the subject being "The Purpose of Life and Its Fulfilment."

Rev. Mr. Bright took for the foundation for his remarks, St. John ix., 4; "I must work the works of Him that sent Me, while it is day," and

REV. ALFRED BRIGHT, B. A.
New Assistant Pastor of St. Paul's and Knox Churches.

St. John xvii., 4; "I have finished the work which thou gavest Me to do." The first of these texts showed that Christ's purpose was to carry on the works of His Father, to reveal God to the world, to make Him real and intelligible. The second indicated that he had finished these works. He had let nothing crop up in his life to prevent them from being completed. Life, said the speaker, to most people was a series of failures. Plans were made which were never carried out; castles were built in the air which were never completed on the earth. He was sure that many of his hearers a year before had made resolutions which had not been carried out. A retrospect glance would show them confronted with failure. Life was a spirit of defeat.

The question naturally arose, should Life have a purpose? His answer was decidedly in the affirmative A man without a definite object in life would not succeed. Men without a purpose drifted like a piece of driftwood. They drifted into work not suited to them. It was the man who mapped out a definite course of action that would succeed. All the great men who moved the world were men with a definite purpose.

The first thing involved in having a fixed purpose was that it gave a right conception of life. Nothing was more needed. It was a commercial age, when commercialism seemed to colour the outlook on life. Things were measured quantitatively, not by dollars and cents. The right conception was that of Christ, "I must work the works of Him that sent Me." When a man felt that God was a motive power behind him the would have every incentive to success. The secret of success lay in a well-defined purpose.

A great purpose also led a man to consecrate his life to the will and service of Christ. Consecration simply meant doing the work of God. A man must see the relationship between himself and God before he could have the purpose. How often was seen a young man who, at home, when helped by the God of his father or the God of his church, after leaving these influences, often dropped into the vortex of sin.

A definite purpose put great intensity into the activities of life. Here the speaker dwelt on the frequency with which the word "must" was found in the story of the life of Jesus. The men who said "must" were the men who turned the world upside down. People shouldn't allow a game of tennis, a pipe or a game of cards to become "musts" in their lives. A man who skated six nights in the week or played golf six afternoons had no intensity of purpose. If he had, these things would be allowed to fall into their proper places as recreations.

The speaker, in conclusion spoke of the joy that attended the satisfactory fulfilment of life's purpose.

Mr. A. Beall's Lecture At Leamington

Rector of Church There Writes Commending It.

The "Canadian Churchman," in a recent issue, has a letter, from Dr. J. Edmonds, rector of St. John's Anglican church, Leamington, in which the visit of Mr. Arthur Boalo, M.A., of Peterborough, to that town, and a lecture given there are referred to. The letter follows:

Sir,—I was deeply interested in the visit of Mr. Arthur Beall, M.A., of Peterborough, lecturer for the W. C. T. U. White Cross Society. He spoke to the boys of the public school ranging from 12 to 8. By the admirable use of the Socratic method—question and answer—and by the aid of telling words and figures on the blackboard, he led them on, step by step, till they confessed, with enthusiastic applause, that their bodies were the temples of God, and were sacred to Him. Oh! it was excellent! Not a word was spoken to which possible exception could be made, yet the meaning was made plain. Their minds were filled with respect, and awe, and they will be thankful to the lecturer as long as they live. It was a lesson in human philosophy and Scriptural holiness never to be forgotten. My conviction was: This should have been attended to long ago—who is to tell the child these things? Mothers and fathers do not. Are they to learn them from evil-minded men, and those who delight to corrupt the minds of little ones? The Government of our land should appoint lecturers, high-minded, Christian gentlemen, to visit every public school, once or twice a year. Then we shall have a virile race of boys rising up in our midst—the noble progenitors of generations yet unborn. Bishop Lightfoot says in one of his sermons: "You know that on the battlefield there is always one spot which is the key to the position, and the army that can win and hold it will win the fight. Now, I say that the key of a man's character lies here: Purity establishes itself in the citadel, the whole character is won." We are greatly indebted to Mr. Beall for his visit to our public schools.

Were Honoured By Otonabee Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Dickson Presented With Rifle and Clock on Eve of Departure for the West—Many Evidences of Good Will Manifested---Long Time Residents Leave for Canadian West.

That the departure of Mr. and Mrs J. W. Dickson, from Otonabee, where they have made their home for a number of years, and where Mr. Dickson was born, was regretted by their neighbours and friends, with whom they were deservedly popular, was given evidence to most unmistakably. Just prior to Mr. Dickson's departure for the North West, where he went before Mrs. Dickson, a large number of their friends gathered at their home, and after pleasantly spending the evening, presented Mr. Dickson with a valuable rifle, and his wife with a handsome clock, as evidences of the esteem in which they are held.

The visit was a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Dickson, who were deeply touched by the manifestations of good will shown them on their departure .

During the course of the evening Mr. N. Swan read the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dickson,

Dear Friends, — We, your friends and neighbours, of whom a goodly number have gathered in your home here this evening, have heard of your intended departure from our midst to make your home in the great North-West.

We regret that old familiar intercourse will be interrupted by your removal. Your social and neighbourly ways have made you many friends who could not let this occasion pass without showing you that they appreciated these qualities; they ask you to accept these articles as mementoes of our respect, that in the land of your adoption they may bring back to your memory friendships formed in younger days and we shall hope that you may re-travel your long journey that old friendships may be renewed.

You have our heartiest wishes for success in your undertakings, and that health and prosperity may ever attend you, and that your future years in your western home may be your brightest and your best years.

Signed on behalf of your neighbours:

J. W. KINDRED,
H. SMITHSON.

In acknowledging the address and the gifts accompany it, Mr. Dickson expressed the deep sense of gratitude which he and his wife felt at the words of good will, and the good wishes given evidence to, and he was sure that they would strengthen them in their new undertaking, and their memory would be sources of pleasure to them in years to come. During their entire residence in that vicinity they had experienced he said, nothing but the best of fellowship, and he felt they would be fortunate indeed if their new associations proved nearly as pleasant. He had no doubt that difficulties would not be few, but he was sure that, armed with their their good wishes, and the trusty weapon, they should not fear the future. Referring to the gift of the clock he remarked that their friends evidently intended that they should lose no time in their new home. On behalf of Mrs. Dickson and himself, he most heartily thanked his friends for their many kindnesses.

Refreshments which the visitors had brought, were served, and a very pleasant, though, in some respects sorrowful evening was spent.

Mr. Dickson has gone to the West but Mrs. Dickson is visiting in the city with relatives and will join her husband later.

The Children's Aid And Barnardo Work

Appreciative References to the Work of Local Organizations in the Interests of the Children in Annual Report of Neglected and Dependent Children—Child Immigration--Great Advances and Encouraging Results of Work for Children.

The annual report of the work in behalf of Neglected and Dependant Children in Ontario, covering the operations during 1905, is an especially interesting document, and particularly so to the citizens of Peterborough, where the work on behalf of children of this class is being carried on most successfully and extensively by two different organizations, the Children's Aid Society and Dr. Barnardo's Home, both of which are referred to in the report, mentioned. This is caring for children, who were they left to themselves, would grow up to be, if not a menace to the country, factors in its degradation, instead of in its upbuilding, as is usually the case with those who have come under the direction and protection of the Societies, the object of which is to reclaim children who, generally because of evil environments, and happily not because of inclinations, have strayed from the paths of rectitude, or who have been abandoned by their parents.

The work done by the Children's Aid Society of Peterborough is referred to in the report as well as that of the other societies working in the province. Child immigration is one of the subjects dealt with in the report, and in this connection the operations of the Barnardo Homes receive attention. It is shown that during 1905, 1469 boys and 838 girls were brought to Canada, and of this number the Barnardo Home at Toronto received 850 boys and the Home here 450 girls.

Speaking further with reference to this Home, Inspector Byrne's report says:—

A great and irreparable loss was sustained in child-saving work in England, through the death in September last of Dr. Barnardo. He was the inspiration of a great movement that rescued young people from lives of misery and despair and transplanted them to the better environment and more hopeful surroundings of Canada.

Knowing for a considerable time previously that his death was in a precarious condition, he had made careful provision for the continuance of his rescue work, so that there has been no appreciable difference in methods since his decrease. The Canadian distributive work continues under the management of Mr. A. B. Owen, and during the past season 1,147 children were brought to Ontario. Of this number, 342 girls went to Peterborough, the remaining 805 boys being placed out from the Toronto Home. This is the largest record of children handled in any one year by a receiving agency. The children varied in age from seven to seventeen, the average age being eleven. Quite a large number have been boarded out in foster homes, and the tendency is to send children to Canada at an earlier age than formerly, and to board them out in the country districts of Ontario, as an alternative method of training to their remaining in Institutions in England.

There are now 1,100 children in the Province of Ontario whose maintenance is being paid for from the funds of this organization.

How far this branch of work will conflict with local interests remains to be seen.

The majority of these children are placed in Western Ontario, but almost every township and county has its quota. Careful provision is made for the supervision of this large and ever increasing number of children. Thirty persons are employed in the Canadian work, of whom seven are exclusively engaged in personally visiting the children in their situations or foster homes. My observations lead me to believe that the one aim of the management is to conduct the work with the highest possible degree of efficiency.

"Hazelbra", Peterborough.

There were three parties of girls received at Dr. Barnardo's Receiving Home for Girls at Peterborough, the total numbers being 450. Of this, about 150 under twelve years of age are boarded out in order to insure regular school attendance. In addition to the staff, there are three visitors engaged in looking after the welfare of these young people. As in teh case of the other Homes, many more applications are received than can be filled.

Mr. Kelso, in his introduction to the report, and speaking of the work generally says:—

The good work of former years is now becoming increasingly apparent. There is no stopping the flight of time, and with each receding year the children who have been assisted are advancing towards manhood and womanhood, and taking their places in society as self-supporting and self-respecting members. Many are getting married and settling down to the realities of life. Some who in former years resented the interference of the Children's Society now recognized something of the debt they owe, and though the work is not yet old there have been a number of cases where children cared for and helped in the earlier years, having now homes of their own, have in turn offered a home to a friendless child, while many other have reported cases of neglect and thus materially helped and benefitted other children. This is merely indicating something of the results, for it is not given to any of us to know the full extent of our influence. We are told that no good deed is ever lost, and certainly where children of tender hearts and reformed character are aided there cannot fail to be a full and ample response in the years to come. This thought should increasingly encourage and inspire all who are identified with this movement, leading them to redoubled effort so that not one child may be neglected or allowed to drift on to a wasted if not a criminal career.

By Regulating The Food System

NEARLY ALL THE MOST COMMON ILLS OF HUMANITY ARE PREVENTED AND CURED BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

"When our food is properly digested and assimilated, the waste matter promptly excreted and all the organs working in harmony we are well. When any derangements of these functions occur we are sick.

If we wait to consider for a moment what a large proportion of such derangements arise from constipation of the bowels, torpidity of the liver and sluggish action of the kidneys it is not difficult to understand the far-reaching effects of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a means of preventing and curing disease.

One of the results of our artificial modern life, and more especially that of winter, is too much eating and too little exercise. The liver and kidneys are overworked in their effort to remove the excess of waste matter, and when they fail in this work disorders of some kind are bound to arise.

It is usually with the liver that trouble begins. The bile which should be poured into the intestines to aid gestion and insure healthful action of the bowels is left in the blood to poison the system.

Headache, biliousness, liver complaint and constipation are followed by uric acid poisoning, kidney disease and rheumatism when the kidneys play out.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills begin by enlivening the action of the liver and bowels, and thereby effecting a thorough cleansing of the whole filtering and excretory systems. By this means constipation, biliousness, indigestion and all their accompanysymptoms are removed.

Then by their direct action on the Kidneys they purify the blood of uric acid poison, which is the cause of rheumatism, backache, lumbago and all the dreadful painful and fatal diseases of the kidneys.

In the newspapers have appeared from time to time thousands of letters from persons who have been cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In the majority of the homes of Canada this great family medicine is constantly kept on hand as a preventive and cure for these common ills of life. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box; at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co, Toronto.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR LINDSAY

Lindsay hopes to get another industry. The Madison Williams Machine Works, of Port Perry, will remove there if the citizens will subscribe for $30,000 of stock. At a meeting held on Friday night, $15,000 was subscribed, and hopes are entertained that the balance will be raised.

FOR YOUR STOMACH.

When you eat your dinner to-night, take a thought about your little stomach.

First you fill it with soups, then fish, meats, salads, a dozen and one other things, and wind up with ice cream, coffee and perhaps wine. You see you are pretty hard on your stomach to make it bear all these cultivated tastes of yours, eating and drinking, morning, noon and night. Is it any wonder that it is sore, tired, painful and tired? How can it help burning, paining, giving off fermented gasses? Why don't you try Hutch Tablets? Get them at any drug store and give your stomach some assistance. Take it a day or two and you will have to confess that Hutch is the greatest preparation for pains in the stomach you ever came across in your life.

Don't forget! Take one after each meal. This makes Hutch do the most good. A big bottle $2.00 for $1.00—For sale by W. B. Warne.

THE THREE-FIFTHS CLAUSE.

(Brantford Expositor.)

The Liquor License Bill of the Whitney Government has now passed through committee of the House, and stands for third reading. It is consequently reasonably certain that the measure will become law without any important change.

The discussion centred chiefly about the clause requiring a three-fifths majority in order to secure both the enactment and repeal of the Local Option law, and although strong protests have come from many quarters against it, the Government remains unmoved.

It is to be borne in mind in considering this question that for more than fifty years the principle which it is now sought to disturb has remained on the statute books, and that principle is the right of every municipality by majority vote to decide for itself whether or not it shall permit the sale of intoxicating liquors within its limits. It is a principle which is universally recognized in the neighbouring Republic, almost every state of which has local option legislation, and in no instance is more than a majority vote required in order to put the act into operation. In England there is no such legislation upon the statute books, and although Sir William Vernon Harcourt, in his Local Veto Bill of 1902, had a two-thirds requirement as one of his clauses, that bill did not become law. In any event, Great Britain affords a poor precedent, because public sentiment is much less advanced there on the temperance question than it is with us. Manitoba, and perhaps one or more of the Maritime Provinces, with New Zealand, afford the only parallels to be found.

The result of the Government's action undoubtedly will be to greatly curtail the agitation for local option which has recently gained such force in Ontario. Whether so intended or not, this is the compensation which the licensed victuallers will receive in return for the higher license fees which the Government is exacting, and they are certainly not getting the worst of the deal.

COLONIES SHOW THE WAY.

Mr. Herman Greenwood, one of the Canadian members of the British House of Commons, in a recent speech, showed how important is the presence in the British Commons of representatives with first-hand knowledge of conditions in the colonies, to this extent the colonies having a representative in the Imperial Parliament. Mr. Greenwood aptly pointed out that the emigration from the British Isles was composed very largely of persons imbued with progressive and liberal ideas, and that in this movement there was little sympathy on the part of colonials with Toryism at home. To show how the colonies had outstripped the Motherland in politics, the speaker declared that he knew of no problem, whether it be land, liquor, lords or labour, that now confronted the statesmen of Great Britain that had not been solved in the self-governing colonies exactly as the Liberals proposed to solve it at home.

HAMILTON IS HARD TO PLEASE.

Hamilton is a little hard to please It is growling over the fact that whoever arranged the itinerary of the Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught tour, provided that the Prince should only give Hamilton two hours of his presence. That's certainly a short period of time, but it's not worth making so much fuss about. When the Prince of Wales, his present Majesty, visited Canada, he gave only an hour to Peterborough. We didn't complain, but received our future King loyally. We considered ourselves honoured by even an hour's stay of our future King — we were proud of it, and to such an extent that, after the lapse of forty years we are not done quarrelling over the identity of the man who drove and furnished the white horses used on the occasion for drawing the royal coach. Hamilton should be happy with two hours. Peterborough did not get even a minute of the Duke of Connaught's presence.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Smith, of Peel, a stalwart legislator, whose heart towards the gentler sex seems to be as big as his body, introduced a bill into the Legislature, intended to give the Parliamentary franchise to women and spinsters, but his gallant proposal was most ungallantly sat on, the bill giving these women a chance to vote getting only nine votes out of a house of ninety. It is very doubtful if the class of ladies mentioned desire the right to vote, which is fortunate, for they would be a long time disappointed. If they show no more desire to vote than the makers of the legislation desire to vote for them having a right to vote, the love of the privilege is not much of a hardship.

ST. GEORGE
Tutelary Saint of England

This is the anniversary of St. George, the especial patron of chivalry and the tutelary saint of England, whose sons in Peterborough as well as in the wide sweep of the empire will, if not foregather and feast, feel the bonds of brotherhood more closely knit and tune their hearts with deepened earnestness to the contemplation of Home in fair Albion. Although St. George was venerated in both the Eastern and Western early churches, his history is extremely obscure, the existing accounts evidently containing much more legend than history. The story in the Acta Sanctorum goes to say that St. George was born of noble parents at Cappadocia, became a distinguished soldier and after testifying to the Faith before Diocletian was tortured and put to death at Nicodomia, April 23rd. A. D., 303. The famous story of St. George's struggle with, and slaying of the dragon, a representation of which is found on British coins, is first found in "Voragine's Golden Legends". To slay a dragon was a common exploit for the saints and heroes of Christendom as well as of Teutonic and Indian antiquity and St. George's exploit have touches so closely the myths of the Aryan family, as to warrant its being resolved into a mythical symbol of the sun-god dispelling darkness. Churches were dedicated to St. George from very early times. The Crusades gave a great impetus to his cult and he was regarded as the soldier-saint who led his votaries to battle and victory. Many new chivalrous orders assumed him as their patron and he was adopted as her tutelary saint by England. In 1338 Edward III. founded St. George's Chapel, Windsor, the scene of so many royal and noble marriages and in 1344 the order of the Garter was instituted. The Cross of St. George—red on a white ground—the foundation emblem of the present union flag of Great Britain, was worn as a badge over the armour of every English soldier in the fourteenth and subsequent centuries. As a part of the British flag it has flashed in the forefront of the battle line on many a foughten field, winning as did St. George, a victory of light over darkness, and establishing itself as the most important symbol and agent of the greatest religious enlightenment, liberty and progress the world has ever known or will know. Englishmen the world over as well as in Peterborough and Canada, have ample warrant for holding St. George's day and the tremendous entities he represents in special veneration.

The monthly business meeting of W. A. will be held on Thursday at 3 p.m. The members are urgently requested to hand in their thankoffering to be presented at the annual meeting in Toronto next week, so that St. Luke's branch might not be behind in the noble effort of the W. A. to support missions.

The Mission Band will meet on Saturday at 2 o'clock.

MURRAY STREET.

Large congregations were present at both services at Murray street Baptist church yesterday. Rev. F. J. Scott occupied the pulpit, his subjects being "Revival" in the morning, and in the evening "The Prodigal Son."

The B.Y.P.U. will meet to-night when Mr. Willfrid Shiner, the delegate to the recent B.Y.P.U. convention of Ontario and Quebec at Brantford, will report.

The Willing Workers will meet to-morrow night at 7.30 o'clock and the regular prayer meeting takes place on Wednesday.

A special collection was taken up yesterday for the Educational work. Another opportunity will be given next week.

PARK STREET.

The pastor's theme yesterday morning was the inspiration of the Scriptures, and in the evening the Gospel message from "Strive to enter in."

Miss Nellie Pilling sang "The Pilot Song," in good voice. Three persons were baptised and at the Lord's supper took their first communion and were received into church fellowship. The congregation was large, the overflow filling the school room. A platform meeting next Sunday night will be addressed by three working men. The B.Y.P.U. have an open session to-night with an interesting programme.

The Ladies' Aid meets on Tuesday, Mrs. M. Mowry will preside.

There will be a public service on Wednesday, with the pastor in the chair.

ALL SAINTS

To-night there will be a special meeting of the Women's Guild at 7.30 and the Girls' Guild will meet at the same hour.

The Women's Auxiliary will meet to-morrow at 2.30 and the Junior Auxiliary will hold a meeting at 4 o'clock on Thursday.

The usual week night service will be held on Thursday at 7.30 and the choir practice at 8.30.

CHARLOTTE STREET.

The series of sermons which Rev. W. J. Jolliffe is preaching on "Women of the Bible," is proving most interesting, and the church is crowded each Sunday night. Last night "Deborah" was the character dealt with in the sermon, and the story of her part in the deliverance of her nation was very interestingly told, and many lessons extracted from it. The speaker said that we do not often find women leading armies as Deborah did, but they lead in devotion, in consecration and in faith.

The music yesterday was of a particularly interesting character, two solos being given at each service. In the morning the anthem was "As it began to dawn," by Reid, and Mr. D. Bedford, of New York, sang "King of Eternity," while at the offertory Mr. R. N. Jolliffe sang "Does Jesus Care?" at the evening service the anthem was "O, Death Where is Thy Sting?" the anthems for the day being those given on Easter Day, reversed in order. Miss Belleghem, after the lesson sang with splendid effect, Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer," and Mr. Jolliffe again sang, his selection being "My Redeemer and My Lord," by Dudley Buck. Mr. Jolliffe's many admirers were delighted to hear him again. His voice continues to improve, and he has a most promising future.

MR. GEO. FAX AT ST. ANDREW'S TO-NIGHT

The concert at St. Andrew's church to-night, judging from the talented entertainers taking part, will be a good one. Mr. Geo. Fax, a favourite among Peterborough concert goers, will be the prominent entertainer. Mr. Gilbert Markle, violinist, and Messrs. Walter Stocker and William Campbell, vocal soloists, will also take part, and a delightful evening is assured to all who attend.

"ELIZABETH BELL" AUXILIARY FORMED

Mrs. Robinson, the secretary of the W.H.M.S., gave a very interesting address in St. Andrew's church last night. The speaker dealt with the growth of the work since its inception.

At the conclusion of the service an Auxiliary was formed called the Elizabeth Bell Auxiliary in honour of a daughter of a former pastor of St. Andrew's church. The following officers were elected:—

Hon. President—Mrs. J. G. Potter.

1st Vice-President—Mrs. H. Waddell.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Richard Lees.
Secretary—Miss M. Reid.

Lessons Taught By San Francisco Disaster

Rev. Dr. Torrance Refers to the Catastrophe and Says it Should be Warning to Citizens of Peterborough—God's Attitude to the Sinners.

During the course of his sermon in St. Paul's church last night, Rev. Dr. Torrance referred at some length to the awful catastrophe in San Francisco, and the recent eruption of Mount Vesuvius. He drew from these some timely lessons, and added that great temporal calamity was no proof of aggravated sin, but he was ready to admit that national calamities had been sent because of national sins. He spoke from St. Luke 13th chaper, 4th and 5th verses:—

"Or those eighteen upon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slew them, think ye that they were sinners above all men that dwelt in Jerusalem?

"I tell you nay; but, except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish."

The doctor read Pliny's graphic description of the first outbreak of Mount Vesuvius in '79, when Pliny, who was an eye-witness of the awful spectacle, escaped with his mother and wrote to Tacitus. The speaker referred to the outbreaks of Vesuvius during the past few days, and then to the horrible disaster and suffering in the grief-stricken city of San Francisco. He declared that temporal calamity is no proof of aggravated sin, although national calamities have been sent by God because of national sins. San Francisco, a beautiful and lovely city, had been practically destroyed. It was said to have been a very wicked city, not only because of its location, but also because of the cosmopolitan character of the population. Had God a controversy with the city? If so, would he have caused the righteous to be destroyed the same as the wicked, the innocent to suffer the same as the guilty? How, then, shall we account for the mysteries of Providence? We must remember that God deals with individuals, as families, as communities, and as nations. Jonah had warned Ninneveh, but if anyone had warned San Francisco of its coming doom such a one would have been deemed unworthy of credence. In the destruction of Sodom and Gamorrah, the cities of the plains, God had given them warning, and Lot and his family had escaped. The great temporal calamities befalling others should prove a warning to us. The goodness and severity of God were a strange combination. The destruction of the city of San Francisco should lead the people of Peterborough to repentance.

It was said that Canada was a highly favoured land, that we had no tidal waves, no cyclones and no earthquakes, but while this all might be, we as individuals could not escape sudden death. Great temporal calamities are an indication of the doom of the impenitent—of the destruction of all things earthly. These disasters should serve as a warning to others.

Men's Mission In the Y.M.C.A. Closed Sunday

Largest Attendance of the Year Reported Yesterday.

The Y.M.C.A. Hall was crowded with men yesterday afternoon, the meeting being the last of the series in the Mission to Men that has been held during the past week. The attendance was the largest this year.

Mr. Williamson presided, and at the opening expressed thanks to Rev. Mr. Potter and others who had rendered such faithful and efficient service, during the week; all the results could not be tabulated or put in figures, but good work had been done just the same, and men's lives had been changed.

Mr. Freund sang "There is a Green Hill Far away," also "My Mother's Prayer," which had a good effect on those present.

Messrs. Brent and Thornton sang "There is no Love Like His." This selection also had a splendid effect.

Rev. J. G. Potter spoke on "Chariots of Fire," introducing the address by picturing the Prophet Elisha and his servant. The latter saw the horses and chariots of fire around and about the defenceless city, when the Lord had opened his eyes. Many men needed spiritual sight to-day and this the Lord was anxious to give them. Mr. Potter's address throughout was a heart to heart appeal to take Jesus Christ and follow Him. At the close Rev. Mr. Potter sang "Will you meet me at the Fountain," the audience joining in the chorus.

The men's Sunday meetings will be continued and several strong speakers will give addresses within the next few Sundays.

Dreaded Insomnia.

"I was afflicted with nervousness and dread insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and had bad cramps in stomach and limbs. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to my attention, and eight boxes cured me." — Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont.

CASES AGAINST RICHARD HALL ARE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

The cases of Delaire v. Hall and Talbot v. Hall, which were to have been on the list at the Spring Assizes, which began to-day, have been settled satisfactorily to both parties out of court. It will be remembered that the ladies connected with the above cases were plaintiffs seeking damages from Mr. Richard Hall on account of injuries received from the fall of an elevator in defendant's store last year.

MANITOBA SWELTERS IN 80 IN THE SHADE

Mr. J. L. Hatton, of Norwood, who has recently moved to Birtle, Man., writes the Examiner to-day in renewing his subscription, stating that the weather has been very warm and dry, the thermometer registering 80 in the shade. The land is in excellent condition for seeding and farmers are pushing the work with all possible speed. The surrounding country is flourishing, and Mr. Hatton says that he has no doubt that the West is the gold mine of Canada.

THE MARL SHIPMENTS HAVE BEEN RESUMED

The Lakefield Portland Cement Company has already begun to ship marl from their pit at Lily Lake to their works in the northern village. Ten or twelve car loads per day are being shipped at present, which will be increased later. A railway man is authority for the statement that about two thousand car loads of marl will be sent north this summer, as the Cement Works expect to do a heavy business this year.

Uniform Flow Of WATER IN THE CANAL Is Now Assured

Much Work Has Been Done During Winter--Whole Canal Now Practically Ready for Opening of Navigation--Some of the Details of the Work--Twenty-five Men Repairing Break in Bank.

The officials of the Trent Canal are working bravely these days preparing for the opening of navigation on the canal, which will in a short time, from one end to the other, be ready for traffic. The new superintending engineer, [illegible] since his arrival here, has been going over the works, and has become familiar with their character, while Mr. Gordon, the overseer, has been and is busily employed getting the canal in shape for opening. To-day J. H. McClellan, superintendent, gave The Examiner some information on the work which has been and is being done on the canal. A staff of men is now at work overhauling the lift lock, preparatory to placing it in commission, and 25 men are at work repairing the break in the canal bank, which it is expected will be completed in about two weeks. This work is being carried on under Mr. Alex. Richardson and Mr. John Gibson.

At Hastings the drill is working below the lock, and blasting is in progress. The dredge will commence work there to-morrow. The tug Empire has been hauled out of the water for repairs, and will be used to handle the mud scows in connection with the dredging. Mr. Frank Fahren is in charge of this work, and it is expected that the dredge will be working between Peterborough and Hastings until July.

A gang of men was despatched to Young's Point to-day to overhaul the lock gates and to erect the pivot pier for the new steel bridge, which will be built east of the present bridge which crosses the lock, where the new bridge has been built. It will not be necessary to keep it closed to vehicular traffic while boats are being locked through. A diver has been sent to repair the valves in the lock gates. Mr. Ed. Lajoie is in charge of this work.

The Lindsay locks and bridges have already been set in order, and navigation is open there.

Considerable work has been done on the dams which were recently taken over from the Ontario Government. On the Gull River waters the dams have been repaired, and new superstructures placed on that at Kinmount, while those on the Burnt and Gull Rivers have all been caulked and new stop-logs provided. At Balsover, between Balsam and Cameron Lakes, the lock has been repaired and the lakes are all full, and the dams free from leaks, so that the supply of water for the season is assured.

The work of dredging the Otonabee River below the Hunter street bridge is proceeding well under the direction of Mr. W. Quinn, and when the channel has been completed it will be a credit to the city.

At Kirkfield the Dominion Bridge Company have forty men at work completing the steel work of the hydraulic lift lock and expect to have it finished by July 1st.

Messrs. Larkin & Sangster have a large force of men at work finishing their contract.

At Gamebridge Messrs. Brown & Aylmer have fifty men at work on this division. The dredging of the entrance from Lake Simcoe is also being done by this firm.

It is expected that the stretch of canal from Lake Simcoe to Balsam Lake will be completed early in August, when it will be possible to go by steamer from Peterborough to Barrie and Orillia.

"An Arabian Legend."

The Arabians had a tradition that when the devil started forth from his own place to the garden of Eden he was too lazy to walk and begged all the animals, one after another, to carry him. All refused except the serpent, which was then a quadruped and the most beautiful of all beasts. Yielding to the entreaties of Satan, the serpent took up the devil on its back and carried him the rest of the way, no one knows how far, and after the consequences of the devil's entry into the garden became apparent the angels were commanded to look up the serpent and punish it, so Michael cut off its legs, and it was doomed henceforth to travel about as best it could flat on the ground.

A CITY liveryman who had purchased a fine-looking horse soon discovered that the animal was blind, and after several weeks he succeeded in disposing of her, as the defect did not seem to lessen her speed nor detract from her general appearance. The next day the new owner of the horse appeared.

"Say, you know that mare you sold me?" he began. "She's stone-blind.'

"I know it," replied her past owner, with an easy air.

"You didn't say anything to me about it," said the purchaser, his face red with anger.

"Well, you see," replied the other, "that fellow who sold her to me didn't tell me about it, and I just concluded that he didn't want it known."

San Francisco Now Rescued The Fire Is Out

Search of Ruins Increases the List of the Dead.

FIND HUNDREDS OF BODIES

Dreadful Results of Lodging Houses' Collapse Now Becoming Known—Plenty of Food For All, and Shelter Buildings Are Fast Being Erected —Plans For Permanent Rebuilding — Mayor Schmitz's Latest Proclamation.

San Francisco, April 23.—The announcement is made that the fire is out and that only smoking embers remain. The condition of the homeless and shelterless persons encamped throughout the city is remarkably good and offers of substantial assistance are being received from cities in all sections of the United States. The grand total of all moneys subscribed to date is $4,154,000.

The Dead Are Hundreds.

That the number of dead will run into several hundred is becoming apparent now. However, eastern people need to have little solicitude for their friends who were here as tourists at the time of the earthquake. It may be safely asserted that few, if any, such persons have been killed or injured. The casualties, with few exceptions, were confined to the occupants of cheap lodging houses.

The caving in of the Royal lodging house, at 40th and Minna streets, cost about 125 lives.

The collapsing of the Portland House, 40th street, between Mission and Market, entombed 60 persons. Many of these were saved before the fire reached the spot.

The large five-storey Brunswick rooming house with its 300 rooms filled with guests at 40th and Howard streets, collapsed and fire started amid the ruins five minutes later. It is estimated that over 300 persons lost their lives there.

Part of the large Cosmopolitan House, 5th and Mission streets, collapsed at the first tremble. Many of the sleepers were buried in the ruins and others escaped in their night clothes.

At 777 Mission street the Wilson House, with its four storeys and 800 rooms, fell to the ground a mass of ruins. Few of the inmates were rescued.

The Denver House on lower Third street fared the same, and none may ever know how many were killed.

Two hundred bodies found in the Potrero district, south of Shannon street, near the Union Iron Works, were cremated at the Six Mile House yesterday by order of Coroner Walsh.

At noon yesterday reports were made by the deputies sent out by the health officers of the finding of 200 bodies in various parts of the city. Few have been identified. The bodies were buried in various places, and the graves numbered.

Erecting Shelters.

The engineering department of the United States army, having in charge the construction of temporary buildings in Golden Gate Park for the housing of the homeless, reported yesterday that eight buildings 150 feet long 18 feet wide and 13 feet high will be finished to-day. These buildings will be cut into compartments large enough to furnish sleeping room for a family, and each compartment will have an entrance from the outside. Lumber is being delivered at the park in large quantities and 135 carpenters are at work on temporary buildings.

The vaults of the treasurer, the auditor and the tax collector are intact. There is something like $6,500,000 in the vaults of the city treasury.

The relief committee announced yesterday that the citizens no longer will be hindered going through the streets and no passes will be necessary.

Celebration of Mass.

On the steps of the shattered churches and on the green slopes of the parks and the cemeteries, the people of San Francisco assembled yesterday at the usual hours of religious service. Grateful for the opportunity of expressing thanks for their preservation and anxious for words of cheer and comfort to carry them through future trials, the people assembled yesterday in even larger numbers than is customary.

There was no distinction as to sect or denomination, the gatherings including as a rule a large percentage of the families camping or residing in the vicinity, Catholic clergymen celebrated masses in the Jewish cemetery and every creed knelt with bowed head while the services were in progress. On the steps of St. Mary's Cathedral and on the upheaved pavement of Golden Gate avenue, overlooking the blackened waste that commenced just across the street, Archbishop Montgomery celebrated mass at 8 o'clock.

The service was attended by thousands covering the church steps and extending up and down the street in either direction.

No Suffering.

The committee having in charge the relief of the hungry reports that every homeless person here is being cared for and that there is no suffering on the score of either food or drink within the city. Within a few hours an ample supply of milk will be assured.

Health Measures.

Only 80 patients are quartered in the territory that comprises park emergency hospital. Considering that over 500 injured persons received attention at the park since Wednesday morning, this is regarded by the physicians as very promising. Over 1,000 physicians and attendants are serving in the park at present.

Water In Plenty.

Experts of the Spring Valley Water Co., who have been engaged in making a thorough examination of the mains and reservoirs of the system, have reported that the company has in its reservoirs enough water to supply the city at the regular rate of 50,000,000 gallons a day for a period of 600 days.

Street cars were running on Fillmore street yesterday, and appeared to have plenty of power. The service was free. The cars on Sutter and Pacific avenue probably will be run by horses.

Five children were born last night in the hospitals that have been established at Golden Gate Park, making eighteen births in this park. Eight babes have been born in Buena Vista Park.

Will Occupy Houses.

Hundreds of houses in the unburned districts have been deserted by their occupants, who either have fled from the city or are camped in the parks. These, with 1,000 vacant homes and flats, and all public buildings, will be used for housing the homeless.

Gen. Funston, Mayor Schmitz and Gov. Pardee met in conference at Gen. Funston's headquarters at Fort Mason yesterday, and had a thorough understanding as to the relief measures and the policing of the city. It was decided to divide the city into three districts, one under the federal troops, one under the state troops, and the other under the police.

'Frisco Will Be Rebuilt.

Many of the most substantial business men and property owners here already are in consultations with the architects. While the work of clearing away the debris goes forward, a corps of draughtsmen will be busily occupied preparing plans for new buildings. Practically every bank in San Francisco will be rebuilt. H. P. Lilienthal, president of the Anglo-California Bank, said: "Now is the time for every man to put his shoulder to the wheel to build up the new city. There is going to be a new city, and I am going to do all I can to make is the greatest city in the world."

Cliff House Hardly Touched.

The Cliff House not only stands, but the damage sustained by it from the earthquake will not exceed $500.

Terrible Strain Tells.

The terrible strain of the last few days is beginning to tell on the people. The reaction has come, and suspense over missing relatives and friends is causing illness and in some cases insanity.

At Central avenue and Oak street a man became insane and attempted to kill his wife with a cleaver. He had to be arrested to prevent him from injuring himself or family.

Dead Less Than 300.

Washington, April 23.—The loss of life at San Francisco is estimated at less than 300 in a telegram addressed to the Secretary of the Treasury by Superintendent of the Mint Leach.

Mayor's Proclamation.

Mayor Schmitz has issued the following proclamation, which citizens are instructed to observe:

"Do not be afraid of famine. There will be sboundance of food supplied. Do not use any water except for drinking and cooking purposes. Do not light any fires in houses, stoves or fire-places. Do not use any house closets under any circumstances, but dig earth closets in yards or vacant lots, using if possible, chloride of lime, or some other disinfectant. This is of the greatest importance, and the water supply is only sufficient for drinking and cooking. Do not allow any garbage to remain on the premises, bury it immediately. Pestilence can only be avoided by complying with these regulations.

"You are particularly requested not to enter any business house or dwelling except your own, as you may be mistaken for one of the looters and shot on sight, as the orders are not to arrest but shoot down anyone caught stealing."

WEARY DAYS AND SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

Many men and women toss night after night upon sleepless beds until near dawn. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system that it cannot be quieted. Or, again, you have heart palpitation and sensation of sinking, a feeling you are going to die; or perhaps you wake up from your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and rest leaves you for the night. Allow these conditions to continue and you will feel your health declining.

It is the nerves and heart that are not acting properly.

They can be set right by the use of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They soon induce healthful, refreshing sleep, not by deadening the nerves, but by restoring them to healthy action and removing all symptoms of heart trouble, which is often the cause of nervousness and sleeplessness.

Mrs. Annie Chambers, Massey Station, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with dizziness, weak spells and fluttering of the heart. I was so bad at times I could not lie down in bed at nights but would have to sit up. I doctored for a whole year and got no relief. I took three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and was so completely cured I have not been troubled since. I cannot recommend them too highly."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or sent direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

VESSELS IMPOUNDED.

Many Tons of Food Thus Received For the Stricken City.

San Francisco, April 23.—For two days and nights a squad of police has been performing patrol duty in Golden Gate Strait. Two lieutenants and eight men, aboard the tug Sea Rover, Friday night, prevented the departure of several vessels from the harbor, for the reason that they carried food. All vessels were stopped and compelled to drop anchor in the stream or return to the dock, where the food was unloaded, and turned over to the authorities. On Thursday a similar detail of police succeeded in saving for San Francisco many tons of food that would otherwise have been carries to cities up and down the coast.

Nelson Raises Funds.

Nelson, B. C., April 23.—Mayor Gillette and a committee of citizens today raised about $1,500 for the relief of San Francisco by public subscription.

Peterboro Is Prompt.

Peterboro, April 23.—In response to a telegram from Vancouver to Mayor Best asking the city to send aid to the sufferers in San Francisco, a special meeting of the city council decided to forward sixty cases of Quaker Oats, and the American Cereal Co.'s agent in Vancouver has been wired to ship the goods at once. Their value is about $200.

How New York Helps.

New York, April 23.—One hundred wagons glittering with gilt and enamel, the property of Barnum & Bailey's circus, started Saturday from Washington Park, Brooklyn, on the most remarkable invasion of New York ever recorded in its municipal history. All of the wagons bore signs announcing that immediate contributions would be received along the route traversed of all non-perishable articles which might be sent to San Francisco at once. Everybody on the route gave everything they could spare for suffering strangers.

Sympathy Acknowledged.

Ottawa, April 23.—The following telegram has been received at Rideau Hall:

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, Ottawa:

I thank you for the kind message of sympathy, which I assure you I deeply appreciate, Signed, Theo. Roosevelt.

Relief Reaches $11,500,000.

New York, April 23.—It was estimated last night that the fund rapidly is nearing the enormous total of $10,000,000, and will have passed that figure by Monday, when Congress, it is announced, will add $1,500,000 to the $1,000,000 already appropriated.

ALL ON A LEVEL.

Santa Rosa In Ruins and Laborer and Millionaire on an Equality—100 Dead In the Town.

Santa Rosa, Cal., April 23.—The list of known dead now totals fifty-eight, and it is believed that 100 is a conservative estimate of the fatalities here. Five bodies were recovered yesterday from the wreckage. The entire business section is in ruins, and practically every residence is damaged, fifteen or twenty being badly wrecked. The damage to residences was caused principally by the sinking of foundations.

The brick and stone business blocks, together with the public buildings, were all thrown flat. The court house, hall of records, the Occidental and the Santa Rosa Hotels, the Athaeneum Theatre, the new Masonic temple, Oddfellows' block, all the banks—everything—went, and in all the city not one brick or stone building is standing, except the California & North Western Depot. It is almost impossible for an outsider to realize the situation as it actually exists here. The completeness of the devastation is really the redeeming feature, for it puts all upon exactly the same basis, commercially speaking.

All on a Level.

Bankers and millionaires are going about with only the few dollars they happened to have in their pockets when the crash came, and are little better off than the laborers who are digging through the debris Money practically has no value here now, for there is no place to spend it. Almost everyone here is sleeping out of doors, being afraid to enter their homes, except for a short while at a time, until repairs have been made. There are plenty of provisions. Some have been supplied by other towns, and much has been brought in from the surrounding country. Before the fire gained headway, several grocery stores were emptied of their contents in anticipation of what might follow.

Another Town Demolished.

Berkeley, Cal., April 23.—A private letter received Saturday by Postmaster Schmidt brings the information that Fort Bragg, one of the principal lumbering towns of Mendocino County, was almost totally destroyed as a result of a fire following Wednesday's earthquake.

The bank and other brick buildings were levelled by the tremors. But one person of the 5,000 inhabitants was killed, but scores were injured.

Relief expeditions at once were sent to Fort Bragg from surrounding towns and villages, and the people of the ruined area are being cared for.

Eye-Witness Tells The Story Of The Horror

Dr. Fleming of Los Angeles Gives Most Graphic Description.

PECULIAR MENTAL ATTITUDE TO DISASTER

Many Hours of Terror — Thousands Scantily Clad Rush Into Streets, Facing Death on Every Hand — Vivid Creepy Sensation Amid Intense Darkness—Wave-Like Motion of the Earthquake Shocks.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 23.—Most thrilling of all stories yet related of adventures in stricken San Francisco during the days of horror and nights of terror is that of a party of four, two women and two men, who arrived here after having spent a night and the greater portion of two days on the hills about Golden Gate park.

This party was composed of Mrs. Francis Winter, Miss Bessie Marley, Dr. Ernest W. Fleming, and Oliver Posey, all of this city.

All were guests at the Palace Tuesday night, but the party was formed in the streets of San Francisco Wednesday morning after the second shock had made the Palace untenable. They were strangers until then.

To a reporter Dr. Fleming told of his adventures.

"I was sleeping in a room on the third floor of the hotel," said Dr. Fleming, "when the first shock occurred. An earthquake in San Francisco was no new sensation to me. I was there in 1868, when a boy of 10 years old, when the first great earthquake came. But that was a gentle rocking of a cradle to the one of Wednesday.

Buildings Creak and Groan.

"I awoke to the groaning of timbers, the grinding, creaking sound, then came the roaring street. Plastering and wall decorations fell. The sensation was as if the buildings were stretching and writhing like a snake. The darkness was intense. Shrieks of women, higher, shriller than that of the creaking timbers cut the air. I tumbled from the bed and crawled, scrambling toward the door. The twisting and writhing appeared to increase. The air was oppressive. I seemed to be saying to myself, will it never, never stop? I wrenched the lock, the door of the room swung back against my shoulder. Just then the building seemed to breathe, stagger, and right itself.

"But I fled from that building as from a falling wall. I could not believe that it could endure such a shock and still stand.

"The next I remember I was standing in the street laughing at the unholy appearance of half a hundred men clad in pajamas and less.

"The women were in their night robes; they made a better appearance than the men.

"The street was a rainbow of colors in the early morning light. There was every stripe and hue of raiment never intended to be seen outside the boudoir.

"I looked at a man at my side; he was laughing at me. Then for the first time I became aware that I was in pajamas myself. I turned and fled back to my room.

Fires Began to Appear.

"There I dressed, packed my grip, and hastened back to the street. All the big buildings on Market street, toward the ferry were standing, but I marked four separate fires. The fronts of the small buildings had fallen out into the streets and at some places the debris had broken through the sidewalk into cellars.

"I noticed two women near me. They were apparently without escort. One said to the other, 'What wouldn't I give to be back in Los Angeles again.'

"That awakened a kindred feeling and I proffered my assistance. I put my overcoat on the stone steps of a building and told them to sit there.

"In less than two minutes those steps appeared to pitch everything forward, to be flying at me. The groaning and writhing started afresh.

"But I was just stunned, I stood there in the street with debris falling about me. It seemed the natural thing for the tops of buildings to careen over and for fronts to fall out. I do not even recall that the women screamed.

"The street gave a convulsive shudder and the buildings somehow righted themselves again. I thought they had crashed together above my head.

All Clad in Street Clothes.

"The two women arose and started to walk. I followed in a kind of aimless sort of way. The street was filled with moving things again. The rainbow raiment had disappeared, and all were clad in street clothes. Everyone was walking, but there was no confusion. We did not even seem in a hurry. Down Market street the flames were growing brighter.

"We walked with our luggage to the St. Francis. Fires were burning down toward the ferry, but the fire department had turned it. We had faith in the fire department.

"Soon I became aware that squads of soldiers were patrolling the streets. It appeared perfectly natural. I do not think I wondered why they were there.

"Men and women were all about us. We looked at each other and talked, even tried lamely to joke, but every few minutes a convulsive quiver swept through the city. The others seemed to be shivering.

"I noticed that the eyes of the men and women were rolling restlessly. Their tones were pitched high. It seemed to grate on my nerves. Then I fell to wondering whether I was talking shrilly too.

"I went to a grocery without a front and bought a few supplies that would make a cold lunch. The grocer did not even overcharge me. He was particular to give me the right change.

Fire Peril Grows.

"The soldiers came and told us to move on. It seemed the natural thing to do. By this time the fire was creeping dangerously close. We would have walked to the ferry. We tried it on a score of street, but that wall of fire was always there. It seemed to creep across in front of us.

"And in front of the fire always walked the soldiers. A number of times I hired express wagons. We would ride for a few blocks and get out on the sidewalk. In not a single instance were we charged more than a reasonable price for the ride.

"Once we loitered until the soldiers came up. A rough fellow, who had been standing by my side, tried to dart through the line. He looked like a beach comber.

"A young lieutenant caught him by the coat. 'Here!' he called to his men. 'Shoot this man.'

"I hurried on, without looking back. I don't remember that I heard a shot fired. But at the time it seemed so trivial a matter that I did not pay much attention."

Worse Than Inferno.

One of the women said: "San Francisco after the earthquake and during the fire? Did you ever see the picture of hell which hangs in the Santa Barbara mission? It was something like that, only a thousand times worse."

Fire Chief Dead.

San Francisco, April 23.—Chief D. J. Sullivan of San Francisco's fire department, died yesterday from the effects of injuries received on the morning of the earthquake.

Shot to Save Suffering.

Los Angeles, April 23.—"The most terrible thing I saw during the San Francisco fire," said E. Call Brown, mining engineer and geologist, "was the futile struggle of a policeman and others to rescue a man who was pinned down in burning wreckage. The helpless man watched the flames approach in silence till the fire began burning his feet. Then he begged to be killed. The officer took his name and address and shot him through the head."

Shot by Sentry.

A son of T. P. Riordan, a real estate dealer, was shot and killed yesterday a few feet from his residence. Young Riordan was on his way home and had a bottle of whiskey in his coat pocket. A soldier on duty ordered him to stop and throw the whisky away, and when Riordan refused the soldier immediately shot him dead.

A workman employed at the Gerson tannery was on his way home yesterday morning when halted by a sentry. The workman explained that his wife was dying and tried to pass. The sentry shot at him, but missed, and the workman ran back into the tannery.

Chinese Were Excited.

Chas. C. Lanferweller of Fort Dodge, Ia., who was at the Grand Hotel, says: "I passed through Chinatown just as a shock came, and all Chinatown was in the streets gesticulating, crying, running around and acting like a lot of monkeys. If left to themselves, I know they must all have perished. The authorities drove them up the hill and out of range of the fire. Superstition mastered them, and all sorts of gods were produced from all sorts of pockets and joss paper was scattered along the way."

A MILLION NEEDLES

COULD NOT INFLICT THE TORTURE WOMEN SUFFER FROM HEADACHES

Headache is not in itself a disease, but a symptom or accompaniment of other diseases, principally those of the stomach, liver and bowels, such as Constipation, Dyspepsia, Liver Trouble, Bad Blood, Female Complaints, General Debility and Weakness. Headache is common to both sexes, but more frequently affects females.

The varieties of headache most common are sick or bilious headache, nervous headache, headache from constipation, debility or indigestion, periodical and spasmodic headache. Undoubtedly the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be had.

removes the cause of the headache, and not only does this but it also restores the entire system to healthy action and buoyant vigor.

"I was troubled with headache for a number of years, but could get nothing to help me. I procured a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and finding it was doing me so much good, I got two more. I am now fully cured and think there is nothing in the world like Burdock Blood Bitters for headache."

Paymaster Shot Dead.

Port Henry, N. Y., April 23.—D. C. Rosenberry, paymaster of the Witherbee, Sherman & Co. mine, was shot and killed Saturday at Minaville, while carrying the pay to the employes at the Fisher Hill mine. The alleged assassin, a man named Brown, escaped to the hills and now is pursued by a posse of 500 men.

Strikers and Troops Clash.

Valcennies, France, April 23.—A sanguinary encounter occurred Saturday between 5,000 striking miners from Denain and a detachment of troops detailed to prevent the miners from interfering with non-strikers. Many officers, soldiers and strikers were severely wounded.

THE LATEST SPORTS

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE DISCUSSED

Some of the baseball enthusiasts are discussing the formation of a City League. Such league if it did not conflict with the Midland League team, would be a good thing for the game and would create a lot of interest. It is said that a strong league of three or four teams could be formed with little difficulty.

BASEBALL

The Lily Baseball team have re-organized for the season 1906, and hereby challenge any team in the city 15 years and under. The following is the line-up:—W. Taylor, c.; B. Taylor, p.; E. Tovey, 1st base; C. Pogue, second base; F. Collins, third base; G. Tovey, short stop; C. Powell, centre field; S. Bicknell, left field; A. Taylor, right field; F. Collins, captain.

FOOTBALL

The meeting of the Midland Association Football League, for the purpose of drawing up the schedule for the coming season will be held in Peterborough Saturday, April 28th, in the Y.M.C.A parlours at 3.30 o'clock.

There will be an intermediate and junior series this year and no doubt many teams will enter. Teams that were not fast enough during the past season to catch the intermediate series will be afforded a good opportunity of entering the league in the junior series. Any clubs intending to enter should send a representative to the meeting on Saturday 28th or notify J E. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer.

• • • •

The Peterborough Quakers will practise to-night on Central Park at 6.30. As Many as possible are requested to be out in uniform as the success of the club depends on the amount of practise.

TURF.

Work on the Turf Club track to put it into shape for the races on May 24th, will be commenced the first of next month.

SERVICES IN THE CITY MISSION HALL

A couple of young ladies are expected to conduct evangelistic meetings at the City Mission Hall, at the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, each night this week. These young ladies, Misses Babcock and Clarke, have charge of a church at Ellesmere, a small village twenty miles east of Toronto. The first named has already been a visitor to Peterborough, and in fact was one of the leading speakers at the recent holiness convention here. Rev. Mr. Slingerland, who has been here for the past week left to-day for his home.

THE GIRL AND THE BEE.

A Story of the Ignorance of a City Girl.

The city girl coming down to breakfast at the farm house, and observing a plate of honey on the table said, "Oh! I see you keep a bee."

That's the way some people talk about the blight of baldness — just as if a bald head was something a person got all at once instead of being the result of long depletion by an insidious germ which thrives upon the roots of the hair and succumbs to only one known remedy, Newbro's Herpicide.

Newbro's Herpicide is not a tonic any more than electricity is a fluid. It is an exterminator pure and simple. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps, for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

ST. JOHN'S TO HELP SAN FRANCISCO

At the services in St. John's yesterday prayers were offered for the desolated people of San Francisco, and the rector proposed a congregational fund to help relieve suffering, donations to be handed to the church wardens, who will forward them to the Bishop of California — Bishop Nicholls — for distribution, no class owing to their personal knowledge of their flocks being so well adapted to distribute relief with the best effect than clergymen.

THE EASY OIL.

Scott's Emulsion is "the easy oil"—easy to take, easy in action. Its use insures deliverance from the griping and nauseating sensation peculiar to the raw oil. Nobody who has any regard for their stomach thinks of taking cod liver oil in the old way when Scott's Emulsion is to be had. It is equally certain that no one having a regard for their health will accept a cheap emulsion or alcoholic substitute for Scott's Emulsion. It fulfills every mission of cod liver oil and more.

St. Peter's School A Credit To The City

New Structure Being Formally Opened This Afternoon--A Brief Description of the School Building--Will Accommodate 300 Pupils--One of the Most Modern School Buildings in the Province.

While the opening of the hall, in connection with the new St. Peter's School took place some weeks ago, the school opening did not take place until to-day, and this afternoon the official, public opening ceremony is being observed, with appropriate exercises. With the creation of the new school the Separate School accommodation of the city has been materialy increased, and provision has been made for a number of years to come. The building is not only a credit to the Separate School supporters, and authorities but to the city, as well, and that the citizens, generally are proud of the structure is evidenced by the fact that this afternoon many of the most prominent men in the city are attending the opening exercises, as guests of the Superintendent of Separate Schools of the city, Rev. Father MacColl, through whose energy and enterprise, largely the new structure was made possible.

The building, officially opened this afternoon, has been declared by many competent persons to be the finest of its kind in the province. It is certain that every convenience and comfort have been thought of in the planning and erection of the the school, which is a building that community might well be proud of.

The construction of the building, as is well known, was made necessary by the rapid growth in the number of Roman Catholics scholars in the city. The increase has been so great that it has been found necessary to engage two new teachers to meet the requirements. The number of pupils in the Separate Schools of the city is now about 725, of whom over 250 have been attending the Murray street school, and will now be transferred to the new school.

The building contains six class rooms, each 27x33, with accommodation for about fifty pupils, so that the total accommodation of the school will be in the neighbourhood of 300 pupils. The structure is 50x95 feet on the ground, and is three stories in height. In the basement there is a large banquet hall, as well as recreation rooms, for use when the weather will not permit the children to enjoy themselves out of doors. The class rooms are on the first and second floors and the assembly hall on the top flat. The building is well lighted, while the ventilation, which is so important is a school has been the subject of special thought by those who have planned the structure, with the result that so far as this feature is concerned the school is said to be as near perfection as it is possible to make it.

Externally the school presents an attractive appearance. The stone work is of heavy bed Longford stone. At the lower point the use of 12 feet of stone gives the foundation a substantial and massive appearance.

The brick work is of a good, rich colour of red, and red mortar, with neatly beaded joints. All stacks and ventilating shafts have neat panelling of fancy brick on all sides. The main arch, which is built of common stock brick, has a neat and artistic appearance. The floors of the building are all supported on massive steel beams, all floors being doubled with heavy fireproofing between the layers. The flooring of the building throughout is of first quality maple.

The lathing and plastering is the first of its kind used in Peterborough. In the entire building expanded metal lath has been used, while the walls have been plastered with asbestos plaster, making a very hard and fireproof finish.

The roof is a very substantial part of the building, being carried principally on very heavy trusses, and rendered fireproof by a layer of asbestos paper underneath the shingles. The shingles are the best the market affords and have been dipped from nine inches to 12 inches in creosote, before laying.

The interior is of plain and neat design, being of natural finish of southern pine, making it one of the most complete and neatest finishes in the city of Peterborough. All class rooms have four square feet of glass to each scholar, and the air is changed between three and four times per hour, giving the scolars an extra bright, cheerful and airy room for work.

The building is equipped with a complete fire, electric and telephone system, affordaing excellent facilities for fire drills, etc.

The wiring for the lighting system is divided into two sections. The entire lower section of the building with the exception of the hall is operated from a switch box in the reception room. The hall and stage lights are operated from a switch board on the stage. The proscenium arch is decorated with a series of coloured lamps set in paterns.

The steam system is one of the best heating plants in Canada, today. It is of the one pipe gravity, system, and in some of the most severe tests in drying out plaster the system was more than able to hold its own, considering that there were a great many openings which were constantly kept open during working hours.

The school is well provided for teachers' rooms, lavatories, reception room, halls, with large library on second floor, drinking fountains, and fire hose connection on all landings. Each class room is provided with a well-equipped cloak room.

The Young Men Were Discharged

There Was no Case Proven in Alleged Horse Theft.

William Donnelly and — Raper appeared on a remand at the police court this morning to answer the charge of having stolen from John Gillespie, on Saturday, April 7th, a horse, buggy and harness. Mr. G. W. Hatton appeared for the prisoners, and Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, for the prosecution.

A large number of witnesses gave evidence, and when all their testimony was heard the court decided that there was no evidence against the prisoners, and they were accordingly discharged.

Mr. John Gillespie, the owner of the horse that was "lost strayed or stolen," went to the White House on Saturday evening at 7.30 and left his horse and buggy in the shed. He went back about ten o'clock and found that the outfit had been taken. He went to Millbrook on Monday, and secured the equipment, the whip being the only thing missing. A buffalo robe was taken from a nearby buggy on the same night Mr Gillespie's horse and buggy were taken.

William Huffman came from Millbrook on Saturday with the prisoners; was with them at White's hotel and left them at 9.30 in the evening on Charlotte street.

John Donnelly, cousin of one of the prisoners, also accompanied prisoners and Huffman to Peterborough.

Gus White, proprietor of the White House, didn't see the prisoners at all.

J. Handley, the Millbrook officer who arrested prisoners, got the horse and buggy from a man by the name of Byers, living a few miles from Millbrook and not on the main road; didn't know where Byers got the horse.

"Either the horse or drivers must have been drunk," said His Worship amid the laughter of the court.

Jas. Armstrong, who keeps a barber shop in Millbrook, saw prisoners in his shop on the night of the alleged theft at 12 o'clock.

Raper, in giving his evidence, said he and his chum, Donnely took the train on Saturday night from Peterborough; got off at Fraterville, and walked to Millbrook, a distance of about six miles.

Mr. Hatton submitted that there was no evidence against the prisoners. The Magistrate thought the same, and the prisoners were discharged.

ONE SOLUTION OF THE PRESENT HOUSE QUESTION

One young man, residing in the north end thinks that he has solved the house problem, and, relieved himself from the heavy strain incidental to the monthly rent, by erecting a commodious tent in a vacant lot, into which he has removed, with his family. His experiment will be watched with interest by others, who notice with unconcealed dismay, the heavy draft on none too fat pocketbooks, caused by their obligations to the landlord.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

ALBANI

The Madame Albani concert in the Grand Opera House on Saturday night was a delightful success, in the way of musical enjoyment and artistic performance. True, the audience might have been larger, but the night — Saturday — was unfavourable, as it found very large numbers unable to leave their business. Yet those who were present were representative of our largest musical culture, and they were universally pleased by one of the most satisfactory concert presentations ever given in the city. Albani, the great Albani, was still the great Albani, and her singing yielded rapturous enjoyment. Her magnificent voice, attuned to the capacity of perfect method, was heard in classic song, and simple melody, with equal delight. Years may have made their mark in other ways, but they seem to have spared her voice. Her natal name, Lajeunesse — youth — may have passed into her nom de concert, Albani; Albani may have been merged into Gye, but the Lajeunesse element still inheres in her matchless voice. She may avoid the daring finale in the upper register, and drop it an octave, but her voice still retains its full, round, velvety quality, and warm colouring. It is enough to say that on Saturday night she sang like Albani, and artistically won the splendidly enthusiastic welcome accorded — partly to her nationality, and personality, but, chiefly, to her peerless singing. Her first number was Mozart's "L'Amero" — Il Re Pastore — which was magnificently sung, and followed by Gounod's "Ave Maria." Crossing the Bar" — Willeby — was given with beautiful tenderness, and her encore number, "Within a Mile of Edinboro Town," was incomparably given. Her closing number — double — "Songs My Mother Taught Me," and Chaminade's brilliant and sprightly "L'Ete," were divinely sung, and enthusiastically recognized. But the acme of delight was given the audience by Albani's infinitely sweet, pure and pathetic singing of "Sweet Home"—one of the great diva's perennial triumphs. Albani's good bye tour of her native land leaves a doubly sweet taste — a taste of triumph in her own melodious mouth, and of sweet memories in the hearts of her hearers.

The assisting members of the company were, in musical merit, and artistic measure, quite in harmony with the prima donna's standing. Miss Eva Gauthier, a brilliant mezzo-soprano, with a fresh, clear voice of wide compass, sang "Bel Raggio," from the Semiramide of Rossini; the Handel aria from "Rinaldo;" and "A Happy Song" by Del Reggio, with great success. Mr. Archdeacon, the happy possessor, and very capable user of a pure baritone voice, gave a spirited interpretation of the "Pagliacci" prologue, and "In the Heather, My Lads," by Lohr. He was recalled on both occasions and sang with splendid spirit and raillery two little Irish lyrics. To Miss Adela Verne fell the solo pianoforte work of the evening, and she did it splendidly, with good tone, surpassing technical skill, and good taste. She appeared to equal advantage in a heroic selection like a Liszt Rhapsody, and in the lighter and more popularly pleasing selections, (like Semer's "Fluttering Leaves." She was deservedly recalled many times, and twice responded. She is a most capable and satisfying pianiste. Mr. Hadyn Wood showed himself a most finished violin performer with a fine, but with neither a robust tone nor method. His style runs to dainty effects, which he splendidly produces. A Paganini caprice varies, a Lalo Fantasia, and a Fiorillo "Etude" —rather an unusual concert selection —were his other set numbers, while his recall numbers were Raff's Cavatina and Wieniawski's "Legende." Perhaps his best work was done in splendidly supplying violin obligatos to two of Madame Albani's numbers. His staccati and harmonics, single and double, were phenomenally fine.

WEST PETERBOROUGH TEACHERS' CONVENTION

Mr. S. A. Smithson, principal of the Villiers Public School, and Secretary of the West Peterborough Teachers' Association, has returned from Toronto, where he has been attending the convention of the Ontario Association. Mr. Smithson speaks enthusiastically of the success of the convention, at which many matters vitally affecting the educational interests of the province were considered.

On May 25th a convention of the West Peterborough Association will be held in this city. It will be remembered that at the meeting of the Peterborough County Association held in Norwood last fall, it was decided to divide the County into two Associations, and the meeting to be held here in May will be the first under the auspices of the new Association.

Miss Campbell of Havelock, also attended the convention in Toronto.

MR. BERT. SANDERSON ON A FOX HUNT

Mr. Bert Sanderson, of North Monaghan, can tell his friends a thing or two about foxes these days. Last week he was working in a field on the farm on which he lives, about five miles from the city, when he ran across a fox hole. It did not take him long to discover that it was inhabited, and he determined, if possible, to capture the inmates. This was a pretty difficult task to accomplish, for there were five foxes, and he was alone. Eventually, however, he succeeded in getting into the den, and found an old fox, with four young ones. The mother was killed, but three of the cubs were caught alive, and two were sold to Mr. F. A. Clarke, and one to Mr. D. Patterson, of this city. They are very sprightly youngsters, about the size of a full grown cat. The skin of the mother will be of little value at this time of the year.

LINDSAY PETERBOROUGH OSHAWA

Considerable Evidence WAS HEARD THIS MORNING In The McAuliffe Case

Testimony of Several Witnesses Who Were Eye-Witnesses of the Trouble Was Heard--Manley Cole Said That He Did Not Receive Money to Come to Canada as Crown Witness--Much Expert Testimony Given.

The McAuliffe manslaughter case was taken up yesterday at the assizes at the conclusion of the hearing of the Hall-Gow civil case, but no evidence was taken on the former at yesterday's sitting of the court. The jury was empanelled, and the Crown prosecutor, Mr. Meredith, addressed them, reviewing the particulars of the death of Frederick Hudson, with which McAuliffe stands charged. He pointed out the line which the Crown in its presentation of the case would follow, and asserted that conclusive proof would be furnished that the blow which accellarated the death of Hudson was struck by the prisoner. He then briefly recounted the circumstances, which are familiar to all who have followed the case.

After the prosecutor had addressed the jury he requested that no evidence be taken until this morning, to which the Judge assented.

In connection with this case, a somewhat peculiar legal point arose. While at the fall assizes the Grand Jury brough in a true bill of manslaughter against McAuliffe, it appears that in the interval between that time and the present, the indictment was lost, which, since the case was allowed to go over from the last assizes, made it necessary for the Grand Jury to again bring in a bill, which they did, the result being the same as at the former assizes, a true bill.

In view of the fact that a new indictment had been served, the counsel for the defendant asked the court for time to consider it before asking the prisoner to plead, but His Lordship would not agree and ordered that a plea of not guilty be entered, which was done.

After the prosecutor's address, the court adjourned.

This Morning's Session.

This morning's session began at 9.30, the first witness being Manley Cole, formerly of Havelock, but now of Rochester. Nothing very different from the evidence at the preliminary investigation was brought out. The expert testimony of Drs. McNulty and Greer took up most of the time.

Manley Cole, the first witness, gave practically the same evidence as at the first investigation, although in some details it differed, and he was checked by Mr. Dennistoun.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said he lived in the United States.

"You demanded $200 to come over?" said Mr. Dennistoun.

"I asked for that before I came."

He gave evidence twice before in police court. He remembered what he swore in the police court.

Here Mr. Dennistoun read some of the witness' evidence at the police court.

Witness said: "I didn't hear McAuliffe ask Hudson to come and have a drink. I didn't hear him say to the bar-tender, 'give him a drink or a cigar.' I saw him (Hudson) go out into the bar-room. He didn't think it a threatening way. He might have said something like 'put up your dooks.' He walked around the bar and told him to get out of his house.

Mr. Dennistoun read his previous evidence. "He was trying to make him fight."

"Witness said, "I don't think I said that."

"Was what you swore on that occasion true?" was the question.

Answer—"I don't know that I ever said it."

Q.—"Was it true that Hudson was trying to make a fight?"

A.—"No; he wasn't trying to make a fight."

"What was he putting up his fists for?"

"He thought he was going to shoot him, I guess."

Hudson had his hand hanging by his side. McAuliffe was backing up with his hands under his coat. He hit him about four or five feet from the walk. Something was thrown at Hudson. McAuliffe was too far away to strike him with his arm.

"You told before it might have been a stone," said Mr. Dennistoun.

Witness admitted that it might have been.

Mr. Dennistoun read from other evidence in which Cole said that he had not seen the object until it had struck Hudson.

"You certainly are a valuable witness; worth bringing from Rochester," said Mr. Dennistoun.

"I saw it just when it struck Hudson's head."

Q.—"You didn't see it in McAuliffe's hand?"

A.—"I saw it leave McAuliffe's hand."

Mr. Dennistoun read from his previous evidence.

"That was the first time I saw it after it hit Hudson and bounded off his head."

Witness finally admitted this was true.

Continuing, witness said, "I heard the object click on the bar, and it disappeared. I never saw it again."

To Mr. Meredith Cole said that he was not promised anything for coming to the trial. Hudson was about two feet from the bar and McAuliffe a foot. "I have no interest in this matter at all."

George Thoms

George Thoms said that he was at the hotel on June 1. He went with White and Cole. He heard a man ask Hudson to have a drink. Hudson wouldn't go in to get a drink. Hudson said he would clear out the whole gang. The man who went into the bar said he couldn't do it. Hudson said, "Put up your dooks." The other men backed up with his hands behind his back. Hudson said that he was afraid of a gun. He saw McAuliffe take his hands from behind his back and make a motion. Hudson fell backwards. He saw blood on his forehead and heard something strike the bar. He saw the object in McAuliffe's hand, but couldn't say what it was. It was about the size of a baseball. They were four or five feet from the door. He couldn't say whether the street door was open or not. The nearest bystanders were eight or ten feet away.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said that Hudson told him that he had been having some trouble. McAuliffe's invitation was given in a pleasant way. Hudson started after McAuliffe and forced him backwards until they got to the end of the bar. McAuliffe made no effort to fight.

David Connelly, next witness, said that he was boarding at the Royal Hotel on June 1 last. He was in the hotel that night, and was in the sitting room near the door. Some one came, whom, he learned afterwards, was the prisoner. McAuliffe asked Hudson to go in and have a drink. He heard Hudson tell him to get out. He then heard Hudson tell him to put up his "mollies." McAuliffe backed up and Hudson followed. Near the door McAuliffe stopped and put his hand behind, asking Hudson what he was afraid of. He said "I am afraid of a gun." McAuliffe then took something from behind his coat and hit him. The object looked like a baseball that had been used. Witness was about eight feet away. It was a very hard blow. The blow struck Hudson on the forehead and he fell, his head striking the floor. Witness walked into the street. He didn't see anything more of the prisoner that night. Heard the object, which struck the bar like some hard substance.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said he only remained a few days after this occurrence. He went to Port Hope for one week, then to Cobourg, and then to his home in Stirling. He was not connected with the people of the case. It was the first time he had been called in the case. He couldn't say that the deceased did much drinking. He knew nothing about his personal habits. He couldn't say whether McAuliffe or Hudson were drunk. There had been a lot of talking going on. He knew that there had been a row on between Hudson and a man named Shannahan. Hudson told Shannahan to make a pass at him, and they got into a fight. He couldn't say whether Hudson began it. He couldn't say whether McAuliffe stopped the fight. He didn't hear McAuliffe ask the bartender to give Hudson a drink. He couldn't say whether Hudson went up to the bar and leaned his elbow on the bar. Hudson advanced, and McAuliffe retreated about six feet.

Another Earthquake Shock Sets Population Fleeing

Bread Scarcer Than Railway Passes—Victims Buried Unidentified — Blowing Up Ruins Preparatory to Rebuilding.

Special to The Examiner.

San Francisco, April 24.—The rain of yesterday and the earthquake shocks of last night have prompted many of the refugees to leave San Francisco, and then the exodus started again early this morning with renewed force. Transportation is not hard to get. It is harder to get a loaf of bread than a railroad pass out of the storm centre. The refugees are gradually thinning out of Golden Gate Park and the Panhandle. No correct estimate of the dead will ever be obtained. In all cases it has been necessary to bury the bodies at once. Only about five per cent. of the victims are identified. Three thousand persons can get work in the cannery in Alaask, according to the statement of an officer of the Cannery Association. Arrangements for the construction of the new San Francisco are rapidly crystallizing. The blowing up of the ruins in the business section is well under way. As showing the disposition prevailing among property owners, the Humbolt Bank will at once erect a new building 17 storeys in height.

The Death List.

Washington, D.C., April 24. — An official report from Gen Greely, San Francisco, says: "Very careful investigation limits as far as information is obtainable, the entire San Francisco death list from late disaster to 277 victims. Of these about 50 unknown gathered from various parts of the city, have been temporarily buried in Lombard and Bay streets, Washington Square and Portsmouth Square. In the Valencia Hotel 14 bodies were recovered and 56 others are believed to have perished in the ruins.

Were Shot on the Roofs.

Salt Lake City, April 24.—Max Fast, a garment worker, who came here yesterday from San Francisco, says: "When the fire caught the Windsor Hotel at Fifth and Market streets, there were three men on the roof, and it was impossible to get them down. Rather than see the crazed men fall in with the roof and be roasted alive. The military officer directed his men to shoot them, which they did in the presence of five thousand people.

CITY GETS $300 FOR STRIP OF PROPERTY

The Board of Works yesterday afternoon decided to make a sale of property to the Toronto Savings and Loan Company. The property in question is a small wedge-shaped piece of land at the corner of Sherbrooke and Reid streets, and is at present part of Sherbrooke street, and is of no special value to the city, because the street is the regulation width of 66 feet without it. The cash consideration is $300, and in addition, the city gets enough land to straighten a jog in Park street, which passes one side of the property in question.

It is understood that the Company which purchased the property intends to erect houses there and on property adjoining it at once.

GARDEN RAKE FELL, CUTTING HIS HEAD

Yesterday Mr. Jas. N. Dafoe, McDonel street, thought the time had come to get busy in his garden. His garden rake had been stored away for the winter, and in taking it down it fell, one of the iron teeth striking him on the head, inflicting a serious wound, which bled profusely. Medical attention was secured and the wound dressed. He will soon be all right again.

THE BREWERY COMBINE WAGON LEAVES CITY

The Brewery Combine's beer wagon will be seen on the streets of Peterborough no more; yesterday it was loaded on a flat car and shipped back to Toronto.

This is a distinct victory for the Calcutt Brewing Company against whom the campaign of the combine has been directed for some months past, and the shipping of the wagon out of the city is an admission that the outsiders were defeated, the local hotels standing by the local concern, in the knowledge that it was to their best interests to do so.

An Instructive Talk on Missions

Was Given by Mrs. Morrow at Epworth League.

The regular meeting of George Stret Epworth League was held last night and was one of more than usual interest. It was the missionary meeting of the league and a very instructive address was given by Mrs. Morrow on the subject "The beginning of Methodism in Canada." She traced the history of Methodism from the first Church to the widespread missions of Canada at the present time. Her remarks were chiefly based on the Indian Missions of the North West and the Chinese and Japanese Missions of Victoria B. C., where Mrs. Morrow had laboured for some time. She also dealt with Missions in China and Japan.

In referring to the progress which the missionary societies had met with she mentioned that the income from the first society was $140; at the present time the yearly income was about $385,000.

Dr. Crothers added a few remarks touching on the first Methodist Martyr in Canada.

The annual meeting of the League will be held next Monday night at which the new officers will be elected and reports received.

WOMEN'S GUILD TO GIVE "AT HOME"

The Women's Guild of All Saints' church will hold an At Home on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Lundy, the President of the Guild, corner Aylmer and Dalhousie streets. The At Home will be held from 4 to 6 o'clock and a silver collection will be taken.

Mr. W. A. Hunter And Family Safe In San Francisco

Telegram Received To-day by His Brother to That Effect.

Mr. Albert Hunter, North Monaghan, received a telegram this afternoon, giving the pleasing intelligence that his brother Mr. W. A. Hunter and family, of San Francisco, were "all well," having escaped the terrible dangers of the earthquake and fire. Their many friends offer congratulations.

St. Peter's New School

---WITH BEFITTING CEREMONIES---

Was Formally Opened

Large Number of Gentleman Prominently Interested in Educational Matters Were Present—Fine Programme Was Rendered by the Boys of the School, Assisted by the Convent Pupils—New Building Was Admired by Everyone.

The formal opening of St. Peter's new school took place yesterday, and the opening ceremonies were of a nature appropriate to the completeness and beauty of the new building. The most prominent gentlemen interested in educational circles were present for the occasion, and the key note of their addresses was that a new era had been reached in the history of education in Peterborotions. Congratulations were showered on the Roman Catholic authorities on the magnificent building they had provided for the children under their charge.

Praise Was Unanimous.

All united in praising the modern and complete arrangements that had been made for the convenience and comfort of teachers and pupils alike.

The programme provided by the children afforded, if any were needed, a guarantee that the new school will be appreciated, and advantageously used by the pupils who from now on will occupy its rooms. The children showed evidence of careful training, as well as cleverness and talent on their own part, and their programme was a delightful surprise to the visitors, many of whom heard them for the first time.

School Was Inspected.

Prior to the beginning of the programme the many visitors were conducted through the rooms by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, and others. To say that they were delighted with what they saw, would be but expressing it mildly. Many of the visitors were gentlemen who had made a wide study of things educational, and to them, of course, the modern and finished character of the school, as well as its many conveniences, were at once apparent.

HIS LORDSHIP BISHOP O'CONNOR
Who Was Present at the Opening Yesterday.

St. Peter's School, Which Was Formally Opened Yesterday.

Even the novice in school buildings could not fail to recognize the fact that the new building is admirably adapted for the purpose intended.

After this tour of inspection, the visitors repaired to the assembly hall on the third story, where the pupils of the school had already assembled.

Some of Those Present.

Among those present, many of whom occupied seats on the platform, were:—His Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, Venerable Archdeacon Casey, of Lindsay, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, Mayor Best, Ald. Mason, McWilliams, Hicks, Elliott; Messrs. D. W. Dumble, W. H. Hill, Wm. Pringle, Robert Fair and L. M. Hayes of the Board of Education; J. Primeau, J. Burns, John Corkery,

MAYOR BEST,
Representing the Corporation at School Opening.

O'Brien, inspector of Separate Schools for Eastern Ontario. Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, D. Hughes-Charles, president of the Board of Trade, J. H. Burnham, A. A. Hollingshead, E. H. D. Hall, F. W. Dean, G. H. Giroux, M. Henry and others.

Fine Programme.

The children and teachers are not only to be congratulated on their new school but also upon the splendid programme they presented yesterday.

Their singing and exercises were excellently done, and the approval of the audience was made manifest by the warm reception accorded each number. Splendid training and careful application to their instructions were shown in the different exercises, the choruses being exceptionally well and spiritedly rendered.

The programme opened with a chorus by the boys, their offering being Adams' splendid "Veteran's Song," which lost none of its effectiveness by the way it was handled. The fresh young voices rang out spiritedly and true, and the number well merited the applause which it provoked. Their red uniforms, and the Union Jacks carried by the boys, added considerably to the effect.

A pleasing number was a trio by three boys, Frank Heffernan, S. Louis and Eddie Collins, which was splendidly rendered and warmly received.

A chorus was rendered by the girls with very pleasant effect, careful instruction being shown in the capable manner in which the little ones gave the selection. Miss Pearl Morgan took the solo in splendid fashion.

A duet by George Henry and W. Maher, "Three Boys of the Old Brigade," was a number that received much applause from the audience. The spirited selection was cleverly rendered, Jimmie O'Brien's fine tenor voice, was displayed to fine advantage in his solo, 'Mamma's Boy." He had to respond to a most enthusiastic encore.

Miss Carrie White, one of Peterborough's cleverest young elocutionists, gave a recitation in a finished manner, marked alike by dramatic expression and clearness of articulation. The programme was brought to a close by a Scotch chorus by a number of the boys, followed by clever exhibition of club swinging. This took the audience by storm and the boys had to repeat their number.

The Addresses.

Then followed the addresses of the afternoon. Rev. Father McColl, the superintendent of the Peterborough Separate Schools, acted as chairman. In his opening remarks he said there were good reasons for congratulations upon the new school. He referred to the training received by the pupils. The intention was to educate mentally, morally and physically. The speaker briefly explained the features of the building and said that on Sundays the pupils would assemble there in their class rooms to be taught the catechism.

Mayor Best.

His Worship Mayor Best, was the first speaker and expressed his pleasure at being present on such an auspicious occasion, and also congratulated the Separate School authorities warmly on their new school. He spoke of the advantages of the building, both as a day school and also as a Sunday school.

Mr. D. W. Dumble.

Mr. D. W. Dumble on behalf of the Public School Board, spoke enthusiastically of the modern character of the new school. It was a splendid and magnificent building — good, but not too good; costly, but not too costly. He hoped, and had no hesitation in saying, that the children

REV. FATHER McCOLL,
Superintendent of Sepaaate Schools of the City.

would make proper use of the fine building provided for them. He added that, if the Board kept its courage up, and was not "whipped into line," by the — press, they would have a similarly good school in the south ward.

Public School Inspector.

Mr. D. Walker, after adding his congratulations to those already offered, said that the opening of the school marked a new era in the history of education in Peterborough. Too much could not be spent on education, and nothing was too good for the Canadian boy and girl in the way of education. The time had passed when things were "good enough;" now the best was wanted. The speaker spoke of the important effect environment has in education, and expressed the hope that the pupils would treat the new school in a proper manner. He was sure they would come to it gladly, and leave it with reluctance.

Mr. R. Lees,

Mr. R. Lees, County School Inspector, said he was delighted with the new school. Like the previous speaker he thought it was scarcely possible to expend too much money on education, if well spent, it could be expended in no better way. Speaking to the boys he said that it was their day of opportunity and advised them to make the best possible use of their school days, which would be all too soon passed.

Mr. Michael O'Brien.

Mr. Michael O'Brien, Separate School Inspector, followed with a neat speech, in which he said the Separate school authorities had reason to congratulate themselves on their new school. Among inspectors and teachers there was never any difference of opinion as to the importance of a good building.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey of Lindsay, was the next speaker. He also looked on the opening of the school as the beginning of a new era in the city of Peterborough. He referred to the condition of the schools when he first came to Peterborough, and compared the schools of that time with those of the present day. The men of the school was to educate the pupils physically, morally and mentally.

Mr. J. H. Burnham.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, the next speaker, thought the pupils should be congratulated not only upon their excellent school, but upon their excellent teachers.

Mr. D. Hughes-Charles.

Mr. D. Hughes Charles said the new school established a standard in Peterborough, and showed that the city was at last waking up. To the boys he said that while one of the previous speakers had told them that their school days would soon be over he was of the opinion that they would never be over. While at school they were laying the foundation; the character must be built up afterwards.

MR. D. W. DUMBLE
Who Spoke for the Board of Education.

Ald. Mason.

Ald. Mason expressed his delight with the building, and congratulated those in charge of its erection. Speaking to the pupils he said they would find that their school days were their best days and they should make the best possible use of them.

Mr. L. M. Hayes,

Mr. L. M. Hayes congratulated the school authorities on the fine building. There was nothing like it when he went to school, and he almost wished he was a boy again to be able to attend the new school.

Ald. McWilliams.

Ald. McWilliams said that there were two things in particular in connection with the school that aroused his admiration. In the first place the building was spacious; they had not been niggardly in providing room. In the second place he considered that the site had been remarkably well chosen.

Ald. Hicks.

Ald. Hicks expressed his pleasure at being present and made an appreciative reference to the programme provided by the children. He thought that in addition to the authorities, congratulations ought to be extended to the contractors who erected the building.

Ald. Elliot.

Ald. Elliott added his congratulations to those already offered and advised the boys to make the best use of their opportunities.

Ald. McIntyre.

Ald. McIntyre expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the school, and heartily endorsed everything said by the previous speakers.

His Lordship.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor thanked the visitors for the great interest shown in the new school. He dwelt on the objects and aims of the authorities to make the boy perfect, if possible, mentally, morally and physically. The fact that so many gentlemen were present showed that they took an interest in education, and their interest should be a source of inspiration to the pupils.

At the conclusion of His Lordship's remarks the singing of "God Save the King," brought the ceremony to a close.

It was a befitting opening to a building which signified that a step forward has been made in educational circles in Peterborough.

Benefit Concert In T.A.S. Hall Delightful One

Given Under Auspices of Catholic Ordes of Foresters.

The benefit concert, given under the auspices of the Catholic Order of Foresters in the T. A. S. hall last night, was among the best that have been held there this season. The hall was well crowded with an appreciative audience, which eagerly listened to the splendidly rendered programme.

Mr. Jno. O'Brien occupied the chair and presented the following programme:

Piano Duet, Misses Dorris and Merrell.
Vocal Solo, Mr. R. Freund.
Vocal Solo, Miss M. Clancy.
Recitation, Mr. Geo. Lynch.
Address, Father McColl.
Vocal Solo, Mr. E. Crowe.
Vocal Solo, Mr. C. Donovan.
Vocal Solo, Mr. Frank Pope.
Step Dance, Mr. E. Quinlan.

Mr. Freund's solos were splendidly rendered, and it speaks volumes for his vocal teacher, Mr. Van der Water, of the Conservatroy of Music. His two numbers were "The Swallows" and "When Cupid Has Found My Heart," and both delighted the large audience.

The piano accompaniments were played by the Misses Dorris. Miss McCabe and Mr. Suidor. Mr. Patrick Keane, the popular violinist, played the accompaniment for Mr. Quinlan's step dance.

Hallelujah Wedding At Salvation Army Barracks

An Immense Audience Witnessed the Marriage of Sergt. Major Vincent and Miss Boorman--Addresses Delivered Marked by Earnestness and Deep Feeling--Welcome to Recent English Citizens.

At the Salvation Army Barracks last night a happy event was solemnized when under the red and blue flag of the Salvation Army, Sergt-Major Jabez Vincent and Daisy Agnes Boorman were united in marriage at a Hallelujah wedding, the ceremony being performed by Staff Capt. McAmmond. The capacious hall was taxed to its utmost capacity, many sitting on the platform. The groom was attired in his Salvation Army official uniform and the bride was becomingly gowned in blue with a white sash. Miss Olive Boorman, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. Harry Jobe, best man. After the nuptial knot had been tied addresses to the young couple containing much encouragement and useful instruction were delivered by Sergt.-Major Braund, Mr. Boorman, the bride's father, Sergt.-Major Vincent, the bridegoom, and Staff Capt. McAmmond.

The ceremony was very impressive the young couple vowing fidelity to each other and the great cause of the Salvation Army. The wedding rites of this great religious army are materially different from those of churches and other sects and one point that is strongly urged is faithfulness to Christ and to the great work of the Army. The contracting parties must vow that they will do all in their power for the furtherance of the cause in their home and the outside world as well.

The address of those who spoke after the solemnization of the event savoured of kindly advice to the young couple and all of the speakers being married themselves referred to that life as the one of great happiness and satisfaction. They incidentally related some amusing anecdotes in connection with their speeches. All were unanimous in wishing the best of luck and prosperity to the bride and groom. The groom's address was enthusiastically received and at its conclusion he sat down amid enthusiastic recognition of listeners. The preliminary service was of considerable length as was also the after service. The musical programme of the evening consisted of several selections by the band, a well rendered duett and a sacred chorus by the Band of Love. Prayers were offered for the welfare and happiness of the newly married couple and several hymns were sung during the night. The function was brought to a close by the singing of "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Before the marriage ceremony was performed Staff Captain McAmmond extended hearty welcome to four English Salvationists who arrived in the city last night. They all have been prominent in the work in the old country and three of them came forward and in short earnest speeches spoke of their interest in the work and commended the cause of Christianity in ringing tones. The audience seconded the Captain in his kind welcome and generously applauded their brothers from Albion. They all spoke very hopefully of their prospects in this country and said that while they had come to Canada to better themselves financially, their deepest interest was in the promotion of the cause of Christ.

Easy to Let A Cold Run On

UNTIL IT DEVELOPS INTO PNEUMONIA OR CONSUMPTION—EASY TO CURE A COLD IF YOU USE

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

It is easy to let a cold run on. You may say with others that you always let a cold take care of itself. There is a danger of following this plan once too often. At this season of the year the lungs seem to be unusually susceptible to disease, and before you suspect it pneumonia or consumption has seated itself in your system. It is possible that you have tried the cough mixtures which druggists offer to ther customers. These may do well enough for slight colds, or tickling in the throat, but they are powerless in the presence of serious disease.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is far more than a cough remedy. It cures the cold as well as loosening and easing the cough. It takes the pains out of the bones, and reaches the very seat of disease when there is pain and tightness in the chest. It would not be too much to say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has saved thousands of people from pneumonia and consumption. There is not a village or hamlet in Ontario where this famous family treatment is not recognised as a most unusually effective cure for croup, bronchitis, asthma, coughs and colds.

Mrs. R. D. Turner, Broadview, N. W. T., writes: "We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for every one of them and with good results. We get four bottles at a time and find it a good remedy to break up a cold on the lungs."

Don't take anything said to be just as good. There is no throat and lung remedy just as good as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Remember this when buying and insist on having Dr. Chase's; 25 cents a bottle. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

JAS. A. TULLY IN MEDICINE HAT

The Medicine Hat News last week had the following refegence to a well-known local gentleman:—

"Mr. Jas. A. Tully, Ontario's chief organizer in connection with the Relief Fund of the I.O.O.F., is making a special trip through the West and spent Wednesday in town. He has been west as far as Frank and Banff, but has seen no place with such manufacturing possibilities before it as has Medicine Hat. Mr. Tully comes from an industrial centre and can fully appreciate what cheap power means to a manufacturer. He was more than astonished to learn that the 125 horse power engine at the Woollen Mills was operated at a cost of 17 cents a day.

Guild Concert At St. Andrew's An Enjoyable One

Mr. Geo. Fax, of Toronto, Entertained a Large Audience—His Humourous Songs and Recitations Productive of Continuous Laughter—Was Assisted by the Local Artists, Messrs. Gilbert Markle, Walter Stocker and J. C. Miller.

REV. J. G. POTTER WAS THE CHAIRMAN

The entertainment given under the auspices of the Junior Guild of St. Andrew's last night—St. George's night—in the Sunday school hall, was a decided success. The guild secured the services of Mr. George Fax, entertainer, from Toronto, who admirably maintained his past reputation as a fun-producer, and kept the audience in an hilarious state at every appearance on the platform. Mr. Fax as an impersonator of considerable fame, and his clever repretations evoked such applause that he was repeatedly recalled to the platform.

Mr. Fax was assisted last night by the artists Mr. Gilbert Markle, violinist, Mr. Walter Stocker, vocalist, and Mr. J. C. Miller, cornetist.

St. Andrew's hall was well filled with an audience eager to listen to the talented artists long before the commencement of the delightful programme. Rev. Mr. Potter occupied the chair, and on behalf of the boys of the guild, introduced in a few brief remarks, the entertainers of the evening.

Mr. Fax's first number was a humourous song, "Something I've Neglected to Do," and his numerous "neglections," and his style of imparting them made the first production one of the most appreciated of all. "Don't Wake Him Up" was an equally catchy song and one that produced hearty applause. In the recitation, "Moses Briggs' Christmas Present," he demonstrated his wonderful ability as an impersonator, and as an encore, gave "The Charge of the Bargain Hunter," a parody on Tonnyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade," which gave the audience supreme delight. "The Sweet Silver Light of the Moon," a comic song with a vein of pathos through it, was a very enjoyable one, but in "You Can't Think of Everything," Mr. Fax scored the greatest applause of the evening. By special reques he recited one of Robert Burns' old monuments, "For a' That and a' That," giving an interesting account of the events leading up to its presentation to the world. Mr. Fax's rendition of the poem was most effective, and one worthy of those immortal lines of the ploughman poet. Mr. Fax's other numbers were all listened to with the greatest attention, and it was a thoroughly pleased audience which left the schoolroom at the conclusion of the pleasant programme.

Mr. Gilbert Markel, the clever young violinist of the Conservatroy of Music was heard in a couple of selections showing a facile command of the technical difficulties, and his tone throughout was excellent.

Mr. Walter Stocker sang that stirring old song, "The Boys of the Light Brigade," in strong, robust voice, which delighted his hearers.

Mr. J. C. Miller's cornet solo was also a much appreciated number, and greatly applauded.

The accompanists of the evening was Mr. Forsythe, organist of St. Andrew's church, who performed his duties in a most creditable manner.

Altogether, the concert was a most delightful one, and the Junior Guild are to be congratulated on presenting such a pleasing entertainment.

NOT IN LINE

Mr. Dumble, a member of the Board of Education, and perhaps as a member of the Board, is reported as saying, in his praise of the Separate school, that "if the Board kept its courage, and was not whipped into line by the—press, they would soon have a school of similar character in the South Ward." This is a very ingenuous admission that the School Board, with its expensive and extravagant South Ward school project, is not in line with the sentiment of the vast majority of ratepayers. And well the Board knows this, but it has not its heart, or, rather, head—for there is little heart in the matter—upon forcing the construction of a doubly expensive school upon a doubly unsuitable site, with heartless disregard of the wishes or convenience of the ratepayers, and without convenient school population half sufficient to justify such extravagance. Not "in line," certainly, but very much off the line—in a pasture behind a barn.

WHAT OF THE WEST WARD?

The Board of Education is so busy with its pet project of planting a palatial public school building in a pasture in the South Ward that it cannot find time to consider an equally pressing need in the West Ward, where the people have, for thirty-five years, been forced to be served by an inferior building. It may have been large enough when built, but while the building has been stationary in size, but growing worse every year in condition, the school needs of the West Ward have increased sixty per cent. Besides, the building and grounds are dangerously insanitary, and no doubt many a case of diphtheria or other contagious disease has been fostered in these malarial surroundings, and many a home where death has done its work on some young member, owes the seeds of the fatal disease to the unwholesome condition and surroundings of the West Ward school. Yet the School Board, with never a thought apparently, of these conditions, are planning to build a $35,000 school in a district which it will be hard to reach, and is manifestly twenty years ahead of the school population requirements. Who is demanding a school of this size? What reputable ratepayer outside the School Board or City Council is insisting upon it? A building of half the cost, placed upon a more central site, would leave the other half of $35,000 to be devoted to much-needed West Ward school improvements.

ACTION INDICATED.

The Board of Education should give some serious consideration to the work of carrying out the original idea of erecting a Collegiate Institute building, to be placed upon the north side of the lot available, with the armouries placed on the southern end. The armouries will be a creditable structure and an architectural ornament to the city, as they should be, occupying such a position. The Collegiate Institute, which must be built soon, will no doubt be a creditable structure, as it should be. It is high time that the Board should be taking the matter into serious consideration. There are reasons which make the construction of the Collegiate Institute as imperative a matter as the erection of a new South Ward school building. So long as it is unbuilt, the problem of school accommodation in the central part of the city will be a live one. Its construction would release eight rooms for public school purposes in the building now occupied by the Institute, and make the rental of the Mechanics' residence unnecessary, and save a cost of $500 a year in the way of rental and maintenance, representing a capital sum at four per cent. of $12,500, enough to put the West Ward school building and premises in good shape—something which is as urgently needed as a new school building in the south.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Crown Attorney Curry, of Toronto, is going to Cuba. He would have been in a warm climate long ago if the ardent wishes of the crooks he has straightened out, had been realized.

With the flood of contributions pouring in to the relief of the San Francisco sufferers, which it is estimated will reach 50 millions, with 120 millions of insurance added, the fire losses of the city amounting to 200 millions, will be nearly equalled. In spite of the apostles of pessimism there's a great deal of good yet underneath the skin of humanity.

At New York the insurance losses by the San Francisco fire are put at $225,000,000, and the estimate is made that in the effort to pay their share fourteen companies will be wiped out of existence. The saying that fire insurance underwriting is a lottery and not a science is recalled whenever a great conflagration occurs, and is especially appropriate in the present case. The cutting off of a water supply by an earthquake is a new risk that the companies never had occasion to consider before.—Montreal Gazette.

The Ontario Government, says the Montreal Gazette, is shortly to put another loan on the market, this time for three millions. The step is necessary to enable the Government to compete the Temiskaming Railway. The province kept out of the money market for a long time, to go in with a rush at the end. Its bonded debt will soon be ten millions and its legislators are talking about projects that may easily make the ten millions more. The Gazette evidently refers to the project for Government development of power for the benefit of western municipalities at the expense of the eastern section of the province which will derive no advantage.

New Evidence Is Introduced In The Hill-Gow Suit

Constables Cochrane and Moore Tell of Conversations They Had With Charles Gow After Young Hill Was Shot—An Interesting Case Being Heard by Justice Anglin at the Assizes—Robt. Hill Sues Charles Gow for Damages.

Some new features in the now famous Dummer tragedy were brought out at the trial, which opened yesterday afternoon at the Spring Assizes, in which Robert Hill is suing Charles Gow for unstated damages for having caused the death of his son, Thomas Edward, on August 24 last.

The two constables, Messrs. George Cochrane and Archie Moore, were the two witnesses from whom the new evidence was adduced. They both told of statements made to them by Charles Gow on the day of the inquest, the former stating that Gow had admitted to him that he had fired three or four shots in the direction of the Hill house on the night young Hill was killed, while Mr. Moore gave the history of the drive which he and Gow took to Peterborough from the Hill residence on the day of the inquest, during the course of which he said Gow wanted to talk about the affair, but was restrained by the witness, who cautioned him that anything he might say would be used against him at the trial.

Mr. Dennistoun, in his cross-examination of Mr. Moore, scored him for not having given the evidence which he gave yesterday, at the trial last fall, and wanted to know how it was that he remembered some things on which he had not given evidence at the trial, when Gow was charged with young Hill's death. Moore stated that he had answered every question put to him by the Crown prosecutor, and added that if Mr. Dennistoun would ask him some questions now he would answer them. to which Mr. Dennistoun answered, "No, Mr. Moore, I will not ask you a single question. You may step down."

The court room was about half filled when the case opened yesterday, and considerable interest was manifested in the proceedings. The evidence for the plaintiff in the Hill-Gow case was practically all in yesterday afternoon, and the hearing in that case was adjourned, to take up the criminal case, that of the Crown v. McAuliffe.

The Evidence.

Mr. Heathcote was the first witness called, and testified to having made a survey of the Hill house and the surroundings, and to having made a plan of the surroundings. He explained the points at which the bullets, fired at the house on the night of the murder of the Hill boy, were found, and described their relative positions to the points on the road.

Dr. J. W. Gray, coroner, was next examined, and told the court of the circumstances connected with the death of Thomas Edward Hill, the bullets, and the condition of the body of the deceased. The holes in the body were such that had they been caused by a bullet passing through the body the result would have been instant death.

He was cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun as to the calibre of the bullets which he had, and which he asserted were of 44-calibre. Speaking of the relative sizes of the wounds in the boy's body, he could not say that that in his breast was smaller than that in his back.

Dr. Young was then called, and gave evidence as to the post-mortem examination made on the body of the deceased Hill boy. He explained that he had found the two wounds, indicating that the bullet had passed through the body, penetrating one of the lungs and the heart, fracturing one of the ribs, the condition of the latter indicating that the bullet had had entered the body from the front. There was, he said, little difference in the size of the two wounds.

To Mr. Dennistoun, Dr. Young stated that he believed that Dr. Greer had come to a different conclusion to that of himself, as to the point at which the bullet had entered the body.

Dr. Bradd, the next witness, was examined by Mr. Wood, and also spoke of the post mortem examination, which was actually performed by Dr. Young, assisted by himself, Dr. Greer taking the notes. He corroborated the evidence of Dr. Young in that the bullet had passed through the body entering the front and passing out at the back. The wound at the front was slightly larger than at the rear, accounted for, he thought, by the fact that the bullet entered in a slanting direction.

He was positive that Dr. Greer did not examine the wound.

Mr. Dennistoun—"You're pretty cock-sure, Doctor"—

Dr. Bradd—I can see with my eyes."

Dr. Young was recalled, and was questioned again, and said that Dr. Greer went to Norwood to watch the case for Gow, and while the post-mortem examination was proceeding, sat several yards away from the body. He did not examine the rib at all.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane was also examined by Mr. Wood, and told of the Gow's visit to him at Warsaw on the day following the finding of the dead body of Hill. Gow said to him that he had been near Hill's house on the night of the 24th of August, and that he had fired three or four shots in the direction of Hill's house, and said further that he had fired because he thought he heard a shot fired from Hill's house, while he was driving past the house. On the strength of this admission he arrested Gow, and handed him over to Constable Moore. He was at Norwood at the time of the post mortem, and saw Dr. Young and Dr. Bradd performing it. Dr. Greer was writing the notes at the dictation of Dr. Young, and sat some distance from the body.

He was cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun, who asked him if he was positive as to the words which Gow had said to him at Warsaw, when he arrested him.

Constable Moore gave evidence as to his first visit to the Hill house, on the day succeeding the killing. He told of seeing the blood on the floor in the room in which the boy was shot. He extracted the bullet from the board at the front of the house.

He had seen Gow first at Warsaw, on August 24th with Mr. Miller, who said "Charlie is the boy who did the shooting." Gow was then handed over to witness, who cautioned him not to tell witness anything that would convict himself, as it might be used as evidence against him.

After the inquest when Gow had been discharged from custody the latter said that he had put in 24 of the worst hours he had ever experienced in his life, but that he had always been lucky, and usually got out of any trouble he got into. He expressed sorrow for the death of the boy and that he would not have been so bad if it had been the old man Hill. Gow had then told witness that James Dewart said that it was a d—— pity it had not been the old man Hill that was killed. On the road to Peterborough Gow had referred to the affair.

Mr. Dennistoun cross-examined witness who asked if he had not told the Crown prosecutor at the time of the last trial that he could tell a number of things about the case which he had not been asked.

Witness could not say whether he had or not, but that he had told him all he had been asked.

Mr. W. J. Wells, the Government detective, was the next witness, and gave evidence in reference to the bullet holes in the house. Witness stated that he had ten years' experience in fire-arms, and understood the whole business. The bullet taken from the house was a .44 calibre, and the rifle used by Gow was also a .44 calibre.

He was cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun, and admitted that a .44 rifle was a very common weapon, and that there were very many in Dummer.

This was all the evidence taken in this case, hearing of which was adjourned, to proceed with the criminal case.

Dreaded Insomnia.

"I was afflicted with nervousness and dread insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and had bad cramps in stomach and limbs. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to my attention, and eight boxes cured me." — Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont.

Crown Attorney Curry Resigns His Position

Former Millbrook Man Who Has Made a Name in Toronto to Leave the City—Will go to Cuba to Manage Cuban Land Company--Was Former Resident of Millbrook.

Mr. J. W. Curry, K. C., crown attorney of Toronto, has many friends in Peterborough, friendships made in the years gone by when he was practising his profession in Port Hope and Millbrook. They will be interested in the following from the Toronto News:—

Mr. J. W. Curry, K. C., the well-known Crown Attorney of Toronto, handed in his resignation Monday morning to the Attorney General. He asks to be relieved of his duties on the first of May and that his salary be continued until the first of November. Mr. Curry will go to Cuba to manage the Canadian Cuban Land Company in which he has a considerable interest. The salary of the Crown Attorneyship has been fixed at $3,500.

The resignation of the Crown Attorney in the midst of big prosecutions came as a surprise to the public. It was even rumoured that he might have received a hint to step down and out. Mr. Curry, however, declared to-day that this action had been taken entirely of his own free will.

Mr. Curry received his early education at Cobourg and was called to the bar in August, 1881, and up to August, 1889, practised in Port Hope and Millbrook. At that time he removed to Toronto and went into partnership with George W. Badgerow, then Crown Attorney.

MR. J. M. BROOKS' HOTEL IN OSHAWA CUT OFF

Mr. J. M. Brooks is running in hard luck to-day. Last night he was instructed by the License Commissioners of West Peterborough to sell out his business since no new licenses would be granted, and at the meeting of the Ontario County License Commissioners in Oshawa his hotel there, known as the Brooks House, at the Junction, and leased by Arthur Wallis, was refused a license. The American Hotel, conducted by Mr. Finnigan, was also refused a renewal. A despatch to the Globe says:

"The action of the Board in cutting off the two licenses in Oshawa is the result of the bylaw which was submitted to the ratepayers at the last municipal election and carried by a large majority."

MR. JUSTICE ANGLIN IS PRESIDING JUDGE

Yesterday in the Examiner's report of the opening of the Assizes an error occurred. This paper stated that Mr. Justice Magee was presiding, when it should have said Mr. Justice Anglin. As a matter of fact, the former had been detailed to take the Assizes here, and very few knew that any change was to be made until yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Justice Anglin appeared on the scene. The reporters did not know either of these eminent judges by sight, and took it for granted that it was Mr. Justice Magee who was presiding, as arranged, hence the error.

Rev. Dr. Symonds Preaches Sermon On St. George

A Patriotic Service Held in Christ Church Cathedral.

The Montreal Herald has the following report of a sermon preached in Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday by Rev. Dr. Symonds:—

Christ Church Cathedral was completely filled with Montreal citizens of English descent last night when special services were held in honour of their patron saint, St. George, whose holiday is observed to-day, the twenty-third.

Rev. Dr. Symonds, Vicar of the Cathedral, was the anniversary preacher, and presented an eloquent and patriotic message to the St. George's society, and their friends.

Choosing as his text the verse, "Thou shalt tread upon the lion and the adder, the young lion and dragon shalt thou trample under thy feet," Dr. Symonds referred to the ensigni of St. George and the dragon on the reverse of the British sovereign and proceeded.

"Little of definite value is known of England's patron saint, but we have a wealth of legend from which much may be learned, because every legend contains a nucleus of truth.

"This George, who became England's patron saint was born in Cappadocia, of Christian parents, and later became a distinguished officer in the Roman Emperor Diocletian's army. But when Diocletian started to persecute the Christians, George sought a private interview with him, remonstrated, confessed his faith and resigned his commission with th result that he was arrested, tortured and finally put to death in the year 303, just before, through the efforts of such men as himself, Christianity became the religion of the Roman Empire.

"It was Richard Worth the crusader, who first popularized St. George in England, but it was not until the reign of Edward III., that he became England's patron saint. In the fourteenth century, the English soldiers wore St. George's cross as a badge and Edward III. founded St. George's Chapel at Windsor.

"As to the killing of the dragon," said Dr. Symonds, "it is of course a myth, but that need not distress us. In early days it was a notable feat for a knight to slay dragons—but that would hardly suffice to make the slayer a saint."

"I should like to say," interjected the preacher, "that I am frankly an Imperialist, and do not think any other policy is possible for the British Government to-day. But we must guard against a false Imperialism and see that wrong, injustice and tyranny do not masquerade under its guise."

Proceeding, Dr. Symonds warned his hearers against the English tendency to exclusiveness and insular haughty pride. Not only was this injurious to English interests and commerce, but it was an unchristian spirit quite at variance with the cry, "St. George for England", which meant Christianity before the world.

MR. H. D. KENNEDY, EVANGELIST, SAFE

Mr. H. P. Kennedy received word to-day that his brother, Rev. H. D. Kennedy, the well known evangelist, who is at Sebastopol, Cal., a town near Santa Rosa, and who was there at the time of the earthquake, is safe and sound. Mr. Kennedy has many friends in Peterborough, who will be very much pleased to learn of his safety.

Dreaded Insomnia.

"I was afflicted with nervousness and dreaded insomania, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me."—Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont.

New San Francisco Will Replace The Destroyed City

Courageous Survivors Will Rebuild Their City—Homeless Drenched in Downpour of Rain—Causes Indescribable Suffering to Many Thousands—Shooting of Major Tilden—People Who are Rushing to the Stricken City of San Francisco Strongly Advised to Stay Away—Relief is for the Chinese as Well as all Other Classes—First California Fruits Bring Enormous Prices in Philadelphia—Notes.

San Francisco, April 24.—The new San Francisco that will rise from the ashes of the old city was in its first stages yesterday of rebuilding. After five days of confusion and almost superhuman effort on the part of the citizens of California's metropolis in the great task of sheltering, feeding and otherwise caring for the homeless thousands, complete order has been established and attention turned to the future.

Throughout the great business quarter, where the devastation by fire was most complete, dangerous walls were razed, buildings that had not been disintegrated by fire were inspected with a view of re-occupancy, and ground was cleared for the immediate construction of buildings in which to resume business at the earliest possible time.

Fed by System.

Homeless persons were fed yesterday in a systematic manner. At the stations food and drink, comprising bread, prepared meats and canned goods, milk and a limited amount of hot coffee and even fruit were served to all those who applied. About 1,500 tons of food are moved daily from the waterfront.

General health conditions are satisfactory. While the number of cases at the various hospitals has increased each day, sickness is mostly due to exposure and worry. The most encouraging feature is the absence of anything like contagion or an epidemic of disease of any nature whatever.

Gen. A. W. Greely yesterday took command of the federal troops at this post, superseding Gen. Frederick Funston, who will act under Greely's orders.

Law Courts Grind Again.

Legal business will be resumed today. All the superior judges will open their twelve departments in the Jewish synagogue, California and Webster streets. Criminal cases will have precedence.

Brutally Shot by Patrol.

Major H. C. Tilden, a prominent commission merchant of this city, a member of Gov. Pardee's staff and one of the foremost workers of the general relief committee, was shot and almost instantly killed in his automobile early yesterday at 22nd and Guerrero streets, while returning from Menlo Park. He was shot by men supposed to be members of the citizens' patrol. A friend of the challenger was cut in the face by a bullet and R. G. Seaman, acting lieutenant of the Second Company of the Signal Corps, was struck by a spent bullet. He suffered no injury. Tilden was one of the foremost workers in the general relief work. The Red Cross flag was displayed on his car. Seaman claims the guard began shooting without warning or challenge and continued firing after the car had passed them. Several policemen came running up and arrested three of the men who did the shooting. The men were in khaki uniform."

Sightseers Not Wanted.

The following telegram from J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Southern Pacific Railway, who is in San Francisco, was sent yesterday to Assistant Traffic Director N. C. McCormick in Chicago:

"Please ask the press generally to advise all people generally not to try to reach San Francisco. Outsiders not allowed to land here. They would only add to the congestion."

Drenching Rain Adds to Misery.

A drenching rain fell upon San Francisco Sunday night. From midnight until 3 o'clock it poured and drizzled at intervals, while a high wind added a melancholy accompaniment whistling and sighing about the ruins of the buildings in the burned districts. Five days ago when the fire catastrophe was in its infancy this downpour would have been regarded as a mercy and a godsend. Yesterday morning it could be regarded in no other light than as an additional calamity. It meant indescribable suffering to the tens of thousands of persons camped upon the naked hills, and in the parks and open places. The downpour has aggravated the already unsanitary condition of the camps, and will doubtless add great numbers to those already crowding the regular and temporary hospitals of the city.

After several hours of clear weather there was another precipitation at 6 a. m. and again at 9 o'clock the fall was resumed and continued at intervals throughout the day.

Of individual instances of suffering, the number is legion.

Relief is For the Chinese.

Washington, April 24.—President Roosevelt sent the following letter to Secretary of State Taft yesterday:

"Sir,—According to the newspaper reports the suffering and destitution are peculiarly great among the Chinese I need hardly say that the Red Cross work must be done wholly without regard to persons and just as much for Chinese as for any others. Please wire Dr. Devine at once to see that this is done. Will it not be well also to wire to Gen. Funston to the same effect. I know nothing of the matter beyond what appears in the daily press.

(Signed) "Theodore Roosevelt."

NEWS IN PARAGRAPHS.

Seismographs in the Imperial University show that the San Francisco earthquake reached Japan in 11 minutes.

A carload of flour, ground in the Regina Roller Mills and grown on Regina Plains, was sent forward from Regina as a gift of the city.

The area of the burnt district is fifteen square miles.

Funds have been started at the various Australian capitals in aid of the sufferers by the San Francisco earthquake. Premier Seddon, on behalf of New Zealand, has offered $25,000.

Both Ottawa and Toronto observatories recorded Sunday's earthquake shocks in Oregon.

Winnipeg Council on Saturday appropriated $10,000 to the fund, of which $5,000 was wired at once. About $500 in private subscription have been made.

At London, England, the San Francisco earthquake relief fund being raised by Americans, is approaching $17,500. Sir Thomas Lipton has cabled to Mayor Schmitz offering to contribute $5,000 to the relief fund.

Massachusetts has raised $400,000 for the fund.

Chicago's second relief train, carrying provisions for the earthquake victims, was ready to leave Monday. The city's cash contributions now amount to over $450,000.

Portland, Ore., April 24.—Western and Southern Oregon were shaken by an earthquake yesterday. The utmost alarm is felt all along the coast. A despatch from Glendale says the shock was so severe that houses rocked, furniture toppled and fell, and china in closets was broken. At Grant's Pass in Southern Oregon, the earth began to quiver and shake violently shortly after 1 o'clock.

Los Banos, Cal., April 24.—The earthquake destroyed the principal business portion of this town.

Oakland, April 24.—The bodies of eighty-six patients and eleven attendants have been recovered from the ruins of the Agnews' Asylum for the Insane, near Santa Rosa.

Philadelphia, April 24.—Probably the highest price ever paid for California cherries were realized yesterday at a local commission merchant's establishment, when a box of fruit was sold at auction for $0,440. The money was added to the relief fund for the earthquake sufferers. The cherries were the first received here this season from California, and a box of them sold at auction, each cherry being offered for sale singly. The first cherry sold for $105, and the others sold for amounts ranging from $100 down to 50 cents.

New York, April 24.—That the contributions for New York State for the relief of the victims of the great catastrophe on the Pacific Coast will exceed $2,500,000 is now assured. The City of Buffalo appropriated the sum of $50,000 and not a city or town in the state has failed to add its quota for relief.

Halifax, N. S., April 24.—The house of Daniel Mooney, at Milton, Queen's County, was torn to pieces by an electrical storm on Saturday night and several other houses in the vicinity damaged.

Fight For the Capital.

Edmonton, April 24.—The fight for the capital of Alberta has begun in the Legislature, motions having been introduced to locate it at Calgary, Red Deer and Edmonton.

TORONTO WELCOMES PRINCE

H. R. H. Presented With An Engrossed Address by the City—Luncheon at the Hunt Club.

Toronto, April 24.—H. R. H. Prince Arthur of Connaught arrived here yesterday and was met at the Union station by His Honor Lieut.-Governor Mortimer Clark, Hon. J. P. Whitney, Hon. J. J. Foy, Hon. A. J. Matheson, Brig.-Gen. Otter, C. B., Col. Lessard, C. B., Lieut.-Col. Davidson, Lieut.-Col. Denison, Capt. George, Capt. Macdonald, A. D. C., Lieut. Young.

After a short meeting with Lieut.-Governor Clark, Mr. Whitney and Gen. Otter, the prince left the car and smilingly acknowledged the welcome from the crowd by raising his hat. Entering his carriage he was escorted to the City Hall by detachments of Mounted Dragoons and Q. O. R. There was a splendid welcome at the City Hall from the great throng of people which crowded the square and streets.

Mayor Coatsworth read the address of the city, which was engrossed on vellum and bound in book form in red morocco.

H. R. H. the Prince suitably replied.

The conclusion of the speech was greeted with hearty cheers, and then followed a reception which lasted a little more than a quarter of an hour.

From the City Hall to Government House, short rest, then luncheon at the Toronto Hunt Club. The day in Toronto was closed with a dinner at Government House.

Montreal, April 24.—Strong evidence was brought out in enquete into the murder of five-year-old Edith May Ahearn yesterday morning. James Maddick, a new witness, positively identified the prisoner, James Hackett, as the man he saw with the little girl about the time of the murder, and several other witnesses identified him as the man they saw going to the woods with the little girl and coming back without her.

Hackett was formally committed to stand his trial for the murder of little Edith Ahearn.

Child Falls Into Cistern.

Preston, April 24.—An accident occurred here last night, by which the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Buehler lost her life. The child's mother was carrying a couple of pailsful of water from the cistern, and while in the house the child wandered to the cistern, fell in and was drowned.

Additional Hydrants Not Yet Provided

And Fire, Water and Light Committee Want to Know the Reason Why—Only Seven of Twenty-five Agreed Upon Two Years Ago Yet Placed on Mains—In the Meantime Water Commissioners Bill Will Not be Paid.

The city has a bill from the Water Commissioners which is disputed, and the former claiming that an agreement made by the latter has not been carried out. It appears that just two years ago yesterday it was decided between the council and the Commissioners that twenty-five new hydrants should be placed on the mains and that for these twenty-five, as well as from those at that time in use $30 a year should be charged the city, for a term of years, instead of $35, as charged formerly.

The twenty-five hydrants have not been supplied, only about six or seven, it appears, having been furnished as yet; while on the other hand, the city has still been paying the $35 a year for each hydrant, instead of $30, as arranged. On April 1st, a bill came in as usual for these hydrants, about 150 of them, at the higher figure, and Ald. Adam, as chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, did not certify to its correctness.

The matter was discussed at the meeting of the committee last night, and it was pointed out that while the city for the past two years had paid $5 a year per hydrant more than the agreement called for, this was not the most important point, viz., that the fire protection which the twenty-five additional hydrants was intended to furnish, was not being provided, and thhe committee thought that something should be done about it.

It was decided, however, that no definite step could be taken until after the next meeting of the Commissioners, when the matter might be dealt with by them.

Evidence In McAuliffe Case

Witness heard him say "Put up your mollies". He wouldn't swear what it was that hit Hudson. It clicked on the bar. He couldn't swear whether the door was open into the street or not. He didn't think it would be possible for a missile thrown from the street to have hit Hudson. It would have had to hit McAuliffe first.

Chas. Wagg was in the hotel on the night of June 1. He saw Hudson come into the wash-room. He heard McAuliffe ask Hudson to have a drink. The latter said "I would sooner have you go out." Prisoner said "Why don't you go on and do what you calculate to do?" Hudson replied, "I am afraid of a gun." Prisoner pulled something out of his pocket and struck Hudson. He did not see what Hudson was struck with. He saw McAuliffe swing his arm. Hudson fell immediately. There were people four or five feet away. Hudson fell on his back. The blow was a hard one. Flynn and witness caught the prisoner. A few minutes after his brother came in and said he would look after him. He could not remember whether the front door was open or not.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said that he was not present when Shannahan and Hudson had the row. Hudson seemed angry with McAuliffe. He refused to have the drink, and started to put McAuliffe out. He didn't hear him say to put up his fists. They didn't think of searching him for any weapons.

Arthur McDonald said that he was in the hotel at the time spoken of. He saw Hudson come out of the wash-room, followed by McAuliffe. Hudson seemed in an angry mood. They backed up through the bar. He thought they were about five feet apart. McAuliffe took a step forward and Hudson immediately fell. He wouldn't swear that McAuliffe hit him, it was done so quickly. Hudson fell on his back. None of the bystanders were within striking distance. He didn't see McAuliffe afterwards.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness said that he did not see anything of the fight between Hudson and Shannahan. He was not positive that McAuliffe attempted to strike Hudson.

To His Lordship witness said there was no one between him and McAuliffe when the blow was struck.

To His Lordship witness said object struck the bar with a hard sound.

C. Halpin said that he was a blacksmith, living next the hotel. He was there that night. He heard McAuliffe ask Hudson to have a drink. McAuliffe made a motion bringing his hand from his side. He didn't hear the blow or hear anything strike the bar-counter. They were four feet from the screen door. They had some words before the blow was struck. He didn't see anything of the prisoner afterwards.

To Mr. Dennistoun, witness said he heard Hudson say "put up your dukes." He couldn't say that Hudson had his fists up. He saw Hudson several times after he had been injured. Hudson had said that he felt well. He knew McAuliffe, had known him 15 or 20 years and didn't know anything bad about him. He could'nt say whether he was drunk that time, he had been drinking.

Casey Masterson said that on coming from church that time he saw Shannahan who appeared to be pretty full. He went out to get a drink of water and when he returned Shannahan had his coat off. He heard Hudson tell Shannahan to hit him. They got into a struggle and witness and several others interfered. Shannahan went out. Witness said that he went up to McAuliffe and said, "Excuse me, I am a stranger, but be sensible." Afterwards heard McAuliffe say that "I am not afraid of you," and heard Hudson say, "I won't be conquered by any —— —— man." Witness was not present when the blow was struck.

Cross-examined, the witness said that he heard Hudson say to Shannahan, "hit me there," pointing to his nose. He (witness) stepped in between them. Hudson and McAuliffe went out into the hotel yards. He was not prepared to say whether the man was drunk.

To His Lordship he said that he did not notice where McAuliffe's hands were when he came in.

Dr. McNulty said that he was called to see Hudson between 9.30 and 10 o'clock on the night of June 1st, and made an examination of him. He discovered a wound on left side of the forehead about and inch from the margin of the hair and an inch and one-quarter in length. Wound was bleeding freely and he had lost a lot of blood. He felt a slight depression of the bone. He seemed to be suffering from a shock. Witness closed the wound. Deceased was in a very weak condition. Saw him next the following morning. He was still weak but conscious and still suffering from shock. His pulse was between 130 and 140. Witness kept on visiting twice a day until following Monday. He seemed unusually weak but the wound gave no indication of local trouble. On Monday witness removed all the stitches and found that the wound had healed. On leaving that night was still suffering from shock, but was better. On Tuesday he was not so well. There was a swelling over his left eye and there was a discharge from the wound. He was feverish and had had a chill during the night. Witness felt condition was not as good as it had been, but friends objected to his being taken to the hospital. Towards evening his condition was worse and he was taken to the hospital. Dr. Greer was called in to assist. They thought pus had gathered in the depths of wound, but on opening found no pus. All day Wednesday he seemed in a somewhat similar condition but high fever and no appetite. No improvement was found on Thursday. After consultation it was decided to remove the outer layer of bone. Outer plate was dissected away and that exposed the area between the two plates. Drs. Young, Halliday and Greer, with the witness decided that there was some pressure on the brain. On Saturday afternoon a portion of the inner plate was removed and the patient died three or four hours afterwards. At the time of the last operation the inner plate was found to be depressed and the coverings of the brain were inflamed.

Witness said that he assisted in the post mortem with Dr. McCulloch and Dr. Greer, while Drs. Young and Dr. Halliday were present for the defence. The post mortem was made on Sunday after death. They found the body to be that of a man well developed, and about 38 years of age. On removing the scalp, an opening in the skull, produced by the operation, was found. On looking at the inner plate two cracks were found, and between these two the bone seemed slightly depressed. They were produced by the original instrument, and were under an inch in length. There was pus and an inflamed area under the wound. There was pus between the lobes of the brain. There was a little indication of the inflammation spreading over the right hemisphere. Marked evidences of disease were found in the liver and the kidneys. The liver was very much enlarged, and was in a badly diseased condition, called "fatty liver." The lungs seemed to be in good condition. The heart was diseased, the valves being affected. Heart seemed to be about the normal size. Kidneys were larger than normal and their general appearance indicated a diseased condition. Witness' opinion was that deceased's death had been caused by septic inflammation of the brain caused by affection from the wound.

To Mr. Dennistoun — Witness said that Hudson had lived for ten days after receiving injury so that he did not die from the wound but from some secondary cause. That secondary cause would take some time to develop. The secondary cause was septic inflammation. The usual test for septic poisoning was to have a microscopic examination of the blood. His theory was that some germs causing septic poisoning entered his system through the wound. There was no limit to the way in which septic germs might enter the system. Fred Hudson might have got the poison through an aperture unknown to him.

The witness was then examined as to the post mortem. Witness said that the deceased had heart disease, and the chief organs were badly diseased. In his opinion there were four causes hurrying him to death: disease of the liver, Bright's disease, heart's disease, and septic inflammation of the brain. It was a matter of opinion which one of these caused death.

Mr. Dennisoun examined witness as to the treatment of Hudson during his illness. He was not certain whether there was a medicine chest in the room. The thought had never occurred to him that the deceased had been poisoned. In conclusion the witness said that a microscopic examination was the conclusive test of septic poisoning, and this he had not made.

To Mr. Meredith — Witness said that his opinion was that while all the organs mentioned were diseased still the direct cause of death was the wound in the head: the other diseases mentioned would encourage inflammation at the point of the wound.

There had been no suspicion that the man had been poisoned. The death symptoms did not very much resemble this.

Dr. Greer to Mr. Wood. — Agreed with Dr. McNulty as regards the cause of death. His opinion was that it was caused by septic inflammation of the brain and its membranes cause from the wound.

To Mr. Dennistoun — Witness said that septic germs might enter by any aperture. He agreed with Dr. McNulty that the ultimate test of septic inflammation was a microscopic examination of the blood.

"Are you prepared to swear on oath that he did not die from poisoning?" asked Mr. Dennistoun.

"I can say that there is hardly any possibility of that," was the answer.

To Mr. Wood, witness again said that the direct cause of death was septic poisoning.

The court then adjourned for luncheon.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS BACK

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE. WOULD HAVE TO STAY IN BED FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

Doan's Kidney Pills CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Hazeldean, Ont., writes us as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but of no avail, and also plasters but they were of no use.

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box so I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better so I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would not be without Doan's Pills in my house."

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in its first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

THE HORSES ARE ON THE TRACK

The Turf Club track is in pretty fair shape now considering the season and many local horsemen have their animals working out on it. The track is soft at the pole and other places, but the going is good on the outside and in about three weeks time it will be in good condition all over. Among the horses that are being exercised there at present are:—Lady Gothhard, Harry Direct, Dr. Johnson's gelding, Mr. Geo. Lipsett's green mare, Laura Mac, Miss Paisley, Little Jap, Gradicator, and others. Most of the above horses will probably be entered in the races on May 24th.

Fire Hall Tenders Have Been Accepted

H. Carveth Gets Contract for Building at $9,875—Adam Hall Will do Plumbing and Heating at $1,043—Tenders Not Received by April 9th Were Not Considered—Plumbing Tender Accepted Was Not the Lowest Offered--Other Business Considered by the Committee.

At the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night, the tenders for the erection of the new fire hall were accepted, the successful tenderers being H. Carveth for the building, at $9,895, and Adam Hall for the plumbing and heating at $1,043. In the case of Mr. Carveth his tender was the lowest, but for the plumbing and heating, F. R. J. McPherson had a tender lower than that of Mr. Hall, but it was not received until two days after the time for receiving the tenders had closed. It was decided last night that only those tenders received on April 9th be considered, which shut out Mr. McPherson's tender on the plumbing, and Mr. Thos. McKee's on the building.

There was some considerable discussion on the question as to the wisdom of considering any tenders received after 4 o'clock, on the 9th, the hour fixed for the tenders to close, but it was finally decided to consider all received that day, but none which came in afterwards.

Those present at the meeting were: Ald. Adams, chairman, Ald. Ball, Elliott, Graham, Duncan. Ald Hicks was there as a visitor.

The consideration of the tenders was the first business taken up, and after some discussion Ald. Ball moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that tenders not received according to the terms of the advertisement, calling for them, be not considered.

Ald. Graham moved in amendment that any tenders received up to April 9th, be considered. This was seconded by Ald. Duncan. The amendment was carried, on the casting vote of the chairman, who also voted against the motion.

Ald. Graham moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the tender of H. Carveth of $9,875, for the building, and that of Adam Hall for the plumbing and heating for $1,043, be accepted, which was carried.

The chairman called the attention of the Committee to the fact that the police station required re-papering and painting, and Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Graham, that the work be done. Ald. Duncan figured that the cost would probably be from $12 to $15.

The request of the Chief of the Brigade for 400 feet of hose and 12 pairs of boots was considered, and the clerk was instructed to write to the manufacturers and to the local dealers, asking quotations on those goods, the opinion being expressed that if any of the local dealers could supply the goods they should be given an opportunity of figuring on them.

License Commissioners OF WEST PETERBOROUGH Granted The Licenses

For the Year 1906-7—Meeting of the Board Was Held Last Night to Consider Applications—Two Licenses Will be Cut Off—Some Changes of Tenants are Ordered.

The Board of License Commissioners for West Peterborough met last night in the office of the secretary for the purpose of considering the applications for licenses for the year 1906-07. The chairman of the Board, Dr. M. A. Morrison, presided, and the other members of the Board, Mr. Jas. Kendry and Mr. H. LeBrun, were present.

The license holders all applied for renewals, and consideration was given to these applications.

The licenses granted unconditionally were:

G. N. Graham, Oriental Hotel.
Jas. Lawless, National Hotel.
W. Snowden, Snowden House.
G. White, White House.
R. H. Jackson, Crown Inn.
Jas. Head, Clancy House.
George Lipsett, Maple Leaf Hotel.
M. C. Tooley, Queen's Hotel.
P. Hogan, Hogan's Hotel.
Mrs. O'Shea, Commercial House.
J. B. Larocque, Montreal House.

R. J. Munro's license was granted, and he was ordered to shingle the stable and paint the window frames of the hotel.

Jas. Dolan will have his license granted in case the alcove in front of the hotel is closed.

Steve Holland's license was granted and he was ordered to widen the stairway leading to the lavatories, and three dark bedrooms were ordered to be lighted and ventilated.

James Flynn will get his license when repairs are made to the kitchen and when the diningroom has been renovated, and a bath put in.

Of the rest three license holders were given time to dispose of their business. The Commissioners were satisfied with the accommodation in the hotels but not with the way they were being conducted. These were: Austin Dunn and E. Cassidy, who were given three months to sell out, and Jas. Allen, one month. The reason that the latter had a shorter period than the others was that he had been previously warned that his license would not be renewed. He invested his money in the hotel without consulting the Commissioners, who were opposed to granting him a license.

Two houses are cut off, Mrs. Bowman's hotel at the C. P. R. station, and J. M. Brook's Palace Hotel. The reason for the action of the Commissioners in these cases, as given by the Inspector, is that the accommodation is not up to the requirements, and it was decided to withhold the licenses from these premises altogether, so that the number of licences issued is reduced by two; the others which were withheld will be granted, when proprietors who are satisfactory to the commissioners, apply for them.

In the case of the Phelan House, the commissioners decided to hold consideration of the renewal of the license over until Monday, April 30, when the shop business will also be considered, as Mr. Cavanagh's lease has expired, and the property is about to change hands.

It will be seen that with the exception of Mrs. Bowman and Mr. Brooks, licenses will be issued to the same places as last year. There will be two or three changes in tenants.

There are no licenses in West Peterborough except those in the city.

All persons owing accounts to H. M. Edmison, Druggist, up to and including April 17th, will kindly make settlement at once. Accounts may be paid and acknowledgment given at the Drug Store, No. 390 George St

DOWN WITH DUST BEFORE 9 O'CLOCK

The plague of dust is disgusting. Why is not the street sprinkling wagon out before nine o'clock? At and before nine o'clock this morning the central streets of the city—George street, Hunter and Simcoe —were blind with rolling clouds of dust. Why shouldn't the street sprinkling begin before the shops are opened so that the goods of merchants will not be practically destroyed and the shops filled with dust. At first it was complained that the stand pipes were not in order; that was the excuse. Now and for days they have been in shape and their is no excuse for blinding citizens with dust. The streets must be watered. Then why not begin at an hour when a beginning should be made. Whoever is in authority should see that the service for which the citizens pay should be promptly given. The citizens should get full value for their money paid in taxes. The tax collector says "down with the dust" and the people have to pay, and "down with the dust" should be the story on the part of the street authorities. Get out the water wagon before nine o'clock. Do things right. It wont cost a cent more to have the streets well watered at an early hour, but somebody will have to wake up.

The bride was assisted by her sister Miss Annie Powers and the groom by Mr. Thos. Brien, of Peterborough.

CAR JUMPED TRACK THIS MORNING

About eleven o'clock this morning, a car that was being brought to the American Cereal Works from the C. P. R. station, just at the place where the track bends near where the dredge is working, jumped the track. It is thought that the accident was due to the rails spreading at the point where it occurred. The car was the last of four that the engine was drawing and there were about eight cars on the front of the engine. From the place where the car was derailed to the Hunter street crossing the ties very distinctly bear the mark of its heavy wheels and the planking between the rails at the sidewalk is nearly all torn up. Traffic was blocked for about five minutes, it being impossible to stop the engine which was travelling at a high rate of speed until the crossing was reached. The car was afterward shunted back along the track far enough to leave the roadway clear. The car was half full of oat feed and contained about a dozen employees of the Cereal Company, who, as may be imagined, were somewhat alarmed when they felt their conveyance pursuing a rather rough and jolting course. But none of them were injured.

Patrick McAuliffe Declared BY THE JURY YESTERDAY Guilty Of Manslaughter

Sentence Was Deferred Until To-morrow—Verdict Was Coupled With a Recommendation to Mercy—Mr. Dennistoun Made an Eloquent Plea for Clemency This Morning—Yesterday's Evidence.

Patrick McAuliffe was yesterday afternoon found guilty of the manslaughter of Fred Hudson on June 1st last. This verdict was coupled with a recommendation to mercy. The jury were out about one hour and a half. After hearing the verdict His Lordship announced that he would give sentence this morning.

When the court opened to-day, however, he said that he had decided to reserve sentence for another day and will impose the penalty to-morrow.

Mr. Dennistoun, counsel for the prisoner, asked for a reserved case.

His Lordship said that when an indictment was lost there were two courses to pursue, one way was to prove the contents of a second indictment, and substitute if for the first and the second was to have the matter submitted afresh to the grand jury. This had been done and they had returned a true bill. He could not see how the prisoner would be prejudiced in this.

Mr. Dennistoun said that the question would have to be decided upon technical grounds.

Mr. Dennistoun asked His Lordship to exercise clemency in imposing sentence.

Pat McAuliffe was a young man, not much more than launched on life's career. He had commenced a happy married life but the hand of death intervened and he lost his wife and child. His character had been excellent. A young farmer, well known to all the community, and spoken of by the leading men as an excellent young man. He urged upon His Lordship that this was the act of a man through the influence of drink, grieved as he was by the loss of his wife and child. His conduct in the case had been all that could be expected. He had given himself up for trial. The trial had been fixed for last fall. The defence had a witness in the count who would have given material evidence, but who was not present yesterday. The young man had had six months' suspance. Mr. Dennistoun pointed out that the jury had given a recommendation to mercy, which he took to mean that the blow which the prisoner had given the deceased, if he had been a healthy man would not have killed him. The evidence all went to show that McAuliffe was acting as peace maker alone. The last words he uttered before the act took place was the friendly invitation to join him in a drink. Down to the very moment that he was driven to the extremity of the bar, he had no thought of striking a blow. The prisoner had no recollection of the act, the matter was a perfect blank to him. While this was no excuse, it was an important consideration. Mr. Dennistoun went on to point out that a long sentence would ruin the young man's life, and asked His Lordship to consider the prisoner's youth, and the lesson he had learned in imposing sentence.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

Dr. Johnston, of Toronto, was the first witness called at this sitting, and testified that, in his opinion, the wound on the forehead of the deceased would not have been caused by a fist, but from something harder. There were symptoms of poisoning in the wound, and the course of the case showed that the inflammation was caused by the blow. It was very often impossible to wash out a wound of this nature, and the result is that germs are left grow. There was no evidence to show that the other diseases in the deceased's body were caused by the wound, but that they may have been accentuated by it because of his weakened condition. The doctor, referring to the child which the deceased had on the fifth day after the accident, said that this was the first recognizable symptom of poisoning, following an injury to the membrane of the brain.

The witness stated that the death of Hudson was caused by inflammation to the membrane of the brain and resulted from the blow on the forehead.

Dr. Johnston said that while Hud-

Hill vs. Gow Case Heard BEFORE JUDGE ANGLIN At Spring Assizes

Much Evidence Was Taken This Morning and the Case is Still Going On—Large Amount of Testimony is the Same as That Previously Given—Mrs. Hill, Edward Dewart and Others Gave Evidence.

The action of Robert Hill against Charles Gow, for $1,000 damages for the loss of his little son, Thomas Edward, occupied the attention of the court this morning, and is being continued this afternoon. Much of the evidence offered is the same as that given at the Gow trial. Mr. E. B. Edwards is appearing for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck and Kerr for defendant.

W. C. P. Heathcote asked as to the elevation of the shots, said that there would be a small angle of elevation. Dr. Douglas.

Dr. Douglas, of Warsaw, was the next witness and said he was asked by 'phone to come to Hill's place. He dressed the wound on the head of the little girl. He found the boys injured. Witness saw the body of Thomas Hill in another room in the house. In examining the body found a punctured wound in the front of the body and another at the back. Witness described the wounds on the body. The Hills had explained to him how the accident had occurred. The position of the wound corresponded with the position of the boy, as described by the Hills. Witness described the room in which the boy was shot. He had found a bullet embedded in the bed, and extracted it. He did not see any other bullet in the house.

To Mr. Kerr, for the defendant, the witness said that the wound in front was an inch in diameter and had a frayed edge. At the time of the post mortem the wound would have shrunk. He saw a bullet in the bed, but did not know how long it had been there.

To Mr. Edwards, again, witness said that the angle at which the bullet entered would have no appreciable difference in the size of the wound.

To His Lordship—Witness said that if he had not taken into account the stories told him he would not have been able to tell which was the point of exit of the bullet.

Mrs. Robt. Hill, sworn, said that she was the mother of the boy who was shot. She had five children living, the eldest 20. She remembered night of 21st of August. Family all retired to bed about 10. She and her husband occupied the south room on the lower floor. There was a lamp dimly burning in the living room. Thomas, Edward and Mabel occupied a room upstairs with two windows facing the south. The head of the bed was to the west, about 2 feet from the window. The other boys slept on the north side. They heard a terrible shooting and some one calling the Hills to come out. The voices seemed to be coming down the hill from the north. She and her husband got out of bed and went out onto the verandah. They heard a buggy coming down the road, and then stop. They heard voices call the Hills to come out. She knew Ed-Dewart's voice, but another voice was strange. She heard other voices near the barn, say, "A mob, a mob, let her fly." She heard a bullet strike the house. Her husband took her in. There was another shot fired. Mabel came down stairs and said she was wounded and Tommie was shot. She heard the buggy start off and her husband went up stairs and brought the boy down. He was dead. She heard nothing more from the road. The third shot struck the casement outside the living room. She had recognized the voices of the Murphys, Gadlagher, and the Dewarts. The shots came from the roadside, from the south-west of the house. The boy was in the best of health and had been going to school. He was very good at doing chores and helped his father in the harvest field, and cleaned out the stables.

To Mr. Dennistoun, Mrs. Hill said that the three shots came as fast as they could be shot. She did not know who shot the boy. She did not remember telling Dr. Douglass that it could not possibly have been Gow who shot the boy; she did not remember saying the same thing to Frank Cavanagh. She did not tell Mrs. Sanderson at the inquest that it was impossible for Gow to have done the shooting. She denied that she had made up her mind that it was not Gow.

Mabel Hill was the next witness. Said that she slept up stairs with her brother, Thomas Edward; she remembered being awakened by some one calling "A mob! A mob!" The noise came from the road. Tommy and she had got up and gone to the window, which Tommy opened; they looked out of the window. They were bending over, she being nearest the roadside. Tommy was on her left side; her hands were on the window sill. They heard a shot, which struck the end of the house. She heard another shot which hit her finger and went into Tommy. The boy fell backwards and said, "O, I'm shot, mamma." He did not move after he fell. She went down stairs and told her father and mother. Her father went up and brought Tommy down. She heard one shot as she was coming down stairs; she came down at once. After being struck, she thought she saw Stewart Murphy, when looking out of the window.

To Mr. Kerr, witness said that she knew the Dewarts and Murphys well. She saw two flashes, which she thought were on the knoll. At Norwood she had thought that it was Stewart Murphy who did the shooting. Stewart Murphy's face was turned towards the house. The face might have been at one side of the flash. She remembered saying at Norwood that the buggy was a good way from the face she saw.

Moulders Union IS ASKING FOR AN Increase In Pay

10 Per Cent. Advance Over Present Rate of Pay the Request—To Take Effect May 1st—Average Pay is Now $2.50 a Day—Moulders Ask $2.75—International Delegate is Here to Adjust Trouble.

There is a demand for increased wage rates by the union moulders in the city, and there is a possibility that May 1st may see a strike of the mouldors in the shops employing union men.

The moulders have made a request to the employers for an increase in wages of 10 per cent. over the amount received at present, and until May 1 was given for them to reach a decision.

The present rate of pay averages $2.50 for 10 hours, and the men are of the opinion that $2.75 should be the minimum rate of pay. A representative of the International Union, Mr. Barnett, is in the city in an effort to adjust the differences between the men and the bosses, and thus prevent a strike, which would be disastrous, since the iron working shops in the city are very busy, and a tie-up of the moulding department would seriously affect the other departments of the shops.

The shops affected are the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., Peter Hamilton Co., Limited, and G. Walter Green. The first employs about 25 men; Peter Hamilton works 20, and Mr. Green about 12 or 14, so that about 60 men would be directly affected, outside the staff of helpers. Some of the employers have, it is understood, stated that they were not prepared to grant the increase asked for, but the efforts of the International delegate may be rewarded by a compromise, and a strike averted. Neither the men nor the employers are looking for trouble, and it is hoped that a settlement may be effected. The shop of the Lock Works is not affected, the men there working on piece-work, and are, it is understood, satisfied with their rate of pay.

It is stated that not long ago one of the establishments voluntarily gave his moulders an advance of 10 per cent.

Extension Policy Is Decided Upon

But as to When Radial Railway Will go to Lakefield Mr. Larmonth Was Unable to Say—Plans for This Summer at Jackson Park.

Mr. J. H. Larmonth informed the Examiner to-day that he intends going to Chicago, probably next Tuesday, for the purpose of arranging for the summer attractions at Jackson Park. He stated that in all probability a more elaborate scale of attractions will be given by the Radial Railway Company this summer than last year. He had already taken a trip to the park with Mr. Richard Hall, chairman of the Nicholls estate trustees, and a conference took place in reference to the plans for this year.

It is probable that a merry-go-round will be one of the attractions at the park for the little ones this summer, while other features will be provided. Mr. Larmonth will see what the big parks in the American cities are running, and he will probably be guided largely by what they are doing in his decision in respect to the park here.

As to the proposed extension of the road to Lakefield, Mr. Larmonth stated that there was nothing definite to give out. Mr. Stuart had directed that the extension should be made, but as to when work would be commenced on it, he was unable to say.

You have No Reason for Not Using

Zutoo

Some people think that all headache cures are alike—that they all undermine the health, even if not perceived at the time of taking them.

Well, we'll admit that the drug cures do this, but that is no reason why you should not take Zutoo.

Zutoo is a harmless vegetable remedy. One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda that our grandmothers used to take to settle the stomach, when they had sick headache. And there is nothing better.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

There is absolutely no reason why you should not use Zutoo.

If you suffer from headache there is every reason why you should.

Taken in time, two tablets will ward off a headache. Taken later, they will stop it in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time.

If you are using a drug remedy, why not discard it?

Zutoo will cure just as quickly and will save you the penalty, that all must sometime pay, who take the drugs which these cures contain.

If you will give Zutoo one trial, you will never take any other headache remedy again.

CORRESPONDENCE ON CURRENT TOPICS.

ALFRED FARLOW REPLIES TO SOME CRITICISMS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In the issue of the Evening Review of the 4th, there appeared an article which contains some statements about Christian Science which are based upon misapprehensions. Far from being opposed to the Scriptures the entire contents of the Christian Science text-book are based upon Scriptural premises and the discoverer and founder of Christian Science declares that the Bible was her only text-book in her search for the Science of Christianity. That Christian Science is in harmony with the Scriptures is evidenced by the fact that Christian Scientists love the Bible and study it quite as much if not more than any other class of Christians.

It is quite true that Christian Science speaks disparagingly of matter, but our Lord did likewise when He said, "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing." He declared flesh (matter) to be altogether unprofitable and never was known to say a favourable thing concerning matter. But it should be understood that in its denial of the existence of matter Christian Science does not repudiate anything in creation. It teaches that everything from the least to the greatest is real. Science does not teach that man has no body but that the body is not what it seems to be to that quality of understanding which does not see it as God made it and as it really is. Science teaches that the Creator is Spirit and that the creation is therefore spiritual. What is termed the material is but the human, false conception of the spiritual.

Science admits that sin and disease exist in erring, mortal experience but that these have no reality from a spiritual view-point and that therefore they must be grappled with and overcome in accordance with scientific, Divine law. Science therefore includes the doctrine of repentance and demands the absolute abandonment of sin. Far from repudiating the doctrine of atonement, the Christian Science text-book, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, devotes an entire chapter in explanation of the atonement and its utility to mankind. Christian Science includes the teaching of the acceptance of Jesus' appearance in the flesh and that every step of His experience from birth to ascension was essential, that He might verify His declaration, "I am the way." Jesus, by His life, demonstrated what is possible to mankind through a close walk with God, while Christian Science gives the science of the way, shows how mortals may work out their own salvation in compliance with the Scriptural demand.

Christian Science does not "laugh" at conversion but believes that the individual must first be converted, must repent of his error, turn about and lead a new life. It teaches that Heaven is that blissful state wherein man has attained to perfection, has awakened in the likeness of God; that hell is the discord of mortal existence.

Our critic complains that Christian Science was discovered and founded by a woman. The mere fact that this science has been discovered by a woman is evidence that woman's part was essential to make plain the plan of salvation, which Jesus marked out. Women are doing many things in this age of the world that they did not undertake in former ages.

Sincerely yours,
ALFRED FARLOW.

NO ACCIDENTS IN NATURE.

Every Calamity, No Matter How Great Has a Definite Beginning.

There are no accidents in nature.

The avalanche that without a moment's warning rushes headlong down the mountain side is not an accident.

For years previous tiny atoms have been crystalizing, and adding their minute weight to the mass which left its base when the accumulation reached a certain point.

Neither is baldness an accident. The infinitesimally small germ which is the cause of Dandruff and Baldness, feeds silently and long before the result is seen.

The small germs which thrive on the scalp and which are the cause of Baldness and Dandruff, cannot exist, however, when Newbro's Herpicide is applied.

House Work

Need Not Wear Her Out

The drudgery of house work seems never ending to tired-out, dispirited women who suffer from female complaints or irregularities. Inflammation and ulceration cause fearful bearing-down pains which are aggravated by much standing on the feet, and lifting necessary in house work.

It Made Me a Well Woman

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than doctors or medicines. I suffered for four months with suppression of monthly periods. Headaches were a daily occurrence. Pains in my back and limbs made it hard for me to attend to my domestic duties.

The medicines I had taken did not help me, and I was in misery and despair until one day I read an account of your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and I thank God that I did so, for it not only regulated my monthly periods, but made me a well woman.

Presentment Of The Grand Jury

Strongly Urges Construction of Isolation Hospital.

The following is a copy of the presentment of the Grand Jury at the present assizes, made to the court yesterday morning:—

To the Hon. Mr. Justice Angler. Presiding Judge at the Peterborough Assizes.

My Lord,—The Grand Jury of the County of Peterborough, beg to address you as follows:—

We are pleased to notice in this county a comparative absence of crime, there being only one criminal case to be disposed at this court and that is one laid over from the assizes of last fall. For nearly six months no offence has been committed in the county requiring the consideration of this tribunal and we consider this a circumstance worthy of note and one which all the inhabitants should be pleased to know of. It speaks well for the morals of the community and we sincerely trust that this condition will continue for a long time to come.

In accordance with the customary practice of Grand Juries we have visited a number of institutions in the city, namely, the gaol, the Nicholls Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital and the House of Providence. We learned with pleasure by visiting these hospitals that the general health of the community is good and there is at present a comparatively small number of patients in these institutions. The buildings themselves we found in splendid condition, everything was in perfect order and the different wards presented a very clean and attractive appearance. The House of Providence has a very large number of inmates who all seemed to be happy and quite content with their surroundings.

We are very glad to be able to say that the county has now decided to erect a House of Refuge. This is badly needed and will relieve, to a certain extent, the burden now assumed by the House of Providence.

We feel we should say a word in reference to the building of a contagious disease hospital in this district. The hospitals now in Peterborough will not take any contagious disease patients and there is absolutely no place to send a person suffering from a contagious disease. This is not right and we cannot help but express our opinion in the strongest terms in favour of a contagious hospital being immediately erected. We have carefully inspected the gaol and find that all parts of the building are clean and neat. The arrangements for confining and preventing the escape of prisoners are quite satisfactory. At present there are 13 inmates, only two of whom are criminals, the others being vagrants.

J. H. LARMONTH,
Foreman.

His Lordship thanked the jury for the attention they had given their duties and remarked that he would place the matter of the suggestions they had made to the proper authorities.

THAT OVER WORKED, PLAYED OUT FEELING AMONG WOMEN

There are thousands of females all over our land who are broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with diseases peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young. Often they have pale or sallow complexion, hollow, sunken eyes, with a lifeless look; the face has a pinched and haggard appearance; they are weak, weary and trembling, often extremely nervous, starting at every little noise. Many are low-spirited, and some are fretful. Some are apparently bloodless, with cold hands and feet, while others are flushed by an unequal circulation of the blood, dizziness, and sometimes dullness of vision, loss of memory, and often loss of appetite and sleep, and are wearied with terrible dreams.

Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, shortness of breath and the sensation of pins and needles are all indications of a weakened condition of the heart or nervous system, and should any of them be present we would strongly advise the use of

They bring health to the broken down, energy to the weakened constitution, tone up the tired, overstrained nerves, and strengthen the weak heart.

Mrs. Edward Jackson, Hall's Bridge, Ont., writes: "For a year I was greatly troubled with nervousness and loss of appetite, and could neither sleep nor eat. After taking a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I was completely cured and can recommend them to all sufferers."

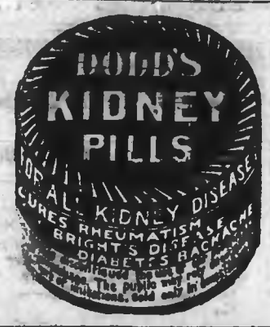
Rev. Dr. Symond's Reply To Toast

Former Peterborough Divine At St. George's Dinner.

To Rev. Dr. Symonds, formerly of St. Luke's church, Peterborough, and now curate of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, was assigned the honour of replying to the toast "St. George and Merrie England," at the dinner of St. George's Society on Monday evening, at the Place Viger Hotel, Montreal. The gathering was a brilliant one and Old England patron saint was honoured in speech and song in a manner befitting the day. Replying to the toast, St. George and Merrie England," which was gracefully proposed by Mr. Robt. Meredith, Rev. Dr. Symonds warned his hearers against too much vainglory. "What has given our country its power," said he, "is less the strength of its own right arm than the observance of the principles which have lived and have been cherished throughout the ages." England has given to the world constitutional government and constitutional liberty, which had been more or less closely copied by other nations.

"When England has been greatest she has been freest. We rejoice that in these days of critical issues we are ruled by a King who has never been surpassed for marvellous judgment and tact in the face of difficult situations."

In conclusion Dr. Symonds remarked that wherever the British flag flies British subjects should stand closer together — English or Scotch, French or Irish — recognizing the virtues she possesses, and that nothing is really or truly great except through unity.



Prospects Good For Building Trades

Contractors Report That This Year Will Surpass all Former Seasons—Considerable Difficulty in Securing Help.

The Examiner, in conversation with one of the most prominent building contractors in the city, to-day learned that there would be more building work in the city this year than in any previous year in the city's history. Some little time ago, the prospects for this season were not particularly bright, but recently there has been a marked activity along this line, and if the summer of 1906 does not exceed all former seasons in the quantity of building that will be done, it will be a great surprise to those who are in touch with the trade. The bulk of the building, will, of course, be residences, and of these the greater number be built in the south and western part of the city.

As showing the condition of the building trades, and its activities, one contractor stated that between 6 and 8 o'clock one night, he had visits from no less than five men who wanted to build.

There will, it is expected, be considerable difficulty in procuring sufficient help. A number of persons have reported that they have been unable to get stonemasons to build foundations, while other building mechanics are almost equally hard to procure.

MR. W. D. PARKER TELLS OF MONTREAL'S PROGRESS

Mr. W. D. Parker, of the Redpath Sugar Refinery, Montreal, is in the city attending the wedding of his sister-in-law, which took place this afternoon. Mr. Parker is well known in this city, where for some years he was the manager of the Ontario Bank.

Mr. Parker reports that business in the eastern metropolis is better than ever before in the history of the city. Speaking of the sugar business, Mr. Parker said that his firm was very busy, the refinery running 24 hours a day, and even then it was with difficulty that it could keep up with the orders. Mr. Parker was surprised at the rapid growth which Peterborough is making, and its increasing importance as an industrial centre.

Threatened With Paralysis

THE DOCTORS TOLD THE WRITER OF THE LETTER QUOTED BELOW —RESTORATION BROUGHT ABOUT BY USE OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is customary to consider paralysis, insanity and other diseases of the nerves as afflictions which come upon a person without warning and which are, therefore, unavoidable.

As a matter of fact, such results are preceded by months, if not years, of symptoms, which point to an exhausted condition of the nervous system. These symptoms are such, however, that many pass them by as not being of serious concern and thinking that they will wear away of themselves.

Sleeplessness, nervous headaches, indigestion, bodily weakness, fainting spells, twitching of the nerves, inability to concentrate the thoughts and loss of memory are among the most common indication of a run down nervous system. It is sometimes only a step from such symptoms to prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity.

Stimulants and narcotics, though sometimes affording temporary relief, only hasten the exhaustion of the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the other hand, reconstructs and restores the wasted and depleted nerve cells.

Naturally, gradually and certainly this great medicine instills into the blood and the nervous system the life-sustaining principles which replenish the nerve force in the body and so effect lasting benefit.

Miss Emma Scott, Athens, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a world of good. I was troubled with fainting spells, bodily weakness, and spent restless, sleepless nights. I frequently had cramps in the stomach and would at times become entirely insensible, not knowing what was going on until others told me afterwards.

"I doctored with several doctors and they told me I was threatened with paralysis. They gave me relief, but could not cure me. After suffering for three years I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and it has done me more good than all the medicines I ever used."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Geological Survey Work Now Near City

Ottawa Despatch Says That W. M. Johnston Detailed to Continue Work on Sheet Maps South and West of Peterborough.

A despatch from Ottawa says that the distribution of the field parties of the Geological Survey for the coming summer has been decided upon, and speaking of the work to be done in Ontario, adds that Dr. Bell will revise and finish the previous work in the country north of Lake Huron and Lake Superior. Mr. Collins will geologically explore along the line of the G.T.P. Railway to the westward of Lake Nipegon, while Mr. W. M. Johnston will continue the work on the sheet maps south and west of Peterborough.

Dr. Baelow, with a strong field party, will trace the extension of the silver-bearing rocks of Cobalt eastward into Quebec, while Mr. Wilson, starting from Lake Abitibi, will explore along the line of the G.T.P. Railway the important area of Huronian rocks to the eastward.

Rev. J. J. Wright Spoke In Galt

In the Interest of the Queen's University Fund.

Rev. J. J. Wright, of this city, special canvasser in aid of the Queen's University Fund, a despatch from Galt says, has been sent there by the Assembly Committee to prosecute a canvass. He was one of the church's pioneers sent into the Yukon and addressed a joint meeting of Knox and Central congregations in Central Church last night on early conditions of life in the far north. Continuing, the despatch gives some further information respecting the University. It says:—

The attentions of Canadians is just now being directed to the important question of the relation of their educational institutions to moral conditions in politics, trade and national life generally. Increasing interest is being shown, and large gifts are forthcoming for our universities as fountains of influence.

Among these an honoured place is held by Queen's University, now well past its half century of life and work. Founded in 1841, by the Presbyterian Church, "for the education of youth in the principles of the Christian religion and for their instruction in the various branches of science and literature," it has gone on through varying fortunes, increasing always in usefulness and power, until now its graduates are all over the Dominion, and its present student body numbers over 1,000.

Eternal Fitness.

THE School Board has changed the plans for the South Ward school to provide for flat roofs, like those of the sheds attached to Mayor Best's barn:

The South Ward School will be, 'tis said,
A symphony in flats,
Fitting to match the style of head
Found under School Board hats.

T.A.S. Trimmed The Conservatives

The Abstainers Were Victorious in Euchre Game Last Night.

The members of St. Peter's Abstinence Society and the members of the Young Conservative Club, played at euchre last night in the rooms of the latter organization, the "cold water men" winning handily by eight points. There were 11 tables and 44 merry card shufflers handled the ivory backs and puffed the fragrant weed. There was no programme given although a couple of much appreciated impromptu songs were rendered. A series of games may be played between these two clubs, although no definite arrangements have yet been made. The date of the return game has not yet been decided.

AFTER TEN YEARS

Mr. G. L. Stephenson of Peterborough, says: "For over ten years I suffered constantly with Piles, first Itching, then Bleeding; pain almost unbearable; life a burden. Tried everything in vain till I used Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid.

"I had taken but a few boxes when I began to notice an improvement. I decided to keep on, and now after using three boxes I am completely cured. My general health has also greatly improved. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Hem-Roid to all sufferers with Piles, and I am convinced that what it has done for me it will surely do for them."

A $1000 guarantee goes with every box of Hem-Roid. Price $1, all druggists, or The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited. Niagara Falls, N.Y. 9

RIVER DRIVERS ARE IN DEMAND

Yesterday and to-day a large number of river-drivers were sent from Peterborough, about 75 going to Midland for the Playfair Company, and to South River for the Turner Lumber Company. There is a big demand just now for rivermen, and it is understood that good wages are being paid. Messrs. Geo. Strain and Clute and Farrell were the agencies through whom these men were secured.

OLD WELL UNDER R. NEIL'S STORE

Workingmen employed last week in removing a foot of earth and deepening the cellar in the R. Neill shoe premises in Lindsay, ran across a small brick-lined well, which had been filled in with earth. They were able to stick an iron rod down some length. The well had probably been used by the early settlers.

Mr. Rich. Rork, of Wyoming, Mich., has been in the city this week visiting his brother, Mr. Thos. Rork, after an absence of about 35 years. Mr. Rork also visited in Norwood with his sister, Mrs. Robt. Wigmore.

Hutch for the Blood

When one eats a lot and crams a lot of food in the stomach the process of digestion is not complete. The food remains in chunks and ferments. This fermentation produces poisonous acid which, when it enters the blood, causes impurities and produces the humiliating evidences so well known. It is necessary before one attempts to clean the blood to clean those organs of the body on which the blood depends for its purity and healthiness. Hutch will clean the body, assist the digestion so that it will be complete and it will purify the blood and skin. Hutch is a doctor for ten cents. Sold by W. B. Warne.

AT THE FIRST SIGN OF "SPRING FEVER" you should take ABBEY'S SALT.

It is the only spring tonic used in thousands of homes to purify and enrich the blood—relieve that feeling of languor—and revitalize brain and body. Highly recommended by the medical profession. 25c and 60c.

A morning glass puts the whole system in trim for the day.

LAW MONOPOLY.

The profession of the law has gradually become less of a gold mine than it was in former years. There is less litigation, a prominent local lawyer asserting that the tendency among lawyers is to counsel settlement and prevent their clients going to law. We all know that our Assize Courts are, except for some occasional cause celebre, very tame affairs compared to the long docket Assizes of years ago. This condition is, perhaps, accountable for the bill now before the Legislature, introduced and fostered by Mr. Carscallen, the truculent chairman of the Private Bills Committee. This bill aims to forbid anybody but a lawyer to do conveyancing—drawing a will, lease, deo or agreement. The penalty for infraction of the law, if it becomes law, is $20, half the fine to go to the informant. This will work a distinct hardship to many persons of limited means who may require conveyancing done cheaply by, it is true, non-professional persons perfectly competent to fill in a blank form and make a moderate charge. The provision of the bill encouraging spying—half of a penalty going to the informer—seems to be unworthy of of the dignity of the law. The Government that has been hailed as the friend of the people as against corporations, may be trusted to give effect to a bill which constitutes the law a closer corporation than it is at present.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Women will not, by the decision of the Ontario Legislature, be able to mark their ballots in a polling booth, but they will still be able to make their mark in the domestic curtain lecture booth.

Ottawa must have some latent earthquake energy manifesting itself in the matter of new structures. The steel frame work of the new fat stock building at the Central Fair grounds collapsed on Monday evening for the third time.

In 1904 United States insurance companies carried California risks to the amount of $476,627,198, and foreign companies' risks totalled $365,703,175. It is estimated that the total insurance risks to become claims because of the San Francisco fire will not exceed $150,000,000, and may be less than $100,000,000.

Vancouver is going in for compensation. It has been selling, for $250, hotel licenses that the lucky ones have been bartering for very large sums. It proposes, says the Hamilton Times, to compensate the people who grant the privilege, so it has increased the fee to $800. Saloons must pay $1,000.

The new mining law, now in process of evolution in the Ontario Legislature, is a sort of blanket claim. While it is of great length, its weakness is said to be that it contains no effective provision against the speculative element in the holding of mining lands. It does not prevent the holding of claims by hopeful speculators at prices which prevent operation and development.

BRIDE'S GRANDPARENTS DIAMOND WEDDING

An interesting incident in connection with the wedding of Miss Boorman on Monday night at the Salvation Army Barracks is the fact that on the same day her grandparents in England were celebrating their diamond wedding anniversary. On Monday the bride's grandparents were surrounded by a large number of their children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren, and a delightful celebration was in progress. At the time they were last heard from they were well and hearty, with prospects of a number of years in which to enjoy life yet.

OBITUARY.

ROBERT ROBERTSON.

One of Peterborough's oldest and most respected residents passed away yesterday evening at 6.20, in the person of Robert Robertson, 263 Bethune street.

The deceased had been in rather poor health for some time, but only became seriously ill about two weeks ago and gradually sank until the end. Mr. Robertson was 75 years of age, and had been a resident of Peterborough for 58 years, having come here from Perthshire, Scotland, when only 17 years of age. He learned the trade of patternmaker with the late Mr. James Hamilton, father of Mr. Peter Hamilton, and worked at his trade until about two weeks ago. About 50 years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Ann Ingles, of Peterborough, who predeceased him 32 years. Mr. Robertson was a life-long member of St. Paul's church. He was for many years a director of the Public Library, and a member of the Board of Education. He leaves a family of three boys and one girl, as follows: Chas. B., Alberta; Mrs. Lyna Millage, Detroit; Thos. Robertson, Toronto, and James F., Cleveland, Ohio.

The Canadian Order of Foresters will have charge of the funeral which will take place at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery.

The full treatment, which I gave him in his tea, cured him, and I am pleased to say he never touches whiskey now. How glad I am that I wrote you and how happy we all are together. PALE, LISTLESS GIRLS

Can Only Obtain Health Through New, Rich Pure Blood Made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Growing girls—girls in their teens—must have rich, pure blood. Healthy womanhood depends upon the vital change from girlhood to maturity. Every woman should most carefully watch her daughter's health at this critical period. If a girl at this period has headaches, if she is pale, thin and languid, it shows that her slender blood supply is being overtaxed. She will always be ailing and may slip into a hopeless decline or consumption if her blood is not built up at once with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The rich, red blood which these pills make bring health and strength to every organ, and make dull, listless, languid girls, bright, rosy-cheeked, active and strong. Miss Maggie Donahue, Erinsville, Ont., says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was badly run down, and it seemed as though my blood had turned to water. I was very pale, suffered from headaches and palpitation of the heart, and often I would pass sleepless nights. I found nothing to help me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these have fully restored me and I can truthfully say I never enjoyed better health than I am now doing."

When Dr. Williams' Pink Pills replace bad blood with good blood they strike straight at the root of all common ailments like anaemia, decline, indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, skin eruptions, erysipelas, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, paralysis, rheumatism, and the special ailments of growing girls and women. Be sure you get the genuine pills with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," printed on the wrapper around each box. Sold by medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company., Brockville, Ont.

THE BARLEE-SWINERTON NUPTIALS IN ST. JOHN'S

The shone shone happily this afternoon upon one of the most popular brides ever married in St. John's, when, at three o'clock, in the presence of a churchful of the friends of the bride, Miss Mary Edith, daughter of the Late George Barlee, of Peterborough, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. Robert Hemington Swinerton, of Victoria, B. C., son of the late Mr. John Swinerton, of Belfast, Ireland. The wedding was one in which much interest was taken, largely because of the fact that the bride, who has lived in Paterborough all her life and is well known, and is a young lady who is a universal favourite and very popular.

Outside of the invited guests, who were confined to the immediate friends of the bride and groom, many persons gathered at the church to witness the interesting ceromony, which was performed by Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of St. John's, assisted by Rev. Walter M. Loucks, M. A., rector of St. Matthew's church, Ottawa, and a former curate of St. John's.

The sacred edifice presented a more than usually attractive appearance this afternoon, the decorations being particularly beautiful. The decorative scheme was well executed, palms lilies and white cut flowers being employed with excellent effect. The work of decorating the church was performed by the members of the Chancel Guild, assisted by the four bridesmaids. The section of the church reserved for the guests was delimited by white satin ribbons.

At three o'clock the bridal party entered the church, led by the ushers, Mr. F. C. Smallpiece, Peterborough; Gerald K. Ruckham, H. Haviland Grubbe, Toronto, and A. A. Hollingshead, Peterborough.

The bridesmaids were Miss Helen Davies, Miss Hilda Eardley-Wilmot, Miss Pearl Lundy and Miss Olive Bradburn. The bride followed on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. W. Davidson Parker, of Montreal, who gave her away.

The bridegroom, supported by Mr. Hazen Ritchie, of Peterborough, awaited the bride at the altar, which was a mass of palms and flowers. The beautiful Church of England marriage service over, Miss Helen Davies sang Dr. Ham's setting of "O, Perfect Love," while the marriage register was being signed. Mr. R. J. Devey, the organist of St. John's, officiated at the organ, and as the party entered the church played the Wedding March from Lobengrin, while at the close of the ceremony Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played.

The bride was becomingly attired in an artistic costume of white peau de soie, en traine, with yoke of embroidered chiffon and handsome lace berthe specially made for the occasion by a friend of the bride. The skirt was plain, the seams being finished with French knots. She wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms, as well as a necklace of amethyst and pearls, the gift of the groom. The bride carried a beautiful bouquet of cream roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honour, Miss Olive Bradburn, was attired in a pretty costume of white and pearl sequin. The other bridesmaids, Miss Helen Davies, Miss Pearl Lundy and Miss Hilda Eardley-Wilmot, were all attractively attired in white and gold sequin, each of the bridesmaids wore a white leghorn hat, trimmed with marguerites, and finished with long tulle ties, pinned with gold and shamrock brooches, which were the gifts of the groom to the bridesmaids. Each bridesmaid also carried a bouquet of marguerites and asparagus fern.

The bride's sister, Miss Mabel C. Barlee, was gowned in a handsome robe of pale blue eolienne, ornately trimmed with oriental lace and applique. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, and wore charming hat of blue mohair braid, adorned with blue plumes.

Miss Ethel Higginson, of Ottawa, who has been the guest of Miss Barlee, was dressed in a handsome Parisian gown of cream serge, with black hat trimmed with white plumes.

A delightful reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, followed the wedding, and here the guests were received by Miss Mabel Barlee. Refreshments were served by Long, and the bride and groom received the congratulations and best wishes of their friends prior to their departure.

As a bride who has been a life resident of Peterborough, held prominent positions in church and social circles, and by her excellent qualities of disposition and character, won a high place in the esteem of the citizens, the occasion of her wedding was marked by tangible evidence of this in the form of a large number of beautiful presents, in keeping with the standing of the recipient and givers.

Among the out of town guests were:—Miss Ethel Higginson, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. John McEwan, Toronto: Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lambe, Jr., and Miss Laura Lambe, Toronto; Miss Rubidge, Toronto; Mrs. Orde, Toronto; Miss Kenrick, Toronto; Mr. and the Misses Lefevre, Lakefield; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Tate, and Miss Tate, Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Swinerton left on the 5.15 C.P.R. train on a wedding tour to New York, Boston and other American cities. They will return to Peterborough for a short visit previous to leaving for their new home, in Victoria, B. C., where they will reside at No. 8 Harrison street. The bride's going away costume was of pale velvet, and white moire vest worn over a lace blouse, which was trimmed with strappings of grey. Her hat was blue with cream lace crown.

JORDAN BROS. SUPPLY FLOWERS

The floral decorations at the Barlee-Swinerton wedding this afternoon, were the subject of much favorable comment among the guests, and it was a surprise, even to a great many Peterborough persons, to learn that a local florist had supplied them. The whole scheme of floral decorations was carried out by Messrs Jordan Bros., whose work in this instance is up to the usual standard set by this firm.

"The Tenderfoot" To-morrow Night At The Grand

"The Tenderfoot" is recommended as the finest attraction the Grand has offered this season.

W. P. Cullen's big production of the dashing Western operatic comedy, "The Tenderfoot" with its senoritas and cowgirls, cowboys, and Texas rangers, and other picturesque characters, will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night, April 26th.

Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White are the stars of the performance, and they will be well remembered here on account of their splendid work in "The Burgomaster" two seasons ago, when the big revival of the piece was seen to such large business.

The Tenderfoot goes direct to the Princess Theatre, Toronto, all next week, and this is Peterborough's chance to see a first-class attraction.

ODDFELLOWS WILL PARADE ON SUNDAY

There will be a parade of Oddfellows next Sunday evening to the Murray street Baptish church. Rev. F. J. All Oddfellows in the city, as well as any visiting members of the order are urgently requested to be present.

CASH IS A MONEY SAVER

The Gentleman With Ready Money Can Save in Many Ways.

More than one business fallacy was shorn of its acceptance when the Semi-ready tailoring proved that the ready-for-fitting was an advance on the old custom-tailor method of selling from the cloth. The idea was one factor, too. You can buy Semi-ready suits for $15.00 equal to wait-to-order suits at $25.00 because of other reasons, but the cash system helps some. The gentleman who wears a Semi-ready suit or overcoat paid cash for it. He gathered one of the coupons of wisdom, for he retained to himself and his own uses much good money.

The Semi-ready Wardrobe for this district is presided over by Cressman,

Mark St. Sunday School Reports Encouraging

Annual Meeting Held Last Night —Financial Report Shows Good Balance—Mr. W. Matchett Re-elected Superintendent—A Home Class Department Has Been Formed—Collections During Year Were Very Encouraging.

PROSPECTS FOR YEAR ARE VERY BRIGHT

The annual meeting of Mark street Sunday School was held last night with a number of the members of the Sunday School committee in attendance. The Secretary Treasurer reports were received besides other reports which showed that the past year was a most successful one in every respect. Most of the officers and teachers were re-elected for the present year and matters of other importance discussed. The chief new business transacted last night was the organizing of a Home Class department to look after those in the homes unable to attend the School.

Rev. J. G. Lewis occupied the chair and directed the business of the committee.

Superintendent Mr. M. W. Matchett in presenting his report considered that the results during the year were a great deal more satisfactory than the preceding year. The staff of teachers was a faithful one and it was principally due to their co-operation that such success attended the efforts of the school. The average attendance, he thought, might be greater than it was, but the collections during the year were very encouraging and in comparison to other schools was greater than most of them.

The Secretary-Treasurer read the following reports which were received, as given, the financial report showing a balance of over $32:—

Peterborough, April 23, 1906.

To Members of S. S. Committee of Mark Street Sunday School:—

Average attendance of scholars, 77.

It is with deep regret that I have to report the loss of one of our most valued members by death in the person of Miss Emma Smith.

We have also lost a number of valuable members by removal from the city.

In looking over the chart books, I find that Master Douglas Coon has been present every Sunday from January 1, 1905, to April 1st 1906, inclusive.

On Sunday, December 10, 1905, we had our anniversary services in connection with our school, the Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. D., being present. We took up a free will offering, the collection amounting to $27.91.

Our annual picnic which was held early in July to Stony Lake, although at a loss from a financial standpoint, was a great success in every other way.

Instead of our usual Christmas entertainment, we held a social evening in the S. S. room on January 5. 1906, when a very interesting programme was given and refreshments served.

The following is a report of the receipts and expenditures:—

Mr. R. Record, librarian, reported that the present stock of books in the library was the best in twelve years. All were pleased with the class of books that had been placed on the list last year.

The election of officers next took place and resulted as follows:—

At the conclusion of the election of officers a Home Class department was organized whose duty is to bring the home into greater touch with the Sunday School. Mr. Crowe was elected Superintendent of this department which will no doubt prove a strong auxiliary to the work of the church.

Fruit-a-tives

or Fruit Liver Tablets.

DR. ALEXANDER FALKNER, Williamstown, Ont., a physician who has enjoyed a large practice for the past thirty years:—"I have much pleasure in certifying to the value of 'Fruit-a-tives' or 'Fruit Liver Tablets' as a medicine for chronic constipation and biliousness, dyspepsia, etc., etc. I have prescribed this medicine for the past six months and can strongly recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' in all cases of constipation, indigestion and flatulence, headaches due to weakened digestion, etc.

DR. A. FRANKFORD ROGERS, Ottawa, a physician who has enjoyed one of the largest practices in that city, states:—"I have no hesitation in recommending 'Fruit-a-tives' or 'Fruit Liver Tablets' as the fact of these tablets being made from a laxative material extracted from ripe fruit appeals, and has appealed to my judgement, and I have used these tablets extensively in my practice and always with most gratifying results. The proprietors of this medicine do not hesitate to furnish the formula of the tablets to physicians, and hence any physician can use these tablets and recommend them without loss of self respect. The formula of 'Fruit-a-tives' is certainly a magnificent one, and in my experience no medicine ever used by me has given such excellent results in constipation and stomach and liver trouble as 'Fruit-a-tives' has. That these tablets act beneficially on the kidneys and skin is beyond doubt and in many cases where the skin was sluggish and inactive and the complexion bad 'Fruit-a-tives' have given the most pleasing results."

DR. D. J. COSTELLO, member of the internal staff of the General Hospital, Ottawa, and who has extensive experience, states:—"I have used 'Fruit-a-tives' or 'Fruit Liver Tablets' with most beneficial results in obstinate constipation and biliousness, and found their action mild and non-irritating, and yet more curative than any medicine ever used previously. I strongly recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' to those suffering from these complaints."

At all druggists or sent postpaid on receipt of price. 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50.

The Chief Warns The Bicyclists

Must Not Ride on Sidewalk and Wheels Must Have Bells.

The chief issues a warning to bicyclists not to ride on the sidewalk. This offence is most common, and in every instance anyone who is found riding on the sidewalk will be prosecuted. This morning an offender in this respect was caught in the act and will appear in court on two charges, that of riding on the sidewalk and also on a charge of not having a bell on his wheel. It is the intention of the authorities to also deal with those guilty of the latter offence.

Electric Power Is Plentiful In East Ontario

Plenty of It to Supply Needs of That Part of Province.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC REPORT

Deals With Possibilities on the Trent and Moira Rivers—Kingston and Oshawa Selected as Typical Points—Sawing to Towns in the East—Probable Power Market—Cost of Development—Made Public.

Toronto, April 25.—The second report of the hydro-electric power commission of Ontario covering the Trent district has been made public. It shows that there are five water powers on the Lower Trent River that are worth developing for transmitting power to the towns along Lake Ontario, but on the Upper Trent and on the Moira River and its tributaries, there are numerous water-powers which are now developed and which are capable of supplying the immediate local demand.

To develop the five large water powers on the Lower Trent would call for an expenditure, according to the estimate of Chief Engineer Cecil B. Smith, of $2,295,000, and the amount of power available to these five points would be 25,000 horse-power. As to the market for this power, the engineer says 10,000 horse-power could be disposed of at once, with an increase to 15,000 horse-power in five years.

Typical Points Illustration.

Two typical points, Kingston and Oshawa, are given to show the cost of municipal transformer stations and the cost of power to the customer. The cost of a plant at Oshawa is put down at $48,900, and the total savings, not counting cheap power for street lighting and pumping, would be $11,019 a year. The Kingston plant would cost $60,190, and the savings would amount to $29,109. The cost of power at the generating plant at, say, Healey's Falls, would be $12 a horse-power, and, adding transmission the cost at the municipal transformer station would be, at Kingston $21.43, and at Oshawa, $21.52.

The report deals with the Trent district, including that portion of Ontario lying north of Lake Ontario, but not including Toronto. The district is divided into three divisions.

The Upper Trent Valley affords opportunities for local development and these have been taken advantage of so that Peterboro, Lakefield, Lindsay and Fenelon Falls are well supplied with hydraulic and electric power. The total amount of power is not very large and in the near future will all be utilized for local consumption, at which time a combination of private interests would tend to raise rates.

Three Divisions.

In the Lower Trent Valley far more valuable water powers exist, which have only been developed to a very slight extent.

In the Moira River Valley a large number of comparatively small water powers exist and few are developed.

The commissioners believe that an immediate market for 10,000 horse-power can be obtained within a reasonable distance of Healey's, Middle or Ranney's Falls of the Trent River, which would be increased to 15,000 horse-power in five years.

The total power in sight is estimated at 65,675 horse-power of which 17,000 horse-power is now under development. The various water powers named and the totals for the various divisions are as follows:

	Horse-power.
Moira River and tributaries	4,900
Upper Trent River	17,265
Lower Trent River	43,510.

Five Far Long Distance.

Of the various water powers investigated the chief engineer shows that only five are worthy of being fully developed for long distance transmission, viz., Healey's Falls, Middle Falls, Ranney's Falls; rapids one and a half miles above Glen Miller, and rapids three-quarters of a mile above Trenton. The dry weather capacity of these developments would be 25,000 horse-power, more than sufficient to supply, for the present at least, all industrial demands of the Lake Ontario towns. At present it would not be necessary to develop all these water powers, but as the demand increases they could be developed one by one, all being worked in unison and under one management; which would be far more economical than if several companies were to take them up and transmit independently.

STRIKERS' SUPREME EFFORT.

Fears Expressed Over Coming May Day at Paris, France.

Paris, April 25.—The gravity of the strike movement throughout the country momentarily has improved, but the people have been wrought up to a state of apprehension concerning the imminence of a crisis May 1, when all the ranks of labor will make a gigantic eight-hour demonstration.

The garrison at Paris is being rapidly strengthened, and it is expected that 60,000 troops will be available here May 1.

In the mining regions there is another camp in which an army corps is ready for eventualities.

The labor organizations do not conceal the fact that it is their intention to make a supreme effort.

Some of the newspapers freely assert that the movement is the prelude of a revolution in which the proletariat intends to overthrow the existing regime.

Gas at 60 Cents.

Montreal, April 25.—At the City Hall yesterday it was stated that the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Co. will not accept the offer of the fire committee for 80 cents gas in 1910, after working a sliding scale until that period, but will make an alternate offer of 60 cent gas in exchange for a 15-year extension of franchise.

A New Cruiser.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., April 25.—The Dominion Government has purchased the steamer Princess from the Steam Navigation Co. of Charlottetown, P. E. I., to replace the La Canadienne in protecting fisheries in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and Labrador waters. The latter boat will do survey work.

Talks on Orange Meat

(THE PURE FOOD)

Absolute Cleanliness Free.

It costs us twice as much to have Orange Meat absolutely clean—and does not cost YOU a penny extra. We need not be half as particular as we are—and save lots of money. Only—Orange Meat would not be the delicious delicacy—the brain and body building food it is—if we were not so insistent on cleanliness.

After the wheat comes into our grain elevators from the steamers, it goes into huge vats, filled with pure water. Here the wheat is thoroughly "scrubbed" until every tiny grain is "clean as a new pin."

Then, it's washed once more with fresh water "just to make sure." These extra washings—extra machinery—all mean extra expense to us. But they certainly help to make ORANGE MEAT extra good.

Here's what one Mother in Sterling says about it:—

"After seeing advertisements of Orange Meat and its healthful qualities, we decided to try it. During the last six months, it has been continually in our house and we have used between 70 and 100 packages. My husband and children prefer Orange Meat to all foods we have tried."

Orange Meat

Orange Meat weighs ⅓ more than any other package. At all grocers—15c. and 25c. 15c. package contains a coupon, good for new premiums. 25c. size holds 2½ times the quantity of 15c. size. Write "Orange Meat, Kingston," for new premium catalogue.

Old Country Bowlers To Visit Peterborough

Mr. W. G. Ferguson Notified of Their Intentions Yesterday —Will Play in Peterborough Either in Latter Part of July or First of August—Welcome News to Canadian Bowlers.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson, the enthusiastic Peterborough bowler, was in Toronto, yesterday, in connection with the visit of the Scotch bowlers to Peterborough. The men from the land of the heather, will honour this city with a visit, either on the last Wednesday in July or the first Wednesday in August coming here from Ottawa on the early morning train and leaving the next day for Toronto. They will also play in Hamilton, London, St. Catharines, and other Canadian cities and towns. The visit of the Scotch bowlers to Canada will mark an epoch in Peterborough bowling circles and their coming visit is creating very much interest. Scotland is the home of bowling and its sons are noted for their expertness in this game. In Glasgow even the authorities wax enthusiastic over it and provide greens for the working men to bowl on in the evenings for the use of which no fee is charged. These greens have been established for some time and new ones are being added each year so well is the game patronized.

Mr. G. H. Giroux received the following communication this morning regarding the visit of the Old Country bowlers.

36 Wellington Street, E.,
Toronto, Ont.,
24th April, 1906.

G. H. Giroux, Esq.,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I have now heard definitely from the Old Country Bowlers that they propose sending out 8 rinks to Canada this season. They propose sailing from England on the 21st July and will arrive in Canada on the 28th July. They can only stay five weeks with us, and the time is so short that we have found it impossible to arrange for every club affiliated with the O.B.A. to play them on their own grounds; however, we are arranging that they will visit your city as you request. Our present intention is that they will arrive at Peterborough on the morning of Wednesday, August 1st, from Ottawa, spend the day with you and leave in the evening for Toronto. The visitors are to pay their own transportation and hotel bill, which will include bed and breakfast. The lunch and dinner to be provided for by the club with whom they are visiting. Will you please let me know as soon as possible whether this arrangement will suit your club. We expect there will be eight rinks.

Yours truly,
C. R. W. POSTLETHWAITE,
Hon. Sec.-Treas. O.B.A.

I beg to acknowledge receipt to-day of cheque for $130.00 from the "Imperial Guarantee & Accident Insurance Company," in full settlement of my claim during the time I was unable to carry on Evangelistic work, owing to an accident received in a Dentist's chair, which caused ulceration of tooth and swelling of jaw.

Notwithstanding all that is said in the Press about Insurance generally, yet personally, from your treatment in my case, I take pleasure in heartily commending your Company to the Public.

Hill vs. Gow Case Heard

The buggy was as far away from the face as between her house and the barn.

William Hill, said that he was 20 years of age and was a son of the plaintiff. He was at home on the evening of August 24th. The first he knew of the trouble was when he heard voices saying "A mob! A mob! Out with Hills in their shirt tails!" He knew the voices of Stewart and William Murphy, George Gallagher, Ed. Dewart, William Dewart and James Dewart. He jumped out of bed and came down stairs. He found his father and his mother were at the hall door. Before he came down he heard a shot from the south-west of the house. He thought that the shot had hit the roof. There were two shots fired before he went out of the house. He heard Tommy call, "I'm shot, ma."

The continuation of the evidence will appear in to-morrow's issue.

Dreaded Insomnia.

"I was afflicted with nervousness and dreaded insomania, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me."—Mr. Jas. SICK HEADACHE

Many varieties of headache exist, those most prevalent being sick or bilious headache, nervous headache, headache from constipation, etc.

Headache is an effect of disease, the cry of the suffering body for relief from some oppressing disorder.

Undoubtedly the cause must be removed in order to cure the headache permanently. Wrong action of the stomach, liver or bowels is responsible for nine out of ten cases of headache.

In sick headache (a very common form) there is sometimes nausea and vomiting and usually constipation.

In nearly all forms of headache

has proved itself a specific—a medicine that has cured where all others failed.

Keep the stomach, liver and bowels in perfect working order by the use of nature's regulator and tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters, which cures all forms of headache by removing the cause.

Miss L. Smith, Morrisburg, Ont., writes: "I desire to let you know how much good Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. I was troubled with headaches all the time, and could get no relief, until a friend told me of your Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking two bottles of it, I can say that I am completely cured."

B.B.B. is for sale at all druggists and general stores. Do not accept something "just as good."

The J. C. TURNBULL CO'Y, Limited

Shoppers are assured that if they watch this space every day and keep in touch with the TURNBULL Department Store all the year round, they will be money, and comfort, in pocket.

Women know that low prices are only possible in a store where a great volume of business is done. The TURNBULL CO'S business has grown to such enormous proportions that they now have possibly the largest ground floor selling space to be found outside the large cities. They have the only ground floor Carpet and Curtain Room, with two entrances from two streets, George and Simcoe. With a more aggressive policy of advertising, we expect to still further increase the volume of our business, and thereby enable us to make prices still more favourable to shoppers.

LANG & MAHER

Clothiers and Furnishers to Men Who Know

Patrick McAuliffe Declared Guilty

son was not well prior to the injury, he was no worse, he thought, than many men walking around the streets of Peterborough.

Dr. Johnston was cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun, and said that he did not agree with all the evidence of Dr. McNulty, but he did agree with him as to the cause of Hudson's death. He did not believe that there were signs of poisoning, as having been the cause of Hudson's death. Mr. Dennistoun asked the witness if he considered it proper practice for a doctor making the autopsy in the interests of the Crown not to look for symptoms of poisoning, but the witness stated that he could not answer yes or no to that question. There was, the doctor said, no evidence he had heard to indicate that death was due to poisoning.

To Mr. Meredith witness said that if there had been poison there would have been many more evidences of it.

Dr. McCullough.

Dr. Malcolm McCullough was examined by Mr. Wood, and testified that he had assisted at the post-mortem examination, and stated that his opinion of the cause of the death of Hudson was similar to that stated in the report.

To Mr. Dennistoun witness stated that at the time of the autopsy there was an opening in the skull made by the operation.

This closed the case for the Crown.

THE DEFENCE.

Philip Mahoney was the first witness for the defence, and stated that he was the bar-tender at the Royal Hotel on June 1 last, and saw prisoner there that day taking a few drinks. He was intoxicated in the evening. He saw Shannahan and Hudson in a scrap in the hall, and McAuliffe was assisting in stopping the fight, catching hold of Hudson, who later abused prisoner's brother, but did not lay hands on him. Hudson then told McAuliffe to leave the bar, and the first thing he heard was Hudson falling, but he did not see the blow struck. The next day he saw a stone under the ice refrigerator, about the size of his fist. Hudson was well enough to walk up to bed, and he saw him the next day, when deceased said he was feeling pretty well, and that his head was not sore, only he was nervous. Hudson was a man who did considerable drinking but could not say that he drank after the accident. He had complained of feeling unwell for some time, and was attended by a physician.

McAuliffe was behaving all right that night, only that he was drunk.

To Mr. Meredith witness said that he was not dismissed from Hudson's employ, and that he never had any trouble with his employers.

He did not know what Hudson was putting Shannahan out of the hotel for. Hudson was angry at prisoner for catching hold of him. At the time of the accident he was behind the bar, and saw Hudson with his hands up, making McAuliffe back up. He did not hear any word about a gun. He did not hear any noise of a blow being struck, but heard Hudson fall.

He did not think at the time that the stone had any connection with the injury to Hudson. He did not know that Hudson was seriously hurt, and not dangerously ill, but did not see the injury in his head.

Mrs. Jarvis.

Mrs. Jarvis was the next witness who testified that in June last she was in St. Joseph's Hospital as a patient. She left the Hospital on the day that Hudson died. She saw him while in the Hospital and he was in his room across the hall. On Thursday in the afternoon he got out of bed and started to walk, when he fell with his head in the chair. The fall was a hard one, and he did not put up his arms to prevent his falling.

To Mr. Meredith witness said she told this story on the same afternoon on the balcony, the first time.

The nurse in charge of her ward was not there at the time Hudson fell, but came in shortly afterwards, but she did not tell the nurse of having seen him fall. The chair into which Hudson fell was a cane-bottomed chair, and his head fell into the seat of the chair. The reason she did not tell the nurse of Hudson having fallen was because she thought that the door would then be closed, and in answer to a question said that it was dreary with the door closed.

Dr. Young was the next witness, and stated that he saw Hudson first on Saturday, the day of his death, when he showed symptoms of paralysis in his arms and legs. He was called in consultation because of the injury. The next time he saw him was in the operating room in the afternoon, when the operation was performed. This was the last time he saw him in life. At the post-mortem he saw that there was disease in the liver, the heart and the kidneys, and traces of appendicitis. The liver was about one-half more than its normal size. As to the cause of death he considered that the condition of the liver and kidneys was quite sufficient to cause death. He could not say that there was a septic fluid in the brain. He could not say what was the actual cause of death, but he did think that there was sufficient disease to the liver and kidneys to cause death, but did not think that the injury to the skull was serious enough to cause death. He had known cases of men with much more extensive injuries to the brain, and they had recovered. It was possible that Hudson may died from poisoning, but there was no examination made for that.

To Mr. Meredith — Dr. Young said that he remembered riding home with Dr. Greer, but did not state that Hudson had died from septic poisoning. He did not ask Dr. Greer not to make it too strong for the prisoner. There was, when he saw the deceased, evidences of a fracture to the skull, and soft matter on the brain. There was a clear way for septic germs to get into the brain. There was extensive inflammation of the brain, but he would not like to say that it was septic, or that it was not septic, but if it were the former it would certainly cause death. With the condition that Hudson's liver kidneys and heart were in it might have caused his death at any moment. He did not state his opinion as to the cause of death at the post mortem, nor was he asked so far as he knew. He did not find evidence that the man had taken poison.

To Mr. Dennistoun, Dr. Young said that he was simply at the post mortem in the interests of the defence.

To Justice Anglin the witness said that if there had been the slightest evidence that death had been due to poison which the deceased had taken, he would as representing the defence have thought it necessary to have a thorough examination of the stomach made.

Dr. Halliday.

Dr. Halliday said that he had seen Hudson before Dr. Young saw him on Friday afternoon. He was a very, sick man with a very rapid and irregular pulse. The wound was in a clean, healthy condition as far as he could see. There were no symptoms of paralysis. He saw Hudson again on Saturday, when his condition was more grave, and there was some paralysis which would indicate pressure or disease in the nerve centres or in the brain. Any fall would be injurious to the man. If he struck his head it would be possible to fracture the table of the skull. If the pressure had been on the inner table of the skull since Thursday, June 1, he would expect paralysis in a short time, within 24 hours. Thirty hours would not be out of the way. He was present at the operation and saw the deceased twice on Saturday. He agreed with the general results of the post-mortem as given by the other doctors. There was a very reasonable doubt as to the primary cause of death. The conditions of his organs internally may have caused death at any time. If the man had been found dead at any time without a wound he would have no hesitation in giving a certificate of death.

To Mr. Wood—Witness said he could not answer the question, "Can you conscientiously say that the man did not die of septicaemia or septic poisoning?" The disease of the liver was sufficiently advanced to cause death at any time.

Dr. Bradd.

Dr. Bradd said that he did not see Hudson dead or alive, but had heard the symptoms described. The conclusion he would come to if he found him dead with no injury to skull was either cirrhosis of the liver or Bright's disease. From the description of the wound he didn't think it sufficient to cause death. He could not pledge his oath that Hudson had died of septicaemic poisoning without microscopic examination.

To Mr. Wood—Witness said that with septicaemia of the brain there was no hope for Hudson. There might be pus without septic poisoning. If there was pus and inflammation there would be septicaemia.

R. H. Leary said that he lived in Peterborough seven years, and formerly in Emily. He knew the prisoner, had known him for 17 years. His general reputation was good. He was anything but quarrelsome, and was kindly disposed.

To Mr. Meredith—Witness said that he never saw him on a spree and did not know how his nature changed then.

Wm. Crough said that he lived in Peterborough for 63 years. He had known the prisoner since he was a week old. He had never known him to do anything wrong, and that was his general reputation.

To Mr. Meredith—Witness said that he did not know how he was when on a spree.

Thomas McQuade said that he had resided in Emily Township all his life and was a member of the County Council for five years. He had known the prisoner since he was a small boy, and had always found him inoffensive, and never knew him to be quarrelling.

To Mr. Meredith he said he had never seen him on a spree, and did not know how he acted then.

The Argument.

This ended the case for the defence, and Mr. Dennistoun, on behalf of the prisoner, addressed the jury. He pointed out the two things which it was necessary that the Crown should know. First, that Patrick McAuliffe had struck Hudson, and, secondly, that the blow had caused death. Mr. Dennistoun said that if there were any doubt the benefit should be given to the prisoner. Reviewing the evidence of the doctors, he said that there were grave doubts as to the cause of Hudson's death. He quoted Dr. Halliday's statement that he thought there was grave doubts as to the actual cause of death. He did not see why the evidence of Dr. Johnston should be taken in contradiction to the evidence of local doctors.

Mr. Meredith, the Crown prosecutor, in his address, said that Dr. Johnston was an able, honest doctor, sent by the Crown to give evidence, and his testimony should be taken as readily as that of anybody else. He reviewed the evidence briefly and forcibly, and asked if the prisoner was to be acquitted because one or two doctors would not say what caused the death of the deceased. Mr. Meredith said he did not believe Mrs. Jarvis' evidence.

His Lordship, in charging the jury, said that the case had lasted nearly a whole day, but it was not too long considering the importance of the case to the prisoner and to the community at large. His Lordship urged upon the jury to do their duty as required by their oath. They should deal with the case upon the evidence offered, and not allow themselves to be influenced by prejudices or outside opinion. His Lordship dealt with the points that had been clearly proven beyond the shadow of a doubt. The two points that the jury had to decide in giving their verdict were, first, "How did Fred. Hudson receive the injury he did on the 1st of June, and, secondly, "Was that injury the cause of his death?" His Lordship briefly and clearly reviewed the evidence bearing on these two points, his summing up being somewhat against the prisoner.

Verdict, Guilty.

The jury retired at 6 o'clock, and were out until 7.35, when the filed back into the court-room, and Foreman Clarke, when asked if they had come to a verdict, replied: "Yes; guilty, with a recommendation to mercy."

His Lordship inquired as to what grounds this recommendation was based upon. The answer was that on account of the deceased's condition. Hudson could not have lived much longer.

At the request of Mr. Dennistoun, the jury was polled, and each one answered "guilty" as his name was called.

His Lordship announced that he would give sentence to-morrow morning, and the jury was then dismissed.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE CONVICT'S DAUGHTER.

The new sensational melodrama, "The Convict's Daughter," was successfully played to a fair-sized audience at the Grand Opera House last night. The production introduces an original type of "hobo," William Woodford, or better known as "Weary Willie," around whose actions the whole play centres. From time, through force of circumstances and threats, he serves the villain, but in the development of the story he shows a more generous nature. His is a character that stands out in bold relief, and he repeatedly won deserved commendation from the audience last night. He was ably assisted by an accomplished cast, and the melodrama was, on the whole, a fairly good one.

THE HOLY CITY.

The people of Peterborough have a great treat offered them in the production of "The Holy City" on Monday night at the Grand. This beautiful Biblical play is something on the order of "Ben Hur." The cast is large and strong, and the scenic environments both massive and beautiful. Press notices in the cities where the play has been seen are highly flattering, and no Bible student or lover of the beautiful story superbly staged, should miss "The Holy City" production next Monday night.

WHEN KNIGHTHOOD WAS IN FLOWER.

The lovers of the drama in Peterborough are looking forward with great interest to the appearance of the illustrious Canadian actress, Roselle Knott, in "When Knighthood was in Flower." During recent years Miss Knott has been in the forefront of American theatricals playing the important role of "Anne Austria" in Lieber & Co's production of the "Musketeers." She was the original Lygia in the New York production of Quo Vadis." She was the Mary Tudor in "When Knighthood was in Flower" for three seasons Her appearance here promises to attract a large house on Saturday night.

Patrick McAuliffe Receives Sentence Of Three Years Six Months

On the Charge of Manslaughter--The Punishment Meted Out for the Crime of Taking Frederick Hudson's Life---His Lordship Justice Anglin Says This Community Must Not Get Idea That Human Life Can Be Taken Without Serious Results Following ---Jury's Recommendation to Mercy Had Material Effect on Sentence.

Patrick McAuliffe, the young Emily farmer, who, on June 1st, last, in the Royal Hotel, Hunter street, according to the verdict of the jury, dealt a blow to Frederick Hudson, which caused, or, at any rate hastened the latter's death, was this morning sentenced to three years and six months in Kingston Penitentiary, as punishment for the crime of which he stood convicted.

The facts in connection with this case are familiar to the public, who have followed the course of the trial with deep interest, and the sentence passed this morning is just about what was expected by the majority of persons, who have expressed opinions on it.

That a verdict of guilty would be rendered, those who followed the evidence submitted at the trial fully expected, and the sentence passed is generally regarded as just.

The court house this morning contained the largest crowd seen there since the opening of the assizes, and when the prisoner was asked to rise to receive his sentence, an almost death-like silence prevailed.

McAuliffe was asked the usual question, if he had anything to say as to why sentence should not be passed upon him, and, prompted by his consel, replied in a low, and somewhat trembling voice, "Nothing, your Lordship."

McAuliffe was plainly nervous, and apparently appreciated the seriousness of the moment.

In delivering his sentence His Lordships aid that his case was one which had given him much anxiety. He had refrained from passing sentence yesterday in order that he might have opportunity for a fuller consideration of the circumstances surrounding the case.

The prisoner was a young man, just entering the prime of life, and had up to the present time borne a good reputation. His neighbours had all spoken well of him, and yet in spite of this fact he stood charged with one of the most serious offences known to the law. So serious was the crime of manslaughter considered that the criminal code places no limit upon the punishment which may be given those found guilty of it, short of imprisonment for life.

The prisonr had had a fair trial. He had been defended by an able counsel, who had spared no effort and had exhausted every reasonable means in his defence.

After the trial a jury of his countrymen had found him guilty of culpable homicide. The same jury had, however, coupled the verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy, which it was his duty to give the fullest effect to. His counsel had also made a strong plea for the clemency of the court, and these circumstances would have a material effect upon the sentence which he would impose.

At the same time, while the recommendation to mercy, and the prisoner's previous good conduct were to be considered he, he must not lose sight of the sacredness of human life; it must not be said that in this community human life can be taken without serious consequences falling on such an act.

His Lordship said it would be his duty to send the prisoner to where he would be placed in association with hardened criminals, but he trusted that the experience which he had passed through would have a beneficial effect upon his future life, and that he would refrain from indulging in intoxicating drinks. According to the prisoner's counsel, liquor seemed to have the effect of destroying all his powers of reason and self control; and he hoped that in future he would refrain from taking it when the results were so disastrous.

The sentence he would pass was three years and six months in the Kingston penitentiary.

McAuliffe heard his sentence in silence, and was led back to the gaol, where he will remain until he is transported to Kingston.

Robert Hill Secures Judgment For $300

In His Suit for Damages for Death of His Son—Charles Gow Will Have to Pay That Sum to Father of Boy Shot in August Last—Jury's Verdict Rendered at Court This Morning—Judge Says no Other Verdict Could be Given—The Evidence Taken at the Sitting Yesterday.

At the opening of the court this morning the jury in the case of Hill vs. Gow, rendered its verdict, giving the plaintiff judgment for $300.

This was the first case taken up, after the court opened, and the verdict of the jury, with its answers to the seven questions given by His Lordship to answer, was read by the clerk. The questions with their answers are as follows:—

1. Was the bullet which killed Thomas R. Hill, fired by the defendant, Gow? Yes.

2. If so, was Gow's act in firing such shot, negligent or wrongful? Yes.

3. In what did his negligence or wrong consist? In not taking proper precaution and care in handling the rifle.

4. Did the bullet enter Hill's body from the front of back? Front.

5. Was a shot fired from Hill's house before Gow fired? No.

6. If so was Gow in any reasonable apprehension which would justify him in shooting as he did? No answer.

7. If guilty, what is the amount of damages given? $300.

His Lordship stated that he could not see how, taking the facts submitted to them, they could come to any other conclusion than that reached, as indicated by the verdict rendered. As to the amount of damages, it was moderate. The jury was then discharged.

The continuation of the evidence taken in this case at the session yesterday is as follows:

He was at the hall door down stairs, then. After the second shot he went outside the door, and as he got out a shot was fired, passing close to him, and struck near the door. His father had brought the boy down. There were just the three shots fired. He thought they were from the same place, and as fast as a man could fire a repeating Winchester. He was not in the room when the bullet was taken out of the bed. He had always worked at home. The witness said that Tommie was an healthy, active boy, and helped in the harvest field and did other services around the farm.

To Mr. Denniston witness said that he would swear positively that there were just three shots fired.

Mr. Denniston read from his previous evidence that witness had said there might have been half a dozen shots.

Witness denied that he had said this, and also that he had said that he could not say how many more than three shots had been fired, but that he knew there were more.

He always kept a loaded rifle by his bed, and the first thing he did that night was to take up the rifle. He did not go into Tommie's room. He did not tell John Murphy that he had gone into Tommie's room. He remembered having a conversation with Murphy. He thought he saw a face when he looked outside. It looked like Stewart Murphy. He had thought that the man he saw was the man who did the shooting. He thought he saw one man. The man was on the ground. Witness was out with his rifle that night and was at Cavanagh's. He might have mentioned to Cavanagh that he was going to watch the gate that night. He didn't go to the gate. He didn't tell Cavanagh that he was going to lie in wait for a man. He had said that if he got a new gate they would have to get a constable to watch it. He carried the gun because he was afraid of bad characters firing on him and killing him. Gow had a kick at him and tried to "cod" him. He remembered telling Cavanagh that he had a 44-calibre rifle like his (Cavanagh's), but this was wrong. Witness remembered a conversation with Joe Carew. He did into tell him that he had a 44, and had to keep it dark on account of the other trial. He had never had a 44-calibre rifle in the house.

To Mr. Wood—Witness said that he carried the rifle for protection against the Dewarts and Murphys. He had had trouble with the Dewarts. Jim Dewart had jumped on him and given him an "unmerciful pounding."

Edward Dewart said he was a brother of Jas. Dewart. He lived three and a half miles from Hill's. He had known defendant, Gow, for seven or eight years. He lived about a quarter of a mile from Gow. The latter was a good shot, and was, he thought, captain of the Warsaw Rifle Club. He met Gow on the evening of August 24. Defendant had come to his place. His coming had not been pre-arranged. Witness' brother lived on the 7th line, between one quarter and half a mile from the Hills. Gow took witness over to his brother's place. There were present there that evening William and Stewart Murphy, Geo. Gallagher, and his brother, James. He remained there until after 11 o'clock. The Murphys and the Gallaghers left 10 or 15 minutes before. When he left the house he started for home. He left in company with Gow. They took his (witness') Martin rifle, 44-calibre, from the house with them. Witness took the rifle out of the house and put it in the buggy. He drove the horse going home. Gow took care of the rifle. The three boys were, he thought, ahead of them on the road. He heard a noise ahead from them.

Last Meeting Of Y.M.C.A. Literary And Debating Club

Pleasant Gathering Was Held Last Night and Impromptu Speeches Delivered by Many of the Members, Who Handled Their Topics Well—Informal Banquet Concluded Evening's Proceedings.

SECRETARY SHINER WAS EULOGISED

The closing meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Society was held last night and the concluding gathering proved one of the most delightful of the series. There was a large attendance and the majority of the members answered the roll call with quotations.

Impromptu speeches on various topics followed, the speakers selecting their subjects out of a hat. They were limited to addresses of not less than one minute and not more than five minutes. All did exceptionally well and their speeches evidenced that they have been greatly benefited by the experience gained in th debating club this season.

At the conclusion of this feature refreshments were served and an informal banquet took place. The toast list was brief but enjoyable. The King was proposed in an able and patriotic speech by Mr. Fred. Ray, and responded to in an equally capable manner by Mr. A. E. Walker. The next toast, that to the Association was proposed by Mr. Chas. H. Reid, who spoke briefly of the benefits and advantages derived through connection with the Y.M.C.A. Mr. G. H. Williamson in replying to the toast paid a tribute to Mr. W. G. Shiner, the energetic secretary of the dbating club, to whose services much of the success of the club was due. He had prepared the programmes during the season and in general performed the duties of the office in a most admirable manner. Mr. Williamson also referred to the services of Messrs. Reid, Ray and Walker, in connection with the club. The final toast, that to "Literature" was gracefully proposed by Mr. Roper and responded to by Mr. J. E. Hardwicke.

This concluded the programme for the evening and in closing President Reid thanked the members for their support of the club during the past season, and expressed the desire that the friendships engendered in the society during the winter months would continue throughout the summer, so that when the long evenings came around again in the autumn, the society would be able to re-open with all the old members in their places, and he hoped, with many more also.

Hill-Dewart Suit At Spring Assizes

Robert Hill Asks for Judgment for Slander Alleged to Have Been Committed by James Dewart—The Evidence Taken at This Morning's Sitting.

The action of Robert D. Hill, of Dummer, against John Dewart, also of Dummer, for $1,000 for defamation of character, was heard before His Lordship Justice Anglin this morning. Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun for the defendant.

Mr. Edwards, in his opening address to the jury, said that the evidence would show that there was strong feeling between the plaintiff and defendant. The evidence whould show that the defendant had entered upon a campaign of reckless statements against the plaitiff, accusing him of cattle-poisoning. This was a very serious affair to the plaintiff, living, as he was, in a neighbourhood where his name and reputation were of value to him. The man who wantonly said things against his character should be stopped, and should be compelled to prove those facts. He then went on to point out the slanders complained of by the plaintiff, reading from the statement of claim.

Thomas Wilson was the first witness. He remembered serving the notice on John Dewart on February 16, 1906.

Thomas J. Begley said he was employed at The Review, Peterborough. He remembered calling on John Dewart in August last. He was on his way home after the shooting of the boy, Thomas E. Hill. He was hailed by defendant, John Dewart, while passing his place, and Dewart came out to the buggy. Dewart asked him and his companion, O'Brien, something about the shooting. They did not mention their business to Dewart. He could not remember what defendant said about the Hills. He remembered asking Dewart if Hill had any friends, and he had replied in the negative. O'Brien had written up the interview with Dewart. He had paid no attention to the article since. He read it at the time it was published. He could not say whether it had impressed him as being correct or not. He could not remember what defendant had said about the Hills.

Richard Choate said that he was a reporter on The Examiner in August, 1905. He identified an extract from The Examiner in reference to an interview with John Dewart as having been written by him. He had had an interview with John Dewart on November 23. He had no recollection of what Dewart had said on that occasion. It was his impression that he had correctly reported the conversation between himself and Dewart. He thought it was reported correctly and truthfully. He had no recollection of the details of the conversation.

To Mr. Dennistoun — Witness said that it was a hurried conversation on the street corner. His duties were made up of such interviews. He couldn't pledge his oath as to the details of the conversation.

To Mr. Edwards—Witness said that he remembered a letter being brought into the Examiner office by James Dewart. It was published in The Examiner.

To Mr. Dennistoun — Witness said that James Dewart had signed the letter in his presence.

To Mr. Edwards—Witness said that he letter was not signed when it was brought in. He did not think it was the intention to have it published anonymously. He had no recollection of speaking to John Dewart about the letter. He did not know of any other letter that could be referred to.

Alexander Small said that he knew the parties in the case. He remembered that John Dewart had said that to the best of his belief Hills had done the poisoning. There were others present at the time. He (witness) had made the statement to Mr. Edwards that Dewart had said that Hills did all the poisoning of cattle. He had heard a similar statement made at other times by Dewart, namely that he believed the Hills had done the poisoning. He did not go to Hill's house with Dewart and make a search.

To Mr. Dennistoun, witness said he had lived in the county for fifty years and had known the parties nearly all his life. He was called in by the neighbours sometimes to help with cattle. He opened one of Dewart's cows that had been poisoned. The conversation recorded had taken place at that time. The Murphy family had lost cattle by poisoning. He satisfied himself that the beast had been poisoned. He had lost a couple of dogs himself. There was a great deal of talk about the matter. They had never been able to find out who did it. There had been general talk among the neighbours. He had heard many people accusing the Hills of doing the poisoning.

William Graham said that he had heard John Dewart making statements last year at his place. There were others present. He was talking about the cattle being poisoned, and Dewart had said he believed Hill had done the poisoning. He had said that the only way to do, if there was any more poisoning was to take Hill out and hang him.

To Mr. Dennistoun, witness said he lived next door to the Hills. None of his beasts were poisoned nor none of Hill's. Some person was poisoning cattle in Dummer. He did not know who it was and he was not anxious to find out. He was not concerned in it, and he did not wish to get into trouble. He had lived there for nearly two years. The lynching was talked of at young Mr. Dewart's bee. He did not hear what the others had said about the poisoning. That was all he could remember that was said about poisoning at the bee. He could not remember how long before that time the last beast had been poisoned. He did not know whether the poisoning was over or not.

Jas. Dewart said that he was a son of the defendant, and had brought the letter in question into the Examiner. His sister had written it, and he had dictated it. He had had no conversation with his father about such a letter, and his father had nothing to do with the publishing of the letter. He got the facts published from different sources. The letter was written at his father's house. His father was not present; he did not consult his father about writing the letter. Witness was not on good terms with the Hills. He couldn't say whether his father was or not. He couldn't remember how his father expressed his feelings against the Hills to him, knew that his father had been on good terms with the Hills up to July, 1904, but since that he had not been. He remembered a pig of his being lost. His father had taken an active part in recovering that. He remembered a search warrant being taken out and a party going to search the Hills' place. The parties there were Thomas Wilson, the constable, John Dewart, Edward and William Dewart, Charles Gow, Jos. Carew and one of the Murphys. He could not say how long they spent searching for it. His father had taken an active part. Gow had also been active in the matter. He didn't remember any statement made by his father then about the Hills. The missing pig was not found. The party searched the whole place.

To Mr. Dennistoun, witness said that afterwards they found a leg and a bone of a pig in front of Hill's house. The two farms adjoined. He had lost three cattle; two of them had been examined. He had considered that they were poisoned. Three others were sick. He was present when the cow had been opened. Some buckwheat chop was found in the stomach. All had agreed that they had been poisoned. He had had one pig shot and another wounded. The Hills had not been on good terms with the neighbours generally. Hill's general reputation in the neighbourhood is bad.

This concluded the case for the defendant, and Mr. Dennistoun entered a plea for a non-suit, and the withdrawal at the request of his client, who preferred that the case should go to the jury.

This concluded the morning's proceedings and the court adjourned at 12.45 for luncheon.

House Of Refuge Plans Are Approved

And the Structure Will, it is Estimated, Cost About $25,000—Is the Cheapest Building the Inspector Would Approve Of.

The plans prepared by the County Engineer, Mr. J. E. Belcher, for the new House of Refuge, and which were submitted for approval to the Provincial Secretary's Department, have been received back, stamped with the approval of the Inspector, though he made some recommendations which he would like carried out. One of these was that verandahs should be built around the building, but this was not insisted on, and is not absolutely essential though the Inspector believed it to be desirable.

The cost of the building, from the plans as approved by the Inspector, will cost, it is understood, with the furnishings, fully $25,000, and, since the present plan provides for nothing not insisted upon by the Inspector, there does not seem to be any way by which a less expensive structure could be erected.

It appears that statements have been made that a House of Refuge could be built for $10,000, but, in view of the fact that no smaller building could be erected, with the approval of the Inspector, than that planned, it would not appear that this would be possible.

The Examiner is informed by one of the men closely identified with county affairs that there is no prospect of the new county building costing anything less than $25,000 which, of course, includes the furnishings.

The committee will in a short time call a meeting for the purpose of advertising for tenders for the construction of the building, and a meeting of the council will also be held in a short time.

Robert Hill Gets Judgment For $300

At the time he heard the noise they would be about Hill's house. Witness would be about two hundred yards away. They did not increase the speed of the horse, which was trotting. They proceeded at the same pace past Hill's. The boys went on ahead, and they couldn't hear them. When they got near Hill's, witness thought that there was a shot from the Hills. Gow fired three shots. Witness did not turn to see how Gow fired. Nothing passed between them. The shots were fired, he thought, before they came to the last knoll. He did not ask Gow what the reason for the shooting was. He did not know that Gow was going to shoot. Witness said that Mrs. Hill was his aunt. He was not on speaking terms with the Hills. He tried to have nothing to do with them. There was a quarrel between his family and the Hills. He did not look to see how Gow was shooting, nor speak to him, or take any notice of how he was shooting. He didn't mean the statement made by him at the coroner's inquest that the rifle was pointed towards the house. He asked Gow if he was sure his shots had done no harm, and he replied that there was no danger as he had aimed too high. There had been no arrangement that the boys in advance should cheer. After they had passed the house there was something said about the shooting. Gallagher said, "The Hills fired a shot." Gow said, "Yes; but I outdid them—I fired more shots." Witness did not tell anyone about the shooting. He went to see Gow on the afternoon of the next day, and told him that he had heard there was trouble at the Hills. Gow said he didn't think he had done any harm. There was no other shooting beyond what he had described. He did not remember a talk with Gow about his (Gow's) leaving the country. He did not have any talk with Gow about giving himself up.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dennistoun, witness said that there was no moon on the 24th of August. The cover of the buggy was turned half back. There was nothing unusual in his driving Gow's horse. There was no premeditated arrangement that he should do the driving. His brother had borrowed his rifle some time before. He did not know whether the rifle was loaded or not. There was no truth in the statement that James and William Dewart were down behind the Hills' house shouting; if they were it was after Gow and he had passed. The horse bolted at the shot, which he thought he heard coming from the Hills. The shots that Gow fired had no effect on the house. He did not see how the rifle was held and did not turn around to see.

To Mr. Edwards, witness said he did not see the shot fired from the Hills. The horse bolted and turned to the right.

"Is this the first time that you have been in an occurrence like this?" asked His Lordship.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Do you want us to believe that you sat there when the shots were being fired, and did not turn around to take any notice?"

The witness replied in the affirmative.

David Miller was called, but did not respond.

William Graham, said that he had been a neighbour of the Hills for two years. The little boy Thomas Edward was a very smart boy. He assisted his father and mother and worked in the harvest field. He would be worth considerable in that way to his parents. He appeared to be in good health.

Archie Moore said that he had asked Gow what time he had left Dewarts' that night, and he had replied "Near 12 o'clock." Gow had said the fourth shot had gone into an elm.

To Mr. Dennistoun, witness said he had fired four shots, the fourth going into an elm.

Mrs. Hill said that she was not present when Mr. Heathcote came to examine the bed. The bed had not been moved between the time before the boy was shot and that visit.

David Miller, examined by Mr. Edwards, stated that on the day after the tragedy he had met Gow, who had gone out to his home with him. Gow had told him on the way out that he had been at Hills at the time of the shooting and after hearing the shooting had turned in the buggy with the rifle in his hands and had shot either three or four shots, which he could scarcely believe had struck the house. Witness had accompanied Gow when the latter had given himself up to Mr. Cochrane.

John Newnham testified that in conversation with Gow in the early part of the summer Gow had referred to the Hills as "bad" people, and he would not think much more of shooting one of them than he would a squirrel.

Inquiry by Mr. Kerr elicited the information that the conversation in which the statement had been made was while they were driving to wash some sheep. He did not remember anything else said that day. Witness knew that the Crown was looking for evidence, but he did not communicate with Mr. Cochrane.

"I say that the statement is not true," affirmed Charles Gow, the defendant who next gave testimony, in reference to the statement attributed to him by Newnham, the previous witness. On the night of the shooting witness stated that he had come home with Ed. Dewart. The first knowledge of the fact that they were to bring home the rifle, was when Dewart put it in the buggy. Coming down the road leading past Hill's house he thought he heard a shot and on going further he picked up the rifle and fired three shots which went over the house.

"It has been said here that a man was seen on the ground behind the rifle, was that you?" asked Mr. Dennistoun.

"It was not; I did not get out of the buggy."

Witness had told Constable Moore that he had fired three shots, the last after he had passed a big elm tree on the roadside. There was no truth, Gow affirmed, in Moore's statement that he had said that he wheeled around to fire one shot. After firing he and Dewart had gone on till they caught up with the Murphy boys. The first he knew of the rifle being loaded was when he pulled the trigger.

I did not hear anyone cry, "A mob! a mob! or "Let her go! at the time I passed the house," alleged the witness.

With regard to his statement to Constable Cochrane, that he had fired three shots in the direction of the house, he had meant that he had fired at an angle—speaking generally he had fired in an easterly direction. He had not stated to Constable Moore that he was "sorry it was not the old man he had shot instead of the boy." His statement was that he was sorry that the boy had been shot. There was no shouting or halloing from the buggy.

"I did not go to Dewarts' by pre-arrangement," affirmed Gow in cross-examination by Mr. Edwards. He knew that the Dewarts were on terms of bitter enmity with the Hills previous to the evening he had gone up. Witness could not say that either he or Ed. Dewart had raised their voices in passing Hill's house. "I heard a shot fired from the direction of Hill's house," he continued. "I am an expert shot with a military rifle. I pumped a cartridge into the chamber of the rifle, but did not know that the rifle was loaded when he fired the first shot. I did not fire in the direction of the house, point blank." Witness again asserted that in his previous statements that he had fired in the direction of the house, he had meant that he had fired in an easterly direction.

In answer to a question, witness said, "I don't believe now that the shot he fired killed the boy."

He did not deny that he said to Constable Cochrane that the reason he had given himself up was because he had fired in the direction of Hill's house, and also to David Miller. He did not remember having a conversation with John Doonan. He did not intend leaving the county that night, nor did he tell Constable Moore that he intended to do so. David Miller said something to him about remaining.

To Mr. Dennistoun — Witness said that he came back voluntarily to Peterborough.

His Lordship—"Did you alter the direction of your rifle between the first and second shot?"

"No," was the answer.

"Or between the second and third?"

"No," was still the answer.

"Then, can you account for the fact that three shots struck the Hill house if you did not change the direction of your rifle, and the buggy had moved some distance between the shots?"

"I can not," was Gow's reply.

Robert Hill, jr., said he was 15 years of age and had gone to school. He could read and write a little. He remembered the inquest at his house and remembered the evidence he gave then, and said that he told the truth then. He heard a sound, "A mob, a mob, chase the Hills out in their shirt-tails." He saw a rifle flash on the third knoll and thought it was Stewart Murphy he saw on the road. He thought he saw the gun in the man's hand. The man was standing on the road. He knew Stewart Murphy well.

There was no cross-examination.

George Gallagher said he was 14 years of age, and was one of the boys on the road that night. He was at Dewart's, and took part in the fun there. There was no talk about rifles. He left about 11 o'clock with Stewart and William Murphy to spend the night with them. They cheered when they were near the Hills' place. He didn't know whether the rig was in sight or not. When they got near the knoll they heard a noise in Hill's house, and turning around, heard a report and saw the flash of a gun at Hill's house. They ran because they did not know who they were shooting at. He heard two or three shots more behind him. The last three shots seemed fast together. The first shot was at the verandah at Hill's house. He saw Gow afterwards. Defendant caught up to him near the corner. Witness said to Gow, "Hills fired a shot." He answered, "Yes, but I think I outdid them in the number of shots." There was no arrangement made that they should cheer.

To Mr. Edwards—Witness said he knew there was a quarrel between the Dewarts and Murphys and the Hills. The buggy was a couple of hundred yards behind them. They started to run after they had passed the Hill house. The noise he heard at Hill's might have been the closing of the door. He heard the shot immediately after hearing this noise. Going up the hill he heard two or three shots.

William Murphy said that he was 17 years of age. He was with Gallagher on the night of August 24. He heard cheering that night. He heard a noise in Hill's house and saw the flash of a rifle at the house. He, with his companions, ran on. They heard more shots behind them. He corroborated the other witnesses as to the conversation between Gow and Gallagher. Witness had been at Hill's house before and saw a 44-calibre rifle there. Will Hill had it. He himself had a 44-calibre rifle and had a shot on that occasion. Cartridges used were about the same, but one was .44 long and the other .44 short.

To Mr. Wood—Witness said he did not know to whom the rifle belonged. Hill had said that it was his. He saw Mr. Cochrane the next day, but did not remember telling him he had been home at 9 o'clock the night before. He did not remember being asked by Mr. Cochrane how the boy was killed.

His Lordship—"Why did you yell that night on the road?"

A.—"We often did that."

Q.—"Come now, tell the truth, what did you do it for?"

A.—"There is no reason.

Q.—"Had it anything to do with the Hills?"

A.—"No."

James Dewart said that he remembered a little gathering at his house on the evening in question. He and his brother had stopped at the house when the others went out. He was not behind the barn at Hill's place that night, nor was his brother. They were both at their own house.

To Mr. Edwards—Witness said that the rifle was his brother's, and had been there for some time. He knew it was loaded.

To Mr. Kerr—Witness said that he had borrowed it to shoot woodchucks. They were numerous in the vicinity. There was no wrongful purpose in the rifles being returned that evening.

Geo. Fitzgerald said that he had had considerable experience in shooting. He had seen a large number of animals killed. Bullet always makes a small hole at the point of entrance, and a bigger one at the point of exit. That has been the general and invariable rule. He had never known a case where the point of exit had been smaller than the other. The effect on wood was much the same. If he found a deer with a small, clear hole on one side, and a ragged and larger wound on the other, he would say that the former was the point of entrance.

Dr. Greer said that he had been engaged in deer hunting every fall for about 20 years. He was present at the post-mortem at Warsaw. It took between one and two hours to perform the post-mortem. He was beside the operators all the time. Nothing whatever prevented him seeing all that went on. He saw and examined the wound on the body. He found that the wound in his chest admitted his finger much more easily than the one at the back. The other doctors had heavy rubber gloves on. The wounds were measured and it was found that the wound at the back measured half an inch, and the one one in the chest five-eighths of an inch. He felt a fractured rib on inserting his finger in the wound at the back. He had dressed many gun wounds on the human body. In his experience he had never seen a deer or a human body in which the point of entrance of a bullet was smaller than the wound at the point of exit. The broken rib, if it indicated anything suggested that the bullet had come from the back. The wound was driven inwards from the back towards the chest. The wound in the chest was irregular. As his

The Kidneys and Uric Acid

THE ALL-IMPORTANT WORK OF THESE FILTERS OF THE BLOOD AND HOW THEY MAY BE KEPT HEALTHY BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

When the whole vital process of digestion and assimilation of food is completed there still remains the work of removing from the blood the uric acids, salts and water, and this can be accomplished only by the kidneys. The failure of the kidneys to perform this work creates on the whole digestive and filtering systems, chokes up the liver, and by means of the circulation of the blood sends the poisonous waste matter through the entire body, giving rise to pains, derangements and disease.

Because of their direct action on the kidneys and their enlivening influence on the liver and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most thoroughly effective treatment available for the cure of diseases of the kidneys.

Among the early indications of kidney disease may be mentioned:

Backache.
Fickle appetite.
Deposits in the urine.
Frequent desire to urinate, especially at night.
Rheumatism and sciatic pains, constipation and diarrhoea alternating.
Dropsical swelling.
Scanty, dark-coloured urine.
Persistent loss of flesh and weight.

Prompt relief is obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and by persistent treatment the kidneys are restored to health and activity.

No medicine which acts on the kidneys alone can possibly prove effective, because in the great majority of cases the liver and bowels are also deranged. Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, they bring about satisfactory results in the most complicated cases.

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular, healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the consequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy, or other equally dreaded ailments. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THURSDAY, APRIL 26, 1906.

A BOUNCING BABY.

The baby province of Alberta is rapidly kicking off its swaddling clothes. A few years ago, the territory, an unpeopled and comparatively unknown mere spot on the map, is now a full-fledged province, with a settled government, and with a spirit of progress and ambition which makes for greatness at short range. It had a school population in attendance in 1905 of 22,595 pupils, and is making liberal provision for educating its people, and, incidentally, accelerating the assimulation of the foreign element, which, under a vigorous immigration policy naturally enters into its population. And now it is aiming at a provincial university. A bill to establish one was introduced into the Legislature on Monday, April 23rd. Apart from the promising spirit of ambition such a movement argues, the spirit of harmonious cooperation of the people is shown by the fact that the leader of the Opposition complimented the Government on its action, and congratulated the province on the fact that provision was made at this early date for a provincial university. If the people of Alberta continue to pull together, to place patriotism before politics, to reserve political squabbles fro election times, their future is most promising, for the new province is self-contained in all the material elements that go to compose greatness.

MONTREAL AND THE TRENT CANAL.

Montreal seems to be moved by the fact of Quebec being made the ocean Atlantic summer terminus of the two great railway steamship lines. But it does not seem that the commercial supremacy which Montreal has filched for Quebec will be seriously impaired. Montreal has become the chief entrepot of the Dominion, as well as the chief distributing centre. It is difficult to turn aside trade from the beaten track. While the great ocean liners may come no further than Quebec, it is probable that ocean steamers of lighter draught will continue to make Montreal their ultimate port of call as in the past. Still it behooves that city to be on the alert, and to provide as far as possible that their shipping business interests shall be as little compromised as possible. The rapid development of the wheat production capacity of the Canadian West calls renewed attention to the necessity of providing increased transportation facilities. In this connection, the necessity of completing the Trent Canal from lake to lake is emphasized. It is to the direct interest of the city of Montreal to assist in consummating this desirable work. That city will be the destination of the barges which will, with the completed canal, carry the grain of the Northwest from Midland, or even Port Arthur or Fort William, to the seaboard, which, in this case, will be Montreal. This will not only make Montreal the shipping point of an immense amount of grain carried by the Trent Canal barges, but will require it to furnish the return cargoes, which, to make the operation of these barges most largely profitable, they must secure at Montreal. The completion of the Trent Canal stands to benefit no place more largely and directly than the city of Montreal, and it would be expected that the commercial bodies and leading business men of Montreal would support their Parliamentary representatives in favouring the proposal for a sufficient appropriation to complete the Trent Canal without delay. By so doing they will not only serve their own interests, but the great transportation interests of the country upon the extent and effectiveness of which the prosperity and expansion of the great Northwest, and, consequently, of the country at large, so entirely depend. Montreal should give a helping hand in working for the completion of the Trent Canal, which will go far towards—if it does not entirely—compensating Montreal for the loss of business the making of Quebec a terminal point for two great ocean lines may entail.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The decision of the Senate of Queen's University to confer the honourary degree of LL.D. upon Mr. J. S. Willison is a graceful recognition of personal and literary qualities that will do credit to such a distinction. Honours will be even. A leading journalist is a worthy objet.

The despatches tell us of the ruin by the earthquake in San Francisco of a Mrs. Delrichs, by the destruction of the Fairmont Hotel, her share of the fortune left by her father, Senator Fair. She loses her all. Yet her loss though it amounts to perhaps a million, is no more than the loss of thousands of poor families, who lose their all, even though only a few poor sticks of furniture.

The Brantford Expositor remarks that Mr. H. Carscallen, chairman of the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature "is always careful to see that the interests of the municipalities are protected, as far as possible, from the grasping tendencies of private individuals and private corporations." Peterborough is not in a very good position to testify to Mr. Carscallen's "careful" way of seeing that the interests of this municipality have received justice. The reasonable requests of Peterborough have been turned down in a manner which suggests, as far as we are concerned, that Hamilton is the only municipality whose interests are dear to the heart of Mr. Carscallen.

Mr. Goldwin Smith hasn't a very high opinion of sumptuary legislation. Writing, as Bystander, he says: "We are asked why a two-thirds majority should be required for local option, when, for other measures, a simple majority suffices. The answer points to the weakness of all sumptuary laws, as they are called, extending the punishment of crime to practices which, though they may be unwholesome, are not criminal. Experience coincided with common sense in proving that such laws will not work unless supported by an overwhelming force of public opinion, while their failure lessens the general respect for law and detracts from the force of self-reform.

Regina, the new capital of the Northwest, has, says the London Advertiser, committed itself to an expenditure of $10,000 for the establishment of a publicity department to attract capital to the city. Toronto follows suit with a vote of $5,000, and even Ottawa, with many village ideas of municipal government yet to be eliminated from her civic boards, has taken a step forward and appointed a talented newspaper man, at a salary of $1,500 a year, to specially work to attract manufacturers and other investors to the capital. Peterborough has to depend largely upon her newspapers for such publicity. They do this incidentally, but not so effectively—along with their multitarious other duties—as if they were made the medium of an organized crusade of publicity which other cities are making.

The City Will Have New Cement Mixing Machine

Board of Works Decided to Purchase One From Brantford Firm—Mixer is Constructed on Automatic Principle Is the Most Modern of its Kind—Guaranteed for One Year.

Mr. W. A. Whittaker, and J. P. Curre, representatives of the Goold, Shapley and Muir Company, of Brantford, waited on the Board of Works last night with regard to the purchase by the city of a new cement-mixing machine. Mr. Whittaker described and explained the working of the machine and stated that the company guaranteed it for one year. The city, he said, were at liberty to give it a thirty days' test and if not thoroughly satisfied with its work, were free to return it, the company paying all expenses connected with the trial.

The mixer is constructed on the automatic principle, and will automatically measure the proper amount of cement with a given quantity of gravel, and also automatically insert sufficient water inside of the machine to properly wet the mixture to any desired consistency. It is mounted on a steel truck and can be readily moved from place to place.

In front of the machine the gravel hopper is placed so that it is low down and very handy for the operator to shovel in the material. On top of the machine above the gravel hopper is placed another hopper which holds the cement, when the desired quantity of gravel is in the hopper for this purpose it is tipped by means of a lever and is raised up until the gravel dumps into the large main drum of the mixer, and as this gravel hopper is being raised it automatically turns a cylinder which is in the bottom of the cement hopper, and the cement is dumped in with the gravel into the long drum. This cylinder under the cement hopper is so arranged that it can be set to dump cement in any desired proportion from 12 to 1 to 3 to 1, and will automatically do this until the adjustment is changed making a new mixture.

The mixture is mixed dry in the revolving drum until it reaches about one-third of the length of the drum, and at this point there are cups on the outside of the long drum which, in revolving, pass through a trough placed under the drum of the mixer and take up sufficient water, which flows out into the centre of the drum, to properly wet the mixture. This water is also automatically put into the mixer by means of a stop cock being opened under the supply tank, which is also placed on top of the machine, and when the gravel hopper is elevated it opens the stop cock, allowing the water to flow down from the tank into the trough below, and the quantity can be regulated at will. The water is pumped up into the tank by the engine which operates the mixer, which is a gasoline engine, and the same pump circulates the water around the cylinder of the engine, keeping it cool, and the water is then delivered to the tank above.

After some discussion the Board recommended the city council to accept the company's offer to send a mixing machine for a thirty days' trial and if satisfactory to purchase it at the price of $600 on the guarantee mentioned by Mr. Whittaker, the city to be allowed 5 per cent. off for cash within thirty days after the acceptance of the machine.

Mr. Whittaker agreed to this offer and it is altogether probable that the machine will be shipped here in the course of a few days.

Press Interests And Law of Libel

Legislation Demanded to More Strictly Define Relations of the Press to the Law.

The recent action for libel brought against the Toronto Globe, because of the publication of a bulletin issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, directed against fraudulent apple-packing, has led to an examination of the law of libel in this province and a demand for improvement in such a manner as to protect the honest journalist. A recent libel case against the London Times will emphasize this need.

The Times action arose out of complaints about hay furnished to the War Office in 1899 for South Africa by the plaintiff firm, which, having previously for good reason been struck off the War Office list of contractors, obtained the contract in the name of Bonnett, a recognized contractor, whose business it had acquired.

The defendants did not plead justification. They pleaded that the words complained of were, as to part of them, fair and accurate reports of proceedings in the House of Commons, and otherwise were fair and bona fide comments upon matters of public interest, and were published for the benefit of the public and without malice to the plaintiffs. The jury, very ably and impartially directed by Mr. Justice Darling held that defence to be valid as regards whole of the newspapers implicated.

Commenting upon this decision, The Times very pointedly says:—

There are a great many matters of public importance which it is impossible to handle in the public interest without coming into collision with private interests. There is often little or no defence of the public interests except that afforded by the information and the comments given by the press. But, while public interests are regarded as fair game by large numbers of private persons, those who defend public interests are hampered by a law of libel which is full of pitfalls, and sometimes operates very prejudicially to the community. Statements made in Parliament are privileged, and a fair and accurate report of these staetments is also privileged. It is a little hard that when a newspaper, acting without any malice to an individual of whom perhaps it has never heard, points out the importance and the bearings of the privileged statements, it should receive more consideration in the event of the statements proving inaccurate than if it had invented them for itself in more wantonness. It seems inconsistent that a legislature which permits and protects inaccurate statements made by its own members should punish with great severity legitimate comments arising out of what is sanctioned. When damages are sought by one who thinks himself aggrieved, not only is no allowance made for the misleading character of the parliamentary statements without which the comments would never have been written, but the newspaper is liable to pay for damages done by the statements in parliament as well as for that due to its own remarks. In the present case Mr. Justice Darling was at pains to instruct the jury to discriminate between these two things, but all judges are not equally careful.

It is manifestly in the public interest that newspapers should be protected to the fullest possible extent in the exposure of fraudulent practices, more particularly when such exposures are based on government reports or on disclosures made during parliamentary debates. There is little probability of liberty thus restricted becoming license, and the sooner the necessary legislation is had to make assurance doubly sure in such matters the better.

SASKATCHEWAN'S GLORIOUS CLIMATE

Saskatoon, Sask., Phoenix, April 14.

While stories of snow storms in Montreal and South Dakota are circulated in the press, the weather in this Saskatchewan Valley continues to be of the most beautiful character. Good Friday was a charming day, and to-day is another of the same. The indications are for an Easter Sunday of the premier class.

It is a remarkable fact that although the Saskatchewan Valley is situated considerably north of the 49th parallel, the climate is much more moderate and steady, actually warmer and more pleasant, less subject to the extremes of heat and cold, than parts of Canada farther east, or than the northwestern states of the Union.

The possession of such a climate, along with the excellent quality of the soil, makes Saskatchewan Valley a land of promise. Seeding and farm work are in full swing this week, and building operations are proceeding in Saskatoon with activity.

Beware Of The Moth Pestilence

Some Valuable Advice to People Who Own Furs.

Mr. Fred. Clarke informed an Examiner representative this morning that now is the time the moths get into the furs, appearing at first in the form of a little white fly. It is imperative that precautions be taken at once to prevent the spread of this pest, as their ravages on furs are harmful in the extreme. They have a particular partiality for the mink and sable furs. Probably the best solution of the saving of the furs is to leave them until required next season with a competent furrier.

HOW TO ATTAIN SUCCESS

The Boy Who Does His Level Best Gets Along in Business.

"You can't expect much from a boy at $3 a week" said the $3,000 manager to the president, when the latter complained of the lad's carelessness.

"I expect as much from the $3 boy as I do from the $3,000 manager—I want him to do his level best!" exclaimed the president.

The level best of the Semi-ready is in their $15 suits just as it is in their $20 and $25 suits—the same staff of workmen and the same careful inspection. Success comes to the boy who does his level best always, just as success has come to the Semi-ready tailoring because of its inherent superiority in all that goes to make clothes which mark the cultured gentlemen.

You may see the correct form of Semi-ready materials in the new spring styles now being shown by the Semi-ready Wardrobe in this district. Oressman, sole agent for Peterborough.

Importance Of The Canal Emphasized

Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P. for West Peterborough, Speaks in House of Commons on This Queston—Possibilities of the Canal Lucidly Described—Completion of Canal Would Regulate Freight Rates.

Transportation questions occupied the atteniton of the House of Commons yesterday, and the feature of the afternoon sitting was the speeeah of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., reporting which the Toronto Globe says.—

Mr. R. R. Hall, (West Peterborough) expressed surprise that Mr. Bennett bad omitted to say anything of the importance of the Trent Valley Canal as offering a valuable channel of transportation between the west and the Canadien seaports, and its influence upon the freight rates charged by railways. From the fact that Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, only learned when he visited Peterborough on a political campaign in 1904 that the Trent Valley Canal system was not a canal, but was merely a connection of existing waterways, Mr. Bennett might be excused for his oversight. At length, and with lucidity, Mr. Hall spoke of the possibilities of this canal system, and described the work which has already been done, urging the advantages to be derived from the prompt completion of the system from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario. He quoted statistics relating to the cost of carrying wheat from Midland to Montreal, which were given before the Transportation Commission, showing that while the best rate by railways for export grain at present is four cents per bushel, or 6.66 cents per hundred pounds, the cost of carriage of the same freight by barge on the Trent Valley Canal would be 3 1-3 cents per hundred pounds less. Mr Hall contended that the manufacturing industries along the line of the canal are being bled white by railway through-freight charges, which would be materially moderated if the canal were completed.

SAMUEL AND WM. MANN SAFE FROM EARTHQUAKE

To-day a letter was received by Miss Mann, from her brothers, William and Samuel, of San Francisco, stating that they were safe. This message was, it is needless to say, very welcome and relieved the anxiety which their friends have felt since last Wednesday, when the great disaster which had befallen the city was recorded.

The letter stated that at the time of writing, (Thursday,) the fire in the centre of the city was burning fiercely, but that it had not reached to the particular section of the city in which they lived, which is considerable distance from the centre. The letter was very brief, and did not describe the incidents of the disaster, other than to say that it was a terrible catastrophy. The letter was simply hurried forward to assure their friends that they were safe, and that their homes had not been destroyed.

Mr. Wm. Mann has been a resident of the city for the past 13 years, while his brother, Samuel, has lived there about five years. They are both well known here and their many friends will be glad to learn that they are safe.

PROVINCIAL HEALTH OFFICERS TO-MORROW

It is probable that to-morrow the Profincial Health Officials, who have been invited here in connection with the Isolation Hospital, will arrive, and the matter will then be taken up with the Board of Health, and the Finance Committe of the Council.

Dr. Hodgetts and Dr. R. Bruce Smith, the Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, and the Inspector of Hospitals and Public Charities, respectively, were the men who were invited to be here, and who are expected to-morrow.

FIRST POSTAL CARD FROM EARTHQUAKE

Mr. Edward Huff, the Hunter street tailor this morning received a post card from his sister in Alameda telling of the earthquake there. The card reads as follows:

"Alameda, April 18. — Dear Brother, — We have had a terrible earthquake this morning, but I am still all right. The city is a total wreck. All is afire and nothing can be done. They are blowing up the buildings to keep the fire from spreading. No way to telegraph. Everything shut off. Nettie."

Persons who circulate petitions for sewers and sidewalks should take greater care, and be more particular. If they want the Board of Works to grant what they are asking for.

It appears that some of the petitions presented are not properly signed. It is not sufficient for the person who circulates the petition, to sign another ratepayer's name and initial it, even if the latter is agreeable.

In petitions of this kind, nothing but the actual signatures are accepted, unless the ratepayer cannot write, in which case they may make their mark. These petitions are legal documents, binding upon those who sign them, and unless they are properly signed and witnessed, the request made in them will not be complied with.

professional opinion he would say the bullet entered at the back and came out in the breast.

Cross-examined by Mr. Edwards, witness said that he had attended two cases, in which a bullet had passed through a person's body. The witness described the proceedings at the post mortem on the body.

John Murphy, recalled, said that he had had a conversation with Wm Hill. The latter had told him that on the night of the 24th he had got up out of bed and went into Eddie's room. Looking out of the window he had seen a buggy on the road.

Frank Cavanagh said that Mrs. Hill said on the day of the inquest that it was his opinion that Charlie Gow did not kill her boy. It was Stewart Murphy.

To Mr. Edwards, witness said that it seemed that Mrs. Hill did not know what she was doing. Witness said that Tommy Hill was a nice little boy.

Thomas Parker said that he was a machinist and a gunsmith. He had been interested in deer hunting for about eighteen years, and had shot a great many deer. He thought the hole were the bullet came out was the larger, and he had never seen any difference in that.

The Argument.

This ended the case for the defendant, and Mr. Dennistoun then addressed the jury on behalf of Gow. He pointed out the duties of the jury in connection with the case. The jury would have to decide in dollars and cents just what the boy was worth to his parents, taking into consideration all possible contingencies. They should not allow any feelings of sympathy to influence them. First, however, they had to decide if Gow fired the shot that killed the boy. Mr. Dennistoun then reviewed the evidence He said the case was a most mysterious one, and still remained a mystery,

Mr. Edwards then took up the case on behalf of the plaintiff. He went into the evidence at some length and called attention to many points which he said bore heavily against Gow. He reviewed the circumstances on the night of the trouble, advancing many arguments to show that Gow fired the shot which killed the boy.

Mr. Justice Anglin then briefly reviewed the various questions which he had recommended to the consideration of the jury. The first was, "Was the bullet which killed Thomas E. Hill fired by Charles Gow?" The only evidence bearing directly upon the point was that given by the little sister of the deceased who described the manner of the boy's death as they stood together at the window through which the fatal bullet entered. Gow had admitted that he had fired three shots which alleged were aimed above the Hill house. There was no other evidence that shots had been fired in the direction of the house, on the night of the tragedy.

"There is no justification for the belief that a bullet fired from the road was not the one which entered the window and killed the boy.

The question of the negligence of Gow, had it been shown that he fired the fatal shot, was next considered by His Lordship. "Ordinarily to fire a bullet which is liable to injure someone constitutes an act of negligence, unless there is a reasonable certainty that it is not liable to injure someone," he said. The only thing which would justify Gow in shooting was that he was in peril and called upon to show that he had a weapon in his possession. "Is there enough," he asked, "in the evidence given by one or two witnesses to the effect that a shot had been fired from the house

The Railway Taxes Will Be Much Larger

Will Be Doubled Under the New Revenue Bill.

SHARE FOR MUNICIPALITIES

Provincial Asylums Will Also Benefit—Bank Agencies Will All Have to Pay a Tax—Opposition Scores Government For Change In Attitude on Railway Taxation Bill—Carscallen's Conveyance Bill Killed.

Toronto, April 25.—Hon. Mr. Matheson brought down his supplementary revenue bill in the Legislature yesterday. He explained that it provided for a slight addition to the revenue from banks, each branch being required to pay a tax of $25. The main feature was an increase in the taxes of the railways. He referred to the appointment of the Railway Taxation Commission a couple of years ago. Its report was valuable, but he was afraid that some of its conclusions were not borne out by facts. The commission went on the supposition that the provinces had the same powers in regard to taxation as some of the States of the Union. This Mr. Matheson controverted. In the United States the Federal Government's powers were defined, and all the remaining powers were left to the States, while under the B. N. A. Act the powers of the provinces were defined, and everything else went to the Dominion. The provinces had power to impose direct taxation within the province. The Pettypiece commission recommended a percentage tax on the gross earnings of the railways and stated that the province had the power.

Direct and Indirect Taxation.

When the late Mr. Hardy brought in the supplementary revenue bill of 1899 he defined the difference between direct and indirect taxation. If the province acted on the recommendation of the Pettypiece commission and levied a tax of three per cent. on the gross earnings, all the railways would have to increase their charges and thus take the money out of the people. They could contest the law by showing this to be an indirect tax on the people. The Treasurer proposed to increase the tax on the railways on the basis of mileage. If the province went beyond that the result would be either to take the additional revenue at the expense of the people or impair the service of the railways. He thought the railways would submit to a fair increase.

Tax Will Be Doubled.

Under the old act railways under 150 miles in length escaped taxation and it was proposed to leave the law as it stands. For railways over 150 miles the tax will be doubled. That is, instead of $30 a mile for each additional track, the tax will be $60 a mile for a single track and $20 a mile for each additional track. This will apply to organized districts. In unorganized districts the tax is now $20 and $5 and it will be increased to $40 and $10.

These figures will apply to electric railways of over 150 miles in length running on their own right of way. Under the old act there was a tax of $10 a mile on rural railways running on the highway, but it was not collected. The Government propose to impose a tax of $10 a mile for each track. There will be no addition to the tax on railways in cities.

The increase, the Treasurer said, would amount to between $180,000 and $190,000 a year.

Disposition of Tax.

Then, as to the disposition of the receipts. It was proposed to make the municipalities partners with the province in supplying the unfortunate in the asylums.

Out of the whole tax $30,000 would be taken to pay off cost of collection and distribution and to meet the expenses of the Railway Commission to be appointed.

One half of the balance of the receipts would go to the cities, towns and villages and townships of the province in proportion to population. That would, on the present census give each municipality 3 cents a head of its population. That would mean that a town having a population of 5,000 would receive $400.

The municipalities would be asked to contribute out of the funds 10 cents a day for the support of their patients in the asylums. The expense to the province was about $150 and the municipalities would pay less than one half.

The Dominion census would be adopted as there might be an inducement to the municipal assessor to pad the list. Where there were additions to the territory the Government would have the power to say what the population was, taking the Dominion census for it.

Complete Conversion.

Mr. Graham expressed his gratification that the Government had adopted a practical business principle as laid down by their predecessors. He had not expected the conversion of his friend the Hon. Provincial Treasurer to be so complete, but he had taken the whole plunge, and not stood shivering on the brink. The distribution of money to the municipalities was a mere display of fireworks. It aimed at holding up to the municipalities the idea that money was being collected for them. The circumlocution did not affect the matter in the least. The Government must accept the responsibility of caring for the people as a whole, and even all the asylum patients came from one municipality the province must take care of them. The Government should have the courage to devote what was necessary directly to this purpose, without making a show of paying the money to the municipalities and then taking it away from them again.

Hon. Mr. Hanna said that for whatever would go to the municipalities they would have the Government side of the House to thank for it. The proposal would establish a partnership between the Government and the municipalities which would work out very satisfactorily.

To Square Themselves.

Hon. Mr. Ross thought the bill was a confession that the province was no longer prepared to support the asylums.

Hon. Mr. Hanna—Not at all.

Hon. Mr. Ross said he did not like such a confession. To some extent the municipalities ought to share the burden. But the motive of the bill was to square the Government with their past promises, that the greater part of the railway taxation should go to the municipalities. It was an absurd thing to feed out eights cents a head to the municipalities and take back ten cents a day immediately after. They might take less from them than they got or they might take more.

Hon. Mr. Hanna—The bill provides that no more shall be taken than the amount of the allowance.

Hon. Mr. Ross, continuing, submitted that if no more was to be taken, then it was absurd to pay it over at all. There was to be a staff of clerks on which $30,000 was to be spent. It was not shown how much of this sum was to go to the clerks and how much to the Railway Board. He thought it was merely a plan to increase Government patronage, and he objected to the bill as circuitous, expensive, uncalled for, and serving no useful purpose. The Government had placed themselves in an absurd and defenceless position.

Denies Accepting Pettypiece Bill.

The Premier declared that it must be a remarkably good bill as not a word had been said against the proposal to take more money from the railways. It had been said that the Government was trying to square itself with the people. This was true and it was with satisfaction that he was able to say that the Government was succeeding. The Government would continue to square itself with the people by squaring its actions in accordance with its past promises.

Regarding the Pettypiece bill, Mr. Whitney said when the bill was before the House communications were dispatched to the Opposition side of the House asking assistance to defeat the Pettypiece bill. It was never hinted that the Opposition approved of the Pettypiece bill. They were prepared to vote for the second reading because there was enough that was good in it to warrant the endorsation of the principle of the bill, this being that there should be an increase in the tax on railways, a portion of which should go to the municipalities. Mr. Pettypiece was told that if he could summon courage enough to move the second reading of the bill the Opposition would vote for it.

Government Accepts Liberal Principle.

Mr. Harcourt contended that the subventions given the railways in early days entailed a return in taxation in later times, and the present bill was an acceptance of the whole Liberal scheme of taxation. He gave the Government credit for taking the step they had, but the Government had misunderstood Opposition criticism. The circumlocution of the bill violated the principle of simplicity which should be sought in legislation. If they could devote the money to charitable purposes without heavy deductions for expenses the method should be adopted. He supposed there would be ten per cent. expenses involved.

Hon. Mr. Matheson said $1,000 would cover the clerical expense. The Railway Commission was to be supported out of the $30,000, and no more would be spent than was required.

Mr. Harcourt did not understand how the business of the House could be carried on if they could not rely upon the records of the House. The Premier and the Treasurer had voted for the whole of the Pettypiece bill.

Premier Whitney asked if Mr. Harcourt denied that he, the Premier, had made the statement regarding the Pettypiece bill to which he had alluded.

Mr. Harcourt said he would not question the word of any member of the House. It was not Parliamentary to do so. He was glad to know that the revenue from railways was to be increased.

Mr. Preston (Brant) pointed out that it was not on the second reading, but in committee, that the vote was taken on the instruction to adopt the Pettypiece bill in its entirety, in which Premier Whitney and his colleagues had concurred.

Mr. Clark Pleads Guilty.

Mr. Clark (Centre Bruce) pleaded guilty to every count in the indictment. He had been just as anxious to make Mr. Pettypiece vote for his own bill as Mr. Preston was anxious to prevent him. There had been a ghastly affectation of determination on Mr. Pettypiece's part to press his bill, but it had been sufficient to scare the late Government.

In a most amusing speech Mr. Clark related the taking off of the Pettypiece bill. He had endeavored, he said, to have it recommitted to Committee of the Whole.

May Lease Spur Lines.

Hon. Dr. Beaume brought down a bill to amend the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Act. It empowers the commission to lease branch or spur lines not exceeding ten miles long and to sell, lease or otherwise deal with mining rights along the right of way and on town sites.

The following bills were passed: Respecting prospectuses issued by companies (Hirtle). This was amended to meet the objection of A. G. Mackay, by providing that no subscription for stock shall be binding on the subscriber unless he shall have received a copy of the prospectus respecting it.

After some discussion Mr. Carscallen (Hamilton) withdrew his bill to prohibit unlicensed conveyances from practicing for hire. Mr. Lucas' Devolution of Estates Act amendment was also withdrawn after discussion.

GUILD BASEBALL LEAGUE DRAWS 1906 SCHEDULE

Three teams will constitute the Guild Baseball League this season. These will be Charlotte Street, last year's champions; George Street and St. Paul's. The prospects are, however, that the baseball will be faster than it has been in any previous year, all the teams having strengthened materially since last year.

At the meeting of the Executive last night in the Y.M.C.A., the schedule for the season was drawn up and other arrangements made for the opening of the season. The first game will be played on May 21st, a week earlier than last year, and the schedule will be over by June 23th, a single schedule being played.

The schedule arranged last night was as follows:—

May 21st and 24th, Charlotte Street at George street.

May 28th and 31st, St. Paul's at Charlotte Street.

June 4th and 7th, George Street at St. Paul's.

June 11th and 14th, George Street at Charlotte Street.

June 18th and 21st, Charlotte Street at St. Paul's.

January 25th and 28th, St. Paul's at George Street.

Mr. W. J. Stacey was appointed official umpire for the League and it was decided to hold a meeting on May 14th, when the three Guilds must furnish lists of players to the Executive, when they will be passed on.

While the number of teams this year will be smaller than last year, there is every prospect that there will be some good games and a deep interest in the progress of the League.

Lacrosse Game On The Holiday

Shamrocks are Making Arrangements for a Game May 24.

A meeting of the Executive of the Peterborough Shamrocks Lacrosse Club was held last night in the Examiner office. The members present were Messrs. J. McCabe, Geo. Lynch, H. Morgan, Dr. Wightman and R. M. Glover.

Dr. Wightman was elected chairman of the Executive Committee and A. M. Regan, secretary of the club, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. Donovan.

Negotiations are being entered into with a number of the strongest intermediate teams in the C.L.A. for an exhibition game here on May 24th. Among the clubs are Brantford, Beaverton, Orillia and the Toronto Junction Shamrocks.

A list of membership tickets will be put before the public in a few days.

Arrangements are being entered into with the management of Riverside Park and practice will begin as soon as the grounds are secured.

LACROSSE

A note appeared in last Saturday's Examiner stating that the lacrosse club would practise at the Riverside Park. It appears that this paper was misinformed, and a representative learned this morning on good authority that the lacrosse club will not practice any on the Riverside Park unless they are given permission to do so by the owners.

FOOTBALL

The Peterborough Quakers will practise again to-night at 1.30 on Central Park.

A WOMAN'S BACK IS THE MAINSPRING OF HER PHYSICAL SYSTEM. The Slightest Backache, if Neglected, is Liable to Cause Years of Terrible Suffering.

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well, and regular in their action. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to have filtered out of the blood are left in the system.

The female constitution is naturally more subject to kidney disease than a man's; and what is more, a woman's work is never done—her whole life is one continuous strain.

How many women have you heard say: "My, how my back aches!" Do you know that backache is one of the first signs of kidney trouble? It is, and should be attended to immediately. Other symptoms are frequent thirst, scanty, thick, cloudy or highly colored urine, burning sensation when urinating, frequent urination, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, floating specks before the eyes, etc.

These symptoms if not taken in time and cured at once, will cause years of terrible kidney suffering. All these symptoms, and in fact, these diseases may be cured by the use of

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

They act directly on the kidneys, and make them strong and healthy.

Mrs. Mary Galley, Auburn, N.S., writes: "For over four months I was troubled with a lame back and was unable to turn in bed without help. I was induced by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills. After using two-thirds of a box my back was as well as ever."

Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or sent direct on receipt of price. The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

SHAMROCKS TO ENTER THE C.L.A.

A meeting of the Junior Shamrocks was held last night in the T.A.S. rooms and was largely attended. It was decided that the club be affiliated with the senior team. Messrs. W. Mergher and Ab. Davis were appointed to look after the interests of the team. There is lots of material for a good twelve and the team will be entered in the junior series of the C. L. A. The Shamrocks had a formidable bunch last year and have prospects for an even better seven this season.

BASEBALL

The Port Hope Guide says:—Surphlis who last year did such excellent work in the box for the locals will be down from Toronto on Saturday and take a position at the Standard Ideal factory.

MEN ARE POWERLESS.

To Fight Against Disease Unless They Strike at the Underlying Cause.

To treat Dandruff and Falling Hair with irritants or oils, on which a parasitic germ will prosper, is like mopping water from the ocean to prevent the tide from rising.

You cannot accomplish a satisfactory cure without having a right understanding of the fundamental causes of the trouble.

You must kill the Dandruff Germ. Newbro's Herpicide does this because it is specially made to do that very thing.

When the germ is removed the hair has no choice but to resume healthy growth and beauty.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Mr. John Bell States Position

That He Takes in Reference to South Ward School.

Dear Sir, — The Examiner of April 21st, I notice says: "Mr. John Bell is a type of a class. He writes to a coterm. attacking the Examiner's position upon the school question. Has not Mr. Bell a valuable park lot in North Monaghan, within a stone's throw of the new school?" True, John Bell has three park lots in North Monaghan, and two of them have a good school on one corner, and the other is quite convenient to this same school. And my city property lies on the second and third block from the south central school, situated on Rubidge, Townsend, Park and Wolfe streets, so this $35,000 school house is not needed for any of my property. But for all that, I think our city needs this south ward school and streets opened up. The Examiner is an expert at setting section against section as in this school question, and in other matters political.

April 25th, 1906. JOHN BELL.

DISTRICT MEETING HELD IN MILLBROOK

The ministerial session will be held on Tuesday, May 22nd, at 2.30, and the general session on Wednesday at 9.30. Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., president of the conference, is chairman of the district and Rev. J. G. Lewis, secretary.

$2 WAS THE PRICE FOR BAD LANGUAGE

At this morning's police court Joseph Jacobs pleaded guilty to using grossly insulting and abusive language toward William H. White on the 31st of March. Jacobs admitted calling White a "swindler," but said he thought he had justification in doing so, claiming that he had been unfairly treated by White in the matter of purchasing a horse. His Worship informed the accused that no matter what he thought, he had no right to express his opinion on the street (the offence was committed on George street) and imposed a fine of $2. Jacobs said he was suing White on a day or two for $5, whibbis paid the latter in connection with the above-mentioned horse deal, and not getting the horse, he claims he is entitled to it.

Editor Post Card Column:

I think it pretty near time the Water Commissioners would wake up and cooperate with the temperance people for a better distribution of water throughout the city. At present there is only one watering place utilized—that at the Police Station, which is generally crowded — in the business part of the city. There are three others—Charlotte street, Hunter street and McDonel street—which might easily be put in operation if the Water Commissioners only took the trouble to look after them. Many a horse now goes dry for a considerable time when a cool draught would assist hhim along the dusty roads..

Yours truly,
DRIVER.

Editor Post Card Column:

I saw your article in the Examiner of Tuesday entitled "Down with the dust" and regard it as most timely. I think that "Up with the drivers" is also very applicable. If the drivers got up a little earlier in the morning the dust fiend might be more effectively combatted with.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

OPEN ORANGEMEN'S MEETING ON MAY 4

This meeting is looked forward to by the local Orangemen with great interest and will no doubt, be an event long remembered by them.

Deranged Liver and Biliousness.

Board Of Works Will Attend To Sidewalks

Crossings Will be Built at Corner of King and John and on Homewood Avenue—New Sidewalks on Dublin and London Streets—Parnell Street Will be Rendered Passable—Euclid Avenue Residents Want Sidewalks.

A meeting of the Board of Works was held last night to deal with a number of matters in connection with sidewalks, sewers, crossings, etc. Mr. W. A. Whittaker, agent for the Goold, Shapley & Muir Co., of Brantford, waited on the committee with regard to the purchase of a new cement mixer. The result of this conference appears in another column.

There were present at last night's meeting, Chairman Hicks, Ald. Adams, Elliott, Graham, Wilson, Tovey, City Engineer T. A. S. Hay and Street Commissioner Evans.

A communication was read, signed by a number of residents of Parnell street complaining of the almost impassable condition of the road there, and asking that it be fixed. The Board decided to have the bad spots filled in with gravel at once, so as to open up the street for traffic.

Mr. Wolstenholm, who was present asked for a crossing at the corner of John and King street, from John street to King, the ditch there at the present time being a hindrance to pedestrians. The crossing will be constructed.

Mr. W. Allison also personally requested the Board to have a sidewalk build up Dublin street, west of Bethune street. The Board decided to look after the matter when other sidewalks in that vicinity were being built.

The extension of the sidewalk on the north side of Bolivar street, to the boundary of North Monaghan, and also that on the south side of Cedar from Park to Cambridge, was agreed upon, and notices will be given to that effect.

Chairman Hicks called the attention of the Board to the necessity of a new sidewalk on the north side of London street between Aylmer and Reid street. The Board proposed to construct a granolithic walk there.

A petition from a number of residents on Euclid avenue, East City, was received, asking for a sidewalk on the north side of the street; and also for about 155 feet of walk on Cameron avenue. The matter was left in the hands of a committee.

The question of getting water for the engine running the stone crusher at the gravel pit was left with Commissioner Evans.

Mr. Allen was given permission to use the water pipe at the city yards, providing he be responsible for any damage done.

A request for a crossing from Mr. Richard Stockdale of Homewood avenue, was referred to the City Engineer, who was given power to act in the case.

The Board decided, if the owners of the property are agreeable, to have the old trees on Hunter street, in front of the American Hotel removed, and Mr. Wrese of McDonel street, was also given permission to remove a tree which was in an awkward position in front of his residence, provided he replant others in its stead.

The matter of giving sewer connection to Mr. Castricum's residence, on Stewart street, was referred to the City Engineer.

The Board then adjourned.

to justify Gow in firing shots in the direction of the house. The evidence of the doctors was all that bore upon the question of whether the bullet entered Hill's body from the front or the rear.

The question of the credibility of the witnesses received some attention from the Judge. "Three shots were fired by Gow while he was driving with Dewart, yet both depose that they did not speak on the way down the road past the house."

With regard to the basis upon which their finding should be made His Lordship reminded the jury that it was their duty to weigh the probabilities, and not necessarily as in a criminal action, be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt. Of the question of the amount of damages he would say nothing, the matter, he said, resting entirely with the jury.

The jury was still out when His Lordship returned at 8 o'clock, and after waiting half an hour he instructed them to seal their verdict in an envelope when they reached a decision and it would be read this morning.

Before the court adjourned the jury came back to ask his Lordship to explain the difference between negligent and wrong in the second question.

They were informed that they might mean the same thing, but the act might be negligent without being wrongful. If he had fired at the house with the expectation of killing someone, then the act would be wrongful. If on the other hand he fired, not meaning to hit anyone but without taking sufficient care to prevent an accident then the act was negligent.

The jury retired at seven o'clock, with the following questions to consider and answer:

1. Was the bullet which killed Thomas E. Hill fired by the defendant Gow?
2. If so, was Gow's act in firing such shot negligent or wrongful?
3. In what did his negligence or wrong consist?
4. Did the bullet enter Hill's body from the front or back?
5. Was a shot fired from Hill's house before Gow fired?
6. If so, was Gow in any reasonable apprehension which would justify him in shooting as he did?

Mr. Justice Anglin in charging the jury remarked that under past jurisprudence all claim for damages in a case of a nature of the one under consideration died with the person killed, but recent legislation had provided for damages, to be restricted by actual pecuniary loss. The relationship of the plaintiff to the person who loses his life must be such as to warrant the belief that the continuance of his life means a pecuniary advantage. The estimate of the length of life must also be taken into consideration. "Nothing in the way of sympathy or recompense for pain or suffering must be allowed to enter into the consideration of the case — that is," said His Lordship, "not pecuniary advantage. The question of punishment must not be considered — we are not here to punish in this case."

GRASS FIRE SPREADS AND FENCE IS BURNED

A fire which might easily have resulted seriously occurred this morning, when a quantity of dead grass on Aylmer street near a field the property of the Dickson Company, took fire and spread to the fence, which was ignited, and considerable of the structure consumed by the flames. Just at this juncture Mr. J. J. Hartley happened to be passing and saw the fire. To prevent its further spread he tore a section of it down and extinguished the fire before any great damage had been done.

No alarm was sent in, the persons living near being under the impression that only the grass was burning.

WEDDING BELLS

NORTHEY—NUGENT.

The home of Mrs. Robt. Nugent, "The Balsams," Smith, on Wednesday evening, April 25, was the scene of a very enjoyable event, when her daughter, Miss Georgie, was united in marriage to Mr. William Northey, of Smith. The clergyman who officiated was Rev. D. R. Clare. The home was beautifully decorated with red, white and pink. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Walter Nugent, entered the drawing-room at 7 o'clock to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Victoria Nugent, sister of the bride. The bride was unattended, save by her little cousin, Miss Vivian Waram, who acted as flower girl. The bride was attired in cream colienne trimmed with chiffon and Irish point lace over taffeta silk, and also wore the bridal veil and orange blossoms. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and ferns. The flower girl wore a beautiful dress of white silk over pink, and carried a basket of lilies and carnations. After the marriage ceremony the guests, numbering about 80, sat down to a sumptuous dinner, served in the large dining-room, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The remainder of the evening was spent in music and games, and at an early hour the guests departed to their many homes. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful hanging lamp. The presents by the guests were both numerous and costly, manifesting the esteem and good will of the friends who witnessed the ceremony. The best wishes of the numerous friends of the young couple go with them to their new home on the 14th line of Smith.

ARCHIBALD—YOUNG

Rev. J. G. Potter officiated at a very pretty Scotch wedding last evening, in which Miss Mary Barrie, daughter of Mr. John Young, Newmillns, Ayrsaire, Scotland, was united in marriage to Mr. Alex. Woodburn Archibald, son of Mr. William Archibald, also of Newmillins, Scotland. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Mr. A. Morton, Lundy's avenue, where the groom has made his home for the past two years. The bride arrived in the city on Friday last from Scotland. She was assisted by Miss Maud A. Morton, and was charmingly attired in a grey crepe de chine dress, trimmed with pale blue panne velvet, and white lace, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and smilax. The bridesmaid was attired in a dress of grey rocco cloth, trimmed with allover lace, and applique, and carried pink carnations. Mr. Ernest F. Reid assisted the groom. Altogether one hundred and twenty-eight presents were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Archibald, over a hundred of these coming from the old country. The pretty event was enjoyed by over thirty guests, who extended hearty congratulations for the future welfare of the young couple. At the conclusion of the ceremony the happy company sat down to a bountiful repast spread on a handsomely decorated table.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald, who have already won many friends in the city will reside on Lundy's avenue.

OBITUARY.

HUGH MCILLMOYLE.

The death occurred last night of Hugh McIlmoyle, youngest son of the late Wm. McIlmoyle, of the township of Smith, at the age of 37 years. Mr. McIlmoyle, who has always been a strong robust man contracted a cold last week which resulted in pneumonia and caused his death. Mr. McIlmoyle was a highly esteemed farmer in Smith and his death came as a shock to his numerous friends. Besides a widow he leaves to mourn his loss two sons Nelson and Percy and a daughter Myrtle. He is survived by two brothers, Nathan and William and two sisters, Mrs. Robt. Gilroy, Lakefield and Mrs. Pearsan, of Buckhorn.

The funeral will take place to-morrow from his late residence on the 10th concession of Smith to the Lakefield Cemetery.

MORE BUGLERS ARE WANTED

The Bugle Band of the 57th Regiment is not as strong as it should be. The companies of the regiment are well filled up and outside of the bugle band it is in a better position than ever It is almost impossible to overestimate the importance of a good bugle band. The Queen's Own, Toronto, the 43rd, Ottawa, and other well known Canadian regiments have attained their notoriety and good name in no small measure through the fact that they have good bugle bands. A first class bugle band is just as important as a superb brass band, and one's opinion of a regiment that may be otherwise a credit to the place it is recruited from, is naturally decreased if it has not a bugle band worthy of the rest of the body. Those in charge of affairs are in no way responsible for the condition of the 57th Regiment's bugle band, but is simply because the young men of the city do not pay the attention to it they should.

The navigation is now fully opened, and from this date the Rainbow will in all probability make regular trips.

One Dollar Damages
WAS AMOUNT THE JURY
Granted In Slander Case

Verdict for Robert Hill Against John Dewart of Dummer —Charges of Libel Fell Through Through Failure on Part of Plaintiff to Prove Publication.

One dollar was the amount of damages granted by the jury yesterday afternoon to Robt. Hill from John Dewart for the defamation of the character of the former by the latter. The jury were out about two hours and returned with a verdict in favour of the plaintiff and the damages fixed as stated, at one dollar. The costs of the action will fall on the defendant John Dewart.

The evidence in the case was concluded at noon yesterday and the substance of it was published in yesterday's Examiner. The defendant's counsel did not offer any witnesses so that all that remained to conclude the case in the afternoon was the addresses to the jury and the summing up.

Mr. Dennistoun, the counsel for the defendant had the privilege of addressing the jury last, as he had not called any witnesses. Mr. Edwards, Hill's counsel, made his address and went into the case at some length, holding that charges of slander had been proven against Dewart on two issues.

Mr. Dennistoun also went into the matter fully and held that the words alleged to have been said by Dewart on one occasion were not proven, and even if they had been, the defendant was privileged to use them by reason of interest.

His Lordship in his summing up, said that these charges of libel had not been proven and the jury had only to deal with the two cases of slander. His Lordship explained the meaning of slander to the jury and then passed on to discuss the case in a clear, concise manner, dealing with the evidence upon the two issues.

The jury then retired and after being out about two hours returned with the above mentioned verdict.

May Arbitrate The Demand For Increase

Belief That This Will be Counter Proposition to be Made by Operators to Coal Miners' Demands—An Ingenious Ruse Worked by Mitchell.

Special Heintz & Co. Wire.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 27th. — There is a general belief throughout the region to-day that the operators will meet the miners' proposal, with a counter-proposition to arbitrate the demand for increased wages in the form presented by the miners. Such counter-proposition will doubtless be rejected. The submission of the demand for increased wages in the form of two propositions was devised by Mr. Mitchell and was calculated to show the public what the effect of the acceptance of the demand by the operators would have on the price of coal. The two propositions are in effect equivalent to each other and work out the same result. It was an ingenious way for forestalling any contention on the part of the operators that to accede to the demands would be to largely increase the cost of production and make a big advance necessary in the price of coal.

ALL APPLICATIONS FOR LICENSE WERE GRANTED

The License Commissioners for East Peterborough, Messrs. Jos. Knox, Havelock, chairman; J. Smithson, Otonabee, secretary, and J. Rose, Warsaw, met in their rooms over G. Williams' store, Havelock, on Saturday, when all the applications for licenses were granted. This year, owing to local option being in force in Otonabee and Dummer, the hotels at Keene, Warsaw and McCracken's Landing will have no licenses.

The Commissioners will meet in Havelock again early in May, when all licenses will be signed.

Two Companies From The 57th

Probable That Capts. Bennett and McWilliams Will be In Camp With Regiment.

By Tuesday night Col. Miller expects to have all the information in reference to the composite regiment, which will form a part of the summer camp this year at Cobourg. The plan as outlined, is that two companies shall be chosen from the 14th, 15th and 57th regiments, the first two at Kingston and Belleville, and the latter at Peterborough, and send them to the camp to form a six-company regiment. The plan has been tried in the west at the Niagara Camp, and worked well,, and it is expected that good results will follow its introduction here.

The intention is to have this composite regiment spend four days, the last four at the camp, and take part in the review and sham fight.

Although it has not been definitely settled yet, it is probable that the captains commanding the two companies from the 57th will be Capt. Bennett and Captain McWilliams, the subaltern not having been chosen yet.

The commanding officer of the company has not been selected yet either, but Col. Miller is the senior officer in the district, but it is very doubtful whether he would care to take the time, as it it is just prior to the time when the regiment will take its trip to Brantford, and he will be busy making preparations for the visit to the Telephone City.

It evidently was money they wanted, as nothing else was missed.

Dummer Residence Destroyed By Fire

Mr. Robert Somers Loses His Home—Fire Started by Sparks From a Chimney.

Special to The Examiner.

Warsaw, April 27. — The residence of Mr. Robert Somers, about a mile east of this village, was destroyed by fire yesterday.

The fire, which is supposed to have originated from sparks from the chimney, was observed about eleven o'clock in the morning, and had gained such headway that it was impossible to extinguish it before the whole structure, which was frame, had been destroyed. The loss is set at $1000, with insurance on the contents of $300 in the London Mutual, and on the building of $250, in the North British.

A few household articles were saved but outside of those there was a total loss.

Verdict For The Plaintiff
AGAINST LIGHT & POWER CO.
Damages Fixed At $1000

Miss Etta Thompson Awarded That Sum in Her Suit—No Damages for John Lee, the Other Plaintiff—Case Was Concluded This Afternoon—The Company Will Appeal the Case.

The jury this afternoon brought in a verdict of $1,000 for Miss Etta Thompson, against the Peterborough Light and Power Co., for injuries sustained, as alleged, through an escape of gas from the pipes of the company. John Lee, her uncle, asked for $500 damages, but the jury awarded him no damages. The case opened yesterday afternoon, and the evidence was concluded at noon today.

Following are the questions submitted to the jury by His Lordship, and their answers:

1—Were the plaintiffs injured by an escape of gas from the pipes of the defendants?
A.—Yes.

2—If so, was the escape of gas due to any negligence on the part of the defendants?
A.—Yes.

3—If so, in what did such negligence consist?
A.—In putting in defective pipe and not repairing the same when notified.

4—Was there any neglect or undue delay in taking steps to remedy the defect in the pipes which caused the injuries?
A.—Yes.

5—What neglect or delay was there?
A.—In not giving due attention to notice of escape of gas.

John Lee, nothing.
Miss Thompson, $1,000.

The Light and Power Co. will appeal the case. Miss Thompson asked for $3,000.

Mr. Watson in his opening address to jury, explained that the action was one brought by Miss Thompson and her uncle, John Lee, against the Peterborough Light and Power Company. That company was also a gas company and had the right and did lay gas mains through the city. The accident arose by reason of injuries which the defendants were said to have sustained through imperfect work on the part of the company. Mr. Watson said that during the fall of 1904, the plaintiffs were subjected to injuries owing to an escape of gas from the pipes laid in front of their house. The defendants, it was alleged, did not observe the duties cast upon them in reference to their gas mains. John Lee asked for $500; and Miss Lee for $3000 damages.

Mr. S. Milsteed, the first witness, said that he worked for the gas company four or five years ago, and had experience in fixing pipes. He was called upon to do some work upon gas pipes in 1904, near the corner of Smith and George streets. It was on the 26th day of December, 1904. The pipes were laid in the fall or summer of that year. Between a quarter and a half mile of new pipes had been laid. He had been asked to try and find a leak from which gas had escaped, and overcome the two Misses Lee. Mr. Stevenson said they must do something to keep the people quiet. Mr. Jones had gone with them. He had started digging near the house, where the Misses Lee lived. He worked a little while, when Mr. Stevenson came up and stopped him, telling him to dig in another place. He worked that afternoon alone and did not find anything that day. The next day the gas was so strong that they could only work 10 or 15 minutes at a time. They were about three feet down and the pipe was nearly four feet. The first day he noticed the escape of gas before he started digging. He could observe the smell of the gas on the sidewalk. On the third day the gas was shut off. After that he still observed gas; the ground was full of it. They worked five days and on Saturday found the break, which was at the north corner of John Lee's house. They found the pipes separated to the extent of 3-8ths of an inch; he measured the distance. He did not know what caused the separation. The thread of the pipe was cut pretty deep. The pipe was a heavy one. He thought the pipe was not properly laid because of the separation. There was no evidence of a break—just a separation. He had smelled gas there in November before that. Mr. Jones repaired it by putting on a new buckle, and putting two lead joints on each end of it. There had been no further escape of gas from that joint. The joint would be about

THREE FACTS

For Sick Women To Consider.

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements of the female organs, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, inflammation of the female organs, weakness and displacements, regulating the periods perfectly and overcoming their pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.—Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

BELLEVILLE PEOPLE GIVES PASTOR TRIP

Rev. J. P. Wilson, the former George street pastor, now at Bridge street church, Belleville, has evidently become equally as popular with his present congregation as he was with that in Peterborough. It is understood that for some little time he has been unwell and the members of his church and congregation decided to send him for a trip to England, paying, of course, his entire expenses. He will go about the last of June, and will probably be away about six months.

Stocking Scugog River With 'Lunge

Inspector Bradshaw Lifting Fish Over the Locks at Lindsay —44,000 Fish Should be the Result—Enough to Keep 160 Fishers Busy a Whole Season.

The Lindsay Watchman-Warder, in this week's issue, says: Inspector Bradshaw reports that on April 19 ten 'lunge were lifted over the locks and allowed to pass up the Scugog River. The aggregate weight of these fish amounted to 97 lbs. There was one at 6 lbs., three 10 lbs., one 7 lbs., one 12 lbs., one 18 lbs., three 8 lbs. On April 20 twelve more were taken up, as follows: Three 8 lbs., one 6 lbs., one 15 lbs., one 12 lbs., one 7 lbs., one 6 lbs., one 9 lbs., two 8 lbs. and one 11 lbs. These aggregated 106 lbs., which added to the former day's work, makes 203 lbs. of fish.

The heavy ones are females and the light ones jacks. So there are about a dozen females in the lot. This will mean, if the vigilance of the inspectors and interested persons can prevent them from being ruthlessly captured, the deposit of 4,400,000 eggs, which, under favourable circumstances, will hatch out 44,000 fish.

Now, let the angler calculate how much sport this would afford, and he will find by reducing his fish stories to facts it would keep about 160 sportsmen busy a whole season. So it will be seen how easy it is to bring the fishing sport to an excellent standard, when two men in two days can make sport for 160 for 30 days.

To-day the mumbon taken over the locks has reached 27.

Speaking of the habits of the bass, Mr. Bradshaw says it is a mistake to say that they will not bite at a bait during spawning time. They are sometimes very savage, and are indeed cannibals at times during spawning time, devouring their own spawn and young.

BUSINESS IS GOOD WITH MR. J. McCLUNG

The Hamilton Herald of a recent date, referring to a former Peterborough business man says:—

J. McClung, manager of the Semi-ready clothing establishment, 40 North James street, reports a wonderful improvement since he took charge of the establishment last September. Mr. McClung has had a wide experience in the clothing business, having been outter in some of the most high-class tailoring establishments in the United States and Canada before taking charge of the local Semi-ready establishment. He is in the centre of the clothing store district, but is a believer in the old adage that opposition is the life of trade, and says that the more there are in the business the better it is for business.

The store is fitted up in a thoroughly up-to-date manner, and the arrangements for showing goods are excelled by none in the city. Never since the Semi-ready store has been established here has business been so good as at the present time, all of which goes to show that in Mr. McClung the Semi-ready has an efficient and obliging representative.

RETURNS TO VISIT CITY AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS

Mr. Stuart Bruce, of Parry Sound, was a visitor in the city to-day. He was the guest of his nephew, Ald. Mason, and renewed an umber of old acquaintances while here. Mr. Bruce was in Peterborough in 1862, for a special purpose, that of taking a wife, and in November of that year he was married in the court house to Miss Mason, a sister of the late William Mason, father of the present "Finance Minister" of the City Council.

It is 15 years since Mr. Bruce was in Peterborough, and naturally he is greatly surprised at the change which he notices in the appearance of the city. He shares the opinion of the residents of Peterborough in the belief that this city is destined to be one of the great industrial centres of Ontario.

Mr. Bruce is somewhat of a land speculator, and since he retired from farming, over seven years ago, he has bought and sold over 2,000 acres.

Presentation To Teacher In Primary Dept.

Miss Edith Jolliffe Remembered by Sunday School Scholars.

The young people of the primary department of the Charlotte Street Sunday School yesterday afternoon enjoyed the hospitality of the officers of the department, who were assisted by the mothers of the little ones in interesting the children at one of the most enjoyable afternoon gatherings in the history of the department. A large number of the children met in the school rooms, where a delightful programme was rendered by the children, and tea served.

Mrs. W. H. Hamilton occupied the chair and among those who contributed to the programme were:—Ernest Bushnell, Annie Christie, Fred. Shepherd, Greta LeBar, May Bell, Nora Lyle and Daisy Stocker.

Mrs. Hamilton gave a short address in the course of which she told the mothers something of the work which the teachers and officers in the Department are doing.

A pleasing feature in connection with the greeting was a presentation made to Miss Edith Jolliffe, who, since her residence here has been associated with the work of the primary department of the school. On behalf of the girls' little Misses Verna Zealand and Greta Giles presented Miss Jolliffe with a silver jewel case, while for the boys Masters Lawrence Madill and Kenneth Cox gave her a gold pin and a gold blouse set.

Miss Jolliffe, in a neat speech, replied thanking the little ones for their gifts she referred to the pleasure she had experienced in her work with the department.

Women's Guild Of All Saint's Hold At-Home

An Enjoyable Event at the Home of Mrs. D. J. Lundy.

A delightful At Home and a function that was highly successful and satisfactory in every particular was given yesterday at the residence of Mrs. J. J. Lundy, corner Aylmer and Dalhousie streets under the auspices of the Women's Guild of All Saints Church, a society which although recently formed, is already in a very satisfactory condition both in the matter of finances and membership. The affair yesterday was the first of its kind yet given but several members of the Guild have expressed their intention of holding them at their homes and they will in the future be given at different intervals. The ladies of the organization very much appreciate Mrs. Lundy's thoughtfulness in providing such an enjoyable and successful event. The proceeds will be devoted to the Choir Fund.

The spacious dining room was tastefully decked with flowers and the dining table was attractively arranged with dainty dishes. During the afternoon a splendid musical programme was rendered. It was as follows:—

Piano solo ..... Miss Bell
Piano solo ..... Miss Lundy
Piano solo ..... Miss Metheral
Piano solo ..... Miss Geraldine King
Vocal solo ..... Mr. Morphet
Vocal solo ..... Mr. Van der Water

Those in charge of the refreshments were Mrs. Mellville, Mrs. Flowers, Mrs. Corcoran, Mrs. Hudson, Mrs. McClellan, and Miss. Woistenholm.

The general committee consisted of Mrs. Sheffield, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Metheral. The members of the committee in charge were Mrs. Lundy, President; Mrs. McClellan, Mrs. Metheral and Mrs VanDiery.

CHARGED WITH STEALING MOWER

Robert Wilson, of Silver Lake, was brought before the magistrate at Lindsay, on Tuesday afternoon, on a charge of stealing a mower from the executors of the Henderson estate, Galway Township. It appears that the mower had been offered for sale with other goods, etc., but was withdrawn, the price bid being deemed insufficient. Wilson made an offer which was refused, and afterwards took the mower away. On appearing at court, Wilson promised to return the machine and pay costs of the case.

A Dressmaker Is Accused Of Theft

Interesting Case in Division Court in Port Hope—Plaintiff Donned Suit Alleged to be a Misfit for Court to Judge Whether it Was a Good Fit.

The Port Hope Guide says: The monthly sitting of the Division Court was held in the police court room yesterday afternoon. The docket, although small, was very interesting, and the large audience of ladies seemed to enjoy the different cases. The one which interested the ladies particularly was the dressmaking case. This was an action brought by Mrs. Prince against Mrs. May McGibbon for $15.50.

Mrs. Prince, it appears, was not at all satisfied with the fit of the suit made by Miss McGibbon, and further, she was of the opinion that all the goods purchased by her had not been used in the making of the dress.

Mrs. Prince, in her evidence, produced an account from Joseph Baulch for six yards of black twill at $1.75 per yard, amounting to $10.50.

She gave these goods to Miss McGibbon, with instructions to make her a skirt and coat. She wanted a full nine gored skirt, with the coat made tight to the waist and full the rest of the way down. She had the skirt and coat fitted at Miss McGibbon's home, and, when finished, she wore it from Miss McGibbon's over to her own home. Upon examination she found that the gores were no shape whatever, the sleeves of the coat resembled the legs of gents' trousers, there was not enough brush binding, and altogether it was not fit to wear. Mrs. Prince then complained to Miss McGibbon that she was dissatisfied with the garments, and Miss McGibbon took them back to fix them. When Miss McGibbon had made several changes, Mrs. Prince told her that she was not yet satisfied. She paid her $1.50 and promised her the balance, $1.75 when she returned the remainder of the goods.

In the cross-examination, plaintiff said that she did not accuse Miss McGibbon of stealing any of her goods, but she had said that probably she had kept enough of the goods to make a pair of trousers for her father. Mr. Kerr informed her that if she were worth any amount they could make it very uncomfortable for her for making this assertion.

The plaintiff then retired to one of the adjoining rooms and donned the coat and skirt, and came into the police court room to exhibit it. Crown Attorney Kerr viewed it carefully, and, while not claiming to be an expert on ladies' garments, still he thought this costume fitted very well. Miss Fanny Dundas, one of our leading dressmakers, was called, and stated that she thought the garments fitted all right. If Mrs. Prince wished the skirt made a little wider it would be an easy matter to do this. The judge thought there was little cause for complaint, and decided in favour of Miss McGibbon. There is $1.75 owing to Miss McGibbon at the present time, and Mr. Kerr intimated that he would like to see it paid at once and save another suit.

The Belmont Silver Mine Yet Undiscovered

The McMillan Silver Deposit is Elusive — American Geologist Looking for the Mineral Deposit.

The Havelock Standard says: The celebrated McMillan silver mine, which was to have created such a furore in this vicinity this spring, is still doing its old stunts. On Friday last, an American VanLeck of Toledo, journeyed north with the discoverer, but, sad to say, his quest was in vain, and he returned in disgust. On Tuesday, two of our prominent citizens, armed with large sacks to store the precious white metal in, booted with rubber boots to keep out the water in the swamp they were bound to, hied themselves some twenty odd miles north, in company with the sturdy and valiant discoverer, who as he said, could take them right to the spot where he pried out the original chunk. "'Tis true, and pity 'tis 'tis true," that they also returned without the anticipated ore, visions of which had haunted their dreams the night before. Wet, weary and disheartened, their tale of woe is hard to hear. But McMillan still has hopes!

MACHINE COMPANY TO START OPERATIONS

The Brantford Expositor says: The Automatic Telephone Company have secured options on several properties, with the intention of erecting their central office in this city in the near future. An official of the company stated to the Expositor to-day that negotiations for the purchase of one or other of the sites in view would be closed very soon. The locations in view have not been given out, but they are all fairly central. The building will not be erected right in the central part of the city, but will be within a radius of a few blocks from the central district.

There are now three carloads of poles in the city. They are exceptionally high, and when in position will stand probably 10 or 12 feet above any of the poles now on the streets of Brantford. They are being rapidly unloaded and taken to the base of operations established by the company on Water street.

Engineer Lyttle is expected to arrive in the city either to-day or to-morrow. His arrival will be the signal for the immediate commencement of operations.

The Kidneys and Uric Acid

THE ALL-IMPORTANT WORK OF THESE FILTERS OF THE BLOOD AND HOW THEY MAY BE KEPT HEALTHY BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

When the whole vital process of digestion and assimilation of food is completed there still remains the work of removing from the blood the uric acids, salts and water, and this can be accomplished only by the kidneys. The failure of the kidneys to perform this work creates on the whole digestive and filtering systems, chokes up the liver, and by means of the circulation of the blood sends the poisonous waste matter through the entire body, giving rise to pains, derangements and disease.

Because of their direct action on the kidneys and their enlivening influence on the liver and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most thoroughly effective treatment available for the cure of diseases of the kidneys.

Among the early indications of kidney disease may be mentioned:

Backache.
Fickle appetite.
Deposits in the urine.
Frequent desire to urinate, especially at night.
Rheumatism and sciatic pains, constipation and diarrhoea alternating.
Dropsical swelling.
Scanty, dark-coloured urine.
Persistent loss of flesh and weight.

Prompt relief is obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and by persistent treatment the kidneys are restored to health and activity.

No medicine which acts on the kidneys alone can possibly prove effective, because in the great majority of cases the liver and bowels are also deranged. Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, they bring about satisfactory results in the most complicated cases.

By using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose at bedtime, as often as is necessary to keep the bowels in regular, healthful action, you insure yourself against kidney disease and the subsequent suffering from Bright's disease, dropsy, apoplexy, or other equally dreaded ailments. Dog Owners, Take Warning

Chief Roszel Will Get After the Offenders With Despatch.

"There are only forty-nine dog tags purchased to date," said Chief Roszel to an Examiner reporter to-day, "and there are 1,000 dogs for which tags will have to be purchased in this city, if there is one."

That makes 950 tags to be purchased within the next four days and this year all who do not secure tags for their canines within the time required by the law, will be promptly prosecuted. There'll be no distinction whatever shown. The citizens who own dogs will not be given all summer to get tags for them.

STOLE RABBITS BUT HE GOT OFF

Six little white rabbits with pink eyes, all cuddled up in a peach basket occupied a prominent position in Belleville police court yesterday morning. They were the property of a little son of Mr. Dan Grass and they were stolen from his residence on William street. A young lad named Monaghan was suspected and the bunnies were found in his possession by the police. He was brought to court and admitted his guilt. As Mr. Grass had recovered his property and the accused had shown repentance for his act, he was allowed to go with a suspended sentence of one month.

The TERRIBLE PANGS OF DYSPEPSIA CAN BE CURED

To be dyspeptic is to be miserable, hopeless, confused and depressed in mind, forgetful, irresolute, drowsy, languid and useless.

Constipation, headache, heartburn, sour stomach, distress after eating, belching of wind, faintness, and fullness and distention of the stomach are a few of the many distressing symptoms of the poor, weary dyspeptic.

Dyspepsia is a disease that in one way or another resembles nearly every other disease, and the only way to get rid of it is to tone up the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. This will be quickly done by the use of

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

It regulates the stomach, stimulates the secretion of the saliva and gastric juice to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood, and tones up the entire system.

Mrs. M. A. MacNeil, Brook Village, N.S., writes: "Last winter I was very thin and was fast loosing flesh owing to the run down state of my system. I suffered from dyspepsia, loss of appetite and bad blood. I tried everything I could get but to no purpose. I finally started to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and from the first day I felt the good effects of the medicine and am strong and well again. I can eat anything now without any ill after effects. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Burdock Blood Bitters, for I feel it saved my life."

THE TONGUE PREVAILS.

The semi-annual meeting of the Anglican Mission Band, held yesterday in Toronto, revealed an important fact in connection with the future social and political conditions of the Northwest. The western bishops took the ground that there was no necessity for translating the prayer-book into different languages, since, according to their opinion, within two years everybody would be speaking the English language. It has been feared by many that the large influx of foreign peoples would create complications. But if foreigners learn thus rapidly to speak in English, they will as rapidly learn to think the English language, and the work of assimilation is practically accomplished. While there are many foreigners among the population of the Northwest, they are considerably outnumbered by the English-speaking or Anglo-Saxon element, and the assimilative power of Anglo-Saxon ideals and ambition is wonderfully potent. The stream that poured out of Runnymede is far-reaching and wide-spreading, and wherever the flag floats the spirit of the free and enlightening institutions it represents makes way and holds sway. We want population for the realization of the destiny of the greater Canada, and, while it is desirable that the incoming population should be of the best quality, there seems to be no fear that, with reasonable care, no class of people will be brought in who cannot be, with wise treatment, welded upon the Anglo-Saxon stock for the purpose of desirable citizenship. Give us the population of reasonably good quality, and we trust to be able to do the rest.

EDMONTON THE CAPITAL.

Another burning question has been decided in the Northwest, and now Alberta can follow the signal—"full steam ahead." Edmonton has been selected as the permanent capital of the new Provinces, that sub-borean city winning out, as against Calgary, by two votes to one. The vote in the Legislature stood sixteen for Edmonton and eight for Calgary. This selection represents historic continuity. Edmonton was the capital of Western Canada as far back as 1776. The Legislative buildings will be placed on the site of the old Hudson Bay fort, occupied by the company for 130 years. So that the capital of the baby Province will have something in the way of a site for the capital that will take off the edge of raw newness.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Whenever any inhabitant of the British Isles begins saving his money the neighbours, the Toronto Star remarks, all know that he is saving it to come to Canada.

A man of known wealth can afford to dress shabbily if he chooses to do so, but a man of much less means has to defer to convention and dress well. The United States is rich enough to accept aid for San Francisco sufferers without being regarded as an object of charity. Canada and Peterborough have done their duty in offering aid—if it is rejected the merit of the action prompted by a spirit of brotherly love, still remains.

The completion of the Trent Canal will be a boon to manufacturing industries and commercial interests. It will not only permit of heavy freight being delivered at greatly reduced charges but it will tend to reduce railway freight rates on general commercial movements. The operation of the canal would give the Northwest farmer two or three cents per bushel more for his wheat and correspondingly reduce the price of wheat and flour to Ontario consumers.

Answering a Toronto Telegram screed, the Stratford Beacon thus gives its reasons for not becoming enthusiastic over the Power Commission's report. The statement is one which the Telegram will not care to deal with on merit:

"When Mr. Beck was here he preached a municipal plant, which called for an expenditure on the part of Stratford, of $431,000, a sum almost equal to the city's net general debenture debt and entailing an annual interest charge of $17,455, not not to speak of provision for sinking fund! And what for? To get rid of an awful electric monopoly whose gross receipts last year from street, store and power only amounted to $16,000!"

The action of President Roosevelt in rejecting contributions for the relief of San Francisco sufferers from outside sources is closely allied to priggishness—the operation of the big head, if not the big stick. No nation nor individual attains such greatness as to become independent of human sympathy and help. National exclusiveness, whether by means of tariff walls or ungracious repulse of neighbourly kindness, is not—nice. It is pretty certain that the great mass of the United States people do not recognize President Roosevelt as their spokesman in a matter that touches the most sacred relations of human kinship.

A BAD MINING LAW.

The forecast of Whitney's new mining bill given out by the Spectator last night, turns out to be inaccurate, but the provisions which the organ complacently remarked "should be satisfactory to the people of the Province," are still very far from meeting the needs of the case. The organ announced that royalties were to be exacted from minerals as follows:

"Nickel, 6 cents per ton; copper, 1 cent per ton; arsenic, 1-2 cent per ton, and cobalt, 5 cents per ton."

It appears that not even so insignificant a royalty is to be levied. The only charge will be an acreage tax. In organized municipalities this tax will be five cents per acre a year; in unorganized districts 3 cents an acre. This acreage tax will form a fund for bonusing the refining of ores in New Ontario. Six cents a ton will be paid for nickel refined in Ontario, the total expenditure not to exceed $25,600; for copper one cent a ton up to $15,000; for cobalt five cents a ton up to $10,000. These bonuses will be paid for five years.

The general effect of the bill will be to facilitate the locking up of large areas of mineral lands, while the province will receive practically nothing, the tax, even if estimates are realized, being little more than enough to pay the bonuses. A man may get together a lot of names and hold a thousand acres idle at his pleasure for a tax of 8 cents an acre, or $80. If a mining syndicate strikes a mine worth millions, it takes the entire output and pays the people 5 to 8 cents an acre rental therefor. Any man may hold a claim under an "indefensible title," after an average expenditure of 100 days labour a year for three years, no matter how rich it may be, and whether he works it or allows it to be idle.

Nobody will object to treating the pioneer prospector liberally, but if there are millions to be got there for the taking, those to whom the Government gives it ought to be required to return something to the people. Cobalt ought not to be made a prey for the grafters, while the country gets from its richness barely enough to pay the bonuses we are to provide for the lucky ones to whom it is parcelled out. Such a law is not a reform; it is a fraud upon the province.—Hamilton Times.

POLICE COURT.

John Oakley, who has on many occasions sought the solace of the police station in the evenings, was given six months on the hill this morning. John is sober and industrious, but has no money and is not able to do much work. He pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy at the police court this morning, but when asked how long he wanted, he said he didn't know.

"How would six months do?" asked the chief.

"All right," said John, and he was given the six.

THE ANT.

Facts About One of Natures Most Industrious Creatures.

When spring comes with all its wealth of opening buds and new flowers, the ant is preparing for a season of profitable industry.

It comes out of its winter quarters and locates a new home where it can store away during the summer months, the sustenance for the long winter days.

Just as industrious as the ant—but in a different way, are the countless—infinitesimal germs which burrow into the scalp and eat away at the roots of the hair.

As they burrow away, Dandruff forms, and if the germs are not all killed, Baldness results.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known remedy which kills the germs.

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., On Possibilities Of Canal

Member for West Peterborough Tells the Members of the House of Commons of the Great Benefits Which its Completion Will Confer Upon the Whole District of Central Ontario.

A copy of the unrevised edition of the House of Commons debates in which a report of the excellent address made by Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., on the transportation question is given, an installment of Mr. Hall's speech is published to-day, and is as follows:—

I must say that I am somewhat disappointed in the speech we have just heard, particularly as regards that part of the province of Ontario which is known as Midland district, extending from Georgian Bay down to Lake Ontario and Belleville and Kingston. I was particularly interested in the statement of the Transportation Commission, which will be found on page 22, of its report:—

Your Commission are of the opinion that the Canadian routes hereinbefore mentioned, viz.:

1. Via Midland, including the Grand Trunk Railway (double tracked as Mr. Hays purposes,) the Trent Valley waterway, and in all probability the Canadian Pacific Railway.

2. Via Depot Harbour, including the Canada Atlantic and Intercolonial Railway;

3. The all-water route, via either the proposed French and Ottawa rivers canal system, or the enlarged Welland canal;

Should be taken and considered as the main Canadian routes by which the products of the west will reach ocean navigation.

It is clearly pointed out by the Commission that there are three routes whereby the export trade of Canada may be carried to the coast, namely, via Midland, via Depot Harbour, and the all-water route, either by way of the enlarged Welland canal or the proposed Trent and Ottawa canal system. I might further point out that on page 19 of the same report, we find the following:

"The port of Midland should also serve as the port for the Trent Valley waterway on which the government of Canada has already expended between five and six million dollars, thus having made its construction a settled policy, and your commission would recommend that this waterway be pressed to an early completion and that it be by way of the Severn at the Georgian Bay end, and the Trent on the Bay of Quinte, so that its terminals will be in protected waters, whereby greater safety will be given to the somewhat smaller boats and barges which will have to be used on this route."

I expected that my Hon. friend from East Simcoe, (Mr Bennett), who should be vitally interested in the Trent Canal Waterway, would at all events have made some remarks regarding the importance of that route as being a means of affording water competition from Midland to Montreal. I may say that a great deal of misapprehension exists concerning the Trent waterway. In different places it has been asserted that it is nothing more than a ditch, that it is not a canal. But on the other hand I wish to assert that it connection of waterways. That same misapprehension existed in the minds of no less informed a gentleman, than the hon. the leader of the opposition down as late as the year 1904, when he came to Peterborough to address a political meeting during the last elections. That hon. gentleman on October 4, 1901, spoke in Peterborough as follows:

"I have been impressed, although I do not understand the question as fully perhaps as those to those to whom it has always been familiar, I have been impressed with the arguments urged upon me by Mr. Kendry and other gentlemen of this city since I have reached here to-day, and I say to you with regard to this great waterway, it is not a canal, it is a development of a waterway."

Evidently the leader of the opposition did not know when he came to Peterborough so late as 1904, whether this Trent waterway was a ditch or a canal. He only learnt then that it was a waterway. But I can well understand the hon. gentleman's lack of knowledge when I find a gentleman like my hon. friend from East Simcoe (Mr. Bennett) speaking in this house for upwards of an hour on the transportation question without referring to the importance of the Trent waterway as a means of affording cheap transportation.

Mr. Bennett. That is a foregone conclusion, and I thought it unnecessary to say a word in favour of the Trent Valley Canal. The canal is a foregone conclusion. We must have it. Everybody knows that.

The balance of Mr. Hall's address will be published to-morrow.

Y.W.C.A. Ladies Entertain Teachers

Pleasant Social Evening Spent Last Night.

Last evening the ladies of the Board of the Y. W. C. A. entertained the teachers who have so willingly assisted through the year, and the classes. The reading and drawing-rooms were prettily arranged, and a grate fire in the hall gave a cheery welcome to the guests. The evening was spent in social conversation, interspersed with various items of a programme. Miss Mooro sang and Miss Henderson gave a couple of recitations with encores. A violin trio was given by Misses Wallis, Burnette and Sanderson, accompanied by Miss Crane.

Refreshments were served during the evening, which proved to be a most pleasant one, and the teachers are high int heir praise of the hospitality of the ladies of the Y. W. C. A.

DOG POISONERS DO THEIR WORK

Will Extend Mains To Carpet Factory

3014 Feet of New Water Mains Will be Laid in South End of City—Four Hydrants for Fire Protection, Too —Meeting of Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The question of fire protection and water supply for manufacturing purposes for the new carpet factory was discussed at the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night when the members of the Board of Water Commissioners were also present.

One of the understandings with the carpet factory people when they decided to locate here, was that the Commissioners were to extend their mains to the factory, and it was for the purpose of considering this matter that the conference was held last night. At the present time the main ends at Romaine street on Look street, and it was decided to extend it to Braidwood avenue on Look street, below the carpet factory, and along that avenue to the works, a distance altogether of 3,014 feet. The main to Lansdowne street will be five-inch, from there to Braidwood avenue, 8-inch, and along the latter 6-inch. The cost will be in the neighbourhood of $3,000. At the same time the Fire, Water and Light Committee decided to order four hydrants placed on this new main. It was moved by Ald. Ball and seconded by Ald. Elliott, that two hydrants be ordered on the new main on Look street from Romaine to Lansdowne street, one at Ware street and the other at Lansdowne street, and one on King street new main at east side of Pearl avenue. This was carried.

Mr. Thos. Long addressed the meeting and asked that a light be placed at the corner of Smith and Bethune streets, a very dark corner, according to his statements. It was decided to grant his prayer and a 32 candle power incandescent lamp will be furnished.

The architect of the new fire hall and the chairman of the committee were authorized to furnish the information requested by the City Solicitor.

STREET CAR HEADLIGHTS ALTOGETHER TOO STRONG

At the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, held last night in the city clerk's office, the question of the strength of the headlights used on the Radial Railway Company's cars was discussed, and it was pointed out that the present headlight used was altogether too powerful, and that horses were frequently frightened, and a number of accidents had occurred, traceable to this cause.

It was decided to interview Mr. Larmonth in reference to the matter and see if something could not be done to remedy the trouble.

BOY WHILE PLAYING FELL INTO A BON-FIRE

A twelve-year-old boy, the son of Mr. Robert Fitzsimons, who lives at No. 5, Wolsely avenue, had a very narrow escape from serious, if not, fatal accident last night. It appears that he, with a number of other boys about his own age, were playing on the street around a bon fire; and in running, this boy caught his foot on a root or hole in the ground, and fell face foremost into the flames, with the result that he was badly burned.

His arm was burned severely to the elbow, while his face and neck were less seriously scorched.

He was carried to his home, where medical attendance was secured for him, and while he will suffer considerably from the effects of his burn it is not anticipated that any particularly serious results will follow.

THE PRICE OF DRINKS TO BE INCREASED MAY 1

At a meeting of the License Holders held at 3 o'clock this afternoon it was decided to raise the price of drinks on and after May 1st. Canadian case goods will be sold at 10 cents straight. Beer, lager and ale will be sold at 5 cents per eight-ounce glass or less. Domestic lager and ales will all be 15 cents per pint and imported brews will be 25 cents and 50 cents for pints and quarts, respectively. Mixed soda drinks will be sold at 15 cents per glass. Smaller glasses will be used for beers and ales and the "schooner" will be a thing of the past.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' United States Declines Offer From Canada

"Outside Assistance For San Francisco Unnecessary."

SO DECLARES PRESIDENT

Emperor of Japan Gives $100,000 and the Merchants a Similar Sum For the Relief of the California Earthquake Sufferers—41 Dead at Santa Rosa—Damage to Northern California Communities.

Ottawa, April 27.—Before the orders of the day were called in the House yesterday, Hon. Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, read the following telegram, received by the Governor-General:

"Washington, April 26.—Earl Grey, Ottawa: I am requested by the President of the United States to convey to the Government of the Dominion of Canada, from the people of the United States, their deepest gratitude and most profound appreciation of the magnificent contribution which your Government has proffered towards the relief of the distressed citizens of San Francisco. They feel sure that the Government of Canada will understand that they no less appreciate this generous proffer because of their conclusion that outside assistance will be unnecessary. —(Signed) Durand."

Mr. Fielding suggested that the estimate be carried, so that it should, if necessary, be available hereafter.

Jap Emperor Gives $100,000.

The Emperor of Japan has donated $100,000 for the relief of the people of San Francisco, and the business men at Tokio and Osaka have contributed a like sum.

In response to an appeal from Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese Minister at Washington, the Chinese of Hong Kong yesterday remitted a first installment of $10,000 in gold for the relief of the sufferers by the San Francisco disaster.

41 Dead at Santa Rosa.

At Santa Rosa latest figures show 41 dead, 63 injured and 7 missing. Twenty fires started, but the water supply was unimpaired, and within three hours the flames were under control. Santa Rosa knew nothing of the destruction of San Francisco until the arrival from there of a trainload of 1,000 refugees begging for help that could not be given them.

Damage in Northern Counties.

News has just been received at San Francisco of the damage done by the earthquake of April 18 in the northern counties of California. In Lakeport, Lake County, a large portion of the fire wall of the Lakeview Hotel crashed through the porches and brick annex. Several other brick blocks were cracked, chimneys toppled over throughout the town and show windows of business houses for the full length of Main street were scattered. No one was injured. At Albion, Mendocino County, the Occidental Hotel is a wreck. All the big saw mills in the region will have to shut down for some time. There were no lives lost. At Anderson, in Shasta County, chimneys tumbled down and windows, dishes and furniture of houses were demolished. There are many wide fissures in the earth. Slides along the southern Humboldt Lumber Co.'s railroad line did thousands of dollars damage to their dam across Indian Creek.

"Emergency Orders."

Orders have been issued by the officials of the Carnegie Steel Co., at Pittsburg, making all contracts for structural and other steel material to be used in the reconstruction of San Francisco "emergency orders," and giving them precedence over all other contracts.

The C. P. R. steamship Amur, which was placed at the disposal of merchants of Vancouver and Victoria by the company, left Vancouver Wednesday laden with supplies donated to San Francisco sufferers. There was only 25 tons of vacant space, which would be more than filled at Victoria.

500 Teams Haul Relief Supplies.

Five hundred teams were hauling supplies to the sixty odd relief depots Thursday. There is still a scarcity of sugar and coffee, and an urgent and pressing need for more blankets, cots and tents.

The Dairymen's Association will furnish milk free to the relief organizations until May 1.

Consuls Missing.

The Danish consul at San Francisco, H. H. Birkholm, has not been heard from since the earthquake. The French embassy at Washington also is still trying to get trace of the French consul-general at San Francisco, who has failed to respond to all enquiries directed to him.

The United States Government has declined the $75,000 subscription to the relief fund tendered by the Empress of China, but it is probable that this money will be sent direct to Chinese representatives in San Francisco for the use of the homeless Chinese.

Nine charitable organizations in Hong Kong have subscribed $40,000, and smaller amounts have been contributed in other cities.

THE TRADING CONTRACT.

Debate on Mr. Foster's Resolution Continued, Brings Keen and Effective Debater to the Front.

Ottawa, April 27.—The division on Mr. Foster's amendment censuring the Government in connection with the North Atlantic Trading Co.'s contract will not take place until Tuesday. Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, who has been absent for a few days, will by then have returned from his native province down by the sea, where he has been on business.

The debate yesterday was continued with unabated vigor on both sides. The speech of Mr. A. K. Maclean (Lunenburg, N. S.), a young member, who seldom occupies the time of the House, was the distinctive feature of to-day's debate, and established his reputation as a keen and effective debater of good Parliamentary style and excellent delivery.

Other speakers were Mr. Crawford (Portage la Prairie), Mr. Gunn (South Huron), and Mr. G. W. Fowler (King's and Albert).

The Senate concurred in the Commons' invitation to His Majesty King Edward to visit Canada.

New Liquor Act Passed Legislature

Will Receive Royal Assent With Other Bills To-Day.

THE SOO LOAN GUARANTEE

Province to Be Relieved of Part of It on Tuesday—The Opposition Divides Legislature on the Three-Fifths' Clause of the License Bill—The Government's Majority Was 43 —The Education Bill.

Toronto, April 27.—The Opposition divided the Legislature yesterday afternoon on an amendment proposing to substitute "majority" for the "three-fifths" vote in the local option clauses of the bill amending the liquor license act. Hon. Mr. Ross, the mover, and Hon. Mr. Hanna were the only speakers on the amendment, which was defeated on the vote of 64 to 21.

Progress was made in committee with the bill respecting the Education Department, the Government showing some disposition to adopt the Opposition suggestion to include representatives of school trustees on the proposed Consultative Council.

Royal Assent.

The House will meet at 2.30 this afternoon, when his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will give the Royal assent to a number of bills which have been passed, including the liquor license bill, which goes into effect immediately on assent being given, so that its provisions will be in force for the license year beginning May 1. The Government bill amending the public schools act will be taken up and discussed in committee of the whole House on business being resumed after his Honor leaves the chamber.

The Soo Guarantee.

Hon. Mr. Matheson at yesterday evening's session introduced a bill giving the Government power to extend for one year, if necessary, the Provincial guarantee of $2,000,000 of the Soo loan. The guarantee expires on Tuesday next, and the original bill contains no authority for extension. The Government had reason, the Provincial Treasurer said, to believe that the Province will be relieved on Tuesday of the guarantee or a large part of it. In addition to the extension mentioned, the bill gives authority for the surrender of securities held by the Province to the proportionate value of the amount of guarantee of which the Province is relieved in case the whole guarantee is not at once taken up. The Government will retain the mortgage bonds and stock of the Algoma Central & Hudson's Bay Railway Co. and of the Manitoulin & North Shore Railway Co. until relieved of the whole of the guarantee, and surrender installments of the first mortgage bonds of the Lake Superior Corporation proportionate to the amounts of which it is relieved. The bill was put through its various stages and read a third time. It will be assented to to-day.

Hon. Mr. Matheson will go to New York, as it will be necessary for him as Treasurer of the Province to be personally in attendance on Tuesday and sign certain papers in connection with the relieving of the guarantee or any part of it. The other parties in the negotiation are the Canadian Improvement Co. and Morton Trust Co. of New York City. The former are the holding company under which the Soo industries were reorganized and the latter are the brokers.

Third Readings.

The following bills were read a third time in the Legislature yesterday: To amend the Pharmacy Act (Downey); to amend the County Courts Act (Foy); respecting the Township of Eastnor (Bowman).

Tornado Cut Swath of a Mile Wide For Eight Miles and Swept Bellevue Into Ruins.

Bellevue, Texas, April 27.—A tornado, which swept through this place last night, destroyed everything in its path, and as a result practically the entire town is a mass of ruins.

Only three buildings are now standing, and at least eleven persons are dead and a number are injured.

The tornado was followed by fire, which consumed the wreckage.

The town consisted of over 300 houses.

The whole business section of the town, and all stocks of merchandise were destroyed.

The tornado was a mile wide and traveled eight miles, levelling everything in its path, ruining crops and destroying all farm-houses and buildings on the way.

This section is thickly settled and it will be late to-day before there are complete reports of the dead.

THE TABAH TROUBLE.

British Troops at Crete Are Ordered Forward to Check Turkey Should She Prove Offensive.

Cairo, Egypt, April 27.—A battery of the Royal Horse Artillery and three companies of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers now forming part of the British contingent of the international forces in the Island of Crete, have been ordered here to reinforce the British garrison in Egypt. The first battalion of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers is expected here shortly from Belfast, Ireland.

Deemed Advisable.

London, April 27.—Foreign Secretary Grey replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, said that the British garrison in Egypt was being strengthened at the suggestion of Lord Cromer, the British agent there, who considered the step to be desirable in view of the unrest created by the action of the Turkish Government in connection with the Tabah boundary incident.

The report that orders had been received at Aldershot for the mobilization of the first division of Gen. French's army corps in view of serious development in South Africa or elsewhere, is unfounded. No troops have been ordered to prepare for foreign service in the near future.

REASSURING REPLY.

Extra Troops by Thousands to Protect Paris May Day.

Paris, April 27.—The prefect of police, M. Lepine, yesterday made a reassuring reply to hundreds of letters which anxious persons had addressed to the police. He said that all precautions had been taken to maintain order in the streets May 1, and prevent attempts against life or property.

Besides the full police force, which will be on duty, reinforcements, consisting of 28,000 infantry, cavalry and artillery, which will arrive here by Saturday.

In addition to the troops mentioned, eight squadrons of cavalry relieved from duty in the mining regions, have been brought to Paris, and dragoons and hussars are coming from many other points.

The Government has received the most positive assurance that the labor leaders do not intend to permit any disorder May 1.

Belgrade, Servia, April 27.—King Peter, while out riding yesterday, fell off his horse and injured his ankle.

Miners to Hold a Convention.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 27.—After hearing the report of the sub-scale committee, the scale committee of the anthracite miners yesterday decided to call a convention of miners to meet in Scranton, Thursday, May 3. The scale committee, it is said, was not willing to take the responsibility of accepting the operators' plan.

President Mitchell last night made two propositions. The first proposition asks for an increase in wages ranging from 5 to 15 per cent., according to the wages now received. The second proposition asks for an advance equal to 10 cents per ton upon the total production of coal, to be added to the wages of employes and apparently in such percentage as may be agreed upon.

The Wornout Nerves, The Weak Heart, The Tired Brain, The Wasted Strength.

What a multitude of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case. From early morn until late at night they have been on the go, year in and year out, attending to the daily household duties, looking after the wants of her children and spending the rest of her time attending to social and church work. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? The action of the heart becomes weak and palpitating, the nerves become unstrung, the brain feels in a whirl half the time and the usual force of vitality is lacking.

It is at this time a woman should look after herself. If she does not, serious female disorders may set in and often cause weary months and years of helplessness and miserable suffering. What she wants is something to build up her system. For this purpose there is nothing to equal

Verdict For The Plaintiff

40 or 50 feet from John Lee's house. and about the same distance from the Misses Lee's house. He saw Weatherhead working there before he did. During the time he was working there, he saw Mr. Stevenson there, who told him to keep on.

To Mr. Donnistoun witness said that his duties did not only relate to the gas business. He did not have anything to do with the electric business. He had made repairs to gas mains in different parts of the city. He didn't get sacked after the time mentioned. Breaks did happen from time to time. The pipe in question was, with the exception of one, the deepest laid he ever dug up. It was 3 or 4 inches below the frost line. The opening extended all around the pipe. The pipe came apart horizontally. The pipe might have been broken because it was too thin. He did not know when the pipe was broken.

Miss Thompson was the next witness. She said that she had lived with her uncle, John Lee, for twelve years. She first noticed the escape of gas in the latter part of November. Gas was escaping in front of the place. They could smell it in the house at that time. They had to leave the house for a couple of weeks on account of illness caused by gas. She had been healthy before that time. She had never had any trouble with her heart or other organs. She went into the house next door on November 28th, and remained there two weeks. She noticed gas very much on the street. About the 25th of November the escape of gas had caused her to faint. From November 1st to 25th, she was not in very good health. She returned to her house after a fortnight and the gas was not so bad. It was very bad on the street. The gas company knew of this trouble. At Christmas time she had to leave the house again. Before that she was only fairly well. The gas was observed the worst in the cellar. There was a gas pipe in the cellar, which had an earth bottom. There was nothing wrong with the gas pipes in the house. She had not tested them. There was no escape of gas from any pipe in the house. There was no particular place in the cellar where it was noticed more than others. Up to the time she had left the house she had had a dizzy feeling and her health was breaking down; there was no other cause for it. She went to a house on Smith street where the smell could not be noticed. Witness had remained at home after Christmas for five or six weeks. Dr. Scott waited on her on Christmas Day, and he had seen her once every two weeks after. Her trouble was a regular running down in health. She was not able to do very much work on account of this weakness, which had not affected her before. She had had weak spells since that time and her sleep had not been very good. She knew of no other cause except the gas. When she returned to the house after Christmas there was no gas. There was no hole in the cellar bottom. Everything in the house was blackened with gas. Twenty-five or twenty-six plants upon which it was hard to put a value were destroyed.

To Mr. Donnistoun — Witness said that she had no organic trouble of any kind. She had had a bone broken in her spine 14 or 15 years ago. She went to see the doctor once in two weeks. She did not always walk. Whenever occasion called for it she went to town to do her shopping. She did part of the housework, preparing the meals most of the time. She had been acting in the capacity of housekeeper for her uncle as much as she was able.

Miss Lee, the next witness, said to Mr. Watson that she lived in the house north of John Lee's. She first noticed gas on the streets during the latter part of October, shortly after they put in new pipes. It was noticed to the south, and in front of their house. It could be detected very plainly. She noticed it in the house after the frost came into the ground. It was some time in November. It was noticed most in the cellar. They thought it came from the main pipe. There was no hole in the cellar. The gas got worse all the time, both on the street and in the house. She and her sister brought an action against the same company. She had left her house on December 26, and did not get back until April. She saw two men working on the street. She thought it was in November. She knew where the leak was found. It was at the end of the walk between the two houses. Miss Thompson's health, before the escape of gas, was good. She considered that her health was very bad. She had been in John Lee's house in November, and had noticed a strong odour of gas. She had seen Mr. Chas. Seymour about the matter. She told him that the gas was escaping and to send some one to fix it. On the next visit to the office of the company she told Mr. Beale about it. In November she again spoke to Mr. Seymour about the gas. He said they would have to send some one up to fix it. Mr. Stevenson had told her they could not afford to have the gas escaping, and they would get it fixed.

To Mr. Donnistoun — Witness said that she was not around the house all day and would not see if men were at work. Her uncle, John Lee, had a gas stove in the house, and used it in the summer time.

To Mr. Watson—Witness said that there was no question about gas escaping from the gas stove.

John Lee, the other plaintiff, said he had owned his house about 40 years. Before the latter end of October in 1904 they never had any trouble with gas. It was soon after the new pipes were laid. He first noticed gas in the house about the first of November. He first noticed it on the street to the north of his house. He corroborated the testimony of the other witnesses in reference to the gas in the cellar. The gas affected him. His appetite was not good. The gas kept getting worse. Around Christmas time he was away from the house. He went into the office and informed Mr. Beale and Mr. Stevenson that the gas was bad, and they said that they would fix it. He thought that a man came up to see about it between this visit and the second he had made to the company. The gas was still in his house on the 28th and 29th of December. The gas was observable five or six weeks after the discovery of the separated pipes had been made. He estimated damages to provisions in the cellar at $20. He had claimed $5 for the kitchen and $45 for the parlour and dining-room. Upstairs the same, $10. Extra coal for heating, $6. Boarding for niece and himself, $40; boarding for his son and his wife, $10; tree destroyed, $10, and cleaning and furnishing, $5.

To Mr. Donnistoun — Witness said that he went twice to the company to see about the gas. A man came up afterwards and repaired a leak near Green's house. He did not go back to the office after that leak was discovered. He saw the leak after it was discovered. It was Christmas day that the gas grew so bad. The expenditure he had claimed in the greater part, he had not actually made. He had not paid anything for board, nor for some of the papering and other repairs.

To Mr. Watson—Witness said that the gas stove in his house was in good condition.

William Lee, brother of the previous witness, said that he had seen the leak in the pipe, and had measured it, finding it about three-eighths of an inch wide nearest the street.

To Mr. Kerr — Witness said that the men digged every place but the right one. The men were there working and looking for the leak. He had no interest in the suit.

William Smith testified that he passed the Lee place four times a day. He noticed the gas, but could not state when. It lasted two or three months. It was very bad at times. He had no talk with any officials of the company about it. He had seen two persons working there.

Dr. Scott—He remembered being called to attend Miss Lee on the morning of December 26, and had seen Miss Thompson there. He had prescribed for her. She was complaining of headache, dizziness and loss of appetite. Those conditions might arise from the inhalation of gas. He did not see her again until January 5, when she was still in the same condition. He made an examination of her heart at that time. He attributed her condition to the absorption of the gas. Afterwards he saw her about twice a month. He found that she did not recover as he had expected. He had examined all her organs and found them all right. Her condition is no better even yet. He attributed her present condition to the absorption of the gas. It was impossible for him to fix any time when she might be free from it. Witness described the symptoms following the inhaling of gas.

To Mr. Donnistoun — Witness said that Miss Thompson was in anaemic condition. This was in some measure common in his practice. This condition was due either to the absorption of, or failure to cast off, tonine. He wouldn't pledge his oath that the anaemia of Miss Thompson was caused by gas, but it was his strong opinion that such was the case.

Dr. Carmichael, the first witness said that he knew the plaintiff. Miss Thompson prior to the escape of gas. Before that time she was the picture of health, but she looked anything but healthy now. He recollected smelling gas while driving past the Lee house. He had noticed it about a month. There was a very strong odour of gas. Witness described the effects of gas. The inhaling of the gas would cause vertigo and nausea. It would affect the strength of a person. The constituents of gas were poisonous. He had examined the plaintiff and found that she was anaemic. His professional opinion was that the inhaling of gas was the direct cause of her ill-health. He had no doubt of it. There was no other cause in his case of which he knew.

To Mr. Kerr the witness said it was four or five years ago that he knew the plaintiff intimately. It was possible for a person to look healthy and at the same time not be so. He did not know what the constituents parts of this gas were. There were cases in which the anaemic condition could not be accounted for. He was prepared to swear that he smelt gas about a month before Christmas. He had spoken to Mr. Jones about it. saw men working there at the time of the accident. He did not know at what time the gas main was finished.

This concluded the plaintiff's case and the defence did not call any witnesses. Mr. G. H. Watson for the plaintiffs and Mr. Donnistoun for the defendants, then addressed the jury at some length, going fully into the evidence offered in the case.

His Lordship then clearly and forcibly reviewed the evidence, after which the jury retired at 12 o'clock.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is more than a fat food. There is no animal fat that compares with it in nourishing and building up the wasted, emaciated body. That is why children and anæmic girls thrive and grow fat upon it. That is why persons with consumptive tendencies gain flesh and strength enough to check the progress of the disease.

PLAY SUNDAY BALL IN NORWOOD

The Norwood Register says: Almost every Sunday afternoon last summer a number of young men were to be seen playing baseball in one of Mr. Greenbank's fields, southwest of the village. Last Sunday witnessed the opening game for this season. How long are the authorities going to allow this kind of Sabbath desecration to continue?

Engineer Asked Year's Gratuity

Papers in Connection With Lift Lock Investigation in House.

Correspondence dealing with the investigation into the Lift Lock blunders on the Trent Canal was tabled in the House of Commons yesterday.

It contained nothing which has not already been made known, with the exception that after his resignation had been forwarded, Mr. R. B. Rogers, the engineer, asked to be given a year's gratuity. Mr. Emmerson replied that he could not even consider the matter at that time, when it was not known what the outcome would be.

MORE BALLAST ON HASTINGS BRIDGE

The Hastings Star says: Some sixteen years ago the iron bridge at this place was constructed, the bridge being built at the same time. The latter, however, has never given satisfaction, for time and again there has been considerable trouble experienced in opening it. The engineer who built it made some miscalculation in the ballast needed, and many pounds had to be added before the bridge could be swung the first time. Last year seven tons of old iron and stones were necessary and last week two more tons were added.

Disastrous Cyclone Sweeps Texas Town

Bellevue Reported Entirely Destroyed—Only Three Buildings Out of Three Hundred Left Standing—Ruins on Fire—Stoneburg also Suffered Seriously—Dead Estimated at From 25 to 45.

Special Wire by Heintz & Co.

Dallas, Texas, April 27. — Reports received from Bowie, Texas, this morning, state that the number of dead as the result of a cyclone which swept over Bellevue and Stoneburg, and the surrounding country last night is estimated at from 25 to 45. Relief trains have left Henrietta for the stricken country, and advices are expected at any moment. A telephone message reports that Bellevue is entirely destroyed, only three buildings out of 300 at that place are said to be standing. The ruins are said to have caught fire and burned.

New Hydrants Are To Be Furnished

Water Commissioners Will Place the Extra Twenty-five at Once—Reason for the Delay in Providing Them—New Four-Way Hydrants on George Street—Will Increase the Protection.

The Water Commissioners, and the Fire, Water and Light Committee, met last night in a joint session, when the question of pay for hydrants, referred to at the previous meeting of the committee, was again discussed. The Water Commissioners explained the reason that the twenty-five additional hydrants had not been provided at the time the agreement was entered into with the town in 1904. One of the difficulties had been that it was impossible to procure hydrants, the manufacturers being so busy that they could not make them. Then, until the city had its new fire engine, and was in a position to protect the central portion of the city, where the greater number of new hydrants were to be placed, while the mains were shut off, placing the hydrants, the commissioners did not feel justified in leaving this valuable property without protection for two or three days, as would have to be done.

It was agreed last night that as soon as possible the new hydrants would be provided.

It will be remembered that in 1904 it was decided to place twenty-five new hydrants, and to reduce the price to the city from $35 each to $30; the total cost with the twenty-five new ones was to be the same as at $35. A large number of these hydrants were to go in the business portion of the city, where it was felt that greater protection was required. Some of these will be four-way hydrants, and they will be placed at the corners of the streets, instead of in the centre of the blocks, as at present.

This matter will be attended to at once.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE TENDERFOOT.

The Western Operate Comedy success, "The Tenderfoot" with the two comic opera stars, Oscar L. Figman and Ruth White, and an able cast, was the attraction at the Grand last night, and was pronounced the best offering of the season in the light opera line. The catchy quality of the music and the really enjoyable humour has made the Tenderfoot one of the great comic opera successes of the decade. Last night's production thoroughly pleased the large audience which was kept in a hilarious state all the way through by the adventures of Professor Bettiland, the Tenderfoot.

Mr. Figman in the role of the professor, captured the audience from his first appearance on the stage with his irresistible humour. Ruth White, as Marion, the heiress, acted her role in a clever manner, and the entire cast was a good one. It included Jethro Wagner, the well known Canadian tenor, who is rapidly coming to the front as a really great lyric opera tenor, Fred Bailey, Harry B. Williams, an eccentric dancer of entertaining ability, Geo. E. Romain, Etta Lockhart and Louisie Brackett, two clever soubrettes.

The locale (Texas) furnishes abundant opportunity for picturesque costuming and stage settings, and of this every advantage has been taken.

The musical numbers were of a bright, catchy nature and were all capably rendered, the chorus being particularly strong. "My Alamo Love" was Mr. Figman's hit. Miss White won favour with "Fascinating Vamus," and Mr. Wagner was very acceptable in his solo "Soldier of Fortune."

Manager Bradburn personally recommended the Tenderfoot, as the best musical comedy that has been here this season, and the number present last night showed that this recommendation was appreciated.

THE HOLY CITY.

The religious drama, "The Holy City," which will be presented at the Grand on Monday night, is a play that is creating widespread interest, although only in its second year. No story of modern strife has half the power, no narrative of recent years presents the thrill of that which has lasted throughout all ages. Its presentation here on Monday night, will no doubt be greeted by a large audience.

GOOD PROGRESS WITH DREDGING

The Hastings Star says: — The tug Empire, which was hauled out of the water last fall, and left on the shore during the winter, was overhauled and painted during the past weeks, and on Monday she was put in the water again. The tug is used to handle the scows which convey the sand and rocks dredged from the river. Good progress has been made in the drilling and blasting and the dredge has commenced work.

OMEMEE GETS THE LINDSAY BUSINESS

The Lindsay Post says: — Rev. Father McGuire, the popular parish priest at Downeyville, was in town to-day on business. He says the road between Lindsay and Downeyville has been very bad, and this had its effect in diverting the trade of the district to Omemee.

San Francisco Has Long Been Used To Quake Visitations

Golden Gate Metropolis Has Been Shaken Often In The Past.

PRESENT THE WORST KNOWN

Some of the Skyscrapers and Other Buildings Destroyed—Magnificent City Hall in Ruins—Fires Arrested by Dynamite—Earthquake of 1868 Described by Mark Twain.

THE recent disastrous earthquake extending over so large a part of the Pacific coast region and wrecking such an extensive section of the city of San Francisco was not the first of these catastrophes known in the western metropolis, though by all odds the most damaging.

For many years the municipal authorities refused to permit tall buildings in the city because of the fear of earthquakes, several of which had already been experienced. Finally the interdiction was removed, however, and a number of skyscrapers resulted.

Prior to 1890 there was hardly a building in excess of five stories and only a few of that height. Today there is one eighteen stories high and quite a number from twelve to fourteen stories.

In the spring of 1898, about 10 o'clock one night, the city had a seismic shock that put to test its high structures. It was the worst earthquake since 1868, when for eight or nine blocks on the main street (Market) the ground was cracked open several inches.

In the upheaval of 1898 the tall buildings were given a fearful shaking, and some of their occupants were made dizzy and sick. The structures were uninjured, and ever since that time there has not been so much question of the safety of high buildings of modern construction—that is, buildings of structural iron frame and facings of pressed brick, terra cotta or stone.

It was M. H. De Young, the proprietor and editor of the Chronicle, who was the pioneer in this respect. He met with opposition from the municipal authorities fourteen years ago when he decided to erect a ten story house for his newspaper. It was believed to be a dangerous undertaking because of the earthquake fear, but Mr. De Young won out and thereby set an example of enterprise to other wealthy men who have since built more tall buildings. For instance, D. O. Mills, the New York banker, who owns a great deal of San Francisco property, has one of the tallest and finest structures in the city.

Claus Spreckels, known throughout the country as the sugar king and the richest San Franciscan, owns a building seventeen stories high, commonly known as the Call building. On three of the corner sites, where Third street intersects Market, is located the great Spreckels building, the home of the Call; the De Young building, the home of the Chronicle, and the Hearst building, occupied by the Examiner, the three great Pacific coast newspapers having contributed handsomely to the building development of San Francisco in recent years. The city now has its share of tall buildings, one being eighteen stories in height. The major part of them are eight, ten and twelve stories, the eight storied being most numerous.

The Call and Examiner buildings were almost totally destroyed in the earthquake and many other skyscrapers were severely shaken, cracked and damaged.

One of the chief buildings which collapsed was the new postoffice. This was a substantial structure of granite, costing to exceed $5,000,000. While not striking from an architectural standpoint, the postoffice was impressive from its massiveness.

The Postal building was badly damaged, and the operating room was a wreck. Power of every kind was destroyed, and there were no lights, either gas or electric. Neither the Palace hotel nor the St. Francis was destroyed as far as the framework goes, but the inside plastering and decorations were greatly damaged.

The business section of the city from Market street to Mission street and from the bay back was almost completely wrecked.

The most conspicuous building in San Francisco, the city hall, is almost totally ruined. It cost from $6,000,000 to $7,000,000, took twenty-five years in construction and was surmounted by a dome 332 feet high. It was thought to be very solidly constructed, being built substantially of brick, with the walls covered by cement. The interior of the dome was decorated with expensive marbles taken from the Pacific coast mountains.

Another very fine building, which cost over $5,000,000, is the splendid hotel erected by Mrs. Herman Oelrichs on fashionable Nob hill. Mrs. Oelrichs, who is a daughter of the late Senator Fair, has shown fine taste in the architectural plans of Fairmont, the appropriate name of the new hotel. Seen from the bay this structure, with its classic outlines, makes the beholder think of a Greek temple. White and graceful, it looms above the busy market places, the great wholesale district, the crowded business section and picturesque Chinatown, which, by the way, is fast disappearing owing to the encroachments of commerce and the dwindling of the Chinese population.

Other imposing edifices, many of which have been more or less severely injured, are the Hotel St. Francis, the Palace hotel, the Hall of Justice, the Mutual Bank building, the Pacific Mutual Life building and the Callaghan building. The greatest property damage resulted in the manufacturing district and the greatest loss of life in the tenement house district.

The chief street of the city is Market, running diagonally for many miles. The destruction of many of the department stores and other business blocks on Market and Mission streets was almost complete. Fire added to the horrors of the situation, and, as the water mains had been burst by the shock, the fire department was helpless. The flames ate their way along Market street, and other fires started in different parts of the city.

As the earthquake occurred but a little after 5 o'clock in the morning, practically the entire population was in bed. Men and women rushed wildly forth in their night robes and fled in

SAN FRANCISCO HARBOR.

The London Letter To The Examiner

Bright, Newsy Letter From the World's Metropolis—Some Easter Sensations—Travel This Year Will be Very Heavy—Some Malcontent Emigrants—Canadian Cattle Embargo Discussion—No Peterborough People Registered at Canadian Offices This Week.

London, April 17.—London is empty this week. Seven or eight hundred thousand tired workers are spending Easter at the seaside or in the country. Brighton, Bournemouth, and the South Coast resorts are the most popular, but there have been numerous inquiries at the tourist agencies about "special excursions to Naples to see Vesuvius in eruption," though no one has been enterprising enough to organize any such scheme. We wonder if Stony Lake would attract any more visitors if there was a volcano in its vicinity?

Heavy Tourist Traffic.

The tourist agencies also report an enormous number of bookings from intending Canadian and American visitors, and it is feared that there may be a hotel famine. The trans-Atlantic will have some difficulty in coping with the rush, since most of the visitors travel first or second-class, and are much more difficult to accommodate than emigrants. The two superb new Canadian Pacific steamers will no doubt relieve the pressure somewhat, but intending visitors should book early, or they may be crowded out.

Canada Misrepresented.

A few malcontent emigrants are returning from Canada, and are filling the papers with letters denouncing Canada and all that therein is. All of them are people who, having no experience of farming or open-air life, have gone out expecting to get "back to the land" at once and reap the profits immediately that a farmer gains only after years of experience and hard work. I met a man on the street the other day who had been six months in Canada, and who complained that he had been led to believe it was a land flowing with milk and honey, whereas he had undergone the greatest privations, and in desperation had worked his way home in a cattle boat. On questioning him I discovered he was a photographer by trade, and had lived all his life in London. Going to a newly-broken prairie farm, he had refused to undertake the "degrading work of ploughing," had objected to pork as a staple article of diet, although the place was 30 miles from a railway, and had been altogether, utterly disgusted, as he had gone out expecting to "get a post fit for an educated man as manager"—whatever that may mean—"on a large farm estate." It is useless to argue with such people, but, unfortunately, their whinings in the press are apt to prejudice the English minds.

Canadian Cattle.

This week there was an important debate in Parliament on the embargo on Canadian cattle, during which Mr. Will Crooks repeated a joke that he had received from a Canadian correspondent. This correspondent suggested that Great Britain should institute an embargo on Canadian "pig-iron" as being likely to introduce swine-fever into the country. Might I also suggest an embargo on the Canadian "butter" as possibly introducing the menace of disease among British "goats."

The House of Parliament used to be known as the "best club in Europe," and many of the papers have lately said that since there were now so many working men and others outside the "gentlemen" class among the M.P.'s, this would no longer be the case. But the Parliamentary policement are still, apparently, sticking to the old idea. A "navvy," dressed in his working clothes and carrying his tool bag, presented himself at the House of Commons, and said, "I wants to see the navvy member," meaning Mr. J. Ward, the six-foot ex-navvy, who is member for Stoke-on-Trent. The policeman at the door, however, did not seem to think him presentable enough, and refused to admit him, whereupon, justly indignant, he took the constable's number and strode away. The incident is interesting as showing that in spite of the seemingly democratic change in Parliament, it has lost none of its old "exclusiveness."

A Labour Party.

I see, by the way, that there is talk of forming a Labour Party in Canada, and of building a huge labour headquarters in Montreal. In England where, for many years, the Government has been in the hands of one class and where a large section of the population has been unrepresented by anybody intimately acquainted with their habits and wishes, a Labour party is undoubtedly needed. But I cannot quite see that in Canada, a country so democratic, where a "Labour party," though perhaps not by name, has always existed, such a movement is necessary. So many of our Canadian members have "risen from the ranks" and know what it is to work with their hands that the working community is already well and strongly represented in Parliament. However, Canadians on the spot know their own business best and if the new scheme is worthy of success it will undoubtedly get it.

A New Era.

The new Government seems to have brought with it an era of change and a movement to reform. London's crowded traffic is now on foot. At present Piccadilly, a representative "main artery" of London, is described as a "whirlwind of motor-omnibuses, horse-omnibuses and cabs," the horse-omnibuses hampering and delaying the new fleet automobile buses and making, with cabs, private automobiles, trucks and dodging, white-faced pedestrians a very pandemonium of traffic. It is proposed to remedy this by a service of electric cars, displaying illuminated destination boards and having recognized "stations," or stopping places. Piccadilly is so narrow in places that I doubt the feasibility of this unless all other traffic is banished from the street, and indeed I hardly see how electric surface cars could be run anywhere in the heart of London. The motor-bus seems to be the present solution of the rapid transit problem, these buses running three or four times as fast as the old horse drawn conveyances, even though hampered by slow vehicles. Their drivers are skillful and full of nerve and a motor-bus dodging and twist-

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

Within our coign of vantage we rested, peeping through the interstices of the foliage upon the Woodman. The windows gleamed with light, but beyond that there was no mark of life. Half an hour went by in this way, and then a sound of voices rose from the inn, and presently there emerged from the doorway two men, who stood in conversation for a few minutes before the house. It was too dark to make them out distinctly, but one I set down as Hood. After a time they separated, Hood, as I supposed him to be, returning into the inn and his companion walking down the road away from us. If we were to effect anything this man must be followed, and I whispered as much to the others, determining to take the duty on myself. Slipping through the copse, therefore, I struck downward through the fringe of wood that bordered the road. My progress was naturally slower than that of the man I was tracking, and soon I was surprised to lose the sound of his feet. But a moment's reflection convinced me that he had turned off the roadway and was proceeding, like myself, through the forest. This conviction became certainty a little later, when, pausing to resolve upon my direction, I heard the noise of breaking sticks ahead of me and a brushing among the foliage. Guided by these sounds, I shifted my path and went forward. I imagine now that the man must have heard me just as I had news of him in the wood and that he knew he was being followed. At the time I thought myself undiscovered, for I moved with slight noise. Yet what happened was this: I suddenly ceased once more to get tidings of him. I paused and waited, but the valley (for we were now winding into the bottom) was stagnant with silence, save for the purling stream in the distance. Slowly and cautiously I pushed on and came out into a more open space, where I stood silent, waiting again. I must have remained there, still and attentive to all the tiny raptures of the nocturnal quietude, for more than half an hour. But I heard nothing of my man, and so in some disgust I resolved to abandon the pursuit. Re-tracing my steps, I climbed up to the road and rejoined my companions in the thicket. I found Sheppard in what for him was a bad temper.

"Our sport is being spoiled," he said impatiently, and to my questions added, "Jones."

"What is he about?" I asked.

"Apparently on the same errand as ourselves," he observed.

I considered. "We'd better go back," I said. "The less Jones sees of us the better, and, besides, he'll do our work for us."

I think we all welcomed the suggestion, for we were all mightily weary of the game, but we retreated to the castle in some chagrin. Sheppard pulled at his pipe for some time in silence.

"Well, what do you think of it?" he queried after a time.

I shook my head. "I felt better this afternoon."

"So did I," he returned.

"You're not going to give up?" asked Montgomery.

We both laughed. "Not yet," I said. "There's plenty of time for despair."

"Well, we'll consider the position tomorrow," said Sheppard, yawning. With which we got to bed, and I for one slept like the graveyard dead.

I rode into Raymond next morning with Montgomery, taking the road upon the south side of the valley, away from the Woodman, upon which Sheppard promised to keep his eyes. I was anxious to discover what progress Jones had made in his investigations, and, moreover, I felt slightly uneasy as to our own posture in the affair. Had the law got wind of us? And were we connected in Jones' mind with the mysterious transactions of the Gwent?

As luck had it, we did not find Jones, who had returned to Raymond very early in the morning, but had been hastily summoned back into the Gwent after breakfast. He had, my informant imagined, crossed us, but I accounted for not meeting him by the new route we had taken. Therefore, none the wiser for our excursion, we turned the horses homeward and, climbing the rise beyond the river, clattered down into the forest.

We had ridden halfway to Llanellan when Montgomery's mare fell lame, and he dismounted to examine her shoe. As he was engaged for some time in the occupation, I pulled my nag into the shade of the big trees by the way and waited for him. Throwing myself off, I put my arm through the bridle and walked over to the margin of the wood, where the grass grew in abundance, now fading a drab yellow under the magnificence of the autumn sun. The road here took a sharp bend and in the act an abrupt peninsula or headland of coppice stood out from the main continent of forest. As my horse nibbled at the grass, I heard a noise of wheels in the distance and glanced through the tangle along the highway. Down from Llanellan a trap was being driven furiously toward us. The rate at which it rolled was prodigious, and clouds of dust flew up and enveloped horse, vehicle and driver in their course. Thinking that this must be a runaway, I slipped the bridle over the horse's neck, and, calling to Montgomery, leaped into the saddle and turned the corner to meet it. As I did so the carriage, which was of a rude, serviceable type common in the country, was plainly visible to me and I to its occupant. What astounded me was to see him raising his whip through the smoke of dust, in act to strike fiercely at the flanks of the animal, and the next second he stopped, dropped the whip, and, as it seemed to me, reined in his horse. At all events, the pace was now much slower—in fact, but a comfortable amble. While I was wondering on this curious maneuver the trap drew near enough for me to notice the driver, and, to my astonishment, I saw that it was Hood.

His face was all a sweat and grime with dust, and plainly he had been squeezing the last ounce out of his beast, as the saying is. Why, then, did he pull up on seeing me? A flow of thoughts rushed through my brain, but it was not until he came well nigh abreast of me that the inspiration seized me. He made as if to pass, civilly touching his hat, but by a sudden movement I wheeled my horse across the road and barred his way. Had he been going at his previous rate I confess that I should have thought twice ere I took this hazard; but, as it was, there was no harm done. Hood himself, taken by surprise, pulled back and jerked his left rein, sending the beast toward the ditch. I cried to Montgomery and, leaning over, caught at the reins.

"It's all up, Hood," I said. "You're a done man this time."

"Beg your pardon, sir," said he, staring at me. "But I was going to Raymond."

"Yes, and I dare say you were," said I. "But now you're going to the castle."

At that moment Montgomery came up, leading his mare, and took in the situation. Running round, he held the other rein. Hood looked from one to the other.

"This is highway robbery, gentlemen," he said.

"Call it what you will," I replied, with nonchalance. "Montgomery, I'll trouble you to peep into that carriage." At the words Hood's eyes shot with a malignant light, and his nostrils curled and shivered like those of a vicious horse. The next second he sprang from his seat across the horse's back and leaped at my throat with his open knife. My horse plunged and took the blow upon his shoulder, which was ripped open in a red gash. Then, without a sound, Montgomery pinned the ruffian to the earth. It was not the first time that he had felt the grip of those great arms, and he lay still, underfoot in the dust.

We had been so engrossed with the incident that we had not noticed the sound of an approaching horseman, and now his voice broke in upon us, startling us.

"Thank you kindly, gentlemen. I am obliged to you," it said, and there was Sercombe, very red and very dusty, but with a twinkling smile struggling over a grave and anxious face. Hood got to his feet at once.

"The rascal gave me the slip," said Sercombe, "but I am much in your debt for stopping him."

"Ah!" said I. "That's the story, is it?"

It is extremely odd, and I recall the fact now with some sense of discomfiture, but this sudden appearance of Sercombe and the evidence that he had been chasing Hood completely put my reckoning out. The events had turned things topsy turvy for the time, nor did I realize at once that we were still antagonists, opposed upon the possession of the very treasure which, I had conceived, was concealed in the carriage. But if I was late in coming to my wits, not so Hood. He might quarrel with Sercombe privately, but as against us he was the captain's partner, and, sidling up to him, he whispered a few words. Sercombe nodded, and ere I had time to observe all this properly he had edged his horse between the carriage and myself and pulled forth a revolver.

"Very sorry, Mr. Greatorex," said he,

I started around, and there was Hood.

pointing it at me. "It seems an ungrateful return, but upon my soul I can't help it. I'd a deuced sight sooner offer the barrel elsewhere, but there it is—we are such creatures of fortune."

He grinned pleasantly, and Hood whipped into his seat and turned the carriage about. As for Montgomery and myself, we were entirely taken aback. They had the advantage of us, and we should have been fools to refuse to recognize it. So, after the first stare of consternation, I made the best of it.

"Delighted to be of service to Captain Sercombe any time," I said. "And now, as I presume we are all going the same way, we shall have the pleasure of your company."

"That's right," he observed. "Hood, drive ahead, not too fast this time." And the innkeeper, who had now resumed his placid air, obeyed him. We jogged along together, conversing quite affably, but the captain kept an eye upon us, riding a little to one side and holding a hand ostentatiously in his pocket.

In this manner we rode through Llanellan and drew near to the Woodman. Sercombe turned to me a little way off.

"I reckon," he said, "that you'll want to know where those chests are?"

"I reckon I have that chance now," said I.

"Faith, and you're right!" he remarked, gnawing his mustache in some perplexity. Hood never swerved in his course, and I tell you I kept a sharp watch on him. He drove up to the door of the inn and, throwing the reins on the horse's back, jumped down. And now the adventure began to promise greater interest even than before. I racked my brains to guess what way they would try for an exit to this blind alley. But in the midst of my speculations I perceived suddenly that there was a crowd of people before the door of the Woodman, and immediately upon our arrival we were hailed with excited shouts and cries. I jumped off, and the others followed suit. As I did so I perceived Jones, the police sergeant, elbowing his way toward me through the throng.

"What is it?" I asked.

"Is that Captain Sercombe who came with you?" he asked.

"Yes, yes. But what is it?" I repeated impatiently, for the ominous faces about me alarmed me with strange fears. Jones made a motion to go, and then turned to me.

"David Williams," he said formally, "a man employed by you, Mr. Greatorex, was found at 8 o'clock this morning stabbed to death in the lower Gwent."

CHAPTER XVIII.

THE sergeant turned on his heel as he concluded his sentence and strode off toward the door of the inn. A ghastly sensation of physical fear, as though I had been detected in the act of assassination, overwhelmed me and left me staring with my jaw down. Then I ran after Jones, calling upon him and elbowing my way through the crowd. Sercombe stood for a moment conspicuous in the doorway, and then he vanished. But Jones, being a small man, was swallowed up among the villagers. I caught sight of Montgomery standing apart by his horse and hallooed to him. He hesitated for an instant and then pushed through to me.

"Find Jones," I said hurriedly. "Williams is dead—murdered by this bloody gang. Oh, there he is!" And we reached him simultaneously.

I pressed my questions home, and Jones, beckoning to one of his men who stood by, lent half an ear to me.

"Excuse me, sir," said he, "I will attend to you directly," and whispered some order in the officer's ear. The man made his way through the throng and disappeared. "Yes, sir," said Jones. "A little way from the stream we found the body, first discovered by a man, Lewis, going to work. Evidently attacked by more than one person, but the coroner will determine that."

"See here, Jones," said I, "can I see you later?"

He looked at me with his sharp, uncompromising eyes. "Yes, sir; I dare say we'll want your evidence."

"All right," I answered, and, turning to Montgomery, "Come, we'd better get back. There's nothing to be got from him at present."

Montgomery pulled my arm. "Hood!" he whispered.

I started. The idea flashed upon me in a distasteful light. "To be sure," I said. "I had forgotten." We hurried out of the knot of stragglers. The carriage and Hood were gone!

This discovery brought my wandering senses together. We had been duped again and that by a sheer accident, of which Hood had cunningly taken advantage. I myself had prepared my own disappointment. Montgomery informed me apologetically that he had tried to keep his eye on the carriage, but that my summons had taken him from his post. We inquired eagerly among the bystanders, but that was of little avail. One or two had seen the carriage drive off, and these all agreed it had taken the road to the castle. The futility of these inquiries soon dawned on me. It was not so that Hood should be taken, and I went back to Jones with my news.

"If you want the real murderer," I declared, "you will find him on the top of a carriage driving somewhere between here and Aberavon."

The sergeant stared at me.

"Hood," said I.

Jones smiled. "What evidence have you, sir?" he asked, pulling out his note book.

I stammered and hesitated. "He's a scoundrel!" said I.

Jones looked extremely dispassionate, but seemed prepared to copy down my sentiments. All of a sudden I saw the situation in its ridiculous light, but, though it stopped my tongue, it did not dispose me to laughter.

"If you have any evidence to offer against Mr. Hood, sir, I shall be pleased to take it down," said Jones, and at the same moment he elevated his eyebrows in a formal smile at some one behind me. I started around, and there was Hood, immobile and civil, as always.

I never said a word.

"I shall be pleased to answer any questions, sir," said Hood.

I cursed him in my heart for an amazing scoundrel and turned on my heel. It did not please me to suffer so black an eclipse. Montgomery followed meekly at my heels.

"I would have knocked the beast down if you had given the word," he said.

His fealty won my heart. "Montgomery," said I, "if there's any good soul in this world, which I have begun to doubt, it's you. And now the devil of it is that we have Williams in our gizzard, and the clearer it appears the blacker it looks." After which I think we spoke no more till we reached the castle.

Sheppard took our news gravely and seemed to turn things over in his mind. "This is bad, Ned; very bad," he said at length. "The place will be too hot to hold us."

"They don't identify us with the murder," said Montgomery.

"No," replied Sheppard deliberately, "but it pulls the police web closer over us. We're marked men in a way. We shall have a difficulty. This business is getting too complex. The fact is, we ought to have settled it by a bold stroke much earlier."

"We didn't know," said Montgomery.

I said nothing then at once, but presently I spoke up.

"Sheppard," I said, "and you, Montgomery, I think this thing has gone far enough. To tell you the truth, I have had enough of it for some time past. That man in the moat sickened me. Look at it in this way. We have been actuated by a mere greed of gold. There's no denying that. I will confess that I undertook it lightly. I had no notion that we were to be called upon to enter a bloody warfare. What has Williams done? He stood no chance with us; he was not to share in our throw of the dice. It's plain murder, and an ugly sound it has. Can you tell me why he came by his death? I can. That man I tracked through the wood last night—he got wind of me. What his mission was I have no guess, but Williams was taken for an emissary, and dead men tell no tales. What he saw before he received his death blow I won't hazard. But, mind you, he was knifed to death—hacked in the quick flesh till the life oozed out at the bloody gaps. That's black; that's bloody—and that's good enough, or bad enough, for me."

I spoke with heat, even with passionate emotion, for the thoughts had been burning in my mind for some time. Sheppard said nothing for a space, but leaned forward and carefully knocked the ash from his cigar.

"What you say is very true, Ned," he said quietly at last, "and you have put it very bluntly, and I don't say that you have not something on your side. You have emotion, at any rate, and we shall all be agreed that good, honest emotion is to be reckoned a force as much as reason. But, to my mind, you forget, you overlook, too much, and your feelings miscarry. What, precisely, have we done? We have defended against a pack of ruffians what certainly is not their property, and what, so far as it is any one's, is ours, or, rather, yours. We have drawn blood in the encounters, but it was that same cutthroat blood. I will confess to you both that I am of a squeamish temper myself, and that first surprise fairly wrought upon me. But I pulled myself up and considered. And as for this last affair, there's no denying its gravity. It has the menace of a tragedy—that's a fact. But where do we intervene? Williams meets a fate destined for one of us. We take our chances, but Providence designs otherwise. Williams is dead; I learn that with regret. I understood him for a man of spirit and pluck. Rest his soul. But by whom was he killed? By these very cutthroats against whom we are conspiring. There's another reason, and, if you like, a more potent reason, why we should continue. Williams' dead body does not stand between us and the treasure, and especially if we aim at two ends. Justice will be measured out by our pursuit. You will think I speak harshly, but I am talking sense. That is how it appears to me."

"You are wrong," I said. "It is not emotionally that I speak. On the contrary, I am guided by reason, and I take leave to say it is yours that is the sentiment. We have shed blood; that is bad. We have been the cause of bloodshed, and that in a way is worse—at least it seems so to me. I am not taking upon me the obligations of that murder. The plain truth is that had we not been involved in this fend the man would have been alive this day. If we go on it will be with increasing ferocity. We shall set passions in motion like a machine, the force of which is irresistible, the end of which is disaster. I ask you to consider that."

Sheppard turned softly to Montgomery. "What do you say?" he asked.

"I agree with what Greatorex says," he answered sturdily. "Let us go on and finish the brutes. They've done for Williams, poor chap! It's time we did for them."

Sheppard burst into gentle laughter, and I, too, could not forbear smiling at the boy's confusion of mind.

"There, you see, Ned," said Sheppard slyly, "your eloquence has convinced Montgomery, and I must reluctantly give way. I am all for peace, but," he sighed, "we must needs be governed by the majority in these democratic times."

"I take your hint," I said quietly. "But I am entitled to ask if you have duly considered."

"I have, Ned," said he gravely. "And you, Montgomery?"

"I am anxious to go and ready to face the results," replied the lad.

"So be it," said I, and thereafter I never reverted to the subject. Having once made up my mind that we must go forward, I threw myself into the business with alacrity. Sercombe was gone; indeed, we learned that day that the police were searching for him. The treasure also had disappeared, and only Hood remained—silent, docile, civil, and, as I knew, implacable. He had deceived Jones so deeply that the poor fool imagined the innkeeper was his ally, and I dared not enlighten him for our private reasons. Moreover, I do not think that he would have paid me any attention. He thought he knew men, and as he had picked out Sercombe for suspicion, and even now, as I understood, held a warrant for his arrest, he had in the same obstinate blindness marked Hood for confidence.

Nay, more; it turned out that the ex-valet must have poisoned his mind against our party. What passed between them I have no means of guessing, nor what was the nature of the suspicion he attached to us, but I began to see at once that we were lying under a cloud. The news came to me in a most unpleasant form with a visit of Mr. Landell, the squire of the neighborhood and the justice whom we had already seen.

Ostensibly he came to question us upon Williams' movements, but his demeanor was such that it incriminated us, and ere he left he spoke frankly in his mild and pompous way.

"I will not conceal from you, Mr. Greatorex," he said severely, "that this is no light matter. The events circling about the castle have become current gossip. They have set the countryside aflame. No man has an inkling of the truth, but all suspect. I should do wrong not to inform you that you do not come honorably out of these events. There are black spots upon the specious narrative you have sworn to. This house is the center of disturbance. For generations the Gwent has been, as peaceable as a garden, and of a sudden this breaks out, not once or twice but through a ceaseless chain of mysteries. I hope I do you wrong, but I can conceive no answer to the problem save in the house itself."

"My dear sir," said I, forcing a note of sarcasm, for I liked the old man very well, "I can assure you you would do well to trust to your detectives, of whom you say you are not one. I am obliged for your kindly offices, which I believe are well meant, but as I have a legal mind you will excuse me if I cannot follow you in your attempt to confound the criminal with his victim. The castle is attacked by some scoundrels—apparently the castle is to blame. My man is murdered in the forest—forsooth, I am to blame. Upon my soul, sir, I begin to have some doubts as to your qualifications for your office."

The old gentleman had no skill in retort, and my sharp rejoinder, charged as it was with logic, confounded him. But though he made no defense, he withdrew nothing of his statement and departed with much ceremony.

Sheppard pulled a mock face. "We look like ending in an execution dock, Ned," he said. "I begin to follow your arguments."

"Oh, this is a trifle," I answered impatiently, being yet under the sting of my abasement. "They have nothing against us, and I can't control the tongue of gossip, or wouldn't try. As we have come to a conclusion, let us get to work."

"That's sound advice," echoed Montgomery cordially. "Let us get on Sercombe's trail."

"We must beat the Gwent," said Sheppard comically.

"Anyhow, let us do something," I cried in despair.

"Very well," returned Sheppard slowly. "It is now within an hour of dinner. What do you say to a party of exploration after we have fortified our stomachs and are comfortable. Strong in the head, sound in the wind and indomitable in spirit, I feel like making a night of it."

"We have a bad precedent in our former expedition," I remarked dryly.

"Oh, shut up, Ned," he said ruefully. "Are we going on or not?"

"Yes, you are right," I answered to that protest. "I beg your pardon. We have decided to go on."

CHAPTER XIX.

IVOR CASTLE, as I have explained more than once, was perched upon the heights that crown the western precincts of the Gwent. Beyond it and still farther west the forest descended into nether valleys that led toward a district of mines and furnaces. Sercombe and Hood might have secreted the treasure in any square yard of this broken tract of many miles. The chance of happening upon it save by the guidance of some clew was extremely slight, nor did we know in which direction to look for a clew. From our eyrie on the saddle of the hill we looked out across the eastern valley. In any cranny of that rough and precipitous forest the gold and the jewels and Sercombe's Greeks might be at this moment stowed in waiting for a safe conduct across the hills.

"Beat the Gwent!" had been Sheppard's phrase, and that was very much what our expedition must come to. We descended the wooded slopes upon the northern face of the gorge, dropping slowly from the castle. Few roads traversed this region—one, in parts but an open track, running the length of the spur into the plain, the others merely tracks of grass crossed and recrossed by footpaths through the great wilderness. The Gwent was very sparsely settled, and the only tenants of these regions were a few wood cutters scattered among the huts throughout the forest. It was into this silence and desolation that we plunged in the early hours of the night. Darkness hung about us, conveying our steps with blacker shadows from the copses. At first progress was leisurely and the walking (through a plantation of pine) fairly easy. We had designed to strike a road that ran over the spur southward, mainly out of a whim of Sheppard's that he could determine if any carriage had passed that way.

"These tracks are unfrequented," he explained, "not a pair of wheels once a week, and I'll guarantee if Sercombe drove this way, which leads naturally to the station at Vreachan, he has left his marks. There was rain last night."

I had not so much hope myself, but his plan was the only one before us, and so we directed our steps toward this crossroad. Down the valley came the cry of a cock pheasant, and then with a whistling and whirring of wings a covey sailed out of the deeps, became a momentary buss about our heads and disappeared into the bracken beyond.

"We didn't startle those," said Montgomery.

"How do you know?" I asked, though the matter seemed indifferent.

"Oh, I know pheasants!" said Montgomery emphatically. "They've been scared down in the bottom there."

"You mean"— I began.

"Don't let's talk so loud," urged the boy. "There's some one down there."

The notion put new blood into us all. "No noise this time," said I, in warning, "and no discovery. Let us go ahead slowly."

It was impossible to proceed through that bracken without some sound, the fern lay so thick about our legs. But we moved with the utmost caution, silently making for the distant patch of forest whence the pheasants had started. No word was spoken between us, but we communicated by gestures, which were just visible in the faint starlight. Drawing close in this manner, we halted at length upon the margin of the spot over which our suspicions brooded. Sheppard crawled stealthily forward, and after a time we followed him. He caught my arm and pointed to the ground.

"Some one has passed here," he whispered. "We're on a side track."

"So much the better," I answered in the same voice. "We shall make less noise in walking."

With that we resumed our way with the same microscopic caution, and must have covered, as I should guess, about the quarter of a mile, when suddenly Sheppard came to a pause.

"Hear anything?" he murmured in my ear.

I shook my head.

"I believe they're just ahead—several of them," he continued. "Step lightly, for heaven's sake!"

I needed no reminder, nor did Montgomery. We were like a church service for solemnity, and crept rather than walked as we stalked closer upon our prey. All of a sudden Montgomery, who was walking just before me, dropped on his knee and moved his hand back to me. I followed his example and crawled on all fours toward him.

"What is it?" I asked.

"There's some one behind that tree," he whispered, pointing to a huge oak some ten feet from the path.

There ensued a deep silence, and then, just as I began to find my position intolerable and was thinking of changing my feet, a twig cracked in the forest, and there came a noise as of feet among the dry leaves.

"What shall we do?" he asked.

To say the truth, I had no idea, but it was plain that if we had been seen, concealment was of no further use, and if we had not, that the spy could not now discover us through the undergrowth. So we resumed our path, rather speedily, and caught up with Sheppard. He came to meet us in a state of excitement, laying his arms upon our shoulders and drawing our heads together.

"Hood, as I live!" he cried in a whisper.

"Did you see him?" we both spoke at once.

"Yes, he came from behind me and crossed just in front. I had barely time to fall, and the light just took him in the eyes. We're safe now."

Our hearts were full of triumph, and we pushed on with no more talk. It was possible that he had not seen us, but I doubted that. If he had, he would throw his party forward with greater speed. We were now, however, upon his track, and we were satisfied, and each man loosened his pistol and girt himself for the eventual encounter. That Hood would show fight I had no doubt, and it was more than probable that he would endeavor to trick us. We must be on the watch for treachery. We wound along the track for the better part of an hour, now getting news of the enemy and again leaving space for them to get away when our neighborhood seemed in peril of discovery. We had agreed to postpone the attack until the party reached its goal. If Hood had not seen us (and I was now disposed to believe that he had not) that goal would eventually be the hiding place of the treasure. This was how we comforted ourselves, and upon this faith our spirits rose to a high pitch.

By this time we had lost count of our direction in the innumerable windings of the path, but apparently we were now mounting a hill, and I judged that it lay somewhere to the south of the castle and toward the southern threshold of the Gwent. We were proceeding with our customary diligence and precautions when a noise of feet stamping on the earth assailed us, and round a corner came a posse of men and fell upon us. I drew back and lifted my revolver. Already Montgomery's rang out on my right—and then the light of the moon shooting through the trees, which in those parts were sparse, fell upon the face of Jones!

"Jones!" I said, in a voice in which dismay, fury and disappointment blended.

The man in front of me dropped his hand.

"You, Mr. Greatorex?" he asked sharply. "How do you come here?"

"God knows," I replied angrily. "And what are you doing"— I stopped suddenly, for the next face that came into my line of vision was a black, impassive face of Hood.

"May I ask, sir, what brings you out tonight on this expedition?" asked Jones, pulling out his execrable pocketbook.

I was silent, but Sheppard broke in. "We have no objection, Mr. Jones, to give you our confidence, if you will be equally liberal with us. We were hunting for Captain Sercombe."

"Ah!" says Jones, making a note under the stars. "Then it is lucky I met you, gentlemen, for I am doing the same."

I began to see.

"Mr. Hood," said Sheppard, with a polite gesture of his hand, "was guiding you?"

"Mr. Hood had an idea," responded Jones sourly.

"Ah, Mr. Hood's ideas are very valuable," said Sheppard quickly. "Pray treasure them."

"I think, Mr. Sergeant," I interrupted, being at length come to myself, "that we have been both badly deceived, and if I were you I should go home."

Jones hesitated. I think he had had enough of it. Wherever Sercombe was, it was certain to me that he was very far from the place into which Hood had decoyed the police.

"I give you the same advice, sir," replied Jones, "and with your permission I will accompany you."

"I wish for no better escort than so zealous an officer," I answered, with some bitterness.

Jones spoke a word with Hood, and, that done, we retraced our steps through the forest in a mutual and embittered silence.

I think there was little conversation between us on our journey back. The sergeant used us very curtly, as if he would imply that we were defendants upon our trial. But one thing he did say, and that, as Sheppard remarked afterward, without giving us the cue to any warning.

"I should like to ask you, Mr. Greatorex," he said, "what you want with Captain Sercombe?"

"I want a good deal," I answered bluntly. "I want to warn him that he is wanted on a fatuous charge by a very obstinate and blind eyed officer."

"I don't think he needs that warning, sir," said Jones after a pause and somewhat dryly.

"Besides, you forget, Ned," put in Sheppard, "that he owes me £20."

"Ah!" said the sergeant in a tone which implied that he was not to be startled by anything that Sercombe owed.

"And now," I said, in my turn, "you will perhaps be good enough to tell me how you came to find us?"

"Mr. Hood heard you," he answered, civilly enough this time.

"It was good of Mr. Hood—very sharp of Mr. Hood," I returned, "and I take leave to thank Mr. Hood and to wish that he had discovered us a little sooner. Maybe you and I would have been spared a useless tramp."

If we slept soundly that night it was owing more to the labors of the expedition than to any peace of mind or satisfaction of spirit. We were thoroughly out of tune with ourselves, and for the next two days our tempers came near to snapping. Even Montgomery looked sour and morose, but, to give him his due, he was all the more set on pursuing the adventure to an end; and it was in this manner that we spent the last day before the culmination of this strange and tragic history.

To be continued next Saturday.

A "Cleveland" costs say, $60, and lasts easily 10 years—cost per year $6.00.

A cheaply made bicycle costs say, $30, and lasts 2 years—cost per year $15.00.

Not much of a sum in arithmetic, to figure out which is the better investment, is it?

And if you ride a "Cleveland," you have a beautiful and easy-running bicycle, during all that time with no expense except for new tires.

What of your friend who rides the so-called cheap wheel and whose investment amounts to two-and-one-half times as much as yours per year?

The Possibilities Of Canadian Apple Trade

Canada Well Adapted to Apple Growing—Large Export Business—Its Permanency and Extension Depend Upon Honest Methods.

(Montreal Herald.)

It is very doubtful whether many people in Canada whose attention has not been specially called to the subject are aware of the value and possibilities of development in the trade in apples, and also of the fact that any negligence, much less suspicion of fraud, on the part of exporters is almost certain to result in the loss of several millions a year, falling chiefly on the farmers of the Dominion of Canada.

Adapted to Canada

Apples may be said to be in a peculiar degree the fruit of all others Canada is best fitted to produce and export, and it is well known that apples grown in the north part of the temperate zone are, as a rule, greatly superior to those produced in any other latitude. Many portions of Canada are peculiarly adapted to the growth of apples of very superior quality, and yet it is a fact that to-day many thousands of farmers hardly make out of their orchards enough to pay the cost of picking and packing the fruit, whereas, under proper management they might easily be put in possession of an income of from two to five hundred dollars each. We do not now speak of fruit farmers, but of the products of ordinary orchards of fairly good size, such as exist to-day in many portions of Canada and especially of Ontario and Nova Scotia. It is hardly too much to say that Canada is capable of producing an almost unlimited quantity of the best apples in the world, or at least apples that would certainly stand in the very front rank.

A Large Trade.

In 1901 our export of apples amounted to not less than four and a half millions of dollars, which might easily be doubled or trebled. Here is a trade which ought to amount to eight or ten millions a year, and which we are at present in great danger of losing owing largely, we regret to say, to malpractices on the part of certain shippers.

Reports are constantly reaching the government of apples being sold for export of which the tops and bottoms of the barrels are composed of good apples and the central portions of rubbish of the most inferior description. It is scarcely necessary to say that in a trade in this article, if the reputation of Canadian fruit is seriously impaired it is a difficult and tedious task to regain a character once lost. Honest men suffer, and the whole trade becomes unprofitable.

Value of Honesty.

Over and over again the Department of Agriculture have had evidences that shippers whose brand is reliable easily secure from one dollar to a dollar and a half per barrel more than the average price, while on the other hand apples which do not correspond with the sample, or which are of an inferior description, hardly pay charges for freight and commission. Complaints of late have been very frequent, and only recently a case in point was brought to the notice of the public through the medium of one of the commercial agents resident in England.

We were sorry to observe that a most unfair and unjustifiable attempt was made in Parliament to represent this action as a piece of political persecution, whereas both sides of the House ought to unite in such a case to strengthen the hands of the officials who have brought such practices to light and in upholding the good fame of Canadian exporters, which will suffer most seriously if such proceedings are passed over in silence.

How to Retain the Trade.

No one thing is more certain than this—that if Canadians wish to retain and extend their trade with Great Britain, and indeed with most other countries, they must make a special point of supplying a first-rate article if they wish to obtain a first-rate price, and above all must not trade on their previous reputation to substitute goods of an inferior description.

Most important branches of trade have been and are even now in danger of being lost altogether or very seriously injured by just such breaches of good faith, as we have noted above, and bearing in mind that the producer and the consumer are, in the case of Canada and England fully three or four thousand miles apart, it is all the more important that no just or preventible cause of offence should be given.

The trade in apples may be made a most important asset in our exports, and a most welcome addition to the profits of a very great number of our farmers, and it will be as foolish as it is culpable, if we deliberately throw away a trade which may easily add ten millions a year to our national income by our own gross carelessness, or, still worse, by want of common honesty in dealings with our neighbours.

We entirely acquit the great majority of our exporters of any deliberate intention of fraud, but this is a case in which the misconduct of a small minority may do very great mischief, and public opinion cannot be too strongly pronounced in condemnation of such offenders.

Whitney Government And Prison Labour Problem

The Unfair Competition With Honest Labour Pointed Out and Exemplified.

Brantford Expositor.

The Expositor has already called attention to the very unfair competition with free labour by convict labour which is created by the two contracts which have just been ratified by the Legislative Assembly, one providing for the manufacture of binder twins and the other of wooden-ware at the Central Prison. Both of these lines of manufacture have heretofore been carried on to a limited extent in the prison, one under the contract system and the other under the public account system. But it is now proposed to enlarge both branches of industry, and place them both under the control of contractors.

We have already dealt to some extent with the binder twine contract, and protested against the handicap under which it is proposed to place two of Brantford's industries, as well as other binder twine industries in the province. The provisions of the woodenware contract are equally, if not more, objectionable.

To begin with, let us see some of the privileges which the contractors are to be given:

1. All buildings and yards used by the prison woodworking shop when operated by the Government.

2. The general railway facilities of the prison.

3. Any and all machinery now installed in the north shop.

4. Sufficient yard room for piling 500 M. of lumber on the siding in the yards of the prison.

In addition, the contractors are exempt from the payment of rent, taxes or insurance, and have a plant ready to hand which costs them nothing. Nor is this all. "The company shall during the time this agreement or any renewal thereof is in force, provide one machinist, whose duty it shall be to keep the machinery in good repair, and in perfect order, to transfer all knives and saws, to look after the motive power and heating plant, and to make such reports to the government as are directed by the inspector." One half of the salary of this official, who, is to be furnished by the company, and is to be largely employed in its work, is to be paid by the Government.

The company is to pay the government for the goods manufactured for them, at the following "bargain-day" prices:—

1. For the making of zinc, glass and enamel washboards, eight cents per dozen.

2. Wood washboards known as the 17" dovetail made all wood, six cents per dozen.

3. Double washboards, i.e.: with rubbing surface on both sides, 11 cents per dozen.

4. Step ladders at the rate of half a cent per foot.

5. Broom handles, any length up to 50 inches, at one dollar per thousand.

6. Flooring, 50 cents per thousand feet lumber measure.

7. Window screens, small, four cents per dozen.

8. Window screens, medium, five cents per dozen.

9. Window screens, large, six cents per dozen.

10. Butter moulds, 1" square, eleven cents per dozen.

11. Clothes pins, ever ready, seven and one half cents per five gross box.

12. Clothes pins, bat, five cents per three gross box.

13. Clothes pins, common, three and one half cents per five gross box.

14. Toy or handy washboards, six cents per dozen.

15. Self wringing mops, ten cents per dozen.

16. Diamond mops, one cent per dozen.

17. Ash sifters, six cents per dozen.

18. Broom rack, seventy-five cents per dozen.

19. Egg carriers, one dozen size, twenty cents per dozen.

20. Egg carriers, two dozen size, thirty cents per dozen.

21. Brush blocks, thirty-five cents per thousand.

22. Brush block handles, twenty cents per thousand.

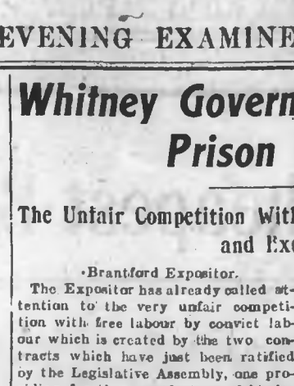
23. Any goods not before mentioned to be paid for by day labour at the rate of 3 1-2 cents per hour for each hour of every prisoner employed thereon.

There is also the following provision as to the amounts to be paid the Government:

The contractor guarantees that the above prices will bring a revenue to the Government of three cents per hour on each prisoner employed, and in case the work done on the above calls of prices produces a less amount the company is to make up the amount to the said rate of three cents per hour. It is further agreed that should the work done at the above rate amount to more than four cents per hour the excess over the said four cents is to be refunded to the company by the government. Adjustments of the account between the government and the company are to be made every six months on the average of such period.

It will be seen that the labours of the prisoners is supplied the contractor at from 3 to 3 1-2 cents per hour or from 30 to 35 cents per day, while manufacturers in similar lines outside the prisons will probably have to pay not much less than $2 per day. This, too, on top of the incidental advantages to which attention has already been paid — free rent, free machinery, no taxes, etc.

It is said in defence of the contract that most of the product is likely to be exported, but there is no such provision in the documents, and even if it was to be found there, it would not justify this most unfair agreement, which is injurious alike to the manufacturers of woodenware and to the men in their employ.



"Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into the here.

Where did you get your eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?
Some of the starry spikes let in.

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here."

The fact is as sad as it is true that the baby finds the tear waiting to dull its blue eyes, and stain its soft cheeks. At the first it "has no language but a cry." Its one necessity is but to give expression to its suffering, and for that a tear suffices.

The mother who stoops in anguish over the wailing child would do anything to ease its suffering. But she is helpless. The time when she could have done so much for her child is past. She did not realize that in those anxious nervous days when she shrank from the ordeal of motherhood she was preparing suffering for the baby.

The path of motherhood is soothed and made easy for those who use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives physical buoyancy and mental brightness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages a healthy appetite and induces refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength for her hour of trial, and the confidence and content which come from strength. It makes the birth hour practically painless, and by increasing the natural, food secretions, it enables the healthy mother to enjoy the happiness of nursing her child.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, or any other narcotic.

A Mother's Gratitude.

"I would like to express my gratitude to you for the benefit I have received from your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. H. C. Anderson, of South Britain, New Haven Co., Conn., (Box 33). "During the first month of expectancy I could not keep anything on my stomach. Was so sick that I had to go to bed and stay for weeks. I tried different doctors, but with little benefit. I read about many being helped by using your medicine, so I thought I would give it a trial. I began to take your 'Favorite Prescription' in November and I had a nice little girl baby in February following. My baby weighed over eight pounds. I was only sick about one hour, and got along nicely afterward; was up and dressed on the eighth day. I never had the doctor with me at all; just the nurse and one or two friends. My friends thought that I was sick a very short time. I think Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is indeed a true mother's friend, for it helped me wonderfully. This makes my second child; with the first one I did not take 'Favorite Prescription.' The little one lived just about two months and she was sick all the time. This last baby is as plump and healthy as any mother could wish."

Much Better Health.

Miss Annie Blacker, 649 Catherine Street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby. I have recommended your medicines to several of my friends and they have been benefited by them."

House Burned At Mount Pleasant

Mrs. Isabella Follis Sustains a Serious Loss.

Special to The Examiner.

Mount Pleasant, April 23rd. —The dwelling house owned by Mrs. Isabella Fallis, and occupied by Mr. Josiah Hays, was destroyed by fire, about noon of the 20th. Part of the contents of the building were saved.

The dwelling house of J. McLean was on fire several times, caused by the falling cinders from the burning buildings, as the wind at that time was blowing in the direction of his buildings.

Local option seems to have increased the desire for strong drink, from the fact of so many empty whisky bottles being found in gardens in the village. Let the pulpit do its duty, to bring men to see how the use of strong drink brings ruin and destruction to so many homes; then, and then only, will the drinking habits of the day be stopped. Coercion has been tried by the Dunkin and the Scott acts; they proved a failure. The best remedy is moral suasion. It is very hard to get individuals to do right by any laws that may be enacted by any legislative body. God says by the prophet Ezekiel—"So thou, O son of man, I have set thee a watchman with the house of Israel; therefore thou shalt hear the word at my mouth, and warn them from me," also vs. 8, of chapter 33 Ezekiel.

The pastor of the Presbyterian church delivered a very practical discourse from the words, "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so." He urged his hearers to show their sympathy to the living and not to hold it in store until their death. This is quite a common practice in our day—storing up sympathy until uncalled for. Speak kindly to the erring one.

It was moved by Mr. Blomfield, seconded by Mr. Lillicrap, and carried unanimously, that the members of the vestry, present at this meeting, cannot let it close without expressing their regret at the absence of their rector, the Rev. Archdeacon Warren, coupled with their great satisfaction that the cause thereof is now almost removed from his family.

They also avail themselves of this opportunity of congratulating the Archdeacon on the honour conferred upon him by the Bishop, giving him, as it does, a larger sphere of usefulness to the church at large, than is afforded in the parish of St. John's, Lakefield.

The meeting then adjourned until Monday evening, May 7.

ing through a tangled mass of cabs and heavy wagon is a sight worth seeing. My present abode, by-the-way is close to the London County Council electric cars in Theobalds Road and their noise is the one homelike, Canadian sound in all London's noises. Listening to them roaring past and hearing the familiar note of their gongs I can almost imagine myself living a block away from George street.

Parliament Wakens Up.

It is hard to say whether a business-like Government is responsible for the elective card and other modern improvements, or whether the modern improvements have stimulated the Government, but at any Parliament is not so sleepy as of yore, and speeches are shorter and less verbose. In a recent debate on the Workmen's Compensation Bill, thirteen speeches were delivered in two hours and twelve minutes, and in a debate on the Fertilizers and Feeding Stuffs Bill five speeches were delivered in thirty minutes. Both these records were beaten, however, by the speeches made on the Crown Lands Bill, six speeches being made in twenty-six minutes — four minutes and a fraction to each speech.

Can Ottawa beat this?

I think Toronto is the town where there is such a vigorous censorship of posters. There is a new organization here, the Censors' Committee, of the United Billposters' Association, which will show Toronto that other cities are also on the upward path. "It is our desire to make the streets a Royal Academy of artistic advertising, and to keep off the boardings anything flagrantly sensational or offensive to good taste," said a member, and I must say he has my hearty support (as far as that goes!) To be condemned are: Maniacal faces, human freaks, crimes being committed, bloodshed, lavish displays of lingerie or of the female form divine. It is quite time some of the nightmares we see on the walls and fences were done away with.

Dowie Dethroned.

Talking of things to be done away with naturally reminds one of Dowie and his fall. His converts here have thrown him over completely; at the mere mention of his name in their meetings they rise, and hiss and hoot. I was talking to an ex-Dowieite, who was very much ashamed of having been taken in by him, but who had been completely deceived by the "profits," sanctimonious ways and spell-binding talk. The man had invested 100 pounds, all his savings, in Zion City, and was rather doubtful as to whether the money was reposing in Dowie's pocket, or where it was. I told him all about the York Loan, and that comforted him a bit.

There are no Peterborough visitors registered at the Canadian Commissioner's office in Victoria street yet, but I hope to see some when the summer gets well started.

Twenty-five years ago it was difficult to sell spring wheat flour for pastry at any price.

People didn't want it—they were using soft, winter wheat flour, and saw no reason for changing.

But hard wheat flour was persistently pushed and prejudice has been overcome. The women tried it, succeeded with it and appreciated it.—To-day hard wheat flour is the favorite for pastry as well as for bread.

The flour that is doing the most for the reputation of hard wheat flour is the brand known as

Ogilvie's Royal Household

It is hard wheat flour at its best—milled by modern methods, retaining all of the good of the wheat and none of the bad—it is without an equal for every kind of baking in which flour is used.

The Company Made Loans To The Directors

Manufacturers' Life Advances to Mackenzie & Mann.

LOAN NOT IN THE STATEMENT

Amount Paid In 1903 and Re-Advanced In 1904—Mr. Junkin, Managing Director of the Company, Relates the Sale and Re-Sale of the Stock of Old Companies Amalgamated Into the Present Concern.

Toronto, April 27.—The connection of Mackenzie & Mann with the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Co., the loan of one hundred thousand dollars to the railway firm, and the various stock transfers firm, and the various cmfw transfers which marked the history of the company during the period of the amalgamation of the Manufacturers' Life and the Temperance & General Life Insurance Co., was the subject of special inquiry before the Insurance Commission yesterday morning.

The control of the two companies, the Manufacturers' Life and the Temperance & General, passed from the hands of Mr. Geo. Gooderham to those of Hon. Geo. W. Cox, thence to those of C. J. McCuaig and William Strachan, and finally came back to Mr. Junkin, who divided it among some ten persons.

Stock's Many Owners.

Mr. Tilley followed the course of the large block of stock which meant the control, first, of both companies and latterly of the reorganised concern, to the following final distribution of shares: Lloyd Harris 1,350, H. M. Pellatt 1,000, Wm. Strachan 1,078, S. G. Beatty 1,060, William Mackenzie 2,000, D. D. Mann 2,000, McLaughlin and Johnston 400, J. F. Junkin 323. These made a total of 9,146 shares.

Railway Men's Big Loan.

In the transfer securities ledger, under the heading Mackenzie, Mann & Co., date Dec. 1, 1902, appeared an item, "To loan, $125,000." The Mackenzie firm at that time held $385,000 in stock. There was another item dated Dec. 26—"By cash, $127,580.05."

"That was the repayment of the loan," explained Mr. Junkin.

"What about interest?"

"Five hundred dollars interest is included in that."

"Was that cheque deposited?"

"I presume so."

Mr. McLaughlin promised to produce the bank-book to prove the deposit. "Anything to assist the commission," he added.

Referring to another entry of Jan. 8, 1903, indicating a loan of $125,195.55, to Mackenzie & Mann, Mr. Junkin explained that this was on the same security as the old loan and for about the same amount. The securities were 200 bonds of Inverness Railway stock, at $500 each par value, aggregating $100,000; also 4,000 shares of Manufacturers' Life stock, par value about $20,000. The loan was paid off in December, 1903, possibly on the understanding that a new loan would be made to Mackenzie & Mann in 1904. To the best of his recollection that was the case. He did not recollect what bank Mackenzie & Mann's cheque paying the loan was on.

The minute book showed that the loan was approved by the directors, and it was paid up before the year was up.

Without Interest.

Another loan was made on Jan. 25, 1904, of $128,959, one of the amounts referred to in the Blackader's report at the department.

Mr. Junkin did not think they charged up interest against Mackenzie & Mann for the intervals between Dec 25, 1902, and Jan. 8, 1903, and between Dec. 27, 1903, and Jan. 25, 1904.

The books also tended to show that on March 3, 1904, the Manufacturers' Life advanced a private loan of $11,000 to William Mackenzie, on the security of Inverness bonds. Later, this loan was transferred to the account of Mackenzie, Mann & Co., Limited, on the rearrangement of securities. The entire loan was paid off in three payments during the year 1904.

Mr. Junkin admitted that he knew these securities were not satisfactory to the Government, but it was a perfectly safe transaction.

The Transfer For Transfer.

At the afternoon session, Mr. Tilley asked the witness if he had the documents showing the transactions of the Mackenzie and Mann loan.

"They are bringing these up."

Mr. Tilley then read the agreement for transfer of Manufacturers' Life stock from Gooderham to Cox. This agreement had been made on Dec. 1, 1898. Charley Cox purchased from Gooderham 3,106 shares of capital stock of Manufacturers' Life and 250 shares of guarantee fund of the Temperance and General Life Co. For the first lot he paid $140,000, and for the second $112,000. Cox at that time had held 2,732 shares of capital stock, and 550 shares of Temperance and General. The agreement stipulated further that the sum of $36,000 would be paid on execution, and the balance in semi-annual payments extending over a period of four years with interest at 4 per cent. per annum.

Letters under date of May 30, 1904, written by Junkin to Mackenzie and Mann, were read by Mr. Tilley.

Correspondence relating to the loan to Mackenzie and Mann for 1905 was again produced, and Junkin gave evidence as to the dates of certain memos.

A Cheque From Pellatt.

In the bank book of 1902 a cheque for $128,000 appeared. It was marked Pellatt.

"Was that sent to you from Pellatt?" asked counsel.

"Yes."

"Do you remember that?"

"I remember it."

"You did not remember it this morning?"

"No."

"Can you tell me now any more about this than you did this morning?"

"Not any more than we received the cheque from Pellatt."

When Mr. Junkin was asked by counsel if he understood all the facts of different transactions, loans, and cheques put through in connection with the loan, he admitted that he knew very little about them.

A Deal Repeated.

"In reference to the paying back of the loan in 1903 and issuing it again in 1904, it came to the attention of the insurance department, did it not?" asked Mr. Tilley.

"Yes."

"Was not the same deal put through a year before and no notice was taken of it?"

"Yes."

Unauthorized Security.

Mr. Tilley then took up a loan of $11,000, dated April, 1903, given to Wm Mackenzie, through Pellatt and Pellatt for which Manufacturers' Life were given 20 bonds of Inverness Railway and Coal Co. with par value of $11,000 and market value of $11,000 or 73 1-2.

"This was unauthorized security, of course?" asked Mr. Tilley.

Yes."

"Did you know this was not exactly right under the act?"

"It was probably technically wrong under the act."

"You would not put through a loan on unauthorized securities with anyone but a director, would you?"

"Yes, anything as good as Mr. Mackenzie and the margin of the security as large as it is there, it might be put through."

One Other Instance.

"Did you loan money to anyone else in this way?"

"Yes. A small loan to F. Sanderson, the actuary of the Canada Life."

"Any more?"

"No one else."

"If the three men who negotiated this loan of $11,000, Mackenzie, Mann and Pellatt, had not been on the board would the company have gave them money on such security?"

"I don't think so, but I think, at that time, anyone of good substantial financial standing might put through a deal like this, but they wouldn't do it now." (Laughter.)

The accounts of the Crow's Nest Co. and Dominion Coal Co. were next explained by the witness.

The evidence given when the Manufacturers' Life was the subject of enquiry in Ottawa was practically duplicated when the matter of the Prudential Securities Co., the holding company formed by the fourteen directors of the Manufacturers' Life for the purpose of holding the unauthorised investments of the company came up.

A Colored Resolution.

"The minute which approves of the sale of 1,800 shares Dominion Coal at 126 1-2 and 202, Crow's Nest at 300 1-4 to Mackenzie and Mann, the witness admitted was a colored resolution. He considered that it was simply a nominal sale, and not done intentionally to make a good appearance."

"There was a loss on the stock at the end of 1902, was there not?"

"Yes."

"Did the directors consider themselves responsible?"

"It was not discussed then."

"When did the department call your attention to this sort of business?"

"In 1903."

"It had been subject of discussion at a meeting of the board of directors investing in securities like C. P. R. Crow's Nest, etc., was it not?"

"Yes! One of the members suggested that if stock went down the directors would be personally responsible and if it went up, the company would take the profits."

The operation of December, 1903, was described by the witnes.

Secrecy to Avoid Odium.

"At the time of the buying of stocks," said Mr. Junkin, "we went into the game with the sole idea of making money. So when stocks went down, at the end of the year the directors realized their position, and to save the odium which would result if it were generally known that the directors stock dabbling had proven a failure the deals did not appear in the annual financial statement. As far as he was aware no one had been asked to relieve the company of the stocks.

"If any single one of the directors had made the slightest objection the deal would not have gone through," said Mr. Junkin.

"Was this manipulation brought before the directors?" asked Mr. Tilley.

"No."

"Then the directors did not get a chance to object?"

"No."

"The duties of the various committees of the Manufacturers' Life were being explained by the witness when the commission adjourned.

Deranged Liver and Biliousness.

"For a long time I suffered from liver complaint and biliousness, and could find nothing to help me until I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I have recommended these Pills to many of my friends, and they have all been well satisfied with the results." —Miss Julie Langlois, Manor, Assa.

THAT STAB-LIKE PAIN IN THE SMALL OF THE BACK COMES FROM THE KIDNEYS

AND CAN BE CURED BY

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

It is not the back that is aching, but the kidneys which are situated beneath the small of the back.

Therefore, dull pain in the back, or sharp, quick twinges, are warnings of sick kidneys —warnings of kidney trouble. Plasters and liniments will not cure a bad back, for they cannot reach the kidneys which cause it. Doan's Kidney Pills reach the kidneys. That is what they are for and that only. So, if you would be free from backache, swelling of the feet and ankles, frequent or suppressed urine, painful sensation when urinating, specks floating before the eyes, frequent thirst, brick-dust deposit in the urine, or anything wrong with the urinary organs or bladder, you must keep your kidneys well. Help them to work freely, and help them to flush off all the body's waste and impurities.

Doan's Kidney Pills are made from the purest roots and herbs, and have a remarkable healing and toning effect on the kidneys. Mrs. Barling, 28 Locomotive Street, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I had been troubled considerably with my kidneys, using many remedies, but finding no relief. I tried Doan's Kidney Pills and found them to act directly on the kidneys, and making them strong again."

CEYLON'S DEVIL BIRD.

It Gets Its Bad Name From Its Appalling Screams.

Most people who have visited the island of Ceylon and penetrated into its jungle fastnesses have heard the cry of the devil bird. This awe inspiring sound resembles nothing so much as the scream of a human being undergoing the most terrible torture. Naturalists have identified it with the Syrnium indrani —a brown wood owl found in Hindustan. But the devil bird, or "ulamk," as the Cingalese call it, is an elusive creature, and no one has had the good fortune to kill or catch a specimen. The Cingalese — naturally a superstitious race—regard the cry of this bird with the utmost horror. They believe that its scream heard at night presages the most dire misfortune, and they are in the habit of offering sacrifices to avert the approaching disaster. The superstition is probably of very great antiquity. But Robert Knox, who was a prisoner in Ceylon for twenty years about the middle of the seventeenth century, gives an interesting account of it, although in common with the natives he believed the cry proceeded from the devil himself.

"This I can confirm," he writes "that oftentimes the devil doth cry with audible voice in the night. 'Tis very shrill, almost like the barking of a dog. This I have often heard myself. Only this observation the inhabitants of the land have made of this voice, and I made it also that either just before or very suddenly after this voice always the King cuts off people. To believe that this is the voice of the devil these reasons urge: Because there is no creature known to the inhabitants that cries like it and because it will on a sudden depart from one place and make a noise in another quicker than any fowl can fly and because the very dogs will tremble and shake when they hear it, and 'tis so accounted by all the people."

A modern account, however, is given by Mr. Mitford of the Ceylon civil service, who affirmed that he had often heard the cry while at Kurunegala, where the bird haunted the rocky hill behind the Government House. He had evidently studied the mysterious bird with great interest. "Its ordinary note," he writes, 'is a magnificent, clear shout, like that of a human being, which can be heard at a great distance, and has a fine effect in the silence of the closing night. But the sounds which have earned for it its bad name and which I have heard but once to perfection are indescribable, the most appalling that can be imagined, and scarcely to be heard without shuddering. I can only compare it to a boy in torture, whose screams are being stopped by being strangled."

Houses Mysteriously Went.

Ten artisans' dwelling-houses in Donegal road, Belfast, Ireland, have disappeared as completely as if swallowed up in an earthquake.

The houses were two-storeyed, and were there six months ago, but had become untenanted, and were allowed to fall into dis-repair.

When recently the ground landlord applied for his rent he was informed by agents that there was not now any property on the ground. Somewhat mystified, he visited the place himself, and found a howling waste and wilderness where formerly there had been habitations.

The discovery that the security for his ground rents had gone was naturally a subject for serious concern.

An architect to whom he turned for professional advice visited the site, but found that the very foundations had been so thoroughly grubbed up that it was only with difficulty the boundary walls could be traced.

The sewer, water and gas pipes had all been carefully "uprooted" to the roadway, and a solitary half brick was the sole memorial that remained of a once substantial property.

Who removed the house, and why they were removed, or what became of them, neither owner nor ground landlord knows.

The Wrong Animal.

Ignorance of natural history — and some other things—played a part in a fight of which a well known actor tells a story.

A Welshman, he says, had taken boxing lessons until he thought he could whip anything of his weight. He thereupon challenged an Irishman to fight him to a finish, and the challenge was promptly accepted. The Welshman selected a fellow countryman named Davy for a second. The battle began, and after the first round the Welshman went to his corner and asked Davy how he looked.

"Look like a lion," said Davy.

In the second round the Welshman had one eye closed, but Davy still declared his champion looked like a lion, At the end of the third round the Welshman was out. When he came to he looked through his swollen eyes at his second and said:

"'Ow do I look now, Davy?"

"Like a lion," said Davy.

"I don't feel like 'un. Did you hever see a lion?"

"Yes, hindeed, Bill Jones 'as 'un."

"Hit hain't a lion, man. Hit's a jackass!"

"Well, that's 'ow you look!"

Mohammedan Sects.

Mohammedans divide themselves into two principal sects—Shiah and Sunni, the Persians representing the bulk of the former, the Turks of the latter. The chief points on which they differ are the condition of the soul after death and the succession of caliphs. "The Sunni belief is that there is one immortal God, whose works are without beginning or end, and that he will be visible to the souls of the blessed, while the Shiahs deny the immortality of the soul and maintain that the coexistent principles of Zoroaster will forever contend for the mastery." With regard to the prophet's successors, the Sunnis claim that the lawful successor of Mohammed was Abu Bekr and after him Omar, Osman and Ali, nephew and son-in-law of Mohammed. The Shiahs, however, reject the first three and hold that Ali was the only legitimate successor. Shiahs pray but three times a day and enjoin pilgrimages to Nejef, Kerbela, Kazimain, Meshed (Persia), Samara and Kum as well as to Mecca and Medina. Sunnis make pilgrimages only to the two latter cities and pray five times a day. From this it can be readily understood that the circumstances of the Turks being in possession of the shrines of Nejef (Meshed Ali), Kazimain and Kerbela is most displeasing to devout Shiahs.—Blackwood's Magazine.

A SONG FROM THE PERSIAN.

Ah! sad are they who know not love,
But, far from passion's tears and smiles,
Drift down a moonless sea, beyond
The silvery coasts of fairy isles.

And sadder they whose longing lips
Kiss empty air and never touch
The dear warm mouth of those they love—
Waiting, wasting, suffering much.

But clear as amber, fine as musk,
Is life to those who, pilgrim-wise,
Move hand-in-hand from dawn to dusk,
Each morning nearer Paradise.

Oh, not for them shall angels pray!
They stand in everlasting light.
They walk in Allah's smile by day,
And slumber in His heart by night.
—Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

QUEER COINCIDENCES.

Andrew Lang Tells Real Curious One About a Clock and a Letter.

Here is a real curious coincidence, reported to me by a trustworthy friend. My friend paid a visit, with a companion, also known to me, to a lady. On the chimneypiece of the drawing-room was a black marble clock, not going, and near it a small round clock in working order. Suddenly a child of the lady of the house, standing on the hearth rug, said, "Mother, the big clock" (the black marble clock) "is ticking." "Impossible!" said his mother. "It has not ticked for many a month. I broke the pendulum myself." Every one present then examined the marble clock, which was ticking away steadily, and the coincidence was that it had taken up the time correctly and was in accord with the small clock beside it. No one had touched the black marble clock.

Of this coincidence I can only offer the explanation which must already have occurred to every reader. Somebody in the house must have got the clock mender to mend the marble clock without informing the lady of the house. The clock must have been set to the right time, and neither the lady nor her visitors happened to notice its ticking till it was observed by the child on the hearth rug. If this view be disproved, then there was a genuine miracle—a clock going, or ticking at all events, with a broken pendulum. Such is the weakness of human testimony that my friend does not tell me whether the big clock's hands were moving or whether it only ticked.

I know nothing analogous to a clock that ticked without going except a queer story of a letter, which is vouched for by the signatures of the persons who wrote the narrative and who stuck to it when cross-examined orally. They were a brother and sister, living together. One evening a letter came to their house directed to their care, but addressed to a third person, who did not live with them. The sister placed the letter on the chimneypiece, meaning to put on the proper address. Presently the letter began to tick like a watch and kept on ticking. The brother came in and heard the ticking. They examined the letter, could find no explanation and next morning carried the strange epistle to the person for whom it was meant. The letter proved to be extremely important, though the envelope was not marked "Immediate," like envelopes containing advertisements. Apparently the letter, like all matter, according to Haeckel, was not destitute of consciousness and knew that it was in a hurry. Of course, the black marble clock may on these principles have had not only consciousness, but conscience, and said to itself: "Let me fulfill the purpose of my being. Go I cannot without a pendulum, but tick I can and will." None the less the normal explanation seems the better.—Andrew Lang in Illustrated London News.

A Lost Lesson.

The proprietor of an engineering works in Scotland, according to The Dundee Advertiser, was watching the leisurely efforts of an apprentice who was swinging his hammer in a gentle way.

"Look here, laddie," he said, going up to the youth and taking the hammer from him, "when I see a man that takes his hammer by the end of the shaft and strikes a proper blow like that I give that a man 32 shillings a week, but a man that takes it in the middle like this only gets 25 shillings a week and the sack whenever we get slack. See?"

Hoping he had sufficiently well driven home his point, he surveyed the lad more in sorrow than in anger, but the latter requested an extension of the lesson.

"Please, sir," he said, " where do I hold it for four shillings a week?"

Two Mistakes.

An Irish merchant who had more money in his pocket than his appearance denoted took a seat in a first-class carriage. A dandy fellow-passenger was much annoyed at Pat's presence and, missing his handkerchief, taxed him with having picked his pocket. After recovering his handkerchief, which he had put in his hat, he made a lame apology, but Pat stopped him with this remark:

"Make yourself easy, darlint. Don't bother about the matter. You took me for a thafe. I took you for a gentleman We were both of us mistaken, that's all, me honey."

Have the Billiard Habit.

Natives of New Zealand are victims of the billiard habit. The inspector of native schools in New Zealand attributes the lax attendance of the young Maories to the fact that their parents "spend their whole time playing cards or billiards." He alleges that the children are often kept up all night billiard-marking and are of course utterly unfit for school work next day. He says he encounters billiards everywhere on his travels. The game is even played on the roadside.

FASHION'S REALM.

EVERY FLOWER THAT GROWS REPRESENTED IN THE MILLINERY WORLD.

In the Spring Hat There Is a Distinct Mode For Different Types of Beauty—Black and White Effects Smart and Serviceable.

The status of the fashionable spring hat has been settled. There are several authoritative styles, for Dame Fashion is trying to please all of her admirers; consequently there is a distinct mode for all the different types of beauty. In the forefront of smart millinery ranks, however, is the French sailor with round brim and mushroom crown. There are variations of this modish shape that are very chic. The hat illustrated is a good example carried out in black milan straw. About the rather high crown is a soft silk scarf in black and white effects. At the side are a bunch of white ostrich tips and a full aigret. Black and white hats are the acme of smartness for spring, and there is nothing better suited to a not too elaborate wardrobe, since they go well with almost every costume.

A BLACK AND WHITE CREATION.

A small black straw hat trimmed with what is termed a market bunch of roses and foliage, with the inevitable cachepeigne of velvet or ribbon to give the desired tilt, is to be advocated as a charming model for spring.

It seems as though every flower that grows is being represented to suit the individual taste of purchasers. The smart looking plumes and tips that have been so much in evidence the past few months are giving place to floral effects, and the windows of the millinery shops are gay with flowers of every description.

The mushroom crown promises to remain with us. The newest Paris creation has a rather high crown, with a brim wide at the back and quite narrow in front, with a sudden dip at the very center. Another mushroom shape has a crown so wide that room is left for only about three inches or so of downward curving brim. This shape is generally wreathed around with little flowers and foliage arranged in a simple way.

Tulle hats, as well as those of the finest hair braids worked into the semblance of Irish guipure or point de venise, are being fashioned for spring wear, and many of these are wreathed with gold tinsel roses or trimmed with bunches of the same, from the centers of which spring tufts of feathers or clusters of tall black or white aigrets.

In spite of their popularity, however, these tinsel flowers very soon tarnish, while a shower of rain would most likely reduce them to an unwearable condition.

The tricornered chapeau seen in one of the cuts is a charming affair in cream colored guipure lace. A huge osprey and a cluster of pale yellow roses are the only ornaments.

AMY VARNUM.

LINGERIE HATS.

With Several Sets of Linen Tops. Washable Sunshades.

A novelty in lingerie hats has been brought out this year by one of the leading hatters of the country that is sure to be a great favorite.

It consists of a well shaped wire frame covered with mull and finished with a facing of white shirred or tucked mull, with a ruffle of valenciennes lace on the edge, and over this frame is fitted by a clever arrangement an embroidered linen cover, consisting of a brim and crown, which are joined together by straps and buttons, so that these may be removed in a moment to be laundered and can then be replaced as fresh and spotless as when new.

Such a hat permits of having several sets of linen tops, and, in fact, each hat is sold with three separate sets, one of white linen and the others of colored linens embroidered in white, so with little trouble the same hat can be made to match any number of gowns. They are trimmed with a large bow of ribbon in front, and a band of the same ribbon is passed under the straps that connect the crown and brim.

Washable sunshades are also among the novelties of the season. Some are made so they can be slipped off their frames entirely to be laundered, but it does not seem as if this would prove satisfactory, for it is doubtful if the linen cover would fit the frame after it had been washed. It is best, therefore, to wash the cover while still on the frame and dry it, of course, with the frame wide open.

COIFFURE STYLES.

The Smart Girl Now Parts Her Hair In Front.

The fashion of dressing the hair low on the neck, says the Boston Traveler, is not so much in evidence as formerly, the most modish effects being gained by having the hair drawn loosely up from the back of the head, with the hair coiled rather flatly on the top, not too far back.

The fashion of parting the hair and waving it in a twist at the sides just above the ears is another style illustrated among the drawings and is a very youthful and pretty arrangement, when it is becoming.

The very young girls wear their hair in a loosely waved pompadour or with the front hair parted and coiled, as just described, the back being braided and looped up and tied with a large ribbon bow. In some cases two bows are used, one at the neck and another at the top of the head.

Lingerie Blouses From Paris.

Among the loveliest of the new blouses which Paris has sent over for spring are those in which tiny insertions of lace fill out the embroidery. Not in the way it was done a year ago, however. This new use makes the lace literally a part of the design instead of, in a way, a separate sort of trimming.

Roses or poppies or any of the other rather large flowers are taken as a motif and embroidered in the usual heavy fashion, but only the outer petals. Instead of the heart of the flower being done in a succession of tightly curled petals, a bit of lace is set squarely in the center, its design carrying out the idea of the pattern.

Sometimes the leaves are done the same way, with just a heavily embroidered outline and a center of lace, the design in such a case being one of the many conventional forms, its shape conforming in a general way with the shape of the leaf. Somehow these bits of lace give the whole design an effect of light and shading which is indescribably different.

A Dinner Menu.

As an introduction to dinner a soup with meat as a basis or with a bisque of vegetables and milk is an admirable aid to digestion and acts as a spur when one is too weary immediately to assimilate more solid food. A roast or a broil of beef, mutton or chicken, following soup, accompanied by two vegetables, sufficiently fills the bill for an ordinary dinner. After this may come a salad or a sweet, according to choice. In the daily menu these are not necessary at the same time, although when the dinner is a function to which guests have been asked neither of these courses can be omitted.

A Fine Salad.

An attractive winter salad is made of comquat oranges and white grapes, the grapes being cut in half, with the seeds removed, and the little oranges cut in slices, served on crisp lettuce leaves with French dressing.

FOR A HOUSE PARTY

JOLLY AND NOVEL AFFAIR FOR APRIL HOSTESSES.

A Living Magazine Represented by Human Characters—The Spinsters' Tea—Guests In Quaint Costumes. Must Tell Why They Are Single.

The hospitable hostess is always on the lookout for something original in the way of entertainment for her guests, but often finds it a rather difficult matter to bring something entirely new into her programme. She will, however, introduce an entirely novel idea if she undertakes to show her guests a "living magazine."

The idea is to represent the contents of a magazine by human characters. A small stage will be required, which should be erected at one end of the room. One great attraction of a magazine is always the pictures, and, as the cover usually represents something striking and pretty, this should be reproduced as a tableau. The cover is usually followed by a page of advertisements, and it is a good idea to let the children take part in these and represent them as nearly as possible. Then comes a handsome frontispiece, which also makes a good tableau.

Short, bright stories, articles and verses should be chosen and read, and these should all be illustrated by living pictures.

To make as much variety as possible one story might take the form of a dialogue and be acted. A rather good idea is to have only original contributions to the "living magazine" and to have each one read by its author.

A Spinsters' Tea.
